Dear Mr. President

In anticipation of your forthcoming thanksgiving dinner, I am sending you one dozen bottles of my specially prepared Horse Radish. This relish contains only pure grated horse radish, salt, sugar and vinegar. It is widely used in all Atlanta Resturants and I will be greatly honored if you accept this small gift and allow the same to be used by the patients at Georgia Hall also.

I hope you will enjoy it with your turkey dinner and trusting that your Thanksgiving will be as happy as mine and again express* ing my appreciation, I remain

Cordially yours

NOTE—The Company's charge, except upon ordinary live stock is dependent upon the value of the property, as declared or released by the shipper. If the shipper desires to release the value to $50 for any shipment of 100 pounds or less, or not exceeding fifty cents per pound, actual weight, for any shipment in excess of 100 pounds, the value may be released by inserting "not exceeding $50," or "not exceeding fifty cents per pound," in which case the company's liability is limited to an amount not exceeding the value so declared or released.

Shipper's Address Should Be Written Plainly On Outside and Inside of Each Package.

1. The provisions of this receipt shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the consignor, the consignee, and all carriers handling this shipment, and shall apply to any consignment, or return thereof.

2. In consideration of the rate charged for carrying said property, which is dependent upon the value thereof and is based upon an agreed valuation of not exceeding fifty dollars for any shipment of 100 pounds or less, and not exceeding fifty cents per pound, actual weight for any shipment in excess of 100 pounds, unless a greater value is declared at the time of shipment, the shipper agrees that the company shall not be liable in any event for more than fifty dollars for any shipment of 100 pounds or less, or for more than fifty cents per pound, actual weight, for any shipment weighing more than 100 pounds, unless a greater value is stated herein. Unless a greater value is declared and stated herein the shipper agrees that the value of the shipment is as last set out and that the liability of the company shall in no event exceed such value.

3. Unless caused by its own negligence or that of its agents, the company shall not be liable for—
   a. Difference in weight or quantity caused by shrinkage, leakage, or evaporation.
   b. The death, injury, or escape of live freight.
   c. Loss of money, bullion, bonds, coupons, jewelry, precious stones, valuable papers, or other matter of extraordinary value, unless such articles are enumerated in the receipt.

4. Unless caused in whole or in part by its own negligence or that of its agents, the company shall not be liable for loss or damage, or delay caused by—
   a. The act or default of the shipper or owner.
   b. The nature of the property, or defect or inherent vice therein.
   c. Improper or insufficient packing, securing or addressing.
   d. The Act of God, public enemies, authority of law, quarantine, riots, strikes, perils of navigation, the hazards or dangers incident to a state of war, or occurrence in custom warehouse.
   e. The examination by, or partial delivery to, the consignee of C. O. D. shipments.
   f. Delivery under instructions of consignor or consignee at stations where there is no agent of the company after such shipments have been left at such stations.

5. Packages containing fragile articles or articles consisting wholly or in part of glass must be so marked and be packed so as to insure safe transportation by express with ordinary care.

6. When consigned to a place at which the Express Company has no office, shipments must be marked with the name of the express station at which delivery will be accepted or be marked with forwarding directions if to go beyond the express company's line by a carrier other than an express company. If not so marked shipments will be refused.

7. Except where the loss, damage, or injury complained of is due to delay or damage while being loaded or unloaded, or damaged in transit by carelessness or negligence, as conditions precedent to recovery, claims must be made in writing to the originating or delivering carriers within nine months after delivery of the property or, in case of failure to make delivery, then within nine months and fifteen days after date of shipment; and suits for loss, damage or delay shall be instituted only within two years and one day after the date when notice in writing is given by the carrier to the claimant that the carrier has disallowed the claim or any part or parts thereof.

8. If any C. O. D. is not paid within thirty days after notice of non-delivery has been mailed to the shipper the Company may at its option return the property to the consignor.

9. Free delivery will not be made at points where the company maintains no delivery service; at points where delivery service is maintained, free delivery will not be made at addresses beyond the established and published delivery limits.

Special Additional Provisions as to Shipments Forwarded by Vessel from the United States to Places in Foreign Countries.

10. If the destination specified in this receipt is in a foreign country, the property covered hereby shall, as to transit over ocean routes and by their foreign connections to such destination, be subject to all the terms and conditions of the receipts or bills of lading of ocean carriers as accepted by the company for the shipment, and of foreign carriers participating in the transportation, and as to such transit is accepted for transportation and delivery subject to the acts, ladings, laws, regulations and customs of oversea and foreign carriers' custodians, and governments, their employees and agents.

11. The company shall not be liable for any loss, damage or delay to said shipments over ocean routes and their foreign connections, the destination of which is in a foreign country, occuring outside the boundaries of the United States which may be occasioned by any such acts, ladings, laws, regulations, or customs. Claims for loss, damage or delay must be made in writing to the carrier at the port of export or to the carrier issuing this receipt within nine months after delivery of the property at said port or, in case of failure to make such delivery, then within nine months and fifteen days after date of shipment; and claims so made against delivering or issuing carrier shall be deemed to have been made against any carrier which may be liable hereunder. Suits shall be instituted only within two years and one day after the date when notice in writing has been given by the carrier to the claimant that the carrier has disallowed the claim or any part or parts thereof. Where claims are not so made and/or suits are instituted thereon in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the carrier shall not be liable.

12. It is hereby agreed that the property destined to such foreign countries, and assessable with foreign governmental or customs, duties, taxes, or charges, may be stopped in transit at foreign ports, frontiers, or depositories, and there held pending examination, assessments, and payments, and such duties and charges, when advanced by the Company, shall become a lien on the property.

RECEIVED

My dear Mr Howe;

I received your letter of the 10th for which I thank you and I am sending you the cane as per you instructions, to you in to days mail.
This was made in The town called Cabo Rojo in Puerto Rico and means red handle, and is made of all naturel Woods and has no varnish or paint or stains of any kind, just polished and I thaught that possibly the President would like to have one, and it gives me a great deal of pleasure to send this to him, for I think he is the worlds greatest man, and I feel its a great honour to have him except this small present from me, I would be glad if you would advise me if it arrives on time.

Wishing the President and his family a very pleasent Christmas, and the same to you Mr Howe,.

Dear Sir:

A great number of people are writing to the President to tell him how he has inspired them toward a greater recovery, a spiritual recovery which in turn will cause the material.

I have tried to express in sculpture the feeling of confidence in the future of thousands of young men like myself under his admirable leadership.

In this piece of sculpture, I have tried to portray a youth looking forward to his goal. The blocky masses in front of him represent the obstacles that he has to conquer. Nevertheless, he is undaunted; he is determined to reach that goal.

The literal side of it pictures the youth of the land, undecided and confused in the middle of the road of life, not knowing whether to go forward or back. Inspired by a great and courageous leader, it turns forward, determined to overcome anything in its path.

I hope I have succeeded in giving a graphic portrayal of the feeling youth is experiencing at the present time.

I trust President Roosevelt will accept the photograph I am sending him. If I may have a few words as to President Roosevelt's opinion of the work, I shall be greatly honored.

Respectfully yours,

Sir:

I am presuming to take the liberty of sending to you a small medallion which I have designed and wrought in bronze and gilded.

In the design I have sought to symbolize the depression and the return to better times under your leadership by showing on the one hand the idle crumbling factory and on the other the restored and busy plant, with smoke again emerging from the rebult stack

I trust that you will accept it as a token of appreciation from an eighty-five year old American of Italian lineage who, since 1888 has lived and worked on these shores.

Respectfully yours,

The American Mining Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C.

December 6, 1934

To the Honorable,
The President of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

Under another cover we are sending you a copy of "The Unseen Empire," a booklet sponsored by the National Committee on the Rehabilitation of the United States Bureau of Mines, under the auspices of The American Mining Congress. Mr. Eugene McAuliffe and a highly representative committee have worked diligently over a period of several months in collecting this material, editing it and finally getting it published.

While the primary purpose of this booklet is to bring about a better situation in regard to the Bureau, it has the more far reaching and fundamental purpose of informing the public generally as to the economic importance of the mineral industries to our industrial prosperity. As it so forcefully presents, the mineral industries have an invested capital of approximately $15,000,000,000; they employ 1,700,000 men; they furnish 55.9 per cent of the total revenue freight handled by the railroads; they pay 22 per cent of the Federal tax; and are represented in every state in the Union. Therefore, it is at once obvious that whatever affects these industries affects the prosperity of the country as a whole.

We are extremely anxious that this booklet shall receive the widest possible publicity and distribution. May we ask you, as a member of The American Mining Congress, to send one or more copies to persons where it will do the most good--for instance, to your Senators and Congressmen, to the editors of your local and state papers, etc. Every possible avenue should be utilized to get the facts in this book before the country as a whole. If you will advise us how many copies you can use effectively, we shall be glad to furnish them to you free of costs.

Assuring you that Mr. McAuliffe and his committee will be deeply grateful for any assistance you may give them in telling the story, and trusting that we may have your comment upon the booklet and your cooperation in its distribution, I am

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. President:

"Railroad Mergers," published early in 1934, is my first attempt at writing a book and I shall be happy to have you accept the accompanying volume as your personal copy. If it contributes in the smallest measure to solving the country's railroad problem, the book will have served its purpose.

Faithfully yours,

My dear Mr. Ambassador:

Just a line to let you know that I received your letter of December twenty-eighth, enclosing one to the President, and, as you requested, sent it in to him with a copy of John Craige's book, "Cannibal Cousins", which Craige had presented to him in December.

With kindest personal regards to you and Mrs. Daniels and best wishes for the New Year,

Very sincerely yours,

EMBASSY OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

México, December 28, 1934.

Dear Mr. McIntyre:

Thinking it may not have been called to his attention, I am writing to-day to the President suggesting that he read two chapters - "Of Concordats and Commodes" and "Republicans and Rebellion" - in John H. Craige's new book, "Cannibal Cousins", which appeared recently. If, perchance, the book is not in the White House library, and the President has not seen it, I will thank you to buy a copy and present it to him for me. I know he will find at least these two chapters will give him a kick.

And all three of us were in the Navy when the purported incidents occurred, so I am writing direct to suggest that, if you want to read something that has a flavor all its own, you read this book. If you have not time to read it all, be certain to take the time to read the two chapters mentioned above.

I think often of the delightful associations in the years that you and Howe and the President and your humble servant served our country in the Navy Department in the crucial days of the World War.

Remember me to Howe and Steve Early and other friends. I am sure you like your enlarged quarters.

My wife, who, as you know, holds you in her affectionate regard, joins me in New Year's greetings to you and yours.

Faithfully yours,

Josephus Daniels

my dear Miss LeHand:

Strange as it may be - it is truth - I would never have believed that such stress of the need of money would come to me. When one has property that their husband would not have sold under seventy five thousand dollars, because of the joy we got from it, when beauty saturates one, and yet have to live on a small dole from a number of one's family and not be able to do one thing they want to do, have been accustomed to do — — —

Well, there is not much happiness. And I am nearly broken hearted over

Dear President Roosevelt: 103 E. Jefferson St. N. S. Pittsburgh Pa. December 17, 1934

Will you accept this hand-drawn picture of you from me as a Christmas gift?

I am a colored boy 12 years of age and my name is Charles Cooper. I go to Latimer Junior High School and am in the 7th grade. I have never had any training in art, I just picked it up as a small child.

Through my art teacher at school I received a free offer to attend a art school once a week, I have only been able to go three times, because my father has been unemplayed for the past 2 or 3 years.

We had your picture on a November ballot and I thought I would like to draw it, I hesitated in sending it to you, but different people who seen it encouraged me to do so. Enclosed is one of my small school picture.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
