Dear Mr. President:

+169

I am sending you under separate cover a sketch of our martyred President Lincoln and your Honorable self.

X

This sketch was drawn by M. Everett, a young man employed by the New York Air Brake Company as a core maker. This man, who has never had instruction in drawing, is twenty-seven years old, married and has two children.

May I ask that you accept this sketch in the spirit in which it is given and ~~may~~ that our Heavenly Father give you the continued health and wisdom to guide this country through the dark days ahead and into the peace, when we are victorious over the dangerous foes who would distroy us.

Very respectfully yours,

Burt C. Dennison

My dear Mr. Dennison:

The kind thought which prompted you to send the President that sketch drawn by Mr. Everett, to whom you refer in your nice letter of March fourth, is indeed appreciated. This evidence of your friendliness pleased him very much.

The President wants you to know how deeply grateful he is for your prayerful wishes.

Dear Mr. President:

We take great pleasure in sending you one of the numbered proofs of the lithograph of George Washington Carver by Nicholas Panesis.

x# P.P.F. 6991

This lithograph is being used on the jacket of Rackham Holt's biography, GEORGE WASHINGTON CARVER, which will be published on April 2nd.

We believe that it catches the spirit of the man and suggests the enormous contribution that he made to the American way of life.

Mar. 10, 1943.

Wrote to the President expressing his sincere appreciation for the services and treatment rendered to him medically and surgically, while a patient at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md. Says that on the above date he is departing for home and sending to the President a small token of esteem from one of the Delanos of Chile, his mother, Mrs. Carmen Delano de Sweet. - - - Presidential Memorandum for Admiral Brown, Mar. 12, 1943. The President asks Adm. Brown to find out what this man's rank is and to prepare a note of thanks for the lovely ash tray from his mother. - - -The President wrote (as per draft from Adm. Brown) Mar. 15, 1943, thanking Midshipman Sweet for the beautiful silver ash tray from his mother. Further states that it is hoped the visit to the Naval Hospital may have aided him in a complete recovery of good health, and regrets very much not to have seen Midshipman Sweet before his departure from this country. - -Penciled notation " Silver Ash tray given to GGT by the President"

The reason for the additional delay is that we thought it advisable to have the plate inscribed and installed before forwarding it on.

It really was a great thrill to all our employees to have the pleasure and the privilege of having you visit our Plant and there has been a very noticeable increase in production and a definite upbuilding of morale since your visit.

Hoping you arrived back home in Washington safely and in the best of health.

Dear Mr.President;

No More Re-Made Coffee; President Switches to Milk

Washington (AP)

President Roosevelt now drinks a glass of milk instead of coffee for breakfast, Mrs. Roosevelt told her press conference today.

"The President has given up drinking coffee," the First Lady said.

After reading the enclosed news item I decided to send you a free bottle of my Coffee liquid concentrate. One teaspoon of this in a cup of hot water will make a good cup of coffee.

This product is made from the non-rationed powder and oils from genuine coffee into this liquid concentrate which we feel makes coffee nearly as good as the usual grounds method. In addition you can make up just the amount desired without waste. Also there are no grounds to throw out. All you need is hot water.

There are about six teaspoons in an ounce and a cook can use an ounce for every six glasses she wishes to make. It can be combined also with the grounds method if desired.

We sell many large users such as Drug Chains in addition to retail sales all over the country.

Our price to all 50 gal. buyers is $10. gal. However to you Mr.President it will be only $5. a gallon. You can buy in any amounts you desire from 1 gal. up.

We would appreciate your comments when you have tried this sample.

Dear Mr. President:

Enclosed are three photographs - one which I hope you will accept - the other two which I would ask that you present on my behalf, one to Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England and the other to Prime Minister McKensie King of Canada.

I am an American who served with the Canadians (C.E.F.) in World War No. 1, and the enclosed picture is from my personal records.

Last September I sent a copy of this photograph to Queen Mary of England and when she acknowledged same she expressed her delight in receiving the picture, not only because of its historical value, but because of the extreme likeness of His Majesty and Lord Kitchener.

Also you will find data enclosed regarding the picture as well as a record of my experiences overseas.

At the present time I have an application on file with both the United States Marines and the United States Army and hope, in the near future, to have the opportunity of serving my Country.

Yours respectfully,
D. J. Dwyer

RECORD OF D.J.DWYER (Acting Captain) C.E.F. War NO. 1

In 1912 I had a contract with the British Columbia Government to make motion pictures of the natural resources of the Province for educational and publicity purposes. The films were printed and completed in Victoria, B.C. When war was declared, I offered my services and photographic equipment to the Canadian Government. I received a commission as Lieutenant and was attached to the 30th Battalion and was sent overseas as the Official Photographer to the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

I was given full authority from Maj. Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of War of the Canadian Government, to produce motion pictures of the C.E.F., but I had to secure permission to make the picture from the War Office in London. As this was a new venture for the British, it took a little time to convince the authorities in London, but I was finally given this permission.

I produced several series of pictures of the various branches of the C.E.F. and returned to Canada on various trips. In 1917-18 I directed tours across Canada and the U. S. for recruiting and publicity purposes.

While attached to Headquarters in London, I met several of the prominent men of England. Among my experiences is one I shall not forget,--that of showing a series of my films to the King and Queen and their Royal guests in Waterloo Gallery at Windsor Castle, when I also had the honor of being presented to Their Majesties.

The following is a copy of a statement by Charles Swayne, Editor of the "Daily Colonist," Victoria, B.D., which was used as an introduction to my story entitled - "Can't Be Done?" with reference to my photographic experience overseas:

"The story of Lieutenant D. J. Dwyer's experiences as a photographer attached to the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in the Great War has as its moral the lesson of how success is won by a bold front, by perserverance and by the determination never to be downcast whatever the thrusts of fate. It is a record of fact. It is a story, too, of how perhaps the most wonderful collection of moving pictures of stirring scenes connected with the struggle in which great figures pass in review, were assembled, often in the face of difficulties including official efforts to circumscribe the task.

"The tale is told modestly and that element of it is emphasized in no way better than on one fact of significance of which mention is omitted entirely. When he returned to Canada with his moving pictures, Lieutenant Dwyer, at his own expense, in face of opposition, determined to show his pictures in the country. The object he had in view was to encourage recruiting for the Canadian Expeditionary Force. He organized a first showing with elaborate preparations. It was an immediate success. The people of Canada wanted to see the pictorial record of incidents in the life of the Expeditionary Force. Patriotism was stirred up anew. More showings were given and there was an immediate response to recruiting. Lieutenant Dwyer, by his initiative and enterprise was undoubtedly instrumental in attracting hosts of young fellows to the colors--one estimate of his achievement in this respect places the number of these inspired by his pictorial record at 10,000. He was therefore an asset of very high value to the country he elected to serve for it may be mentioned that Lieutenant Dwyer is an American and one of those who in the early days of the Great War foresaw that it was only a question of time before his country would be engaged in the struggle. He did not wait. He enlisted with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. His enthusiasm and a bright attractive personality was an inspiration to his fellows.

"The moving pictures now in the possession of Lieutenant Dwyer, are to him the most interesting record of his life's work. There is one especially which he prizes most highly, that which shows His Majesty and the Late Lord Kitchener together at a review of Canadian Troops and probably the last picture ever taken of Kitchener in company with the King for the review took place almost on the eve of the departure of the War Secretary aboard the "Hampshire" on his Russian mission. Lieutenant Dwyer has done well to give his experiences to print. There are evidences in the story he has to tell of how dynamic abilities will win through whatever the obstacles in the way. There are sidelights, too, on the war which have not seen the light of publication before. His story is one of special interest to all who had any part in the great struggle, and it is of wider interest still because of the locality in which the scenes are laid and the fact that there is no attempt in any particular to draw upon the imagination. It is plain record of happenings and the story of how an historic series of moving pictures of war scenes are assembled."

The above is a summary of my war record, which please file in your official files.

...ND QUEEN WERE PLEASED WITH PICTURES

After Seeing Second Series of Canadian Records Gave Them Prompt Approval

When "Canada's Fighting Forces" Series Two, the war film which Lieut. D. J. Dwyer is presenting at the Bijou theatre for three days, beginning tomorrow was shown in Windsor Castle at a command performance before their Majesties, the King and Queen, on September 21, King George instructed Mr. Dwyer to tell the people that he and the Queen had seen the films and were well pleased with them. At one or two private views given in Ottawa and Montreal since the photographer's return to Canada a few weeks ago, expressions of unbounded delight have been heard at the magnificent display of military life under war conditions.

Several excellent war films have been shown in Canada in the past year or two, but with the exception of the first series taken by the same operator, these are the only ones dealing exclusively with the activities of Canadian soldiers. Canadians in the air service, Canadians in the navy, Canadians in the medical service, Canadians in action, and wounded Canadians in hospitals, all are shown and in many cases at such close range that it is quite possible for the audience to pick out friends and acquaintances on the screen. Indeed, many of the aviation groups in connection with the college where the men learn their work are actually intimate portrait studies.

Mr. President:

The enclosed portrait is the accumulated effort of one of my high school students semester's work. The likeness and portrayal of character was so outstanding and striking that I thought you would appreciate having this picture as an example of what the high school youth think of their President.

Your acceptance of Miss Doris Carter's portrait will not only be an honor to her but to Highline High School.

My dear President

I am sending you a picture that I made myself which is by no means joyful, but I want to tell you that for the present it is only a small thing in what I could be able to do if you encouraged me to continue until Victory.

I tried to serve my country in all ways. I was a 'minute man' also an air raid warden, but due to an accident, in which my collarbone and spine was fractured, and shoulder dislocated.

The army also doesn't want me any more, but I hope that I can do other service for my country.

I am most anxious to hear from

MEMO FOR MHM

Léon Pearson phoned this morning to say that Julius J. Davis, a Methodist Missionary in the Belgian Congo for twenty-two years is in town with an ivory cane which he wishes to present to the President. Mr. Davis is a great admirer of the President and has heard the President's broadcast in the Belgian Congo surrounded by natives.

Mr. Pearson said that since he knew the President could not accept the cane personally, he thought you might do it in the President's behalf.

I phoned Mr. Davis at the MMCA, Nat. 8250 and explained that you would be happy to receive the cane from him. He expressed the hope that he would be able to give it to the President personally and I explained why not - no exceptions - no personal appointments. He then told me he didn't believe he cared to give it to any one but the President since it was rather valuable. He said, however, he would think it over so I told him if he cared to call me later on w e would try to arrange a convenient time for you to accept the cane.

His Excellency,

The President of the United States.

My dear Mr. President:

I send you herewith a book which you may not have seen—Walter Lippman's last book entitled "U. S. Foreign Policy". It is so superior and enlightened that I feel sure you will like it. I have read it twice carefully and it seems to me it supports the views which Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe upheld and which Theodore Roosevelt and you have supported more than other Presidents. It is so clearly stated that it is very convincing, and I can not but think you will find it very well worth reading. It outlines the proper policy after this war is over in a way which seems to me eminently sensible and convincing. For this reason I take the liberty of sending it to you just in case you had not had time to read it.

Sincerely and respectfully,

Frederic A. Delano

TRANSLATOR'S SUMMARY OF COMMUNICATION

File Copy.

Language in which written: French

Date of communication: July 7, 1943 (Postmark)

Addressed to: The President

Name and address of writer: Rev. J.-Emil Dupont
St. Alphonse Rectory
40 Railroad Avenue
Beverley, Mass.

Substance of statements made by the writer:

The writer, sending him although he is aware that the President is not without information regarding international politics, takes the liberty of two pamphlets, and also two or three works of the eminent historian Jacques Bainville, which explain the French point of view, which seems to have been disregarded in the peridd between the two world wars. These works might indicate to sincere and realistic statesmen, as the President has the reputation of being, the policy to follow to obtain lasting peace.

Mr. Bainville, in a series of newspaper articles, written during the 1911-1936 (the date of his death), prophecied with uncanny accuracy the course of events in Europe. The books of his recommended by the writer are entitled: "Germany" (3 vols.), "The Political Consequences of the Peace" and "England and the British Empire" (with a preface by Morton Fullerton). These explain the reasons for French policy through the centuries and show that she has never been militaristic or imperialistic but has always sought order and prosperity within and security with the rest of Europe. It is true that Bainville was a royalist as far as France is concerned, but it was because he understood that the monarchy was the only form of government suited to her. History since 1789 proves this to be true.

The writer begs the President's pardon for writing so long a letter. He adds that it may encourage the President to know that the Franco-American clergy in the vicinity admire and have confidence in him.

Subject: Giving employment to handicapped Soldiers and War Widows.

My Most Hon. President:-

We are in the business of blending certain chemicals into a cleaning compound, known as the "Dan-Co Victory Cleaner".

Being a world war Veteran myself, my heart has always been for the boys who came back crippled and handicapped for life and I shudder to think of the thousands that will return before we win the present war.

Thus far, most of our business has been with the Kaiser Shipyards, Western Pipe & Steel, F. H. A. Building Projects and such industries and also the Ford Motor Company.

I have two plants now. One up North near San Fransisco and one here in Inglewood. After the war, I am going to make it National as soon as alocations are removed from the purchase of chemicals I use.

A word of expression from you regarding this plan would be greatly appreciated.

I propose to have "Dan-Co" blended, packed, labeled, sealed and sold by the handicapped boys and widows. From my own experience I know any man can make approximately $8.00 to $10.00 a day doing door to door selling.

Under separate cover I am sending you a box for you to try in your own home.

Trusting you may find a few moments to reply, along with the wonderful work you are doing for our Country.

We beg to remain
Yours very truly,
