Dear Mr. President;

I hope you have enjoyed your summer vacation, in Hyde Park, New York. I suppose your anious to know, why I sent you this token of "God Bless you." Well, I won't keep you in suspense any longer.

I hunted day after day for a token, which would express my feelings toward you. Finally my search was ended, and I found what I wanted. And you can believe me, I mean every word of it. May this token have a special place on your desk.

My dear Mr. Fenton:

That is a very delightful offer of yours, and I appreciate it. I have a long trout rod and also several heavy rods for salt-water fishing. I think the kind I need most is a short, light rod for catching sea fish that would run up to two or three pounds. A regular trout rod for such fish is altogether too long to use in a boat.

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Mr President.

I know you are a very busy man and a Fisherman.

I am a fisherman and have a hobby,
My hobby is making fishing rods for pleasure,
It would be a great pleasure to me to make a rod for your own use on your fishing trips.
I assure you Mr President, I am not looking for any publicity in this matter, and should you accept this offer as a courtesy I one fisherman to another, I would be very much pleased to make and send to with my regards a rod to your liking, be it a boat or surf casting rod in any weight & length to suit your fancy.
Should you accept this offer and get half the pleasure out of using the rod, as I would get in making same we both surely would have a fine time. I beg to be

Honorable President:

I feel guilty of imposing on your time even to the extent of writing you a letter, but I want to tell you that, though I have never met you personally, I have met you on the radio and through the newspapers at every opportunity offered, and I earnestly hope that the strenuous life you are living will not pull too hard on your health and endurance.

We need you more and more as the days go in, and we hope that each day will lighten your burdens, as your efforts get the results they surely are entitled to.

Under separate cover I am mailing you our book, "The Greenhouse Beautiful," hoping that you or Mrs. Roosevelt may find time to look it over some day and that there might be a chance that we could be of service to you along the lines shown in this book.

If the opportunity affords, I assure you I will endeavor to give you the same kind of service that you are now giving to your country and mine.

Hoping that you will be blessed with continued health and strength to carry on your strenuous work, I remain

In responce to your letter of Sept 15th in answer to my offer of a fishing rod for your personal use, am sending today via Parcel Post- two rods- such as I think will be useful to you on your fishing trips one 6ft in length 6z weight I feel will give you a great amount of pleasure with the hooker. We ask fish flat fish. Porgies etc.
The other 4ft. length 3 7/8z weight you will find a short little rod capable of a lot of hard useage.
Pardon me but I would suggest cuttyhunk lines of 6 thread or 9 thread for best results on rods of this size- I have used rods of these sizes for several years on the atlantic coast in waters adjacent to Chincateague & Hog Island Va. This is my favorite fishing grounds- From your letter I feel thru is an open space in your rod equipment between your heavy sea rods and these I am sending.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt—

Dear Sir:—

It gives me great pleasure to forward to you an oil painting of yourself as a "Pilot of the N. R. A."

I have never studied fine arts, but have been painting since early boyhood. I copied the face of the picture I sent you from the newspaper, the rest of the picture is my own idea.

Being seventy three years of age, I have seen several administrations, but none handled in as clean manner as you are doing.

Things may look black as they do on the painting, but you will face it with a smile.

Dear Sir:-

As a manufacturer of reproduced antique furniture I desire to present you with a combination beer cabinet and magazine rack which may be used in any department of the home. The workmanship will be exceptionally good and you will be proud of it I am sure. Kindly advise if you will accept this piece of furniture, which will be made of choice woods and set the date on which I may present it. It will take me three weeks at least to make this piece of furniture as all my work is done by hand.

On the first day of Jan. 1933 I presented President Hoover with a hand carved clock with electrical works which he greatly appreciated. He now has it in his home in California.

Waiting to hear from you, I am.

Sincerely,

Your Excellency:

As a slight token of appreciation for your fine speech at the National Convention of Catholic Charities, I take pleasure in sending you a copy of my book, "Cardinal Hayes - A Treasury of Wisdom and Knowledge." The beautiful thoughts of His Eminence, whose life is devoted to his struggling fellow-men , which resemble gems of rarest loveliness, have been lovingly gathered to make up this book. His noble thoughts of charity, education and patriotism emanate from a philosophy born of great wisdom. The wisdom that sprang from the Heart of God went forth into that of His beloved son and enveloped his vast flock in its radiance, even as the life giving rays of the sun embrace the universe with their warm glow.

You paid a high honor to our beloved Cardinal, as well as to the millions of Catholics throughout the world, by your presence upon that occasion for the promotion of charity, based upon Christian love and Social Justice.

In his Pastoral, at the close of the Conference, His Eminence said:

" Throughout the diocese, and even throughout the nation, is still re-echoing the golden voice of Christian Charity. Undoubtedly a bountiful benediction of grace is falling upon the Church and the Nation which met to-gether to lay urgent emphasis on neighborly love during these disturbing times. Our abiding gratitude, inexpressible by human tongue, goes out from our innermost hearts to the President of the United States who graced by his illustrious presence the Conference and spoke so heartening a message to the Country. New York feels singularly honored to have been the theatre where such a sublime drama of Christ's own charity has been made manifest to men."

This splendid union of God's spirit with your government, which has given birth to the spirit of the New Deal , is something to be deeply thankful for. Surely, by seeking counsel from the Source of All Good and of All Wisdom as you did upon your inauguration to your great office, you can not avoid bringing back better times built on a firmer foundation.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

E. Formica

The Cardinal Speaks

Cardinal Hayes Ruby Jubilee, the fortieth year of ordination of His Eminence Patrick Cardinal Hayes.

The great work of the Cardinal for the Nation as well as the Church; the wisdom of his teachings; his knowledge and understanding of national problems and those of his fellow men have received world acclaim. Few people realize the wide scope of his writings; practically every subject of importance in the life of the people and in their attitude toward their country has been touched upon. Cardinal Hayes is a national figure in our American life as well as a beloved prelate of the Church; he is an American in the finest sense of the word and his writings are directed to the American public.

It is the privilege for all good Americans to give thanks that we have been blessed with the inspiring influence of this great mind for over forty years.

Tributes to Monsignor Formica

From New York to California millions of people listen eagerly to Monsignor Formica over station WCDA. Monsignor Formica, who is the edition-in-chief of "The Voice of the Immigrant" and the director of the Italian Auxiliary, at 45 West Street, New York, is giving voice to the tremendous problem which is playing so vital a part in America.

—Catholic News

By command of King Victor Emmanuel, Msgr. Germano Formica has been made a Knight of the Crown of Italy.

And so by royal gesture is bestowed upon the solid and familiar figure of the little priest the accolade which has already been poured out to him from thousands of home-sick hearts that gained solace from his kindly ministrations.

—New York American

Monsignor Formica—the good priest who is lovingly called "The Little Father of the Immigrants," by those who know him well, has prepared a lovely book—This book is beautifully written and illustrated in such a way as to bring out all the charm of the glorious crusade.

—of "Eucharistic Congress of Chicago"—Tablet

Monsignor Formica is a member of the Catholic Press Association and of the Catholic Writers Guild. He has written several books during the eight years he has been in the United States. Every English and Italian press throughout this country, Canada and Italy have recognized his noble work and literary attainments.

Monsignor has taken such a keen interest in America that he has not confined himself to writing books of a religious character but has also written an American History.

In "Cardinal Hayes" he has excelled himself, for in this work he has looked straight into the heart of "The Noble Cardinal of Charity." In that great mind he has found wisdom which comforts and inspires. Let us therefore avail ourselves of the wonderful privilege of being in the presence of His Eminence's soul in all its beauty and grandeur.

The Cardinal Speaks

Religious America

America is a deeply religious nation. All of the Presidents of the United States from the beginning, with hardly an exception, were God-fearing men. The die of our coinage bearing the familiar inscription, "In God We Trust," is public testimony of the religious mindedness of the American people.

Christ

Christ the Saviour of the World—Whose majestic stature, Divine teaching, and inspiring example live on through all the centuries that were, that are, and that can ever be. His is the way, the truth, and the life, that mark and bless with surety, safety and happiness, both in time and eternity.

Charity

I hold it to be a shining truth, conceived in faith and proved in history, that charity is the supreme test and goal of all human relations.

Charity lies at the heart of the world, and without charity the riddle of the universe, which has vexed the minds of the sages, remains cold and dark.

George Washington

Washington was a deeply religious man. His prayer at Valley Forge is known to every schoolboy. The father of our Country has place among the immortals of men. His fame and his deeds shine forth with special luster not to be found in Alexander, or Caesar or Napoleon or other great military figures of history.

Abraham Lincoln

In the heroic figure of Abraham Lincoln, who in life and death consecrated himself to the purest ideals of the nation, the law of the "charity of brotherhood" shall ever find inspiration: "With charity towards all, with malice towards none."

Radio

Radio—this wonderful instrument. It has tunnelled the clouds, it has spanned space, it has blazed a trail. It has opened up roadways and highways through the sky. it has sounded the depths and reached the heights, it has created speedy, intelligent and happy messengers among the clouds.

Religious Freedom

Here the Church, enjoying the fullest measure of religious freedom, has made most extraordinary progress. This liberty, common to Catholics as well as people of other faiths, in the United States, has inspired every class with a spirit of patriotism unexcelled anywhere.

God

It is the sublimity of folly to deny the existence of God. The perfection, the infinity, the immensity, the incomprehensibility, the majesty, the omnipotence, the beauty and the goodness of God are engraved upon the hearts of men and are proclaimed by the glory of the firmament above and the earth beneath. His name is written in indelibly clear and unmistakable letters upon all that we behold with our eyes and reflect on with our minds.

I am enclosing a page from the American Pigeon Keeper on which appears my article "Dragoons My Hobby". You will notice that in our pigeon work we mention the N.R.A. We plan to buy supplies only from dealers displaying the blue eagle. My job as Publicity Director for the Eastern Dragoon Club is to create news in the Dragoon Fancy. As a specialty club we the members of the Eastern Dragoon Club are behind you 100% in all your grand efforts.

The future of the pigeon fancy partly depends on our government and its leader, Pres. F.D. Roosevelt.

Amongst the army of unemployment we have many Dragoon fanciers. Now that they are returning to work we are looking for a grand Dragoon Year during 1934.

A. R. P. U. Convention Attracts Thousands of Fanciers

ALL roads appeared to lead toward Chicago and the convention of the American Racing Pigeon Union, held Oct. 26, 27, 28 and 29. This was the long planned and long looked for World's Fair Convention and Show and many fanciers claimed that it was the most successful convention the Union has had in years.

The Stevens Hotel was the headquarters and it was there most of the fanciers stayed during their visit. The registration booth presided over by the genial James Ruzek of Cicero, Ill., was constantly surrounded by fanciers as was the ball room located on the 31st floor of the hotel where more than three hundred of the best Racing Pigeons in America were exhibited and judged.

The show room with its parquet floors, silken drapes, comfortable lounges and perfect lighting effects, was a thing of beauty and it was here the fanciers greeted each other to recall old times, view the prize winners and plan future events. Thousands of races were verbally flown again in this show room during the convention.

From the balcony a perfect view of the World's Fair could be seen, laying as it does almost beneath the hotel's windows.

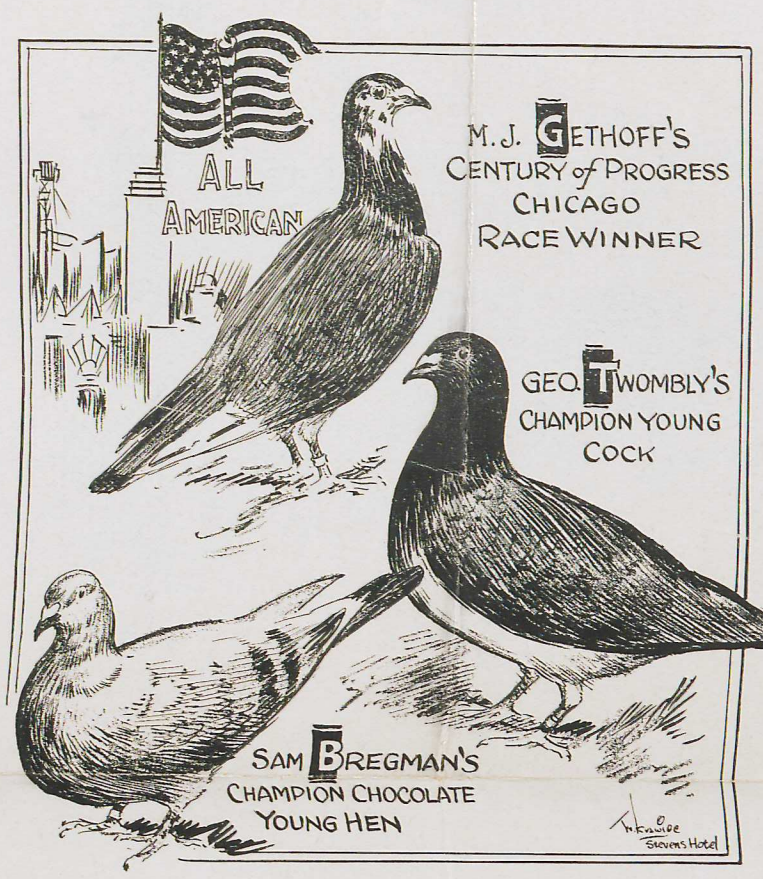
Success Due to Committees

When we attempted to congratulate Dr. Edlund for the part he played in making the convention the success it was he took particular pains to impress upon our minds that no thanks could be given to any one person as it was the efforts put forth by every fancier that made the show successful. He told of the work done by the committees that handled the races, the programs, the hotel arrangements, entertainments and all the thousand and one details which go to make a successful convention. He even lauded the ladies for their kindness to visiting guests and mentioned them in name just as he did the men committees. We are inclined to believe that he minimumed his own efforts that those of others would be shown to better advantage.

The judges, Al Vowles, R. C. Huddy and E. Lang Miller, did a most difficult job to perfection. They were unhurried and spent considerable time after the judging to explain why a particular bird won or lost.

Among the fanciers in attendance were Edward Barnes, Sam Bregman, August Bartels, Dr. A. J. Consaul, Dr. R. Paul Dingman, W. R. Fancher, Bard Hamilton, E. DeMooy, Tim O'Mara, Herman Klien, Harry Burke, Carl Priewe, Edw. Van Wulfen and thousands of others.

On Saturday evening a banquet was held in the Grand Ball Room and attended by 685 fanciers and their friends. An excellent floor show was provided and dancing followed. The evening was spent in having a good time with no long speeches to take up the fleeting hours the fanciers preferred to spend in reminiscence. Summing it all up it was a convention for the fanciers, by the fanciers and attended by the fanciers.



Birds seen at A. R. P. N. Convention show held Oct. 26-27-28-29 at Stevens Hotel, Chicago. Sam Bregman is the fancier who so ably published the catalog for the convention, while Geo. Twombly is the publisher of Pigeon News of Medford, Mass. Mr. Gethoff's bird was the winner of the World's Fair Race.

Three hundred mile Y. B. race from Ames, Iowa. Two hundred and eighty-six lofts and 2,809 birds competing. Weather at start, clear, N. W. wind. Weather at home, cloudy, N. E. wind. Time of liberation, 6:30 A. M. The winner was M. C. Getzoff, speed, 1200.93. Then follows fanciers with the time: Czerwin, 1188.37; M. & C. Loft, 1188.13; Ed Havel, 1181.97; Klimek, 1177.21; M. & C. Loft, 1175.49; Faber, 1164.22; J. De Geeter, 1163.54; Brabenec, 1161.62; Dujardin, 1159.92; Grunwald, 1158.23. The first 46 winners won prizes while the first 58 were diploma winners.

We do not know just how authentic the information is that came to us since the race stating that a number of Racing birds have recently located in the vicinity of 112th and Torrence Ave., South Chicago, Ill., but a party is seen there each evening capturing as many as he can and removing the leg bands from the birds.

This is a strange coincident inasmuch as the prize winning bird was from that same neighborhood. It being the bird of M. G. Getzoff, 7315 Oglesby Ave., Chicago.

Mr. Getzoff submitted a picture of the prize winner to us, but too late for publication in this issue. Watch for it in the December issue. It is a beauty.

Chicago Fanciers Please Note

Mr. W. T. Renstrom, of 5832 S. Western Ave., Chicago, Ill., informs us that hundreds of Racing pigeons have recently located in the vicinity of 112th and Torrance Ave., South Chicago, Ill. These, we are led to believe are the birds entered in the World's Fair Race which was won by a fancier in that same neighborhood. A man is seen capturing these birds and removing their bands at night. There are gas tanks and steel mills in the neighborhood and it is near them the birds roost. Inquire of Mr. Renstrom for further information.

Puritan Dragoon Lofts, Medford Mass, James F. Fonseca, Owner. This is the Home of Fonseca's Famous Dragoons which are known from Coast to Coast

Dragoons, My Hobby

James F. Fonseca
4 Laurence St., Medford, Mass.

Nineteen thirty-four will mark my 29th year as a fancier. On the front page you will note a picture of my new loft that is valued at $500. This cote was designed and built by Karl Forsell, Everett, Mass. It is 10x12 feet and 15 feet high, all strongly built with double walls. This loft has been made in sections and can be taken down in a few hours. On the first floor I have two pens for cocks and hens. The second floor I reserve for a nursery, enabling my youngsters to fly out each day. I have wired this house for electric lights and plan to have running water very soon. Between the two pens on the ground floor I have a small club room where I keep my grain, medicine chest and records. I plan to have a radio installed and believe this will be a new feature in pigeon lofts. My Dragoons can then here Amos and Andy and all favorite programs.

I clean this loft every day, also scour out all water dishes. Once a week I add a pinch of potassium of permanganate. This keeps all my Dragoons free from colds and infection.

I painted the outside with two coats of cream paint with dark brown trimmings. This building is equipped with burglar alarm, also I have a searchlight on my home that lights up all the grounds around the loft. I set my loft on cement blocks; this prevents mice and rats from getting inside. On each end I have a fly for my adult stock to go out to bathe and sun themselves.

When I look back 29 years I believe I have made some progress. In 1908 my first loft was a made-over dog-house, 3x2 feet, that set on stilts. After paying a visit to C. E. Twombly I secured two pairs of Homers. A common pigeon was added to my stud. A few squabs and my 2x3 foot loft was filled to capacity. I soon branched out and built a loft 4x6 feet. I flew Homers until 1918 than I built a large loft 12x6 feet from which I flew with the Malden Homing Club.

During the World War I retired from the fancy for a few years. In 1922 I moved from Somerville, Mass., to my new home in the country where I built a new loft 20x10 feet. I again kept Homers until 1927. I purchased an entire loft of Archangels from a fancier who was retiring on account of illness. I was not satisfied with my new breed because I found no classes at the shows.

At the 1928 Boston show I planned to get started with some other breed that was more popular. On New Year's Day I planned to look over each breed of pigeons very carefully. I started on Fantails, then, one by one, I finally stopped in Dragoon alley. There I met our club secretary, James G. Anderson, who in turn introduced me to E. Warner Howe, president of the American Dragoon Club.

After a very pleasant evening in Dragoon alley I was converted to the Dragoon fancy. Mr. Howe presented me with a wonderful pair of white Dragoons.

My first year I bred "Lindy," a wonderful cock, from Mr. Howe's pair. This cock won six firsts at Worcester, Brockton, Everett, Providence, Assinppi and Pawtucket. Was my chest puffed out! Let me tell you all right here it was a grand and glorious feeling.

Each year I have added many famous Dragoons to my stud. I owe all my success to Bill Friend, Jim Anderson and E. Warner Howe.

At the 1929 Boston show I noticed that we had no specialty club here in New England. A handful of Dragoon fanciers called an informal meeting during show week. This was the beginning of the Eastern Dragoon Club. Today our club is the fastest growing club in America.

I maintain club notes in three pigeon journals, also send semi-annual notes to two English papers. Each year I receive and answer over 100 letters sent in from every state in the Union.

This year I imported from Harry Smith, Bedford, England, his champion show team of blues and grizzles. This loft bred "Engdelene," famous blue champion cock that was sold to the late John Mitchell at a record price.

In addition to my blues and grizzles I am mating up ten pairs of whites. I plan to breed from 25 pairs next spring.

"Henri De Glane," by blue Dragoon champion cock, has won 14 blue ribbons. This year he was defeated at Pittsburgh by Roy Payne's famous "New Yorker." It took a grand pigeon to defeat my old warrior.

If I were a doctor the first question I would ask a tired business man would be, "Have you any hobby?" If the reply was "No," I would write out a prescription reading: "Get a loft, buy a few pairs of Dragoons." This would get him outdoors—no better medicine for the tired nerves.

To the many parents, may I suggest that they encourage their children to keep and raise Dragoons? It will help them solve their problems at school. It will teach them to be law-abiding citizens.

Help the NRA in keeping the wheels of industry moving. Buy lumber for a new loft, buy grain, buy Dragoons from the advertisers in this journal, buy bands for your youngsters, send in your entries to the pigeon shows, join a club.

Make your New Year's resolution now—that you will join the greater 1934 Dragoon parade.

Canker indicates that the blood of the birds is impure. Canker is sometimes caused by overfeeding birds, usually too rich feed. Birds should be slightly underfed. Canker is seldom found among underfed birds.

My dear Mr Roosevelt.

I have taken the liberty of sending to you with my compliments, by Parcel Post, another fishing rod which I have made expressly for you.

This rod is heavier than the other I sent and is fitted with my extension casting Butt. which, when extended, (by pulling out on lower grip) gives you proper leverage for distance casting & when closed enables you to manipulate your reel in a natural and easy way.

I feel that this rod will close the gap in your equipment between the light and heavy rods thus enabling you to get the utmost enjoyment out of your vacation trips.

May God abundantly bless you and yours for the great work you are doing for all of us.

Hon. M.H.McIntyre,
Asst. Secretary to the President,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. McIntyre:

May we express through you, our gratitude to The President for his most gracious act in autographing the football for our Shrine Crippled Children Hospitals, which will be disposed of at the classic New Years day.

As a further expression of our gratitude we are enclosing one of the official jackets of this classic for The President. We feel that he is taking as active a part in this event as is any player or official, and we will be proud to have him or his son wear this jacket.

We believe it is the finest garment of its kind ever manufacturer for an event of this kind. Although the colors may be a little bright, they are colors we all revere.

We also enclose a little memorandum of the program and list of players participating. This list probably has more stars than any other event of it's kind. There are four All-American players on this list. The portion of the program relating to the opening of the new postoffice will probably have to be dispensed with as we now understand that Mr. Farley will be unable to be here and a few days delay has been encountered in preparing the post office for the opening.

Will you please advise The President that we are behind him 100% in his program. That the writer has for his entire lifetime been a staunch Republican - was a close friend and admirer of former President Hoover - but has placed his full support behind President Roosevelt and will go the limit in helping carry out the great work he is doing in restoring prosperity and confidence to the people of this country.

Thanking you personally for your kindness in this matter, I am,

Cordially yours,

GREAT SMOKY MOUNTAIN ALL STAR FOOTBALL CLASSIC
