My dear Mrs. Flynn:

The President has asked me to ask your forgiveness for not writing this letter personally but this is one of the busiest seasons of the year for him. He wants you to know how grateful he is for the really lovely sailfish ashtray which you were good enough to send him. It is really a joy--not only to look at but because it is such a good size.

The President also appreciated your letter and asked me to send you his very best wishes for the New Year.

COLONEL DAVID FLYNN.

VETERAN

Ordnance Officer With ... Regular Division—Close Fri... of President Wilson.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 10 Colonel David Flynn, president the First National Bank of Prince ton, N. J., and World War veteran died here this morning in the Army and Navy General Hospital, where he had been suffering from a complication of ailments since March 11. He had been unconscious for almost a week. He was 59 years old.

His wife, his brother, Joseph Flynn of Point Pleasant, N. J., and sister, Miss Mary Flynn of Princeton, had been here since early last week. They departed tonight for Princeton, accompanying the body.

Began Career as Clerk.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 10.—Colonel Flynn was born here on Nov. 5, 1874. He received his education in the parochial schools. As a youth he was employed in the Princeton Postoffice. At the age of 25 he became a clerk in the First National Bank at $600 a year. His rise was gradual and in May, 1922, he was elected president.

...became a member of the New Jersey National Guard. He served as State inspector general of rifle practice for seventeen years, finally being appointed a colonel.

Served Overseas in Army.

At the outbreak of the World War Colonel Flynn became ordnance officer for the Eighth Regular Army Division. He served two years overseas.

He was an intimate friend of Woodrow Wilson, who, when he became Governor, appointed Colonel Flynn to his staff at Seagirt, where he was with the Governor constantly as an adviser throughout the Summer after his nomination for President. Shortly after entering the White House, President Wilson sent Colonel Flynn an autographed photograph of himself inscribed "To my old friend, Dave Flynn."

On July 25, 1931, Colonel Flynn married Miss Lucyle d'Aims Boatwright of Aiken, S. C.

He was a trustee of the Princeton Public Library, the Nassau Club and the Springdale Golf Club, and a member and former chairman of the executive committee of the Princeton Unemployment Relief Fund.

A Compliment by Wilson.

When Woodrow Wilson was nominated for the Presidency, the citizens of Princeton presented to him a large silver loving cup, and the presentation speech was made by Colonel Flynn. The two men met later in France, and Colonel Flynn was introduced at a public meeting in Paris by the President.

Colonel Flynn was a former vice president for New Jersey of the national bank section of the American Bankers Association. He was chairman of the committee of collection of the New Jersey Bankers Association and a member of its executive committee. He was treasurer of the Princeton Military Company and treasurer of the Princeton Citizens Association.

Colonel Flynn's body will arrive ...Princeton tomorrow (Thursday) ...rning at 8 o'clock from Hot ...prings. There will be a military funeral, members of American Legion Post 76 of Princeton acting as escorts. A high mass of requiem will be sung in St. Paul's Church at 9 A. M. Burial will take place in St. Paul's Cemetery.

Washington
24th December 1937

Miss Margaret Le Hand
Secretary to
The President.

Dear Miss Le Hand.

I am the widow of the late Colonel David Flynn of Princeton, New Jersey. Colonel Flynn was a close friend of the late President Cleveland & his widow Mrs Francis Folsom Cleveland Preston, and the late President Wilson & Mrs Wilson dec 1st. Colonel Flynn was, and I am an ardent admirer of President Roosevelt. In fact, I feel so fond words sufficiently adequate to express the ardour of my admiration for the greatest of Presidents, Mr Roosevelt. He is goodness, goodness & mercy flung into the furnace of perfection!

My boys also admired you; for your fine qualities & great ability: would that womankind could boast of more like you!

Mrs Roosevelt is my conception & ideal of wife, mother & first lady - Being closely associated with Mrs Preston has given me a knowledge of how my fine a "first lady" can be -

Miss Le Hand, I think you will not consider it presumption, if I ask you to present this little token (said jokingly by Mr. Clelland Barclay, your grandnephew) of my esteem for your honored President.

Am the proud possessor of autographed photographs of both President Cleveland & President Wilson, presented to Colonel Higgins. Those recently acquired are fine engravings of President Roosevelt. It would make me supremely happy (would it be asking to much to grant a favor of President Roosevelt or you?) if I might bring this engraving over to you at the Executive Office, at your convenience, for our President, Mr Roosevelt to autograph for me?

Miss Le Hand. I want to thank you for reading this letter, & assure you that any consideration you might find time & give me will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely

Inge Ilse Bottomley Flynn

Dear Sir;

I am writing with the sincere hope that you will except this drawing as a gift in apperation for what you are doing in the fight against (Infantile Paralyisis).

I was stricken with the dreaded disease when i was but two years old and i am twenty-three years old now and unable to walk with out the aid of crutches. So it is with the deepest of thanks for what you are doingto help others so that they may walk again and do the things that I myself cannot do. I have always wanted to take up the studies of art but could not because of my condition. So is it any wonder that I am thankful for what you are doing to help others who someday may walk again. From the bottom of my heart may God bless you and give you strength to carry on your noble work.

Yours truly

RECEIVED

My dear President:

The other day I heard one of our finest Educators give a pleasing picture of his requested visit to the White House. Among many interesting things he said he observed five donkeys on your working desk,one for each year he supposed but did not see an elephant anywhere.

Under separate cover,I am sending to you a little elephant in harness which you might tuck away among your "animals"for are you not President of all the United States? I am sending with this elephant a cunning little donkey which indicates my principals for government and as well may it take its place as the sixth year of your and your splendid helpmate's wonderful endeavors to keep our nation safe and sane for a true democracy - "for the people,by the people, and of the people." To me that means the people must build up,keep up,and preserve the best and highest in decent citizenship,assuming their responsibilities in neighborhood and national affairs.

You know this only too well,but I wish you to know,many of us are having small problems along this same line,while yours are such large ones.

Sincerely,
(Mrs. Z.C.) Nora B. Felt

Dear President Roosevelt:

With this letter there is presented copy of a new publication,"Talks on "Nationalism," by Edward Bellamy. It is hoped you may find the book of profitable interest.

Recent proposals for Congressional action to save the railroads from bankruptcy leaves a question whether this matter has been probed to a sufficient depth. Newspapers have quoted you as saying:"--most of us also oppose government ownership and operation of the railroads. I do."

Can one be unmindful of the trend of the corporate idea as pointing toward still greater consolidations, eventually ultimating in public ownership either through the democratic process or some un-American method?

Many believe the time has now arrived for government operation of the railroads as one of the evolutionary steps in the progress of American democracy. May not the timely democratizing of industry and commerce hasten the day of "on earth peace, good will toward men"?

Dear Mr. President,

Watching with keen interest your expressions, from time to time, concerning measures for the welfare of the American people, I am sending this small book, "When Man Listens," with the request and earnest hope that you will take the time to read it.

Briefly, it presents the way in which God control, which will insure justice and peace for our own as well as other countries, can be achieved through changed individual lives.

Miss. Marguerite Alice LeHand, (Secretary,Buffer,General Manager, of Franklin D. Roosevelt)

The White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Madam:

Gee! How I wish some fairy God Father,financial Angel or Santa Clause would drop a million dollars in my lap,so I could continue my career as a (would-be) writer of good prose and poetry.

It has been a hard job in these past seven years;to first train myself as a writer,and then to engineer the publishing of these 7/6x9/32pp brochures,and as you'll find them listed on the enclosed post card.

For when I started out in 1930 in my decision to become a good writer,I only had the ambition and a great power of immagination.but little actual gift for writing. Of course I realize that I still have a lot to learn.

And the last present I got from Santa Clause,was a doll baby when I was nine years old. By the time I was ten I discovered that there was no Kris Kingle,and my how disapointed I was at the disillusion. Why I cried and I cried and I cried as if my little heart would break,and had a hard time getting over it. Why even a Specalist was called in,fearing that I was working up a high blood pressure that might affect the seat of my affectionate passions;I cried so hard as that at my disillusement of Santa Clause. But a few years later I was partly repaid when I had the chance to play Santa Clause for some other little children.

Yes. You've guessed it. When I was a youngester I was more of a prefect Mollycoddle than a real masculine boy. That is why I had asked for,and got,a doll when I was nine years old. I so wanted to be a girl because I liked all their beautiful dresses. For I never could see any beauty in pants.

By seperate third class mail I am sending you three of my books.

1. Outstanding Poems of Today,for you Miss LeHand.
2. Hot Stories (which title is a misnomer) for President Roosevelt.
3. Poetry With A Punch,for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Enclosers,this letter. A post card,and a clipping about you.

Yours respectfully,

L. A. Feck.....

e Le Hand Given Writeup

esident's Secretary Able Catholic Woman

Washington.—In its January 8 issue, the Saturday Evening Post gave a flattering writeup to the able Catholic woman, Marguerite Alice Le Hand, "personal secretary, buffer, general manager, fiscal agent, and outspoken friend to Franklin D. Roosevelt." Hers is the only private office that opens directly into the famous oval study of the President of the United States. She has been with Mr. Roosevelt for 17 years and was nicknamed Missy by the President's daughter.

Marguerite Le Hand

The Post article is entitled "Missy to Do This, F.D.R.," the notation by which the President indicates what he wants Miss Le Hand to take care of. Aged 41, she lives at the White House and eats at the Presidential family table. It is understood that she is to be present at all White House social functions she wishes to attend. She also lived with the Roosevelts at the gubernatorial executive mansion in Albany, N. Y. Other Presidential secretaries get $10,000 a year; she, being a woman, gets $5,000.

The Post also mentions two other girls, stenographers, who take the President's dictation. They are Grace and Paula Tully. Grace, who, Mrs. Roosevelt has declared, is the "best stenographer I ever saw," used to be a secretary to Cardinal Hayes, declares the Post.

STEPS TO HAPPINESS

Can you give the appeal many a lone individual would like to make to his fellow men?

"I've learned some things about life you don't know. You know some things I have never found out. Lets get together more often and pool our knowledge, and try to work out our problems in the light all of us have, instead of everlastingly laboring alone when we ought to be helping each other."

HOW MANY NATURES HAS EVERY MORTAL?

Two — a nature for doing good and a nature for doing wrong. And as long as the individual is possessed by one or the other disposition — be it for a second, a minute, an hour, a day, a week, a month, a year, or for a period of years of a lifetime — he or she can be regarded as a worthy soul or an undesirable creature — according to which nature happens to be in control during the performance of their noble or unworthy deeds.

This is one way offenders against the Law should be viewed when up before the Court for judgment — also the light in which to hold others, while observing their poor or better conduct. Then think of this, for yourself, the next time an impulse toward good or wrong doing enters your mind.

Whether another's thought or your thought be a desire to achieve some accomplishment, or, through a weakness, the temptation to yield and to commit a wrong, the disposition for right or wrong doing has centered itself in your nature for the length of time you are possessed by the one impulse or the other feeling. And, according to the decision you make in regard to the impulse or desire, there will result later a feeling of sorrow and shame over another "moral battle" which you realize was lost, or a feeling of triumphant joy over a rash impulse conquered and another "victory for character" won.

WHAT WILL GO? A Good Deal—When You get Behind It

A BOOK YOU'LL JUST LOVE TO READ

---o---

WHAT IS TOO BAD ABOUT TIME?

That there isn't more of it when we are happy and less of it when we have to "do time" for our sins.

That we cannot stop its passing sometimes and speed it up at others.

That we cannot take more, where we have plenty of it, and put that time where we often feel we have so little.

This Book Is —
Copyright, 1931, by Lawrence A. Feck — All Rights Reserved, American and Foreign.

WHAT IS GOOD SENSE?

To speak clearly enough to be correctly understood.

To possess plenty of the wholesome common variety of it.

To keep our mouths shut when we cannot speak it.

To behave like we have it.

To attempt earnestly to understand another who is trying to speak it.

Sensible nonsense — to lighten existence.

There are chapters on Life, Love, Money and Business, Time, Reflection, Opportunity and other subjects.

And now!
What should I do with my religion? Practice it!

---o---

WHAT WILL IMPROVE LIFE AND LIVING?

That the poor be made wealthier; the rich made happier; the idle supplied with steadier work; the ignorant educated; the slow taught faster ways; the "killing drive" driven out of industry, but the lazy shocked into action with a live wire — these things will improve life and living for everyone, and for all classes among us.

Dream less and think more. Work harder and idle little. Live clean and don't be slovenly, mentally or physically. Replace selfishness with generosity, vices with virtues, sin with goodness, gloom with cheerfulness, suspicion with confidence, unscrupulousness with conscientiousness, inaction with action. Promise and fulfill. Say and do it! Think and decide. Start and get somewhere! Go and be there!

To save more of what we earn; to spend less of what we have not; to consider probabilities; to make possible a better future for ourselves; to credit less and pay cash oftener; to keep above ground more and not to go into the cellar of debt so far or so often.

This Book Is —
Copyright, 1931, by Lawrence A. Feck — All Rights Reserved, American and Foreign.

WHAT ARE A "BRIDE" AND GROOM" AND THE WEDDING CEREMONY?

A girl full of blushes, full of hopes, full of anxiety, almost bursting with tears, jubilant with joy, dressed in gay spirits, resolved to good purposes — meeting her life's biggest problem, the groom — who may need to be studied, need to be humored, need to be (sometimes) scolded, need to be cared for, need to be (occasionally) neglected, needing much, wanting more, and feeling (often) he is getting so little, because — marriage is a problem that only true love, doubly applied, can solve successfully.

How should you feel toward your life's experiences, and their lessons learned?

Like the mother, who, when asked about her fifteen children, replied: "If I had to go through it all again, knowing what I do now, I'm afraid I would not want those experiences over again, but now I wouldn't take all the money in the world for any one of my many children." Thus should you feel toward the lessons which life's experiences have taught you.

Dear Mr. President:

The tarpon are jumping again at Port Aransas. As evidence of the fact, we are taking the liberty of forwarding to you under seperate cover a recent candid-camera shot which we hope you will like. The picture was snapped just as the big fellow hit the water after his second leap. And, incidentally, he was hooked very close to the spot off the South jetty where you jumped your biggest one last year.

There are plenty of them like him to welcome you any time you can come again--and so will we.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE HOUSE. BOSTON

THE WHITE HOUSE
SEP 19 9 13 AM '38
RECEIVED

P.P.F. 9-F

September 15, 1938

The President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

You will shortly receive from the fishermen of Massachusetts a specially selected and packed codfish, sacred emblem of this Commonwealth, and in this instance a token of the National Fish Festival.

Boston will have the honor of playing host to a national convention and exposition during the week of October 2 to 9, signalizing the great advances made by this, America's oldest industry. It was the abundance of fine salt water fish which contributed so greatly to the colonization of this part of the world, and for more than three hundred years fishing has been the livelihood of thousands of New England men and boys.

Until recent years the rest of the country knew our Atlantic fish only in salted form. But scientific methods now make it possible for all the nation to enjoy the zestful and wholesome quality of fish at its best.

Please accept, on behalf of the fishermen of this Commonwealth, this prize specimen of their industry, and also a cordial invitation to visit Boston during the National Fish Festival. Come and see how it is done, from the catching of the fish itself to its modern and efficient packing and shipping.

And may we respectfully urge that you lend your support to this week of observance by calling it to the attention of the people. Practically all of the forty-eight states share in some way in this vast industry, and this will be a fitting occasion on which to pay it tribute.

Yours most cordially,

Charles F. Hurley
Governor

X

September 20, 1938

Dear Governor:

The President has asked me to acknowledge your letter of September fifteenth and to thank you for writing as you did. The specially selected codfish, sacred emblem of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which you mention was duly received and has been acknowledged.

I wish it were possible for the President to comply with your request that he lend his support to the observance of the National Fish Festival by calling it to the attention of the people.

If it were possible the President would be glad to do this but just now because of the unusually heavy pressure of the public business he has to reserve all of his time for his official duties. In these circumstances it will be greatly appreciated if you will excuse him and I feel sure you will understand why it is not possible for the President to do many things which in different circumstances he would be very glad to do.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. President:

Knowing your interest in the refugee situation, I have taken the liberty of sending you, under separate cover, a copy of my study "The Refugee in the United States" which was published this month.

This represents the result of a national survey made during the past year of exiles that have come to this country since the close of the war. It analyzes and evaluates the political, economic, and social problems they faced in adjusting themselves here. It covers Christian and Jewish refugees, as well as Russian, German, Armenian, and other groups. It is not a polemic for any group; it is an objective study solely.

I trust you will have time to read it and if I may be honored by your opinion of it, I should value your opinion most highly.
