My dear Mr. Gary:

Your recent letter has been received. Many thanks, on the President's behalf, for your courtesy in making your scrapbook available to him.

× PPF 9-5

I am sorry that we cannot meet your wishes for the President's signature and photograph. The ever-increasing responsibilities and burdens upon his time make it impossible for him to comply with the many, many requests of this nature which are being received. I feel sure that you will understand.

Very sincerely yours,

Grace G. Tully

Dear Mr.President:-

Permit me to extend to you my hearty congratulations. It was indeed a great victory for you and the people. They sensed the poverty and desperation of a rival canidate whose whole campaign boiled down to stale false charges.

Through the years I have drawn many cartoons which always favored your administration. I have selected several of my most recent cartoons which were used by The Minneapolis Labor Review(The official A.F & L newspaper)...and inasmuch as " A Reflection of Character" and " No Caption Needed For This" brought forth radio comment - I thought that you would be interested in the attached scrap book.

It is my pleasure to advise you that I have cast my vote for you four times.....and here's hoping that I can cast my fifth vote for you and democracy.

May you have the outstanding administration of your entire career.

Dear Mr. President:

I am taking the liberty of sending to you a case of our best rice, which we pack under F.A.G. brand. We hope you will use this to make dressing for your Christmas or New Year's turkey.

I am also attaching what we in the South consider the best recipe for rice turkey dressing.

In extending to you the season's greetings, I am fully conscious of the weight of responsibility resting upon you; and in common with all Americans and peoples throughout the world, I pray that your decisions may be directed by a clear understanding of what is required to make our country strong that it may in turn play a vital part in meeting human needs.

Yours sincerely,

WATER MAID TURKEY DRESSING

3 cups cold, boiled WATER MAID rice;
2 cups corn bread crumbs;
2 eggs; liver and gizzard of turkey;
1 minced onion;
1 stalk of celery cut small;
2 tablespoons lard;
1 tablespoon butter melted;
3 dozen oysters with liquor;
2 tablespoons chopped parsley;
1 teaspoon salt;
½ teaspoon pepper;
1 cup pecans, chopped.

Boil giblets in water to cover, until tender enough to chop. Brown onions, giblets, parsley and celery in hot lard. To this add rice, corn bread, oysters, chopped or ground, and gradually add liquor and gravy left after boiling giblets. Add beaten eggs and melted butter, salt, pepper and pecans. Fill turkey with dressing and bake remainder in baking dish.

, while I pondered weak and weary ce, over many a friend of yore ing, slow but sure a thought came creeping in keeping with the Christmas joys in store
Thought I:—sure I must send such friends a present, as before.

Ah, distinctly I remember, it was in the bleak November
And approaching was December, and approaching was my chore.
But while I was calmly dreaming, wintry winds abroad were screaming
And from out the sky came streaming snowflakes in their downward soar
And I wondered what remembrance I could send my friends of yore.

Thought I:—what a simple trick it would be to send each a ticket
In an envelope and stick it in the mailbox, as before.
Surely I had done it often, hoping that my gift might soften
Someone's road, lest soon the coffin bear him to another shore;
And I now would do again the same as I had done before.

So, deciding on this measure, quick was I to search my treasure
For the key that I might raise your pass from out the bureau drawer.
And, though it was well secluded and my hand the key eluded Soon was I to find the very object I was searching for.
Then I opened wide the drawer but mice were there, and nothing more.

And the fateful, sad, suppressing thought, that I could send no blessing
To each friend was most distressing, and it chilled me to the core
So I stood there wondering, grieving, doubting, fearing, scarce believing
That not one would be receiving that which he'd received before—
Giving way to anger then I roughly slammed the empty drawer.

But my sorrow soon was interrupted by the local printer,
Who, though it was dead of winter, ventured forth to seek my door
Said he (squinting o'er his glasses) "Here Pop, are your season passes",
And the folder 'neath his shoulder, silent testimony bore;
And he shook the snow from off his overcoat onto the floor.

And I stood there quite astounded while my heart within me pounded.
Then, straight to this man I bounded and from his firm grasp I tore
That which I had least expected, and, then feeling more collected,
Thanked him as he slowly turned and disappeared from out my door
And I then sat down to write my Christmas letters, as before.

So that now, in winter dreary you may ponder weak and weary
Of the many warm and cheery days that you will spend out here.
And, since it is customary (and we think it necessary)
This is to a very Merry Christmas and a Grand New Year.

"Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord," as He invites man to become acquainted with His unfolding plan for the universe, in which you play a definite part. This guide to morning meditations is presented to you in the hope that as the months fly by, you will rejoice more and more in this plan, and can exclaim with Paul, "Great is the mystery of godliness"!

To: .....

From: .....

The Mysteries of God

IN the quietness of the morning hour let your mind go up, up, up, past the rushing, rippling waters of God's daily grace, past the giant evergreens fragrant with the wonders of His power, past the timberline of His dealings with man; up where the mysterious forces of outer space surge and roar with tempest force, up where the everlasting mists hide the majesty of omnipotent love. Envision the beauty of that mysterious passion for the eternal well-being of the universe that would take you and train you as a new and distinct order of being to reflect the glory of His plan. Gaze on the scene till there comes into your very soul a realization of the part you are to play as you open wide your heart's door to be filled with peace, purity, and power for the tasks before you.

My New Year's Resolve

RESOLVED, That by God's help, I will this year partake daily of the Bread of Life, assimilating in my very soul its life-giving properties in order that I may grow strong in the power of God to reflect more perfectly the image of His Son. I will accept without murmuring the portion of trial, hardship, and discipline that He permits to come through to me, that under the influence of His divine grace the apparent hindrances of my life may become the steppingstones to a victorious experience in Him. I will endeavor to spend some time in prayer each day, and will make a personal effort at least once each week to encourage or draw someone nearer to Christ.

A PRAYER

for the New Year

O LORD, in this Thy book of Time, to write
Thou biddest me. But I am full of fears
That on each page, so fresh and clean and white,
My feeble hand may pen but stains and tears.

So, Master, take my hand in Thine and guide
What I shall be and think and say and do
Each day this year, from dawn to eventide.
Be Thou the Author, and the Penman, too!

Write courage, Lord, for trials that must come,
And gratefulness for blessings that are sure.
Inscribe the scroll with loyalty to home,
And steadfast choice of values that endure.

Write living, loving faith in every line.
Each page so with Thy sacred presence grace
That those who stop to read this book of mine,
May see not me, but Thine own wondrous face.

Then dip the pen in Heaven's ink, O God,
—The warm, the red, the valiant, and true—
That every day, so hallowed by Thy blood,
May make this year of mine sublimely NEW!

—Margit Strom Heppenstall.

The most desirable education is a knowledge of the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. He who serves the world sees not the great things of eternal interest prepared for the one who opens his heart to the light of heaven. But he who enters this path of knowledge, and perseveres in his search after the hidden wisdom, to him heavenly agencies teach the great lessons which through faith in Christ enable him to be an overcomer.—Counsels to Teachers, p. 399.

Where Jesus Reigns

WHERE Jesus reigns there is no fear,
No restless doubt, no hopeless tear,
No base deceit nor faithless prayer,
No angry strife nor weak despair,
No greed for gain nor selfish pride,
No bitterness for ought denied,
No evil tongue, no cruel arm,
No envy, hate, nor wish to harm,
No wicked lust, nor trace of strains,
But all is pure where Jesus reigns.

Where Jesus reigns there is no night,
For He is wisdom, love, and light;
No raging sea nor tempest dread,
But quietness and calm instead;
No anxious care, no blind unrest,
No heavy heart by guilt oppressed,
No discontent, no gloomy days,
But highest hope and sweetest praise;
No stumbling oft nor galling chains,
No shame nor sin where Jesus reigns.

Where Jesus reigns there's joy untold,
There's wealth that's richer far than gold;
There's service glad and courage true,
There's power to be and strength to do;
There's sacrifice and sweet content,
There's grace divine in mercy sent;
There's triumph over self and sin,
And blessed peace abides within;
There's truest faith that never wanes—
There's love supreme where Jesus reigns.

—Author Unknown.

Christ promised that the Holy Spirit should abide with those who wrestle for victory over sin, to demonstrate the power of divine might by endowing the human agent with supernatural strength and instructing the ignorant in the mysteries of the kingdom of God.—Gospel Workers, p. 286.

He Leads

I cannot always trace the onward course
My ship must take;
But, looking backward, I behold afar
Its shining wake
Illumined with God's light of love, and so
I onward go,
In perfect trust that He who holds the helm
The course must know.

I cannot always see the plan on which
He builds my life;
For oft the sound of hammers, blow on blow,
The noise of strife,
Confuse me till I quite forget He knows
And oversees,
And that in all details with His good plan
My life agrees.

I cannot always know and understand
The Master's rule;
I cannot always do the tasks He gives
In life's hard school;
But I am learning with His help to solve
Them, one by one,
And when I cannot understand, to say,
"Thy will be done."

Thousands have set the Lord before them, and by beholding have been changed into the same image. Their spirit burns within them as they speak of His character, telling what Christ is to them, and what they are to Christ. But these searchers have not exhausted these grand and holy themes. Thousands more may engage in the work of searching out the mysteries of salvation. As the life of Christ and the character of His mission are dwelt upon, rays of light will shine forth more distinctly at every attempt to discover truth. Each fresh search will reveal something more deeply interesting than has yet been unfolded. The subject is inexhaustible.—Christ's Object Lessons, pp. 133, 134.

Immeasurable Love

O LOVE of God! how strong and true,
Eternal, and yet ever new;
Uncomprehended and unbought,
Beyond all knowledge and all thought.

O heavenly love, how precious still,
In days of weariness and ill!
In nights of pain and helplessness,
To heal, to comfort, and to bless!

O wide-embracing, wondrous love,
We read thee in the sky above;
We read thee in the earth below,
In seas that swell and streams that flow.

We read thee best in Him who came
To bear for us the cross of shame;
Sent by the Father from on high,
Our life to live, our death to die.

O love of God! our shield and stay
Through all the perils of our way;
Eternal love, in Thee we rest,
Forever safe, forever blest!

—Horatius Bonar.

This love is past all language to describe. It is the mystery of God in the flesh, God in Christ, and divinity in humanity. Christ bowed down in unparalleled humility, that in His exaltation to the throne of God, He might also exalt those who believe in Him, to a seat with Him upon His throne.—Fundamentals of Education, p. 180.

Our little world is the lesson book of the universe. God's wonderful purpose of grace, the mystery of redeeming love, is the theme into which "angels desire to look," and it will be their study throughout endless ages.—The Desire of Ages, pp. 19, 20.

Like You

MAKE me holy, righteous, good,
Faithful, just, and true,
Guileless, sinless, spotless; for
Then I'll be like You.

Make me zealous for Thy truth,
Lowly, patient, meek,
Merciful, long-suffering—
These the traits I seek!

Make me, Christ, benevolent,
Swift God's will to do,
Self-denying and resigned—
Then I'll be like You.

—Nathaniel Krum.

The cherubim of the earthly sanctuary, looking reverently down upon the mercy seat, represent the interest with which the heavenly host contemplate the work of redemption. This is the mystery of mercy into which angels desire to look,—that God can be just while He justifies the repenting sinner, and renews His intercourse with the fallen race; that Christ could stoop to raise unnumbered multitudes from the abyss of ruin, and clothe them with the spotless garments of His own righteousness, to unite with angels who have never fallen, and to dwell forever in the presence of God.—The Great Controversy, p. 415.

Surrender

In full and glad surrender
I give myself to Thee,
Thine utterly and only,
And evermore to be.

O Son of God, who lov'st me,
I will be Thine alone;
And all I have, and am, Lord,
Shall henceforth be Thine own.

—Frances Ridley Havergal.

To rescue us, He descended from one humiliation to another, until He, the divine-human, suffering Christ, was uplifted on the cross, to draw all men to Himself. The Son of God could not have shown greater condescension than He did; He could not have stooped lower.

This is the mystery of godliness, the mystery that has inspired heavenly agencies so to minister through fallen humanity that in the world an intense interest will be aroused in the plan of salvation. This is the mystery that has stirred all heaven to unite with man in carrying out God's great plan for the salvation of a ruined world.—Testimonies, Vol. VII, p. 29.

The Gift of Love

BEHOLD the amazing gift of love
The Father has bestowed
On us, the sinful sons of men,
To call us sons of God.

Concealed as yet this honor lies,
By this dark world unknown—
A world that knew not, when He came,
Even God's eternal Son.

High is the rank we now possess,
But higher we shall rise;
Though what we shall hereafter be
Is hid from mortal eyes.

Our souls, we know, when He appears,
Shall bear His image bright;
For all His glory, full disclosed,
Shall open to our sight,

A hope so great and so divine
May trials well endure,
And purge the soul from sense of sin,
As Christ Himself is pure.

—Isaac Watts.

Christ accepts, O so gladly! every human agency that is surrendered to Him. He brings the human into union with the divine, that He may communicate to the world the mysteries of incarnate love. Talk it, pray it, sing it, fill the world with the message of His truth, and keep pressing on into the regions beyond.

Heavenly intelligences are waiting to co-operate with human instrumentalities, that they may reveal to the world what human beings may become, and what, through their influence, they may accomplish for the saving of souls that are ready to perish.—Testimonies, Vol. IX, p. 30.

The study of the incarnation of Christ, His atoning sacrifice and mediatorial work, will employ the mind of the diligent student as long as time shall last; and looking to heaven with its unnumbered years, he will exclaim, "Great is the mystery of godliness."—Christ's Object Lessons, p. 134.

He Is Risen

He is risen! Earth awakes
And her prison house forsakes.
Hear the glad bird voices sing:
"Where, O Death, is now thy sting?"
Winds their silver trumpets blow:
"He hath conquered every foe."
Soft the murmuring waters say:
"Lo, the stone is rolled away."
He is risen, He is risen,
Christ the Lord is risen today.

He is risen! Heart, rejoice;
Hear you not the angel's voice?
Though you wait beside the tomb,
There is light within its gloom.
Grave, where is thy victory?
He hath set thy captives free;
He hath robbed thee of thy prey;
They with Him shall live alway.
He is risen, He is risen,
Christ the Lord is risen today.

—Annie Johnson Flint.

Not in this life shall we comprehend the mystery of God's love in giving His Son to be the propitiation for our sins. The work of our Redeemer on this earth is and ever will be a subject that will put to the stretch our highest imagination. Man may tax every mental power in the endeavor to fathom this mystery, but his mind will become faint and weary. The most diligent searcher will see before him a boundless, shoreless sea.—Christ's Object Lessons, pp. 128, 129.

Sanctifying Power

THY Holy Spirit, Lord, alone
Can turn our heart from sin,
His power alone can sanctify
And keep us pure within.

Thy Holy Spirit, Lord, alone
Can deeper love inspire,
His power alone within our souls
Can light the sacred fire.

The Holy Spirit, Lord, can bring
The gifts we seek in prayer,
His voice can words of comfort speak,
And still each wave of care.

The Holy Spirit, Lord, can give
The grace we need this hour,
And while we wait, O Spirit, come
In sanctifying power.
—H. E. Blair.

The life-giving power of the Holy Spirit, proceeding from the Saviour, pervades the soul, renews the motives and affections, and brings even the thoughts into obedience to the will of God, enabling the receiver to bear the precious fruit of holy deeds.

The Author of this spiritual life is unseen, and the exact method by which that life is imparted and sustained, it is beyond the power of human philosophy to explain. Yet the operations of the Spirit are always in harmony with the written Word.—Acts of the Apostles, p. 284.

Our Master

We may not climb the heavenly steeps
To bring the Lord Christ down:
In vain we search the lowest deeps,
For Him no depths can drown.

. . . . .

But warm, sweet, tender, even yet
A present help is He;
And faith has still its Olivet,
And love its Galilee.

The healing of His seamless dress
Is by our beds of pain;
We touch Him in life's throng and press,
And we are whole again.

Through Him the first fond prayers are said
Our lips of childhood frame,
The last low whispers of our dead
Are burdened with His name.

O Lord and Master of us all!
Whate'er our name or sign,
We own Thy sway, we hear Thy call,
We test our lives by Thine.

—John Greenleaf Whittier.

Every word you utter, every act you perform, is a seed which will bear good or evil fruit, and will result in joy or sorrow to the sower. As is the seed sown, so will be the crop. God has given you great light and many privileges. After this light has been given, after your dangers have been plainly presented before you, the responsibility becomes yours. The manner in which you treat the light that God gives you, will turn the scale for happiness or woe. You are shaping your destinies for yourselves.—Testimonies, Vol. III, p. 363.

The Jesus Way

Oh, there's many a thorn in the Jesus way,
Many a thorn, I know;
There is grief and loss and the pain of the cross
Wherever my feet may go.
But the Lord will heal all the wounds I feel,
When the thorns have pricked me sore,
And He's planted a rose where the brier grows,
For He's walked this path before.

There is many a storm on the Jesus way,
Many a storm I see,
When black is the cloud and the wind is loud
And the waves go over me.
But the Lord is in my little ship
And the storm obeys His will;
At the word He hath said, "Be not afraid,"
My heart and the sea grow still.

There is many a foe on the Jesus way,
Many a foe to fight,
And all the day I must watch and pray
To keep my armor bright.
But the Lord is ever at my side
The tempter's wiles to meet;
Though the foe be strong and the strife be long,
He can never know defeat.

—Annie Johnson Flint.

The struggles and conflicts which must be endured in the discharge of duty, the self-denials and sacrifices which must be made if we are faithful to Christ, are not created by Him. They are not imposed by arbitrary or unnecessary command; they do not come from the severity of the life which He requires us to lead in His service. Trials would exist in greater power and number, were we to refuse obedience to Christ, and become the servants of Satan and the slaves of sin.—Testimonies, Vol. IV, p. 558.

Our Peace

HE is our Peace; and mid the waves
Of strife and care and sin,
The calm of this assurance breathes
A quietness within.

He is our Peace; a barrier
Estranged me from my Lord;
But He hath taken it away
And brought me back to God.

He is our Peace; and needful toil,
Made easy by His might,
Gives us, though heavy laden, rest
'Neath burdens now made light.

O Prince of Peace, Thy heralds sang
Good will and peace to men;
For Satan, vanquished, yields the right
To Thee alone to reign.

The strife doth cease when Thou dost come
As King in power enthroned,
The earnest of whose reign on earth
Rules hearts Thy love hath owned.

—Worthie Harris Holden.

The peace of Christ is born of truth. It is harmony with God. The world is at enmity with the law of God; sinners are at enmity with their Maker; and as a result they are at enmity with one another. . . . Men cannot manufacture peace. Human plans for the purification and uplifting of individuals or of society will fail of producing peace, because they do not reach the heart. The only power that can create or perpetuate true peace is the grace of Christ.—The Desire of Ages, pp. 302, 305.

Bible Study Plans

I. Topical Study Plan

THIS plan of studying the Bible by topics is perhaps one of the most fruitful of all methods, for it lends itself to an exhaustive study of a large variety of subjects. Hold yourself to a systematic procedure in keeping with the following steps:

1. Compile a Topic List.—Make a comprehensive list of topics and subjects—doctrinal, ecclesiastical, historical, biographical, practical, and secular.

2. Proceed Systematically.—After choosing the desired subject, set yourself to the task of becoming thoroughly familiar with all references pertaining to it. Though you never exhaust the subject, "the search for truth will reward the seeker at every turn, and each discovery will open up richer fields for his investigation."

a. Gather all texts that have a bearing on the specific topic. This calls for the use of a standard Bible concordance.

b. Analyze and compare verse with verse and scripture with scripture. Every text should be studied in the light of its context. "Scripture is the key which unlocks scripture." Only as you do this systematically and diligently will you "learn to view the Word as a whole, and to see the relation of its parts."

c. Classify all references systematically, according to their true sense and real meaning in the light of the topic. Make an outline with two or more subheadings and under each place the proper references and study.

3. Use Subsidiary Helps.—Frequently consult standard compilations or helps; for instance, the Bible dictionary, the Bible concordance, the Bible commentary. Do not fail to use the Bible as the greatest commentary on itself, for "the Bible is its own expositor." Do you know how to use it as such? Notice the letters a, b, c, and so forth, written just above words in the Bible. Now look in the margin for the corresponding letter. Following it you will find one or more references. By turning to these references you will find similar verses in other books of the Bible dealing with the same topic.

4. Compare the Various Translations.—The Twentieth Century, the American Revised Version, the Modern Speech, Weymouth's and Moffatt's translations, and so forth. It is always helpful for those who read another language to look up texts under discussion in that language.

II. Book-by-Book Study Plan

One of the most fruitful methods of Bible study is that of mastering the Bible book by book. This calls for a thorough knowledge of the contents, scope, subject, and central and collateral truths of each book, and the connection between certain books.

Endeavor to cover the entire Bible, studying all the books, the difficult as well as the easy and more familiar ones. Read the entire book to get the general scope. Study it faithfully and prayerfully, noting the following essentials: (1) Date, (2) authorship, (3) to whom written, (4) historical occasion—circumstances under which written, (5) real purpose, (6) general content, (7) central and collateral truths, (8) main theme, (9) key thought, (10) synopsis of the book.

III. Chapter Study Plan

This is a unique method of becoming acquainted with the Bible. The books are taken up chapter by chapter, each one being dealt with much as one would deal with an individual book—studied with its historical connections, scope, context, meaning of words and phrases, marginal readings, and topical bearings. After reading a chapter both silently and aloud, set yourself to the task of observing the following essentials:

1. Divide the chapter into its natural divisions.
2. Make note of all prominent persons.
3. Make note of all prominent places.
4. Arrange the leading facts in their proper order.
5. Observe the principal subject, the leading lesson.
6. Find the key verse or verses.
7. Note the verse that appeals to you most.

IV. Verse-by-Verse Study Plan

"In daily study the verse-by-verse method is often most helpful. Let the student take one verse, and concentrate the mind on ascertaining the thought God has put into that verse for him, and then dwell on the thought until it becomes his own."

This verse-by-verse method obviously requires the use of the Bible as a commentary on itself. That is, with every verse in the Bible, from Genesis to Revelation, you should read and study the accompanying marginal references in the light of that verse.

Read every text in the light of the context, the context in the light of its relation to the book in which it is found, and the book in relation to the Bible as a whole.

V. Personal-Application Plan

Although this is considered a separate plan, its principles pertaining to the application of spiritual truths should correlate with all other Bible study plans.

With an open mind and a sincere heart, make a list of things that concern your personal life—personal problems that are suggested from time to time by states of mind and special circumstances. Then gather all those passages of Scripture that have a specific bearing on the various life problems—financial, religious, social—placing them in their proper relation to the problem which concerns you.

For illustration: (1) Temptation to sin, 1 Cor. 10:1-15; James 1:12-27. (2) Affliction, Job 14; Psalms 34. (3) Deep sorrow for sin, Psalms 51 and 69. (4) Persecution, Psalms 46. (5) Sickness, Psalms 41. (6) Adversity, Matt. 4:23-34; 2 Corinthians 4. (7) Thanksgiving, Psalms 30 and 34.

Read the spiritual lesson of the text into your life's problems; and read your life—with its cherished sins, its temptations, its doubt and unbelief, its discouragement, and its joys—into the heart of the text.

When you actually find the connection between your problem and the Bible solution to it, the Bible becomes a "medicine chest," a "problem solver," a wise counselor. Truly, its spiritual lessons serve as healing balm for every human ailment. At the very hour of need—when the soul is in an extremity of stress, temptation, or sorrow—the mind will immediately turn to such passages of Scripture for strength, guidance, and comfort.

Mileposts of Life

GEORGE MULLER, famous for his life of faith in connection with the operation of his orphanages in England, recorded some thirty thousand promises fulfilled in his experience with God. How many have you had? You may desire to make a record of special answers to prayer, special promises realized, special victories won, as monuments of God's love and grace.

My dear Mr. Gold:

I am sorry indeed that a note has been so long delayed acknowledging the receipt of those framed mottos. We have just been advised by the Oestriecher's Picture Studio that you were the donor and this is to tell you that the President appreciates the kind thought which prompted you to send the mottos to him.

I have pleasure in extending the President's good wishes to you for the New Year.

Very sincerely yours,

President wrote following ltr.: "This is the first chance I have had to tell you how thrilled I was with that beautiful and historic globe on the lapis lazuli stand. It is really a work of art and the idea is very original. It will eventually find its way into the Library at Hyde Park, but there is just a possibility that there might be some additional places to be marked on it! You have really given something to me which I shall always treasure! I am deeply grateful to you for your thought of me. I have been just a little bit busy lately with the new Congress, the message to Congress, the radio address and various other official matters and that is the reason why I have not had a chance to arrange to see you. However, I am asking General Watson to get in touch with you to set a date at the first opportunity. We are taking the matter of Mr. Devaux' transportation up with the War and State Departments and will let you know just as soon as we have a report. With my warm regards, and every best wish to you and Mrs. Cartier for a Happier New Year," - pencil notation "Put with Pres. Xmas gifts."---1/13/45 Mr. Cartier wrote to Gen. Watson saying he will be in Washington on Jan. 19, 20, & 21, and is entirely at President's disposal during those 3 days.---1/13/45 Mr. Cartier wrote to Miss Tully thanking her for bringing to attention of the President the matter of transportation of Louis Devaux to this country from France. Says State Dept. is reconsidering case and chances for permit being granted are very favorable.- 1/17/45 Gen. Watson wrote to Mr. Cartier explaining why it will not be possible for Pres. to see him this week - memo. in re this appointment attached to file.

Dear Mr. President:

As newly made citizens of this country, we have been fortunate to have found peace, and the opportunity to continue our work here. In sincere appreciation, we are taking the liberty of sending you sample boxes of one of our new chocolate products - " Private Stock " assortment which we are proud to be able to produce at a price which would meet everyone's budget.

We do hope that you will enjoy them thoroughly.

My dear Mr President:—

I was sorry to hear from General Watson you were away, and did not receive the basket of Florida fruit—

I sent it to him with another for himself, as I did not want to take the risk of having the fruit I sent you tampered with. But I will send two more, and perhaps you will keep one, and give one to the Prime Minister.

I am longing for you both to meet soon, and as he said in his Guild Hall speech; perhaps you will be able to stop some of this terrible destruction—

It breaks my heart. I have always loved and trusted

America and I am sure she will do the right thing when she understands. You and Winston must make Stalin understand you are acting for the future - It must be a decent peace, or we shall have continuous warfare - Tolstoi said the only cure for war is love - Our enemies are like wild animals at bay, they are fighting for their very existence - It does not seem good psychology to drive them to desperation -
However evil we are, we know that if we repent and turn from our sins, God will forgive us -
In the Bible we are told that we are "Gods' Representatives" - That is a serious responsibility Mr President - We have to let the wisdom, and the love of God shine through us -
We have to reflect Him in all things, and in our ways -
You will have the prayers of practically all the women of America with you, and most of the men -
May God go with you, and guide you, and bless you -

Sincerely yours.

Anne Guest -

Dear General Watson:-

I am sending you and the President some more Florida fruit, which I hope will reach you in good condition.

I do hope he will receive it before going abroad.

I told him I would send a box for the Prime Minister, if it is convenient to send it, I think he might enjoy it?

I am also sending a fourth in case the President would like to give it to Commissar Stalin?

They have no citrus fruit?

The President wrote expressing thanks for the supply of "liquid refreshment" which all enjoyed. Encloses a photograph which the President understands Gen. Giles expressed a desire for. The President says that it was grand to see him in Cairo and expresses his very best wishes. - - -Typed notation - Signed photograph "For Gen. Benj. Giles from his friend Franklin D. Roosevelt" - Both letter and photo given to Col. Davenport for delivery. - - -Memorandum for Mrs. Boettiger from Miss Tully dated Mar. 10, 1945, stating that she has prepared the above letter to Gen. Giles for the President's signature and also encloses a picture for the President's signature which will accompany the letter. Miss Tully also states that she has a vague recollection that Mrs. Tuck wrote her a letter asking for a picture for her husband and she has it among the hundreds of requests now waiting the President's attention and that she will dig this one out and send it along to him. Further states that in re to Lt. Conrad, she fears that this request cannot be granted and gives explanation for this. - -Penciled notation - Gift given the Pres.

My very Dear Sir:

Enclosed you will find a hand painted portrait which I have copied and tried to place in a background, which in my humble opinion would depict the might and power of the country which has honored you, by reelecting your honor to the highest position the people of the United States can bestow upon you.

In this painting, my efforts, and my prayers have been blended together for your welfare, and I trust you will accept it, as it goes with my love and highest estimation for the man whom I love as my President.

I am Mrs. Anita Galvan, the wife of Mr. Jose Galvan, who has just returned to this country, and has been discharged as a veteran of World War II.

Comments on Mr. Early's personal record in World War I and extends him invitation to visit with them whenever possible. -----On 3/31/45, Jonathan Daniels sent memo to Miss Tully attaching suggested letter of thanks for the President's signature. The President signed this letter dated 3/31/45, addressed to Lt. Colonel Henry G. Fisher saying that when Mr. Early came back from his recent trip to Europe he brought the P-38 pistol which Col. Fisher and the officers and men of his regiment, the 317th Infantry sent him. Says he is delighted to have it and thanks all who helped to make such a gift possible; shall be happy to add this to his collection for permanent exhibition in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. The President also says that Mr. Early gave him a copy of Col. Fisher's letter, telling of the capture of the weapon at Bitburg, Germany and he is deeply appreciative of the spirit which it evidences on the part of the officers and men of the 317th. The President closes by saying "This is the spirit that is carrying our forces to victory." -----Attached to this file is a copy of letter, dated 3/23/45 to Mr. Early from Harrison L. MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT:

Secretary Francis
Senator Green called me this morning to say that he had promised the Gorham Manufacturing Company of Providence,
R.I., to ask whether you would accept from the Gorham Company a bronze casting of a model they have made of the hoisting of the flag at Iwo Jima as shown in the now famous photograph. Senator Green says that the company does not seek any publicity and that they wish to make only two castings - one for you and one for General Vandegrift. The Senator has himself inspected the model and says that he considers it a very fine piece of work.

x18-E

I told him that I was sure you would appreciate the offer and the Senator's message and that I would let him have your decision in the near future.

As not more than 10 pounds of metal are involved in the two castings I can see no objection as the company does not seek advertising. I believe the Post Office Department is pretty well fixed on the idea of a stamp of the same design to commemorate the Marines' war service.

My dear Senator,

One of the last communications I have from President Roosevelt is a note asking me to thank you and the Gorham Company for their generous offer of a bronze casting of the flag hoisting at Iwo Jima. The President said that he would be very glad to add it to the Library at Hyde Park and I suggest that you might ask the Gorham Company to send it there.

My dear Mr. Guzzi:

It was kind indeed of you to give us an opportunity to see that sketch, a product of your own work. Thank you for your friendly thought. It is felt, however, that you ought not be deprived of the possession of this picture and it is being returned to you by express.

Very sincerely yours,

GRACE G. TULLY

Dear Mr. President:

For the past six weeks I have been a patient at Schick General Hospital.

I have always been interested in sketching and drawing, but I have never had the time or instruction to do any of this work myself.

However, since coming to this hospital I was happy to find in the Occupational Therapy Department, the opportunity to draw and to develope a hobby I deeply enjoy.

Having found this photograph of you, Mr. President, in the October 1940 issue of the Fortune Magazine, I drew from it my first pastel portrait. It gave me great pleasure to draw this picture during my recreation periods.

I am aware that the execution has a great many shortcomings, and cannot be measured by professional standards. It is only through the encouragement and persuasion of my friends that I dare offer you this portrait as a present.

Sincerely,

Ray A. Guzzi
