Discussion

The first recorded Arab immigrant arrived in the United States in October 1854. To commemorate the contributions that Arab-Americans have made to our society, the enrolled resolution designates October 25, 1989, as "National Arab-American Day." H.J.Res. 241 also requests the President to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to participate in appropriate ceremonies and activities. A proclamation was issued on October 25th.

Joint Resolution

Designating October 25, 1989, as "National Arab-American Day".

Whereas the rich history and tradition of Arab culture has contributed to western civilization in many fields, including science, medicine, geography, and architecture;

Whereas the contributions made by Arab culture transcend geographic, political, and religious classification;

Whereas Arab-Americans have made, and continue to make, important contributions to the economic prosperity and cultural life of our Nation since October 1854, when the first recorded Arab immigrant arrived in the United States;

Whereas the term "Arab" represents a people who are followers of the 3 great monotheistic religions and are bound by the common language of Arabic;

Whereas Arabs are of one origin, but are citizens of many countries;

Whereas Arab-Americans have worked hard since their arrival and have been productive United States citizens; and

Whereas the people of the United States should always remember that there are almost 3,000,000 Arab-Americans who are a part of the mosaic of cultures of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That October 25, 1989, is designated as "National Arab-American Day". The President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to recognize this day by becoming aware of the rich cultural traditions of Arab-Americans and by participating in appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

*Vice President of the United States and
