I am pleased to extend warm greetings to everyone gathered in our Nation's Capital for the annual Policy Conference of the American Israel Public Affairs Committee.

During this period of rapid change in the Middle East, it is fitting that the members of the AIPAC gather to discuss the pressing issues of our times and to reaffirm the goals of your organization. As our government engages in a constructive dialogue on new opportunities for peace in the region, you can take pride in your efforts to strengthen the warm and friendly ties that the United States shares with the Israeli people.

On this occasion, it is also appropriate to reaffirm America's long-standing commitment to Israel's security. I believe that the success of Operation Desert Storm has helped to move our shared goal of a just and lasting peace throughout the region one step closer to reality. A partnership with Israel is the basis of U.S. efforts to develop a path towards peace in the Middle East. I am confident that, by continuing to build upon this strong relationship, we will be successful in advancing the aims of peace and mutual understanding.

Barbara joins me in sending our best wishes for an enjoyable and productive conference.
