I am delighted to send greetings to all those gathered in New York City for this conference of the American Israel Economic Corporation. My special congratulations to your distinguished honorees, George Shultz and Eduard Shevardnadze.

We rejoice in the free emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union. Yet we recognize that this influx has posed a number of challenges to Israel's economy. This conference, along with your theme, "The Integration of Soviet Engineers and Scientists into the Economy of Israel," illustrates the widespread interest in assisting Soviet Jews in integrating into the mainstream of Israeli society. It also highlights the potential contributions that these talented men and women can make to the well-being of Israel, the Middle East, and the world.

It is fitting that you honor two men who have helped to make this historic exodus possible. I join you in saluting George Shultz and Eduard Shevardnadze -- both men of exceptional diplomatic skills -- as they receive the AIEC Freedom Award.

Barbara joins me in sending best wishes.

notes attached

On June 20, 1991, the American Israel Economic Corporation (AIEC) will be holding a conference in New York City on the integration of Soviet engineers and scientists into the economy of Israel.

On this day AIEC will also confer its first ever "Freedom Award" to both George Shultz and Eduard Shevardnadze, who will be linked to the conference by satellite hook-up. AIEC has invited over 5,000 corporate CEO's from around the country to participate, and they are expecting a turnout of at least several thousand.

AIEC would like to request a message from the President to be published in the program journal (with a photograph) and possibly read at the event. The message will be needed by June 17. I have attached background material on the event for your information. Please give me a call at x7845 with any problems or questions, and thanks in advance.

The Honorable George H.W. Bush
President of the United States of America
The White House
Washington, D.C. 2000

Dear President Bush:

I have the honor to invite your participation at the forthcoming conference on: The integration of Soviet engineers and scientists into the economy of Israel".

The enclosed information will enlighten you in further detail about importance of this conference.

On this occasion we shall confer our first 'Freedom Award' to the former Secretary of State the Hon. George P. Shultz and to the former Minister of Foreign Affairs of the U.S.S.R. the Honorable Eduard Amrosiyevich Shevardnadze for their role in facilitating the emigration of Soviet Jews.

I shall also greatly appreciate a message of greeting from you for publication in our program journal on June 20th.

May I recall that I have had the privilege of meeting you on several occasions as a member of the Board of the Jewish National Coalition and as Republican member before and after you ascended to the Presidency .

My prayers are always with you for your good health and your continued success that has already brought great glory to our country.

Respectfully yours,

Dr. Mordecai Hacoheh
Chairman of the Board
American Israel Economic Corporation
122 East 42 Street
New York, New York 10168

Dear Dr. Hacoheh:

Thank you for the invitation to the conference on "The Integration of Soviet Engineers and Scientists into the Economy of Israel".

There is at this point in time no conference more important than the one you have organized. Israel finds itself in an historical juncture - the absorption of hundreds of thousands of new Soviet immigrants presents not only a dream come true, but also a unique opportunity to turn the economy of Israel around.

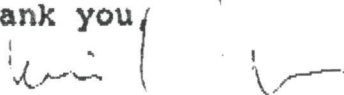

The absorption of such highly educated and motivated immigrants will be a turning point in our economy and will open the door to a free, efficient market-economy. Soviet engineers and scientists can be the very promoters of such a process.

You have succeeded in gathering a superb panel of participants who will express the different problems and challenges that will accompany this new trend. Your honorees, George Shultz and Eduard Shevardnadze, have helped to create a better and safer world, creating a new relationship between political stability and economic development. Their presence at such a conference gives much credit not only to the important event itself, but also to the historical process you are encouraging.

I know this conference is the labor and brainchild of one man: you'd be too humble to admit yourself. As Israel's official representative I would like to thank you for this contribution to explore new opportunities resulting from a modern day miracle - the absorption of Soviet Jews, among whom are pioneers in the fields of science and engineering, and their contributions to a stronger Israel. It is a project that deserves every support possible.

A stronger Israel is also the guarantee for peace for which we all yearn.

Thank you,

Ambassador Uriel Savir
Consul General of Israel

The lecturers are among the most outstanding Soviet engineers and scientists, some former members of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, who recently immigrated to Israel. They will discuss practical business plans of industrial, scientific, high-tech and R & D projects for which they seek venture capital.

It is estimated that about 35,000 Soviet engineers and scientists are now arriving in Israel annually. Among them are some most talented professionals with innovative ideas for high-tech; scientific and R & D projects. They must find productive and profitable employment in industrial and research projects, if they are to settle in Israel.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together top executives of leading American Corporations in High Technology, R & D Managers, Venture Capital Investors, Investment Bankers and Executive Officers of major Financial Institutions.

For further information, please call Mrs. Yael Wasserman at (718) 847-3004 or fax at (718) 846-6106.
