Dear Mr. President:

Along with the rest of the world, we are gratified that the eagerly desired Middle East peace conference has come to fruition. We want to convey to you our admiration for your vision, judgment, and resolute commitment to peace which were decisive in making this event a reality. Without your perseverance and dedication and that of your colleagues, this historic moment could not have been achieved.

We wish to express our congratulations as well for your opening presentation at the conference. We deeply appreciate your insistence that ultimate decisions be made by the parties themselves and that restraint be exercised by all those outside. This caution reflects keen understanding that acceptance of both the burdens and possibilities of peace by the parties themselves is prerequisite to the attainment of the real and energetic peace -- a peace with content -- that you so eloquently called for in your remarks.

We support your continuing efforts to facilitate this process and assist the parties to achieve a successful culmination to these discussions. Our prayers are with you for progress and ultimate success on the long and arduous path to peace.

Respectfully,

Henry Siegman
Executive Director

Robert K. Lifton
President
