MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: BOB J. NASH, Assistant to the President and Director of Presidential Personnel

SANDY BERGER, Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs

RE: PRESIDENTIAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON GULF WAR VETERANS' ILLNESSES (PA)

I. BACKGROUND

The newly established Presidential Advisory Committee on Gulf War Veterans' Illnesses grew out of a need to respond to issues surrounding health concerns faced by veterans of the Persian Gulf War. The Committee, which will be composed of not more than 11 members, would provide advice and recommendations to the President on Gulf War veterans' illnesses. It would report to the President through the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Veterans' Affairs, and the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

II. DISCUSSION

The Committee would provide its advice and recommendations based on a review of the following:

- (a) research (such as epidemiological and clinical) concerning Gulf war veterans' illnesses;
- (b) medical treatment, including medical examinations, of Gulf War veterans' illnesses;
- (c) risk factors (radiation and toxic substances, smoke from oil well fires, physical and psychological stress) applicable to the Gulf War; and
- (d) the coordinating efforts of the Persian Gulf Veterans Coordinating Board and related working groups.

In addition, the Committee would submit an interim report within 6 months of its first meeting and a final report by December 31, 1996. Funding for the Committee would be provided by the Department of Defense.

III. RECOMMENDATION

I recommend that you appoint the following individuals:

To serve as Chair:

JOYCE LASHOF, of California, to be a member and Chair of the Presidential Advisory Committee on Gulf War Veterans' Illnesses. Dr. Lashof is Dean Emeritus and Professor of Public Health, School of Public Health at the University of California, Berkeley. She served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Health Programs and Population Affairs at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare during the Carter Administration. Dr. Lashof is the former President of the American Public Health Association.

RESUME

OBJECTIVE

Administrative, management or public relations position requiring a high level of creative ability, a broad and thorough knowledge of business and efficacy in the direction of administrative decisions.

SUMMARY

History of serving the general public. Presently serving as the National Executive Director of the American GI Forum. Also, Executive Director of the American GI Forum Hispanic Education Foundation, a national scholarship program. Previously served as the National Chairman of the American GI Forum for four years. Chaired the National Board of Directors of SER-Jobs for Progress, a community based organization in Employment and Training programs; Veterans Outreach Program, a veterans employment, placement and counseling program and The Business Development Center, a minority development program. Extensive involvement has given me the opportunity to represent the interest of the nation's Hispanic community. During these representations, I have conferred with national and international leaders; Presidents of the USA and Mexico, U.S. Senators, Congressmen, various cabinet members, agency administrators, Governors, Mayors, State Senators and Representatives. I have delivered testimonies to Senate and House hearings and have been honored for my work and contributions in civil rights. My experience, knowledge, advice and counsel is sought on many issues and concerns that affect the Hispanic community nationwide.

CLINTON TRANSITION TEAM
Little Rock, AR.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Congratulations on Governor Clinton's resounding November victory! This promises to be a truly exciting time for our country and our generation as President Clinton forges ahead to unfold the new democratic vision. As a hispanic Vietnam veteran who has been involved in government and politics at many levels over my professional career, I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss how my unique education and experience could serve as an asset to your administration. My credentials give me specific expertise for the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Small Business Administration or a minority post in federal government.

As my resume indicates, I served in the military from 1966 to 1969. During that time, I served one year in Vietnam and eighteen months in West Berlin. Upon my return, I completed a Bachelor of Arts Degree at the University of New Mexico and went on to obtain my law degree at the Washington College of Law, American University in Washington, D.C. I returned to New Mexico and worked in state government for a short period of time. I then took the position as state campaign manager for the Kennedy for President Campaign in 1980. After winning the State of New Mexico for Senator Kennedy, I was elected as a delegate to the 1980 Democratic National Convention in New York City.

In 1981, I, along with four others, formed the Vietnam Veterans of New Mexico where I served as the vice-president. The organization has since become a part of the Vietnam Veterans of America. In 1982, I was appointed by Governor Bruce King to the New Mexico Veterans' Service Commission. This distinction was enhanced by the fact that I was the first Vietnam veteran appointed to this five member commission. I was subsequently re-appointed by Governors Anaya and Carruthers and have served as Chairman of the Commission for the past eight years. During that time, I also served as director of the New Mexico Vietnam Veteran Leadership Program, where I was instrumental in arranging for training and education for veterans interested in forming their own small businesses.

From 1986 to 1989, I served as an Assistant City Attorney for the City of Albuquerque. In 1988, I ran for political office and won a position on the Bernalillo County Commission. I was re-elected to a second four year term on November 3, 1992.

The upcoming years promise to be an exciting time for government. I feel strongly that my heritage, coupled with my education and my experience, rather uniquely qualify me for a policy level position in the Clinton Administration.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dear Secretary Brown:

The purpose of my letter is to indicate my support and endorsement of Commissioner Gene Gilbert's interest in a position with your department.

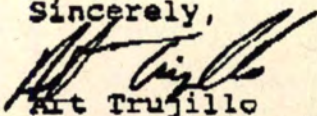

I have know Mr. Gilbert for the past fifteen years in the capacity of both a professional and a public servant. I have always found him to be a person of success with a high degree on integrity, honesty and dedication.

It has been brought to my attention that an anonymous letter was written to you accusing him of various improprieties. Furthermore, it is my understanding that Ms. Elizabeth Cook has engineered the campaign to discredit Mr. Gilbert's integrity and professionalism. Ms. Cook is involved with a local group that becomes very vocal in opposing almost every democratic issue and candidate. Her group opposed Mr. Gilbert in the last election and actually ran a candidate against him. Needless, to say Mr. Gilbert easily defeated this candidato. This in itself indicates the type of support he has in the community.

I truly feel Mr. Gilbert is well qualified for the position he is seeking. He is also in good standing and well respected in our community. I believe the tactics being used against him are designed to smear his reputation and are retaliatory in nature to discredit him. I urge you not to take this comments seriously.

If I can be of any assistance to you in this matter please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Art Trujillo
Democratic National Committeeman
Bernalillo County Democratic Chairman

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

VA LAUNCHES NEW HEALTH STUDY OF GULF VETERANS

Washington, Nov. 8 -- The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has begun new research on the health of Persian Gulf War veterans and their families, the latest step in a search for answers about the health consequences of that conflict.

Unlike many of the earlier investigations that are looking at specific groups of veterans for unusual health problems, the National Health Survey of Persian Gulf Veterans and Their Family Members is a broad epidemiological study that will compare a representative sampling of 15,000 Persian Gulf veterans with a "control group" of 15,000 veterans who served stateside or in other locations away from Southwest Asia during the Persian Gulf War. The study will also evaluate the reproductive health and birth outcomes of Persian Gulf veterans and their families.

Secretary of Veterans Affairs Jesse Brown said, "While the health problems of any Persian Gulf veteran are important and deserve immediate attention, these veterans and their families also want long-term answers. For that, we need a controlled scientific basis to find prevalence of illnesses, how they may differ from a control group 'norm,' and whether early clues to high-risk associations can shed light on causes.

"I need our veterans to help me get to the bottom of this issue," Brown said, "and I urge every veteran who receives a questionnaire to return it promptly. With full participation, we can expect more meaningful answers."

Brown added, "We have moved forward in this scientific endeavor carefully, working with an advisory committee over the last year, incorporating questions and subgroup analyses that reflect the concerns typically voiced by a veteran, such as whether his or her spouse or offspring would be at risk of health problems. We thank the outside scientists and our veteran organization partners who assisted us in the study design through our blue-ribbon Persian Gulf Expert Scientific Panel."

The study initially will gather data through a mail questionnaire and followup telephone interviews, as required. Medical records will be examined for subsets of the cohorts to validate survey findings, and about 1,000 households in each group will be offered medical examinations. Counting family members who are invited to participate in the physical exams, the cohorts' size may triple.

Both study populations include representative subgroups of men and women in all services ranging from the air national guard to active-duty marines. Like the study group, the comparison group sample is drawn from service members on duty at the time of the Gulf War.

VA and other federal agencies already have dozens of studies in progress examining a broad range of hypotheses about Gulf veterans, such as detection of any unusual patterns in their causes of death, their hospitalizations or the health of their children. VA health officials already have been examining potential risk factors of concern to veterans, from a special neurological evaluation program aimed at detecting the kind of long-term damage that would be expected from chemical exposures to the medical surveillance of service members who have retained fragments of depleted uranium shrapnel. In addition, three specialized VA Persian Gulf Environmental Hazard Research Centers are coordinating more than a dozen protocols with a variety of approaches, from small case-control studies to cellular-level studies of possible biochemical markers.

The National Health Survey is being administered by VA's Environmental Epidemiology Service, which expects initial survey data in June 1996 and final physical examination results in June 1998.

While Gulf veterans cannot volunteer for the new study due to the scientific quality controls of random selection for a representative sampling, VA continues to provide a medical exam and battery of tests through its registry program. All Gulf veterans are invited to participate, free of charge. Additional information is available through the Persian Gulf Information Center at 1-800-PGW-VETS.

President Clinton established the Persian Gulf Veterans Coordinating Board in Jan. 1994 and asked VA to lead coordination of governmentwide research efforts. In the spring of 1995, President Clinton created the Persian Gulf Advisory Committee, a panel of scientific experts, physicians and veterans, to review research projects underway and make recommendations for future research by the federal government.
