I gather that you now have a conflict with the 4:30 time slot. Unfortunately, I'm told that our top digital divide guy has a conflict at the alternative time your folks suggested, 5:30 pm. Please let me know what you'd prefer: sending someone to the meeting in your place at 4:30 pm or rescheduling the meeting for next week. I'm out on Monday and Tuesday, but it's ok with me if I'm not there. Thanks.

yep. that's it.
we could also call it dot-squad, though that might degenerate into dot-squat.
This is really very very cool and so way connected to okinawa its a great one for pj.
it could be framed in partnership terms as well (rather than education). I mean the internet is THE way for all of us to get on the same page, quite a feat for Nigeria, with its teledensity rate.

speaking of phone lines, i started thinking about that group (african american consortium) that was gearing up to buy the iridium satellite and market it in countries like Nigeria which have a hard time keeping phone lines strung... have you heard anything more on this? This is probably a non-starter.

Subject: Digital

Divide Initiative [UNCLASSIFIED]

Would it be fair to say that

IF we get these pieces together, we have a Digital Divide Initiative?

1. Nigeria accepts invitation to join Internet for Development Initiative.
2. Nigeria participates in US-funded ECOWAS seminar on same.
3. At GON's request, a DOT Team goes to Nigeria (can't help but call it that).
4. We do telecenter pilots (in as many sites as possible), possibly with additional private support for more.
5. Nigeria is included in the AOL piece (if this works)
6. Nigeria is included in the Cisco piece (if this works)

Believe we frame it in context of education.
