The drug tsar will love this.

"Test of 'Heroin Maintenance' May Be Launched in Baltimore"
Baltimore Sun (06/10/98) P. 1A; Shane, Scott

In an effort to reduce crime, HIV transmission, and fallout from other drug addictions, the city of Baltimore may become a test site for a heroin maintenance program test site, in which controlled doses of heroin are given to addicts who have refused or failed traditional treatments. Johns Hopkins University drug abuse experts and the health commissioner of Baltimore are currently discussing the matter. Baltimore health commissioner

Peter L. Beinlenson said he supports a heroin maintenance study, but the programs should not use city money and should not be in city Department clinics. Due to the highly controversial nature of the program, proponents are trying to garner support by persuading colleagues to institute other such studies in other cities. Experts from around the world gathered last Saturday at the New York Academy of Medicine to discuss the issue. David Vlahov, a professor at the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health, noted that only 15 percent of Baltimore intravenous drug users are currently in treatment and that by offering controlled doses of heroin, the programs may lure some addicts off the street.

Subject: OMB Legislative Report -- June 9, 1998

TO: ACTING DIRECTOR JACK LEW
ACTING DEP. DIRECTOR FOR MANAGEMENT
ED DESEVE
EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR JOSH GOTBAUM

FROM: OMB LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

DATE: JUNE 9, 1998

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Lott on tax cuts: Last month Lott secured the votes of Ashcroft and four other Senate conservatives to pass the Domenici budget resolution, by promising to move toward the House tax cut number. Yesterday Lott said that could mean a conference agreement & in the range of $60 to $70 billion although some of the conservatives are claiming he committed to accepting the House level without change. (The Senate-passed resolution suggests $30b of gross tax cuts, but has no net tax cuts; the House has net tax cuts of $100 billion.)

Tax Conferences: Conferees are reportedly close to agreement on H.R. 2646, a bill to expand tax-favored education savings accounts to cover primary and secondary school expenses. The IRS Reform conference is continuing; Members will have a public meeting of the conferees tomorrow at 4pm; staff expect the IRS conference to be wrapped up by the July 4 recess.

Tobacco: Senate failed to invoke cloture today 42-56 -- 18 votes short of the required 60. The vote was party line except for Ford and Robb who voted against cloture. (Inouye and Specter didn't vote.) A second cloture vote will occur on Wednesday, and a third on Thursday. Daschle is pursuing a strategy of attempting to keep the Senate on tobacco through cloture votes and opposing any attempts to move to other legislation.

TEA-21 Corrections: Rockefeller is continuing to object to consideration of the highway corrections bill unless he is permitted to offer an amendment reversing the VA/Tobacco provisions. Lott's response has been that he will insert the corrections in another bill & where (he) can't touch it. This probably means a conference report, since conference reports cannot be amended. A likely candidate would be the IRS Reform conference report due to its broad support and virtual certainty of passage before the recess.

CONGRESS -- TODAY (6/9):

SENATE:

- o Failed (42-56) to invoke cloture on the substitute amendment.

Subject: RE: Todd Summers

Hi! This is Marean, let's see if I can help on this one.

I'm not sure who made his reservations, but if it was us, be assured all he needs to do to check in is say he's with the COSSMHO conference and they'll let him know what room he's in. (If it was on your end, whomever made the reservation should have that number.)

Right now, the 10:15-11:45am workshop Friday is in Salon (room) 6 and he will presenting along with Barbara Garcia, Director of Community Substance Abuse Services (DPH City and County of San Francisco); Lydia E. Sotto-Torres, Chief
Med'l Officer Div. of Community-Based Progs HIV/AIDS Bureau (HRSA, Bethesda, MD); and obviously Eliana Loveluck Dir of AIDS & Chronic Diseases at COSSMHO
will be the moderator and leader of Q/Answer. So a safe bet might be that he'll be able to talk for 1/3 of that time (20-30mins).

The most recent workshop description I'm aware of states "1997 was a year
important developments in treatment options for persons living with HIV/AIDS.
This workshop will update information on those new developments and their impact on prevention, including a view from the federal level. A discussion about the implications of provider practices for reducing perinatal HIV transmission will be presented. Finally, preliminary data and findings on the experiment with Post-Exposure Prophylactic Treatment being undertaken by the San Francisco Department of Health will be provided". Other than new developments in treatment/prevention options, PEP and perinatal transmission that, I don't know of any hot topics. Though he might be asked how any of these issues affect his audience of Latinos/service providers to the Hispanic community.

There's no way for us to know yet how many will be in the audience, registration is still going on, on-site.

Any other events, receptions, etc - not that he won't know about when he gets there - looking at the conference program. There are other related workshops like and "HIV/AIDS PREVENTION for A NEW GENERATION" that looks really exciting - about our teen theater HIV/AIDS prevention project (Thurs 3:15-4:30pm) and Trends in Surveillance: HIV/AIDS and Immunizations" (Fri 3:15-4:30pm, but otherwise he should have fun deciding! There's a lot of cool stuff going on if I do say so myself. ;)

In sum, most of this should be clear when he gets there. Glad to help/hope it helps! Greetings, -m

Hello Ms. Schomer - My name is Sarah Holewinski, and I am Todd Summer's assistant...I think we may have talked before. Thank you so much for the fax (from Ms. Duarte) on ground transportation - it's always wonderful to have this kind of preparation (and of course, it makes me look better too!). I am sending this email high priority only to make sure that you receive it in time for me to put together his briefing packet.

I have just a couple of logistical questions surrounding his trip to Puerto Rico this Thursday, June 11th. I apologize very much for the late contact; as they probably have been for you as well, the past couple of weeks have been crazy!

I will just list the questions below - please let me know if there is another person that I should also be talking with:

Do you happen to have Todd's confirmation number for his hotel room?

Who else will be presenting with Todd on the panel?

Which room is it in?

How long will it last and what should he be prepared to cover specifically? Are there any 'hot' issues that we should be made aware of with the audience?

How many will be in the audience?

Are there any other events, receptions, etc. that Todd should be aware of during his stay there?

I think that should about cover it. Thanks for all of your help!

Q AND A FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Meeting with Lesbian and Gay Community June 14, 1998

Q: We were very disappointed by the Administration's decision on needle exchange. Can you explain to us why you withheld Federal funds?

A: The Administration is committed to reducing the transmission of HIV and reducing drug use. We believe that the recent decision was the best way to advance these two goals. The Secretary of Health and Human Services made clear that appropriate needle exchange programs can cut HIV transmission without increasing illegal drug use. At the same time, we tried to prevent the politicization of needle exchange by keeping decision making at the local level. We understand that this decision raises strong feelings on both sides, but we think that HHS's release of the scientific findings relating to needle exchange was critically important.

Q: Is it true that the President's own Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS is prepared to resign as a result of his decision not to fund needle exchange programs?

A: I understand that members of the Council have expressed frustration from time to time, but their participation gives them a unique opportunity to develop policies that best meet the needs of people living with AIDS. I hope that they continue to work with us.

Q: It feels like the Administration's commitment to AIDS has decreased over the second term.

A: The President and I will continue to make the fight against HIV/AIDS a top priority. Since we took office:

- funding for care and treatment for people living with HIV/AIDS has more than tripled and funding for research has increased by 50%
 - drug assistance programs that provide promising new therapies to people with HIV/AIDS have increased by more than 450%
 - a new vaccine research center is being built at the National Institutes of Health to focus on the President's goal of finding an AIDS vaccine within 10 years
 - drug approval at the Food and Drug Administration has been accelerated to record times

Q: Is there anything that you can do to help us with the pharmaceutical industry to lower the cost of AIDS drugs or get them more involved in HIV vaccine research?

A: I am happy to look into this. David Beier, my new domestic policy advisor, has worked with the pharmaceutical industry for years so he will be able to offer some important insight into ways that we can develop a stronger partnership with the private sector.

Q: Last year, you announced an effort to expand Medicaid coverage to people with HIV infection so that they could have access to life-saving new therapies. What's happening with that?

A: We've asked Sandy Thurman, the President's AIDS policy advisor, to head up a group of senior staff to look into this problem and develop a strategy for moving forward. As you know, we were all a little surprised and disappointed that our first effort at a demonstration project proved unworkable. However, we are still committed to working on treatment access. I'm looking forward to some ideas from Sandy's group.

In the interim, we've tried to help by increasing funding for the AIDS Drug Assistance Program by $100 million. We're also going to be looking at other ways to encourage better participation by states and the private sector.

I actually didn't expect SAMHA to come up at that meeting - it was mostly a "mend the fences" meeting. I've also asked Sandy to hold off until we've had a chance to vet the idea with others in the Admin - I met with OMB earlier in the week and they're happy to have someone address the problems. I also need to check in again with HHS. I prefer to have an action plan to recommend before having the discussion between principals, but if you think another strategy would work with Director McCaffrey I'm all ears!

I need some suggestions on Sandy's (and possibly your) Geneva trip. I have very little information surrounding the activities that both of you are supposed to be participating in.

I finally received a schedule for the entire Conference after weeks of prodding, but that doesn't help me set up meetings with key people, or figure out what Sandy's itinerary should look like.

I don't want this to turn into a Russia trip where everyone's working on a small piece but not communicating with us or not thinking about what you will need to while you're there.

I believe Linda Jackson takes care of logistics, and NCIH is participating in putting the Conference together - but who should I talk with about setting up Sandy's schedule? Paul Delay?

Also if you have any more information regarding what will happen once she's over there that we haven't talked about, please let me know. Thanks for your help sunshine -

Attached are Q & A for the upcoming VPOTUS meeting with members of the lesbian and gay community in LA, which will include Dr. Scott Hitt, Chair of the President's Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS. As you know, the Council has been critical of the Administration over the needle exchange decision and the lack of a significant prevention funding increase in the FY99 budget.

Please advise Sandy or me if additional issues need to be covered (I am leaving for a meeting in Puerto Rico this afternoon). Any suggested changes/comments should be sent to Toby with a copy to us.

Thanks!

Q AND A FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Meeting with Lesbian and Gay Community June 14, 1998

Q: We were very disappointed by the Administration's decision on needle exchange. Can you explain to us why you withheld Federal funds?

A: The Administration is committed to reducing the transmission of HIV and reducing drug use. We believe that the recent decision was the best way to advance these two goals. The Secretary of Health and Human Services made clear that appropriate needle exchange programs can cut HIV transmission without increasing illegal drug use. At the same time, we tried to prevent the politicization of needle exchange by keeping decision making at the local level. We understand that this decision raises strong feelings on both sides, but we think that HHS's release of the scientific findings relating to needle exchange was critically important.

Q: Is it true that the President's own Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS is prepared to resign as a result of his decision not to fund needle exchange programs?

A: I understand that members of the Council have expressed frustration from time to time, but their participation gives them a unique opportunity to develop policies that best meet the needs of people living with AIDS. I hope that they continue to work with us.

Q: It feels like the Administration's commitment to AIDS has decreased over the second term.

A: The President and I will continue to make the fight against HIV/AIDS a top priority. Since we took office:

- funding for care and treatment for people living with HIV/AIDS has more than tripled and funding for research has increased by 50%
 - drug assistance programs that provide promising new therapies to people with HIV/AIDS have increased by more than 450%
 - a new vaccine research center is being built at the National Institutes of Health to focus on the President's goal of finding an AIDS vaccine within 10 years
 - drug approval at the Food and Drug Administration has been accelerated to record times

Q: Is there anything that you can do to help us with the pharmaceutical industry to lower the cost of AIDS drugs or get them more involved in HIV vaccine research?

A: I am happy to look into this. David Beier, my new domestic policy advisor, has worked with the pharmaceutical industry for years so he will be able to offer some important insight into ways that we can develop a stronger partnership with the private sector.

Q: Last year, you announced an effort to expand Medicaid coverage to people with HIV infection so that they could have access to life-saving new therapies. What's happening with that?

A: We've asked Sandy Thurman, the President's AIDS policy advisor, to head up a group of senior staff to look into this problem and develop a strategy for moving forward. As you know, we were all a little surprised and disappointed that our first effort at a demonstration project proved unworkable. However, we are still committed to working on treatment access. Baptists Want Gay Order Nullified

By KRISTEN MOULTON

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - The Southern Baptists voted Thursday to ask Congress to nullify President Clinton's order prohibiting discrimination against civilian federal employees because of their sexual orientation.

Delegates at the denomination's annual convention rejected by 1,071 votes to 1,005 an amendment that would have asked Clinton's own Southern Baptist congregation to consider disciplining him unless the president rescinds his May 28 executive order.

Clinton's executive order added homosexuals to the list of groups protected from discrimination.

"Homosexual politics is masquerading today as civil rights, in order to exploit the moral high ground of the civil rights movement," said the resolution, which passed overwhelmingly.

“Homosexuality is immoral, contrary to the Bible and contrary to traditional Judeo-Christian moral standards, and the open affirmation of homosexuality represents a sign of God's surrendering a society to its perversion.”

The resolution said government should not give special legal protection and endorsement to homosexuality, nor should it impose legal sanctions against those who believe homosexual conduct immoral.

In signing his executive order, Clinton said: “Individuals should not be denied a job on the basis of something that has no relationship to their ability to perform their work.”

The defeated amendment was proposed by the Rev. Wiley Drake of Buena Park, Calif., who said he was “sick and tired” of explaining to prostitutes and other sinners how Clinton can remain a Southern Baptist.

“I think we need to go on record that President Clinton should be dealt with by his church,” Drake said.

Clinton's home church is Immanuel Baptist church in Little Rock, Ark.

Herb Hollinger, vice president in the church's executive committee, said it would have been extremely unusual for the denomination to suggest that a local church discipline a member.

“I've never heard of it. It would be anti-Southern Baptist,” he said.

Each local Southern Baptist church is autonomous.

It was Drake who proposed an amendment on Wednesday that would have cited Clinton by name in a resolution affirming that immoral behavior by public officials should not be excused. The resolution passed overwhelmingly; Drake's amendment was defeated.

Drake also was behind a resolution last year to boycott Disney for extending health insurance benefits to homosexual partners of employees and for welcoming gay groups at its amusement parks.

Q: Is there anything that you can do to help us with the pharmaceutical industry to lower the cost of AIDS drugs or get them more involved in HIV vaccine research?

A: I am happy to look into this. David Beier, my new domestic policy advisor, has worked with the pharmaceutical industry for years so he will be able to offer some important insight into ways that we can develop a stronger partnership with the private sector.

Q: Last year, you announced an effort to expand Medicaid coverage to people with HIV infection so that they could have access to life-saving new therapies. What's happening with that?

A: We've asked Sandy Thurman, the President's AIDS policy advisor, to head up a group of senior staff to look into this problem and develop a strategy for moving forward. As you know, we were all a little surprised and disappointed that our first effort at a demonstration project proved unworkable. However, we are still committed to working on treatment access. I'm looking forward to some ideas from Sandy's group.

In the interim, we've tried to help by increasing funding for the AIDS Drug Assistance Program by $100 million. We're also going to be looking at other ways to encourage better participation by states and the private sector.

Needle exchange and crime

We would strongly advise that the VPOTUS stay away from recommending additional studies - the community thinks that there's been enough research, and since the Secretary of HHS and her public health staff have publicly stated that needle exchange programs don't increase illegal drug use, they're arguably unnecessary. The focus should be on the good news that the science is out with the imprimatur of the federal government, and that we should look at ways to encourage local and state officials and philanthropies to increase their support.

NIH Vacancies

Neil Nathanson was recently announced as the new head of the Office of AIDS Research. Dr. Varmus assures us that he's close to naming a director of the new vaccine center.

AIDSVAX Phase III Trials

We can certainly point to these as being a first step, although as you know there's still considerable controversy about whether we're ready for phase III trials (several prominent scientists publicly questioned the appropriateness of the VaxGen trials, while Dr. Fauci stated that they might yield interesting results. It is clear that we have a lot of basic research left to do, but that we're receptive to moving forward on any productive trials so long as they have scientific merit.

In general, Scott Hitt does not tend to be overly direct with his comments. I think he's aware that the VPOTUS is good on AIDS issues. We've been very clear that the $165 million increase in Ryan White for FY99 came because of the VPOTUS making a personal request to the President. I think Scott is more likely to try to get the VPOTUS to commit to taking a more active role in drug pricing, vaccine development, and treatment access.

Here's a revised version with a Q and A on the vaccine and the NIH appointment.

The guidance looks fine, although I think that the questions are likely to be more specific and pointed.

One specific respond on the needle exchange could be to explore the possibilities of additional research on the crime impact of locally funded needle exchange programs. If this idea is a good one, then we need to vet it with the appropriate people.

I think that they will express disappointment with the vacancies at NIH in OAR and the Vaccine office. We should have an answer on that question.

Also, it would be worth referencing the beginning of the Phase III trials on an AIDS vaccine by GenVec. I note for the record that my former employer has an equity interest in that firm, and I raise that point only because the fact of these trials was on the front page of the NY Times.

Q AND A FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Q: We were very disappointed by the Administration's decision on needle exchange. Can you explain to us why you withheld Federal funds?

A: The Administration is committed to reducing the transmission of HIV and reducing drug use. We believe that the recent decision was the best way to advance these two goals. The Secretary of Health and Human Services made clear that appropriate needle exchange programs can cut HIV transmission without increasing illegal drug use. At the same time, we tried to prevent the politicization of needle exchange by keeping decision making at the local level. We understand that this decision raises strong feelings on both sides, but we think that HHS's release of the scientific findings relating to needle exchange was critically important.

Q: Is it true that the President's own Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS is prepared to resign as a result of his decision not to fund needle exchange programs?

A: I understand that members of the Council have expressed frustration from time to time, but their participation gives them a unique opportunity to develop policies that best meet the needs of people living with AIDS. I hope that they continue to work with us.

Q: It feels like the Administration's commitment to AIDS has decreased over the second term.

A: The President and I will continue to make the fight against HIV/AIDS a top priority. Since we took office:

- funding for care and treatment for people living with HIV/AIDS has more than tripled and funding for research has increased by 50%
 - drug assistance programs that provide promising new therapies to people with HIV/AIDS have increased by more than 450%
 - a new vaccine research center is being built at the National Institutes of Health to focus on the President's goal of finding an AIDS vaccine within 10 years
 - drug approval at the Food and Drug Administration has been accelerated to record times

Q: Is there anything that you can do to help us with the pharmaceutical industry to lower the cost of AIDS drugs or get them more involved in HIV vaccine research?

A: I am happy to look into this. David Beier, my new domestic policy advisor, has worked with the pharmaceutical industry for years so he will be able to offer some important insight into ways that we can develop a stronger partnership with the private sector.

Q: Last year, you announced an effort to expand Medicaid coverage to people with HIV infection so that they could have access to life-saving new therapies. What's happening with that?

A: We've asked Sandy Thurman, the President's AIDS policy advisor, to head up a group of senior staff to look into this problem and develop a strategy for moving forward. In the interim, we've tried to help by increasing funding for the AIDS Drug Assistance Program by $100 million. We're also going to be looking at other ways to encourage better participation by states and the private sector.

Q: There have been delays in getting key appointments at the NIH, which could delay the progress of the President's HIV vaccine initiative. Can you help to move those along?

A: As you know, Secretary Shalala and Dr. Varmus just announced the appointment of Dr. Neil Nathanson as head of the Office of AIDS Research. His great experience will be a great asset. Dr. Varmus has assured us that he is close to naming a director of the new vaccine center, and that the work is moving forward in the interim.

Q: The President's HIV Vaccine Initiative has been moving too slowly. Is there anything you can do to help?

A: Dr. Varmus has assured us that the initiative is moving forward on course. We just had the announcement of an important private clinical trial. I will be happy to help in any way that I can, and will look to David (Beier) and Sandy (Thurman) to keep on top of this for me.

Since my last discussion with you on obtaining a water cooler for the Office of National AIDS Policy, I have received more information. Remember all those fans we saw when we moved in? Remember Ms. Harris saying that they were used in the winter because of the heat? Wrong. It's sweltering in here. Daniel and I are getting in particularly badly because we're on the top floor and get morning sun (yes, our shades are drawn tightly).

What can we do? Can we put a window a/c unit in the back? We're not going to make it through the summer like this!

Also, we'd like to request that we be provided with a water cooler. We've got several people living with HIV on staff and others that visit, and DC water is not safe for them to drink. To whom do we make the request?

NAVY SETTLEMENT OF McVEIGH CASE:

Background:

- The Navy sought to discharge Senior Petty Officer Tim McVeigh alleging that his anonymous AOL computer profile suggesting he was gay violated the Don't Ask, Don't Tell, Don't Pursue policy. A federal court found in his favor and the Navy filed a notice of appeal.
- Today the Navy settled the case and will withdraw the appeal. McVeigh will be allowed to retire early and at the higher rank to which he was promoted several weeks ago, while the action was pending. The Government will pay $90,000 in his attorney's fees.

Talking Points:

- The President believes that this is a fair resolution of a difficult case and he's glad that the Navy and Senior Petty Officer McVeigh were able to resolve their dispute amicably. Beyond that, I would refer you to the Justice Department for the details.
- The President remains committed to the fair implementation of the policy and believes that Secretary Cohen is taking steps to insure it.

Todd -

NORA (the National Organizations Responding to Aids) has also written a letter to the President "express[ing] extreme concern regarding your Administration's various and conflicting public positions on the issue of needle exchange programs."

I'll fax this one over to you as well for suggestions. You briefed me on the background, and I think I understand the issue here. Please let me know if you even think this warrants a Presidential response. Maybe a simple general letter would be sufficient.

Thanks again!

However, there may be efforts to insert the corrections into other legislation or conference reports.

GAY AND LESBIAN AMERICANS
prepared by Richard Socarides 202-219-9088

THE CONSTITUENCY:

- Gays and lesbians make up between 6-10% of the United States population.
- According to Voter News Service (VNS), which did exit polling for the television networks and the Associated Press, in 1992 approximately 3% of those voting identified themselves as being gay or lesbian. In 1996, again according to VNS, that number rose to 5%. These numbers are believed to represent under-valuations. As many gays are reluctant to identify themselves. The gay and lesbian vote was as follows:

1992:	Clinton- 72%	1996:	Clinton- 66%
	Bush- 14		Dole- 23
	Perot- 14		Perot- 7
	other- --		Other- 4

- In 1992, gays and lesbians represented at least 5% of the total Clinton/Gore vote and in 1996 they represented at least 7% of the total Clinton/Gore vote.

KEY GROUPS:

- Human Rights Campaign, Washington, DC
- Empire State Pride Agenda, New York, NY
- National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, Washington, DC
- Gay and Lesbian Victory Fund, Washington, DC
- Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD), New York, NY and Los Angeles, CA
- National Latino/Latina Lesbian and Gay Organization (LLEGO), Washington, DC
- National Black Gay and Lesbian Leadership Forum, Washington, DC
- Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays (P-FLAG), Washington, DC
- Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, New York, NY and Los Angeles, CA
- Service Members Legal Defense Fund, Washington, DC
- Access Now for Gay and Lesbian Equality (ANGLE), Los Angeles, CA
- Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Community Center, Los Angeles, CA
- New York Gay and Lesbian Community Services Center, New York, NY

MAJOR ISSUES:

- Issues relating to the Administration's efforts to end discrimination against gays and lesbians in the military and alleged violations of the "don't ask, don't tell" policy which followed.
- DOJ's failure to file a brief opposing Colorado's anti-gay Amendment Two at the Supreme Court.
- The President support of anti-gay marriage legislation, which he signed into law on September 20, 1996 and issues relating to parenting, adoption and foster parenting by gays and lesbians.
- Passage of the Employment Non-Discrimination Act, which would outlaw workplace discrimination against gays and lesbians and which the President endorsed on October 19, 1995.
- Immigration rights for same sex partners as U.S. citizens.
- HIV and AIDS issues, especially relating to welfare, government sponsored needle exchange, prevention issues and access to treatment.

Subject: Letter from Tom Henderson to POTUS

Tom Henderson, a member of the President's Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS

from Texas, wrote the President concerning a pending policy decision on HIV names-reporting. The letters folks sent it over to the AIDS policy office at HHS for help in drafting a response (at my suggestion). However, after talking with them, I think it would be better if it was formally forwarded to the Secretary for a response with a request that the response letter come from the Secretary or Deputy Secretary and not CDC (which is perceived to be the problem by the Council).

The point of the letter was to make sure that the Administration (us and HHS) did not just rubber-stamp the policy recommendation from CDC on this issue. What Henderson wants is assurance that HHS is going to seriously evaluate the policy.

I don't know what the protocol is here except that the AIDS policy office can't recommend a response from the Secretary - we have to send the letters through to their exec sec.

Hope this is clear!

Thanks,

Todd

I will schedule this for next week. I need a name and phone number at 808 to make arrangements. What is the actual size of the refrig? Is it a cube refrig or a waste high refrig? Please make sure it has been defrosted and cleaned out so, water is not spilled all over the place. We will have to bring it back to RDS to be screened. I will let you know the day we will be taking it to room 213. It might be the same day we pick it up or the next.

Questions, please give me a call 55250.

Have a good weekend.

GARY BAUER
409 C. Capitol Street, Suite 410

Phone: 202-479-9898

Dear Conservative Friend,

I must give you a word of caution.

Much of the information that I will share is disturbing and I recommend that you do not read this letter with your children or grandchildren present. In fact, when you finish with it, I strongly advise that you keep it out of the reach of children.

The reason I'm writing you is to ask for your immediate assistance to help me stop the militant "Gay Rights" Movement. This includes but is not limited to the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, Human Rights Campaign, ACT UP!, Gay and Lesbian Victory Fund and Parents and Friends of Gays and Lesbians.

As I write this letter to you, they're preparing to throw the full weight of their deep financial resources behind an all out effort to elect pro-gay candidates to federal and state offices this year.

These five organizations are totally altering the political landscape in this country and if they continue to go unchallenged, they threaten to undermine every basic value and belief we have held in America for over 200 years.

My name is Gary Bauer. You may know me as President of the Family Research Council here in Washington or as a frequent guest on Dr. James Dobson's daily radio program, Focus on the Family.

But today I'm writing you about a new political action committee I started called the Campaign for Working Families (CWF). With your help, we can stop the radical "Gay Rights" Movement. But this is a lonely and daunting task, as we are among the very few organizations willing to square off against their agenda.

That's right, CWF is virtually the only organization in the country willing to take on the "Gay Rights" Establishment.

CWF is under extreme pressure from the elite in the liberal media, the education establishment and both political parties to drop this campaign altogether and surrender. The elite are telling us it is not "polite" to talk about the "Gay Rights" Movement. A recent speech I delivered at Harvard University shows this to be the case. I was ambushed by "Gay Rights" proponents who equated my beliefs with those of the Nazis. I was accused of advocating electric shock therapy for homosexuals, outright oppression of gays and being on the "wrong side of history."

There is a great difference between opposing the political agenda of the gay rights movement and being an oppressor of gays. The way anyone chooses to live his life is up to him. However, when homosexuals enter into the public square and suggest to the rest of America that we need to redefine marriage or insist on teaching homosexuality in the public schools, and that homosexuality is no morally different than the way I have chosen to live with my wife, they should expect opposition. But the sad fact is, most of the time, they face no opposition.

All of these accusations are outrageous and frankly, I was sickened by these baseless charges. But this is what happens to anyone who is willing to take a stand against the homosexual activist agenda.

That is exactly what happened to Green Bay Packer all-star Reggie White, an ordained Christian minister. In a recent speech before the Wisconsin State Assembly, he said homosexuality was a sin. The liberal lynch mob jumped on it - they were particularly outraged that he cited the Bible as his source.

Reggie called me and we spoke on the phone about how he should handle the situation. The media and homosexual activists were calling for an apology. We prayed together and concluded that he should stick by his principles and not back down. He didn't.

I started CWF so people like you could support candidates for federal and state office who would not bow down to the demands of the homosexual activists.

But, before any candidate receives CWF's support, they must answer our 1998 Candidate Questionnaire which is no easy task.

Candidates must answer if they will . . .

- * support banning same sex marriages,
- * oppose homosexual and lesbian curricula in America's public schools,
- * oppose laws providing taxpayer funded clean needle programs to drug addicts which will supposedly slow the spread of the AIDS virus,
- * support community standards against encroachment of pornography .

. . and over 40 more questions regarding families, taxes, education, crime and pro-life issues. CWF is planning on sending thousands of our Questionnaires to candidates running for office on both the federal and state level. The '98 Candidates Questionnaire will then be returned to CWF to be reviewed and the results will be pivotal in determining which candidates receive the votes of millions of conservatives in the up-coming elections.

My friend, I refuse to believe that I'm the only one who, opposes the "Gay Rights" agenda. And, if I were a betting man, I bet that there is a great silent majority of people, including yourself, who oppose these homosexual groups and their beliefs.

That is why I need you to take a few minutes right now and do two things to help CWF defeat the radical "Gay Rights" Movement at the polls in November.

First, if you know someone, a neighbor, a friend, a fellow church member, even a member of your family who would be willing to help CWF oppose the "Gay Rights" Agenda, then fill out the enclosed post card with his or her name and address and return it to CWF today.

Secondly, with your financial help, we can defeat the extreme, pro-homosexual candidates at the ballot box. That is why I'm asking you to make your most generous contribution of least $250, $100, $50, $25, $15 or whatever you can give. But please do not divert money from your family or your local church to do so. If you cannot contribute, then please pray for our work.

While I believe homosexuals have rights, I do not think they are right. And they certainly don't have more rights than the rest of us. They have a right to their own life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but they do not have a right to impose their views upon our lives, liberties and happiness.

However, that is exactly what they are trying to do.

And it's the "Gay Rights" Movement which is opposed to everything you and I, and the candidates we support, stand for. From sponsoring legislation that allows.

- * Same-sex marriages and gay adoptions,
- * Homosexual sex-ed curriculums in our public classrooms,

* Supporting a bill allowing the re-issue of birth certificates for persons with a sex change operation,

... the "Gay Rights" Movement is supporting radical liberals for public office who are "outstanding advocates for the gay and lesbian community."

One of these groups, Human Rights Campaign, describes itself as taking "the lead role in bringing lesbian and gay issues into the mainstream of American politics." In fact, it's the largest political action committee of its kind, making more than $1 million in contributions in the last election cycle ...

... while a total of 83 percent of the candidates it supported last year won their races!

Last year gay candidates won races in Virginia, Georgia and 22 other states. This year four open lesbians are running for Congress and incumbent members such as Sen. Barbara Boxer (D-CA), Sen. Patty Murray (D-WA), Sen. Ron Wyden (D-OR) and Sen. Carol Moseley Braun (D-IL), threaten the very backbone and hope of our country, the American family, with their support of the "Gay Rights" agenda.

The entire "Gay Rights" Movement, their agenda and their politicians, must be countered.

That's why your support of CWF is vitally important. We are among the very few pro-family, pro-life, pro-free enterprise organizations taking a stand against these rabid left-wing factions.

A more disturbing and alarming political development is that we are beginning to see the total retreat of the Republican Party from exposing the "Gay Rights" Movement for what it is: an all out assault on the American family. In fact, in some cases the GOP is embracing the gay agenda!

Last month's special elections show this to be true.

In California, Human Rights Campaign supported liberal Lois Capps with a maximum contribution of $10,000 and even sent several of their gay staffers out to her office to help her win a victory over pro-family conservative Tom Bordonaro (whom CWF supported).

The next day, in a direct slap at the values we hold, Human Rights Campaign issued a press release titled, "Capps victory a repudiation of Gary Bauer's Tactics - Voters personally reject Extremism." The press release said, "Voters resoundingly rejected Gary Bauer's attempts to smear Lois Capps with misleading ads."

But where was the GOP? They did almost nothing to help our candidate win.

It gets worse. Here in the District of Columbia, recently elected GOP Council member David Catania, who is openly gay, received a phone call from Republican National Chairman Jim Nicholson to extend the national Republican Party's best wishes. An RNC spokesman said, "We were and are fully supportive of him without equivocation.

The party bureaucrats have thrown in the towel! They have given up!

CWF was the only group in those special elections defending families against the radical pro-gay rights organizations.

Not only does the "Gay Rights" Movement have virtually no opposition from the Republican Party, they also have some high profile liberal Democratic spokespersons working around the clock for their cause.

From Vice President Al Gore's impassioned defense of the pro-lesbian sitcom Ellen, ("When the character Ellen came out, millions of Americans were forced to look at sexual orientation in a different light," said the VP), to President Clinton's appointment of the highest ranking openly gay official to ever serve in the Federal Government, the "Gay Rights" activists have some heavy artillery in their arsenal.

But their agenda doesn't stop there. The facts show an Administration, a Congress and a judicial system being worked successfully by "Gay Rights" proponents.

They are trying to change once and for all the face of our country, our classrooms, our government, our families, our churches and all of the principles on which this country was founded.

For example . . . Same Sex Marriages.

Homosexual activists are on the verge of radically redefining marriage and family through the courts. If they succeed, homosexuals and lesbians will gain the "right" to adopt children, school children will be taught that homosexual and lesbian sex is the moral equivalent of love between husband and wife, employers will be forced to subsidize homosexual relationships, churches will be pushed outside civil law and government power will be directed against anyone who believes that homosexuality is wrong.

If the one-man, one-woman definition of marriage is broken, there will be no stopping the assault on marriage. If feelings are the key requirement, then why not let three people marry, or two adults and a child, or consenting blood relatives of legal age?

No society has loosened sexual morality outside of man-woman marriage and survived. Analyzing studies of cultures spanning thousands of years on several continents, sociologist Pitirim Sorokin found that virtually all political revolutions that brought about societal collapse were preceded by a sexual revolution in which marriage and family were devalued.

Clearly, if you care about your family, if you care deeply about your children, about morality, your church, about the well being of our whole society, we must resist attempts by a tiny segment of the population to seize marriage for its own purpose.

Another serious threat to our families is the homosexual curricula being pushed in America's schools.

The publishers of the latest homosexual children's book, "Daddy's Wedding," tell us it is "appropriate for children ages 2 to 6." The book uses colorful pictures to tell the story of a young boy, Nick, who is the "best man" at the "wedding" ceremony between his "gay" daddy and his homosexual lover. One page shows the men kissing at the altar as young Nick looks on. "Daddy's Wedding" is published by the same company that gave us "Heather Has Two Mommies."

Gay textbooks, the promotion of "Gay History Month," creating "gay-straight" youth alliances in high schools (which generally are nothing more than pro-homosexual propagandizing to students), and the right of openly homosexual teachers to proudly affirm their gay "identity" to schoolchildren should motivate us to fight longer and harder than our adversaries in the militant homosexual movement.

Homosexual activists are deadly serious about using the education process to teach kids that homosexuality is okay, and anyone who thinks otherwise is a "bigot."

For 10 years we have been experiencing an onslaught of lies coming from organizations like Human Rights Campaign, National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, Act Up!, Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays. These groups are, without question, the most intolerant in the country. They will only tolerate those who accept and approve the homosexual and lesbian life styles.

CWF was organized in late 1996 to give pro-family, pro-life conservatives the same power the radical "Gay Rights" Establishment has: the power to endorse, promote and fund individual candidates.

So please take a few minutes right now and do two things to help CWF defeat the radical "Gay Rights" Movement at the polls this November.

First, if you do know a family member, a neighbor, a fellow church member who may want to hear from CWF about the upcoming November elections and important issues facing our country, then please fill out the enclosed postcard with that person's name and address and return it to me today

Secondly, if you are in a position to send a contribution of $250, $100, $50, $25, or, if at all possible $15 or $10 to help CWF by electing men and women to office who will defeat the "Gay Rights" movement, then please use the enclosed envelope I've provided to do so today.

My friend, unless we get back to using our Judeo-Christian heritage as the basis for truth, we will end up with moral anarchy. We must have some objective truth in our lives.

When I was growing up, there was still a sense of shame associated with homosexual behavior. Today, there is no shame. We have done away with a lot of our sodomy laws and we've made homosexuality fashionable.

An honest look at the evidence of 70 years of psychology, therapeutic research, the history of the entire human race, and the moral codes of all the great civilizations tells us that homosexuality is not only universally discouraged as learned behavior but can also be temporary, controlled, and even changed,

Individuals struggling with same-sex desires should be accorded compassion, but this does not mean they should be given a mandate to radically redefine marriage, teach our children in the public classroom and threaten the traditional family.

We need to pray for those we know who have fallen into this particular type of sexual sin. But we must also meet them on their terms in the political arena and not be afraid or back down. We must be bold to speak out to protect our families and our children from these radical organizations and their subversive agendas.

Thank you for taking time to read my letter. I hope to hear from you shortly.

Sincerely,

Gary L. Bauer, Chairman

PS - Taking a stand against "Gay Rights" is sometimes a lonely and daunting task. I ask for your prayers as we seem to be the only organization to recognize the threat their agenda poses to our values. And I hope you'll consider making your most generous contribution of $250, $100, $50, $25, $15 or whatever you can afford - to elect thousands of like minded pro-family men and women committed to stopping the advance of the "Gay Rights" agenda. Thank you again.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

June 16,

PRESS BRIEFING BY MIKE MCCURRY

The Briefing

Room
2:00 P.M. EDT

* * * *

MR. MCCURRY: What does President Clinton think when the Senate Majority Leader describes homosexuality the way he did in an interview yesterday?

MR. MCCURRY: He thinks that the American people understand how difficult it is to get business done in Washington sometimes when you're dealing with people who are so backward in their thinking. For over 25 years, it's been quite clear that sexual orientation is not an affliction. It is not a disease. It isn't something that is part of defining one's sexuality. And the fact that the Majority Leader has such views, apparently, consistent with some who are fairly extreme in his party, is an indicator of how difficult it is to do rational work in Washington.

Q Well, wait a minute. How does this relate to -- this is stopping what kind of work? Does this relate to the tobacco bill or --

MR. MCCURRY: It's on a wide variety of matters. The views of Gary Bauer and James Dobson define the approach that many take in the Republican Caucus and that puts, at sometimes, the Republican Caucus and its leadership in the Congress to the extreme point of view in American political life. And it makes it hard to do business with people who want to --

Q But is there any specific piece of legislation that this kind of view is holding up?

MR. MCCURRY: One would argue that the whole State Department authorization bill is being held up for exactly, that reason. There are probably other examples, too.

Q Back on the Uniformed Services --

Q Can we just finish that gay issue for a second?

MR. MCCURRY: Yes.

Q Lott says he'll oppose the nomination of James Hormel to be ambassador to --

MR. MCCURRY: Yes, exactly. You can see -- why would they oppose someone who is otherwise well-qualified to be a U.S. ambassador other than the prejudice that exists in their minds against people who are gay and lesbian? And that's such a clear example of why. I mean, now you understand why. It's because they have views that are, to put it charitably, quite out of date.

Q But he says that that's because Hormel has advocated the gay lifestyle.

MR. MCCURRY: Mr. Hormel has more than adequately addressed that in his confirmation hearings. And that's not the reason. They're refusing to move forward on that nomination because he's gay. That's quite plain and simply the case.

Q Mike, you've been saying that when you refer to people who are so backward in their thinking, people who can't do rational work, and people who are prejudiced against the gay and lesbians, are you referring to Trent Lott?

MR. MCCURRY: I'm referring to people who reflect that point of view. And if that is the way in which he defines his approach on these issues, I guess it does apply to him. But he should maybe clarify that and explain how his views on sexual orientation are consistent with what every expert in the field has to say.

Q Do you think your views, Mike, might hurt -- the views that you expressed today might hurt chances for the tobacco bill?

MR. MCCURRY: No.

* * * *

Q Mike, when you describe Lott's statements as backward in thinking regarding homosexuality, are those the views of the President?

MR. MCCURRY: The President has made it very clear that he thinks that people who are law-abiding, contributing members of this community and this nation should not suffer discrimination because of their sexual orientation. And I think the President believes that there are a significant number of Americans that share that point of view.

Q Well, regarding social issues, the President has also shown respect, acknowledged that on various social issues there are different views because of convictions held, but is this the same kind of spirit shown by saying that he's backward in this thinking?

MR. MCCURRY: Well, that's true when it's a matter of conscience. This is a case in which, contrary to fact, contrary to statements of the medical community and those who are expert, the Majority Leader has taken an incorrect view that homosexuality is a disease. It is not. And that's an entirely different matter. That's not a position held as a conviction or a matter of conscience.

Now, the Majority Leader, as a religious matter, a matter of theology, may have views, and the President doesn't contest that. The President's is the President; he's not a theologian. But that's not the specific issue that the majority -- that I think ,aroused such profound concern in the community. It was the view that's now been strongly refuted for over a generation that homosexuality is a disease.

Q Didn't he say it was a sin?

MR. MCCURRY: He said several things, but the one that I am addressing is that one.

In TV Interview, Lott Calls Homosexuality a 'Sin'

By ALISON MITCHELL

WASHINGTON -- In an unusual interview about his personal beliefs, Sen.

Trent Lott, the majority leader, agreed on Monday with a conservative talk show host that homosexuality is a sin and then compared it to such personal problems as alcoholism, kleptomania and sex addiction.

The Mississippi Republican made his remarks in a 40-minute taped interview conducted by Armstrong Williams for the America's Voice network, a cable television network. The interview -- part of a series on some of the nation's political leaders -- was timed for Father's Day and is scheduled for broadcasting over the weekend or next week.

Lott and Williams explored a range of social topics from Lott's thoughts on disciplining children (he said that on occasion he used a belt) to his opposition to abortion to his views on the role of men and women in marriage. He described his childhood growing up in Mississippi in the 1950s and early 1960s as a "good time for America."

Lott has made his views on homosexuality known in the past, speaking out in 1996 against a bill, narrowly defeated by the Senate, that would have banned discrimination against homosexuals in the work place. At the time he called the legislation "part of a larger and more audacious effort to make the public accept behavior that most Americans consider dangerous, unhealthy or just plain wrong."

Asked on Monday by Williams whether homosexuality is a sin, Lott replied, "yes, it is." He added that "in America right now there's an element that wants to make that alternative lifestyle acceptable."

Lott said, "You still love that person and you should not try to mistreat them or treat them as outcasts. You should try to show them a way to deal with that." He said that his own father had had a problem with alcoholism, adding that "others have a sex addiction or are kleptomaniacs. There are all kinds of problems and addictions and difficulties and experiences of this kind that are wrong. But you should try to work with that person to learn to control that problem."

With the investigation of President Clinton's connection to a former White House intern as a backdrop, Lott also spoke about his marriage to his wife, Tricia. He said he had never been unfaithful to her during their 34 years of marriage "because I love her and because I believe that's wrong."

Asked if he were ever tempted, he allowed, "Sure I was. I'm a human being." But he said he takes great care to ensure that his behavior is beyond reproach. When he travels in his Mississippi district with a woman who works for him as a field worker, he said, "I would never get in a situation where it was just the two of us in a car." He said he took that precaution "because just the appearance bothered me."

He added that when visitors come to his office, "I quite often prefer to have three of us in the room, not just two."

Lott said his opposition to abortion was taught to him by his mother. He remembered coming home from high school and telling his mother he thought abortion might be acceptable under certain conditions, only to see her drop a dish towel and burst into tears. "She started crying and said, 'If I have raised you to have no moral respect for human life then I have failed,'" he said.

Lott, who is a Southern Baptist, stepped carefully when asked about the Southern Baptist Convention's declaration that a woman should "submit herself graciously" to her husband's leadership. He said that he felt "very strongly" about his faith, but said he would speak of marriage roles "in different terms." Spouses, he said, should "serve each other."

Can we talk about how to work together to get this resolved? We're getting a lot of pressure from community folks and the President's Advisory Council, and are continuing to tell them that the policy it isn't determined yet. I'll call.

Hi -

I just got an ear-full from the administration people about getting paperwork on the receptionist. I know she's only temporary, but I'm not supposed to have anyone here without submitting the letter from you all first. Do you still have the draft I sent you? Can you just send something over? Thanks for coming the other night - sorry we didn't get a chance to chat more - any interest in getting together for a sandwich?

If you lost it, try this:

We are please to be able to provide _____ to the Office of National AIDS Policy to serve as an agency representative on the Interagency Task Force on HIV/AIDS. She/he will be available in the capacity starting on _____ and ending _____. [you can put in a distant date if you're not sure - you can always withdraw someone - doing extensions is yet another piece of paper!]. During their tenure, this agency representative will be providing administrative support to the office and will not be providing policy guidance.

Sincerely,

David Vos

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

June 17, 1998

PRESS BRIEFING
BY MIKE MCCURRY

The Briefing Room

1:30 P.M. EDT

* * * *

Q Mike -- the President's appeal to the Congress and pass a tobacco law, could you detail for us a little bit some of the back and forth between the Hill and the White House in the last few days to convince the Republicans that this is the right thing to do?

MR. MCCURRY: Well, we've had numerous conversations with those who are managing the bill on the floor to assess the situation. Our legislative staff, Larry Stein, our Director of Congressional Relations, has been closely in contact with leadership on both sides of the aisle. But I'd say that the most important discussions have been the conversations that Mr. Bowles, the Chief of Staff, has had directly with the Majority Leader, including two telephone conversations so far today, and who knows, by the end of the day, maybe even more.

Q Your comments yesterday about his backward thinking on homosexual relations, do you think that played any part in the --

MR. MCCURRY: I can't imagine that, on an issue so fundamentally important as the public health of children in America, that the Majority Leader would take, you know, whatever anger he felt toward me and use that as something that would affect the scheduling on this.

Q Did he call you at all?

MR. MCCURRY: No, his office put out a statement in which they incorrectly said that I was trying to judge right and wrong. Judgment of right and wrong is done, you know, in my mind, by someone else. (Laughter.) And that's not what this was about.

Q But you were saying he was wrong.

MR. MCCURRY: No, I said that he was incorrect when he said that homosexuality is a disease. It is not. And that's all I said. I did not comment on theology, nor would I, because he's entitled to have whatever personal belief of conscience that he wants to have, as is any American.

Q Do you think it was wise of him to have and express that belief?

MR. MCCURRY: I think it's unwise when people, in saying something that is not true, in saying something that reflects misconceptions that are now decades old, when those -- when leadership -- people in leadership positions repeat that kind of thinking, it lends support to those who are trying to be divisive and who are trying to set individual groups of Americans against each other. And I think that's unfortunate when that happens.

Q He apparently believes it. I mean, at one point Pat Buchanan believed --

MR. MCCURRY: I'm sure he believes it. And I'm sure, you know, many of us know exactly what Saint Paul wrote to the church of Corinth, too. And I understand that and I respect that, but that's not the issue that I addressed yesterday. I addressed a different question, which is, do you compare homosexuality to a disease, like alcoholism, or kleptomania. And I thought that was very unfortunate that the Majority Leader did that. And I still do today, regardless of what his office said.

Q So that was ignorant of him?

MR. MCCURRY: It was ignorant. And ignorance sometimes is the foundation of prejudice.

Q What did the President say about your response?

MR. MCCURRY: I think the President knows exactly what I said yesterday.

Q What does he think?

MR. MCCURRY: He probably would wish that we not have this kind of back and forth on that issue, but at the same time, you know, he understands why people feel strongly about it and he -- he wanted to make sure that I did not cast any aspersions on the Majority Leader's religious thinking. And I didn't and I wouldn't.

Q Mike, what -- you connected this -- these kind of views to why the State Department authorization bill is being held up?

MR. MCCURRY: Well, no, you asked me a question like, is this going to affect any other bills, and off the top of my head, I thought of one and there may be others. I didn't -- you asked me a question.

Q Right, and I asked you to give me an example and you gave me -- I'm just wondering what abortion has to do with this.

MR. MCCURRY: Well, I think there is extreme pressure on the Republican leadership in Congress to hew to a certain line. And it's being forced on them by Mr. Bauer, Mr. Dobson, and others. In fact, they're very proud of the fact that they are moving the Republican Party in that direction. Mr. Bauer raises money based on his own strong criticism of the Republican Party for not being anti-gay enough. And that's a very divisive thing. And it's some commentary on the state of affairs in that party when you see their leadership bend so directly to the admonitions of those who are making those arguments. And you see that reflected in the way they've addressed a lot of legislative issues, if I'm not mistaken.

Q Do you see any inconsistency in the position you're taking and the position of the administration on homosexuals in the military?

MR. MCCURRY: No, because that is a policy-related issue and it doesn't have anything to do with how you view homosexuality, whether or not it is a trait that defines one's sexuality. I mean, that's the question that is fundamental about what the Majority Leader had to say and it has nothing to do with policy. The Majority Leader would be perfectly within bounds if he criticized our policy on gays in the military or anything. That's a matter of substance, a matter of policy.

THE PRESS: Thank you.

Thanks! Hope you're well.
