TO: ACTING DIRECTOR JACK LEW
ACTING DEP. DIRECTOR FOR MANAGEMENT ED
DESEVE
EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR JOSH GOTBAUM

FROM: OMB LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

DATE: JUNE 17, 1998

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Tobacco: The Tobacco bill fell on a Budget Act point of order early this evening; it now automatically goes back to the Commerce Committee. The Daschle motion to waive the point of order failed 53-46 (7 short of the required 60). Earlier, the Senate again failed to invoke cloture 57-42 (3 votes short of the required 60).

Budget Resolution: While the Senate appointed conferees on the budget resolution earlier this week, the House is not expected to appoint conferees until after the Independence Day recess. (The House will be in recess June 26 through July 13.) The House Republican Leadership is delaying the formal appointment of conferees because that action would give Democrats an opportunity to get another vote on a motion to instruct. We expect that conferees will not be appointed until Kasich, Domenici, Lott and Gingrich come to an agreement.

Ed DeSeve testified today before the House Government Reform and Oversight Subcommittee on National Economic Growth, Natural Resources, and Regulatory Affairs regarding implementation of the Congressional Review Act by OIRA.

The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee voted today to confirm Ed DeSeve's nomination (voice vote) to be Deputy Director for Management and Dee Lee's nomination (voice vote) to be Administrator of the Office of Federal Procurement Policy.

Deputy Director for Management Ed DeSeve is scheduled to testify on Y2K before the House Reform & Oversight Subcommittee on Government Management on Monday, June 22.

Tried to call, but by the time I had a chance you were gone. I think what I was reacting to most was the continued John Ward bashing. I think it's very unfair. If you read the comments that he made, there is little if anything that is inappropriate, given the questions he is presumably responding to. The headline and the spin that the media wants to give this is and continues to be one that pits CDC against others. Our media people worked hard on this to make sure there was a clear understanding of our position upfront (ie that there is not an official policy, that any policy we would put out would allow for flexibility, etc.). John also (and I've been with him to hear how he discussed this) is very clear about how we want this to be discussed. It is very frustrating for us to constantly see this made into a hardened stance and framed in a way that suggests that the object of this is having the names of people with HIV.

At this point the best thing that could happen is to be allowed to get the MMWR out so that people can see for themselves not second guess what is being considered. I actually think we have done a decent job of meeting the main concerns that people have about flexibility, confidentiality and security.

"Latino Community Highly Aware of AIDS Threat"

Reuters Health Information Services (06/17/98)

A recent survey by the National Coalition of Hispanic Health and Human Services Organizations (COSSMHO) and the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation found that 90 percent of Hispanic people in the United States believe AIDS is a major public health problem and 50 percent believe it to be the country's most urgent public health threat. Additionally, 52 percent of the 802 respondents feel that AIDS is currently a more pressing problem than it was several years ago, while 20 percent believe that their community is losing the fight against HIV. Nearly half had a personal concern over contracting HIV--almost double the rate of concern among all Americans, based on a national sample. COSSMHO suggests that prevention efforts include culturally and linguistically appropriate HIV testing, education, and medical access at the community level.

GAY AND LESBIAN AMERICANS

prepared by Richard Socarides

June, 1998

THE CONSTITUENCY:

- Gays and lesbians make up between 6-10% of the United States population.
- According to Voter News Service (VNS), which did exit polling for the television networks and the Associated Press, in 1992 approximately 3% of those voting identified themselves as being gay or lesbian. In 1996, again according to VNS, that number rose to 5%. These numbers are believed to represent under-valuations, as some gays may be reluctant to identify themselves. The gay and lesbian vote was as follows:

1992: Clinton-72%
Bush- 14
Perot- 14
other- --

1996: Clinton-66%
Dole- 23
Perot- 7
Other- 4

- In 1992, gays and lesbians represented at least 5% of the total Clinton/Gore vote and in 1996 they represented at least 7% of the total Clinton/Gore vote.

KEY GROUPS:

- Human Rights Campaign, Washington, DC
- Empire State Pride Agenda, New York, NY
- National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, Washington, DC
- Gay and Lesbian Victory Fund, Washington, DC
- Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD), NYC and Los Angeles
- National Latino/Latina Lesbian and Gay Organization (LLEGO), Washington, DC
- National Black Gay and Lesbian Leadership Forum, Washington, DC
- Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays (P-FLAG), Washington, DC
- Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, New York, NY and Los Angeles, CA
- Service Members Legal Defense Fund, Washington, DC
- Access Now for Gay and Lesbian Equality (ANGLE), Los Angeles, CA
- Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Community Center, Los Angeles, CA
- New York Gay and Lesbian Community Services Center, New York, NY

MAJOR ISSUES:

- Issues relating to the Administration's efforts to end discrimination against gays and lesbians in the military and alleged violations of the “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy which followed.

- Legislation expanding federal hate crimes jurisdiction to include sexual orientation.
- Issues relating to the health and safety of gay and lesbian youth.
- The President support of anti-gay marriage legislation, which he signed into law on September 20, 1996 and issues relating to parenting, adoption and foster parenting by gays and lesbians.

Thanks for the draft - I've sent it to our admin people to see if it will make them happy. Ross is actually gone for the whole month and there's another woman here in his place. Also, I believe that you have to wait 90 days after hiring someone to detail them out. So, you can either leave a temp here until the 90 days is over or send a staffer over for 90 days and then replace them with the new one.

The advantage of the latter option, to us (smile), is that we would LOVE someone who knows how to do senior level assistance to help set Sandy's office up. She's never had anyone who knew what the hell they were doing so there are no good "systems" in place. Just a thought. I'll call you later.

I wanted to write a few words about the interns before I left.

Mandi Leissoo: I worked with her on a couple of things, principally the Women and HIV document. I handed over to her the original with my notations about what was inaccurate or out of date for part of the document and provided her with original articles and other sources to use to revise the rest of the document or to write new sections. She was unfamiliar with a lot of the issues and science of HIV, but that did not prevent her from using the material, asking questions when appropriate, and coming up with a good document (I hope you will agree). She was able to understand some subtle and complicated topics and remembered these, noting when similar subjects came up during the PACHA meeting. She also assisted on my HIV in the Maritime project, going through tables of data and reports to pick out relevant information. I think she is a hard worker, was unafraid of unfamiliar topics, and was very helpful.

Lisa Gonzales: I worked with her on the N:/ drive project. She was very methodical and thorough in going through the files. She had a good grasp of what was important and what was not. She made a good list of the files that should be helpful in winnowing out the N:/ drive. She completed this fairly quickly given the huge number of files (>500) and the tedious nature of the task.

Dory: I did not work on any projects with her.

GAY CHURCH INVITES ARMEY, LOTT

DALLAS, June 19 (UPI) The pastor of the nation's largest gay congregation is inviting Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott and House Majority Leader Dick Arme y to attend services at the Dallas church.

In letters written to the two Republican leaders, the Rev. Michael Piazza tells them, "You don't know God or gays." He says his invitation was prompted by recent anti-gay comments attributed to the two men.

In an interview, Lott said homosexuality is a sin but homosexuals should be helped. He said, "You should try to show them a way to deal with that problem, just like alcohol, or sex addiction, or kleptomaniacs."

Piazza said members of the Cathedral of Hope are "Children of God _ not sinners, not sick, and certainly not the kind of judgmental people we see in Washington today."

Piazza said if Lott and Arney had studied the Bible "they would know that Jesus said nothing about homosexuality, but did say 'Judge not, lest you be judged.'"

The Cathedral of Hope has a 900-seat sanctuary on 10 acres in the heart of Dallas with a television ministry the church says reaches 2.5 million households around the nation.

Subject: Re: Paperwork

Todd---sorry this is still a problem and here's a letter I could send--I though Ross Leach was at your office--or is its someone else? Also, I understand that HUD has made offers on the secretary's position and we will have a new term (up to 4 years) employee who will be assigned to your office; she will start on Monday, June 29 and will probably be in HUD for only one day on paperwork. Our administrative office should let me know soon which of the group was selected.

-- what do you think?

PS--lunch would be great, give me a date, I'm sure you're schedule is worse than mine. DV

Ms. Sandra L. Thurman
Director
White House Office of National AIDS Policy
736 Jackson Place NW
Washington, DC 20503

Dear Sandy:

This letter provides you with confirmation that a temporary services agency has been retained by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and that their agent, Ross Leach, is currently assigned to provide administrative assistance to the Interagency Task Force on HIV/AIDS. I understand that Mr. Todd Summers, Deputy Director of your office, will serve as the supervisor during this assignment. In this capacity, the temporary employee will serve as an agency representative, although this role will not involve any policy representation on behalf of this Department.

HUD is pleased to support the efforts of your Office in view of our common missions in addressing the housing needs of persons affected by the HIV epidemic.

Very sincerely yours,

David Vos
Director
Office of HIV/AIDS Housing

I just got an ear-full from the administration people about getting paperwork on the receptionist. I know she's only temporary, but I'm not supposed to have anyone here without submitting the letter from you all first. Do you still have the draft I sent you? Can you just send something over? Thanks for coming the other night - sorry we didn't get a chance to chat more - any interest in getting together for a sandwich?

If you lost it, try this:

We are please to be able to provide _____ to the Office of National AIDS Policy to serve as an agency representative on the Interagency Task Force on HIV/AIDS. She/he will be available in the capacity starting on _____ and ending _____. [you can put in a distant date if you're not sure - you can always withdraw someone - doing extensions is yet another piece of paper!]. During their tenure, this agency representative will be providing administrative support to the office and will not be providing policy guidance.

Sincerely,

David Vos

TO: ACTING DIRECTOR JACK LEW
ACTING DEP. DIRECTOR FOR MANAGEMENT
ED DESEVE
EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR JOSH GOTBAUM

FROM: OMB LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

DATE: JUNE 18, 1998

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Budget Resolution Conference/Tax Cuts: Speaker Gingrich said yesterday "I think the principle that Sen. Lott enunciated of a $60-$70b tax cut is the right idea....I thought it was a terrific offer and that ,s what we ,re trying to work out." Gingrich also said he believes that "virtually all" of a $60 billion to $70 billion tax cut could be funded by mandatory program savings without using savings from discretionary accounts. House and Senate conservatives, however, reacted negatively saying they would oppose anything lower the House-passed $101b tax cut.

Roth Critical of House-passed Tax Code Termination Bill (June 17, 1998):
Senate Finance Committee Chairman Roth yesterday released the following statement regarding the House approval today of legislation that would sunset the tax code by 2003: "I am sympathetic to those who support sunsetting the tax code. I share their great frustration with the complexity of the current code -- complexity, I might add, that Congress and the Administration increase with every tax law enacted. However, I have serious concerns about sunsetting the tax code without an alternative in place. Doing so would leave businesses as well as individuals unable to plan for the future. For example -- if a family bought a house today, would they be able to deduct their mortgage interest after the current code was sunsetted? Would they still be able to contribute to an IRA? How could a business make long term plans, if they did not know what the tax regulations would be? We need to reach a consensus on reforming the tax code, and unfortunately, we are not there yet -- even within our own party . Let's not put the cart before the horse."

Deputy Director for Management Ed DeSeve is scheduled to testify on Y2K before the House Reform & Oversight Subcommittee on Government Management on Monday, June 22.

DOD Authorization/China Issues: The status of the DOD authorization bill debate next week is in question, pending resolution of whether numerous amendments will be offered related to China.

Subject: Sept. 11th Conference on Race and Health

We are putting together a list of potential participants for the September conference, and are taking suggestions from a variety of sources. We also would like suggestions from the White House. Attached is a summary of the planning meeting that was held in May. During the course of the meeting, participants developed the following list of the types of individuals and groups they thought should take part in the September conference:

Federal officials
State officials
Local officials
Foundations
Providers
Community-based organizations
National disease oriented or health organizations
National racial/ethnic oriented organizations
Media
Business/employers
Academic institutions
Faith-based organizations
Insurance companies and health plans
Consumers

It would help if you could think in terms of these categories when suggesting participants. We will try to achieve some numerical balance across the different categories. Also, since we have a definite limit on how many people can attend the conference, due to space constraints, we are not extending any promises to anyone at this point. We need to see how big our total list is and then cut it down if necessary. We hope to send out invitations in early July. Thanks for your help.

I. Background and Purpose of the Meeting

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and Grantmakers In Health (GIH), an educational organization serving foundations and corporate giving programs, are collaborating in planning and conducting a one-day working conference on eliminating racial and ethnic disparities in health. The Department's interest in this issue includes an initiative to achieve the commitment to the nation made by the President in February—to close racial and ethnic gaps in six health areas by the year 2010. GIH's interest in this issue stems from the work of its funding partners in supporting projects to improve minority health status.

This conference is intended to provide a forum in which representatives with many different roles and perspectives—including government officials, foundations, community-based organizations, providers, and consumers—can come together to explore what needs to be done to eliminate racial and ethnic disparities in health, identify opportunities in which different organizations might be engaged to achieve this goal, and develop a list of action steps that can provide a blueprint for moving forward after the September conference.

On May 28, 1998, HHS and Grantmakers In Health convened a planning meeting to begin to develop an agenda for the September conference. Specifically, the purposes of this meeting were to: (1) articulate and refine the context, goals, and objectives of the conference; and (2) solicit comments and suggestions related to both general strategies for conducting a successful and useful conference and specific recommendations for conference speakers, format, and pre- and post-conference activities. Meeting participants included representatives from a variety of organizations that are working to address the problem of racial and ethnic disparities in health, and are viewed as representative of the perspectives of many of those who will attend the September conference. The meeting agenda participant list are included as Appendices A and B, respectively.

The meeting was opened by Lauren LeRoy, Ph.D., President and CEO of Grantmakers In Health, and David Satcher, M.D., Ph.D., Surgeon General and Assistant Secretary for Health. Dr. LeRoy and Dr. Satcher each remarked that eliminating the disparities in six areas of health experienced by racial and ethnic minorities is an ambitious goal that will require involvement by many different groups on many levels. They noted that the September conference should not be viewed as an isolated activity, but rather as a catalyst for continuing action for building partnerships, particularly at the community level, that would be instrumental in achieving the goal.

II. Context and Purpose of September 11 Conference

Each of the participants was given an opportunity to introduce herself/himself and briefly identify activities in which their organizations are engaged related to eliminating racial and ethnic disparities in health. Peggy Hamburg, M.D., Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation then set the context for and described the purposes of the September 11 conference. Dr. Hamburg noted that the conference is intended to be a national forum bringing together representatives from a variety of groups concerned about the elimination of racial and ethnic disparities in health, including Federal, State, and local policymakers; foundations; community-based organizations; providers; and consumers. Dr. Hamburg briefly outlined the “givens” of the conference, which include the following:

- Date: A one-day meeting held on September 11, 1998;
- Site: Held at a facility just outside of Washington, DC (the Bolger Center in Potomac, MD);
- Participants: 250 participants from around the country with a range of experience;
- Structure: Begins with a brief plenary session consisting of distinguished speakers/experts in the field followed by breakout groups; entire group reconvenes at the end of the day with reports back from breakout groups;
- Products: List of action steps that different organizations might take to be developed from suggestions made by participants attending the conference.

Dr. Hamburg stressed the importance of engaging in an activity that would continue beyond the conference and would move out across the country to stimulate other activities. She also emphasized that the focus of the conference is not to develop or prescribe a Federal agenda, but rather to engage in a collaborative national effort being undertaken by many groups, with each group focusing on its own strengths and the role it could play.

III. Comments and Observations on the Conference Purpose and Objectives

The participants expressed their excitement about the upcoming conference and noted the abundance of work that would need to be done in order to achieve the prescribed goal. While pleased with the concept of the conference, participants did have comments and recommendations regarding its structure and content. These comments are arranged into the following areas:

- Audience/Conference participants,
- Conference purpose and format,
- Pre-conference activities, and
- Post-conference activities.

The partners’ recommendations for achieving improvements in these areas, including suggested next steps, are discussed below.

1. Comments Regarding Audience/Conference Participants

Participants made various suggestions for the types of individuals/groups that should be invited to attend the September conference. Specifically, they felt the following actions should be taken:

- Develop a List of Potential Partners. During the course of the meeting, participants developed a list of the types of individuals and groups they thought should take part in the September conference and develop partnerships that would extend beyond the conference. This list of potential partners is composed of the following:

- Government officials (including Federal, State, and local);
- Foundations;
- Providers;
- Community leaders/organizations;
- National organizations;
- Media;
- Corporations/employers;
- Celebrities/public figures (including entertainers and athletes);
- Academic institutions;
- Faith-based organizations;
- Insurance companies (including managed care organizations); and
- Consumers.

- Frame the conference as a “leadership conference”. Several participants embraced the idea of framing this conference as a “leadership conference,” with participants consisting of individuals who are considered leaders in the field and would be prepared to translate the action steps developed during the conference into activity at the community level. Many participants emphasized the importance of including among the conference audience both those who are at the forefront of these activities and those who need to be convinced that this initiative is critical not just to particular segments of the population, but to the nation as a whole.
- Involve the media in the conference. Several participants also noted the importance of media involvement in this activity. They noted that minority issues are not often covered by the mainstream media except in the presence of a high profile official or event. Several participants indicated that those planning the conference should reach out to the media and invite organizations that would be able to give a dynamic overview of the event that would effectively reach those unable to attend the conference. They suggested that in order to achieve this kind of press coverage, the conference would need to be marketed very well.
- Actively “recruit” meeting attendees. Several participants commented that participants should be not merely invited to participate in this conference, but actively recruited to participate, stressing that there should be personal interchange with the invitees to engage them in this process and get them motivated about the upcoming activities.
- Involve corporations and State officials. Many participants also noted that efforts should be made to involve corporations and State officials since these organizations might not necessarily be involved in this initiative and have various resources that would be extremely valuable.

- Promote innovative ways for participants to interact with each other. One participant also noted that it would be important to get participants to interact with one another in different ways than have been previously done. He commented that the real accomplishments would lie in participants from different groups talking to those outside their own circles so that new ideas could be spawned and implemented.

2. Comments and Suggestions Regarding Conference Purpose and Format

The following are comments and ideas about how the conference should be framed and conducted:

- The conference should serve as a call to action. Several participants emphasized the importance of using this conference as a catalyst for future activities. Many noted that the ambitious nature of the charge before them and said this conference should serve to “jump start” the initiative.
- The conference should have a general framework around which discussions and activities take place. Many participants felt that the conference should have a general framework around which it is structured. One participant noted that this framework could consist of factors that impact and/or contribute to disparities in health status, including: (1) societal factors, such as poverty and racism; (2) health care system, including access to care, insurance coverage, and system infrastructure; and (3) self determination issues, such as actions individuals themselves take to obtain care.
- Make the plenary session interactive. Several participants commented on the importance of getting the group excited about the initiative and inspired about the task before them. Many said they envisioned the plenary session as a “call to arms” that would be very interactive and engage the audience. They agreed that this session should set the tone for the rest of the day and prompt the participants to focus on various ideas they could bring to the small group sessions.
- Plenary activities should not crowd out the real work in smaller groups. Many participants commented that while the plenary session should be used to motivate participants, the “real work” would take place during the breakout sessions where participants would have a chance to interact with one another and brainstorm about activities and steps they could take. They advised that while it should be inspiring, the plenary session be kept brief to allow for sufficient time to be spent in the small groups.

One participant commented that he did not see the value of holding a plenary session, especially given the limited time frame in which the participants would have to accomplish the several objectives of the conference. Another participant raised the question as to the potential for holding the plenary session the night before the conference began since many of the participants will already be there. In this way, an entire day could be devoted to small group sessions. Dr. Hamburg noted that the feasibility of this idea would need to be further explored given the possibility that some participants would not arrive at the conference until the morning of September 11 and would therefore miss the previous evening's activities.

- Frame the conference in such a way to inspire both “traditional” and “non-traditional” partners. Several partners noted that in order for the conference to be successful, it would be important to engage both “traditional” partners—those who routinely deal with the issues of racial and ethnic disparities in health—and “non-traditional” partners—those who do not. To this end, they felt that part of the message of the conference would be the emphasis on the “survival imperative”—that racial and ethnic disparities in health status is not exclusively a minority issue, but rather a national one, and that the health of the nation as a whole is very much dependent upon achieving success in eliminating these disparities.

a. Specific Ideas Regarding the Form and Content of the Conference

In addition to general comments, participants also had specific ideas as to how the conference, specifically the breakout sessions, should be formatted.

- It was suggested that for the morning breakout sessions, participants be allowed to choose which session they attended, while in the afternoon sessions, participants be assigned to a specific group to ensure that the mix of participants in each small group reflects the overall mix of different potential partners.
- One participant made the suggestion that all breakout sessions occur in the same room, with each group occupying a different table within the room. Structured in this way, participants would be able “drop in” on different sessions as their interests were piqued.
- One participant suggested that the issues that emerged as key topics of interest in the morning sessions become the topics of discussion in the afternoon sessions.
- Regarding the content area of the breakout sessions, one participant suggested was that the breakout sessions be organized around different disease or health concerns. Another participant cautioned against organizing the sessions in this way, noting that there are several systemwide problems that may be present regardless of disease. Several participants advocated for structuring the sessions around strategies or particular models that have, or may not have, been successful in the past. Additionally, one participant noted that there are interesting models currently in place that deal with health status indicators other than the six being focused in this effort, and indicated that examination of these models might provide valuable lessons to be learned. Another recommendation was that the afternoon sessions begin with an analysis of successful partnerships, noting cross-cutting characteristics that could work within the context of several types of partnerships, and how these partnerships could be replicated.

- A couple of participants raised the issue of what will happen with the $30 million in Federal funding for the CDC to award to community-based demonstration projects aimed at eliminating health disparities, and whether this will be open for discussion at the conference. Dr. Satcher responded that the Department should be prepared to answer such questions but that this should not be the focus of discussion.

3. Comments Regarding Pre-conference Activities

Many participants agreed that there are several activities that could and should take place prior to the conference. These activities, they felt, would serve to give attendees a common understanding of the problem and to clarify the objectives and nature of the conference, thus allowing the attendees to be more focused and the conference to be more productive.

- Send out materials in advance regarding not only the purpose and objectives of the conference, but also the general information about racial and ethnic disparities in health. Several participants noted the importance of clearly articulating the objectives of the conference ahead of time so that all participants would come to the conference with expectations that were in line with conference objectives. One participant suggested case studies and other materials related to the topic of racial and ethnic disparities in health—both by racial/ethnic group and health status indicator—also be sent to participants prior to the conference so that they could arrive with a common, or at least similar, understanding of the problem. It was noted that this could be a major opportunity to educate groups that are not traditionally involved in these issues. A suggestion was made that these advance materials take the form of fact sheets.
- Allow participants to sign up in advance for sessions of interest. Several participants advocated sending conference participants a listing of the breakout session topics along with thought-provoking questions in advance, allowing them to sign up for and work on sessions of interest prior to arriving at the conference. Thus, each participant would bring a more focused and well thought out set of ideas to the table.

4. Comments Regarding Post-conference Activities

All participants echoed the opening comments made by Drs. Satcher, Hamburg, and LeRoy with respect to this conference serving not as an “be all, end all,” but rather a starting point which would lead to the continuation of future activities. Several suggestions for post-conference activities were advanced, including the following:

- Replicate conference on a regional or statewide basis. A couple of participants noted that if the conference is successful, it could be replicated (with some modifications) either regionally or on a State-by-State basis.
- Link this effort to the Healthy People 2010 Initiative.

IV. Concluding Comments

The conference planners felt that this meeting was very helpful in terms of taking the first steps in planning the September conference. They were able to solicit good ideas and suggestions from participants regarding the format and content of the conference and move forward with the planning process. Participants were asked to provide the planners with the following materials:

- Case studies;
- Examples of partnerships that have learning potential; and
- Specific individuals and/or groups that should be invited to the conference.

The planners noted that they would be in touch with the planning meeting participants, as well as those invited but unable to attend, to keep them up-to-date and solicit more suggestions as the planning process continued.

Subject: OMB Legislative Report - June 19, 1998

TO: ACTING DIRECTOR JACK LEW
ACTING DEP. DIRECTOR FOR MANAGEMENT ED
DESEVE
EXECUTIVE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR JOSH GOTBAUM

FROM: OMB LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

DATE: JUNE 19, 1998

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

DOD Authorization/China: A cloture petition was filed today on the DOD Authorization bill; the vote will occur on Tuesday. If cloture is invoked on Tuesday, only germane amendments will be in order. Currently pending are two non-germane amendments offered by Senator Hutchinson - (1) an amendment to prohibit entrance/visas to any Chinese official participating in religious persecution; and (2) prohibit entrance to any official participating in forced abortion policies.

Emergency Spending and Y2K: the House Republican conference has decided NOT to allow any emergency designation of funding in the regular appropriations bills. This means that the Y2K money in the Treasury/Postal bill and the Defense bill will be stricken, probably with a self-enacting rule.

The House Appropriators are expecting a 1999 supplemental later this year to pay for all emergency spending which will be paid for with mandatory offsets. This bill would probably be around $5 billion : $3.85 bill for Y2K, $250 mill for FEMA, $1.1 bill for LIHEAP and possibly $35 million for an ag provision on sanctions.

Acting Deputy Director for Management Ed DeSeve is scheduled to testify on Y2K before the House Reform & Oversight Subcommittee on Government Management on Monday, June 22.

Judy and I have looked over this draft and think it works well. We would suggest changing "insuring" to "ensuring" in both places, and adding a timeframe for HHS to complete these assignments. The bills are the Medical Records Confidentiality Act and the Slaughter bill was Genetic Information Nondiscrimination in Health Insurance Act of 1997. I'm not sure that we liked the second bill enough to plug it here. We have another draft around but I don't have its title. I'll try to get that to you tomorrow.

Subject: Take Two

Per your suggestion, I've tried to take out most references to the decision, except the original statement of disappointment. I assume that there are folks who can polish this to make it compatible with other similar statements. Thanks for the comment! Let me know if this is better.

NEGATIVE DECISION

I am disappointed by today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, which appears to weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination.

The Administration, through the Solicitor General, had filed a brief in this case supporting the argument that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA are therefore applicable.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those that are living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to insuring that they are not discriminated against on the basis of their disability. In response to today's decision, I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) fully review its implications; (2) assess the degree to which other Federal anti-discrimination protections remain available to people living with HIV in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, publicly assisted housing, and other areas; and (3) provide a report to me with recommendations on ways to strengthen existing protections.

This Administration remains committed to insuring that all Americans, including those that are disabled, are afforded equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services. We call again on Congress to join us in this effort, and to enact the Genetic Testing Privacy Act (???) and the Medical Record Confidentiality Act (???) so that Americans can be assured that their medical care and information remain private and confidential.

MEMORANDUM FOR ITMT MEMBERS

FROM: ADA L. POSEY
DIRECTOR
OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATION

SUBJECT: Request to Review Users' Desktop PCs

We have begun the Systems Management Server (SMS) project. Two main goals of this project are to provide the EOP with a means to collect hardware and software inventory information, and to enable the ability to install desktop software automatically, without having to visit the physical offices and interrupt the users.

In order for us to validate the SMS design and configuration, we need to review the configurations on some of our desktops across the EOP. This review requires an engineer to visit the desktop and spend about 10-15 minutes checking the settings on the PC. We would like to conduct the review next week (June 22-25, 1998) and will coordinate with the user to schedule a time that is convenient to gain access to the equipment.

The list below has been prepared to represent the set of desktops we would like to study. Please review this list and advise either Ms. Laura Crabtree, x56469, or myself if you have any substitutions you would like to make by COB 6/19/98.

Thank you in advance for your assistance.

NEGATIVE DECISION

I am very disappointed in today's decision by the Supreme Court, which appears to weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination.

In particular, today's decision calls into question the applicability of the ADA to people living with HIV disease. The Administration, through the Solicitor General, had filed a brief supporting the argument that people with HIV are disabled, whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA are therefore applicable. This Court apparently disagrees.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those that are living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to insuring that they are not discriminated against on the basis of their disability. In response to today's decision, I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) fully review today's decision; (2) determine what other Federal anti-discrimination protections remain available to people living with HIV in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, publicly assisted housing, and other areas; and (3) to provide within ninety days a report to me on the impact of the decision and recommendations on ways to strengthen existing protections.

This Administration remains committed to insuring that all Americans, including those that are disabled, are afforded equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services. We call again on Congress to join us in this effort, and to enact the Genetic Testing Privacy Act (???) and the Medical Record Confidentiality Act (???) so that Americans can be assured that their medical care and information remain private and confidential.

NEGATIVE DECISION

I am disappointed by today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, which appears to weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination.

The Administration, through the Solicitor General, had filed a brief in this case supporting the argument that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA are therefore applicable.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those that are living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to insuring that they are not discriminated against on the basis of their disability. In response to today's decision, I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) fully review its implications; (2) assess the degree to which other Federal anti-discrimination protections remain available to people living with HIV in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, publicly assisted housing, and other areas; and (3) provide a report to me with recommendations on ways to strengthen existing protections.

This Administration remains committed to insuring that all Americans, including those that are disabled, are afforded equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services. #6 AIDS RIDE: 1,400 RAISE $3.7M FROM RALEIGH TO DC

The third annual Washington, DC, AIDs Ride raised over $3.7 million, with approximately 1,400 riders traveling the 350 miles between Raleigh, NC, and Washington, DC. The Richmond Times-Dispatch reports that proceeds will go to the Whitman-Walker Clinic and Food&Friends, a nonprofit organization that provides meals to people living with HIV or AIDS (6/22). National AIDS czar and first-time AIDS Ride participant Sandy Thurman said, "There are HIV-positive riders here that take a drug cocktail regimen that would choke a horse, and they are whizzing by me at 90 miles per hour" (Hull, Washington Post, 6/22). Starting Thursday, the riders biked for four days through North Carolina and Virginia, finishing in "a closing ceremony on the Mall [Sunday] afternoon," the AP/Fairfax Journal reports. Each participant raised at least $1,800 in pledges (6/22).

Vice president meets with Gay leaders

SANTA MONICA, Calif. - Gay civil rights have been progressing but still have a long way to go, said Vice President Al Gore at a meeting with about 15 Gay community leaders on June 13.

Gore engaged in "a candid discussion for about an hour on a wide range of issues," according to Richard Socarides, White House liaison to the Gay community.

Gay family issues were a major focus of the discussions.

"There was a strong concern that the next line of attack on our community æ would be our ability to serve as adoptive parents or as foster parents," said California Assemblymember Sheila Kuehl (D-Los Angeles).

Gore said he and the president "would stringently oppose any federal legislative effort that would make it more difficult for a Gay person to adopt," said Socarides. "The vice president reiterated the administration's position that in all cases the only factors that ought to be considered on adoption are what is in the best interest of the child."

Gay leaders also brought up community concerns around the military's "don't ask, don't tell" policy concerning Gays, and said they were concerned that "overt violations" of that policy - such as in the recent case of Naval officer Timothy McVeigh - would not happen again.

Gore seems "intrinsically supportive of our inclusion and equality," Kuehl said.

Other subjects discussed ranged from AIDS treatment issues to support for Gay youth.

"We essentially asked him to use the bully pulpit that the vice president and the president naturally have around the country [to] include [Gays] in the larger picture," Kuehl said. "He said that he would do his best."

Others in attendance at the meeting included Lorri Jean of the Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Community Center, Jeff Jenest of the AIDS Project Los Angeles, and longtime Gay Democratic leader Jean O'Leary.

This is a redraft of Todd's proposed statement by POTUS in the event of an adverse decision. It assumes that there may be some ambiguity regarding the impact of the decision. The statement may require some fill-in, probably at the end of the first paragraph, when we actually get the decision:

I sincerely hope that today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, will not weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination. The Administration filed a brief in this case arguing that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA therefore apply.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to protecting them from discrimination. I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) assess the implications of today's decision; (2) review other Federal anti-discrimination protections -- in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, and publicly assisted housing -- potentially available to people living with HIV; and (3) recommend ways to strengthen existing protections.

I call again on Congress to join us in the effort to afford all Americans, including the disabled, equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services.

Subject: Dr. Jane Henney named Commissioner of the FDA

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

June 23,1998

PRESIDENT CLINTON NAMES JANE E. HENNEY AS COMMISSIONER OF THE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION AT THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

The President today announced his intent to nominate Dr. Jane E. Henney to serve as Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration at the Department of Health and Human Services.

Dr. Jane E. Henney is a physician, a cancer specialist and a nationally recognized academic leader and public health administrator who has served in the Carter, Reagan, Bush and Clinton administrations. If confirmed by the Senate, Dr. Henney would become the first woman to serve as Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. During her distinguished career, she has championed modern management strategies and maintained the highest clinical and research standards at two federal public health agencies, and has fashioned innovative health care strategies with a focus on individual patient care at two major university medical centers.

Since 1994, Dr. Henney has been the Vice President for Health Sciences at the University of New Mexico where she presided over a major consolidation of the university's hospitals, schools of medicine, nursing and pharmacy, and specialized facilities for mental health, cancer and pediatrics. From January 1992 to March 1994, Dr. Henney served as Deputy Commissioner for Operations at the Food and Drug Administration where she managed the agency's daily activities, revitalized FDA's six science centers and implemented key legislation, including the Prescription Drug User Fee Act of 1992. From 1985 until joining FDA, Dr. Henney served as Interim Dean of the University of Kansas School of Medicine, as Vice Chancellor for Health Programs and Policy, and as Acting Director of the Mid America Cancer Center at the University of Kansas. Between 1976 and 1985, Dr. Henney served at the National Cancer Institute, rising to the position of Deputy Director, where she was instrumental in the development of two innovative programs which engaged community-based oncologists in research and provided physicians and patients with up-to-date information on state-of-the-art therapy and investigational research protocols.

Born in Woodburn, Indiana, she received a B.S. in biology from Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana, in 1969. At a time when relatively few women were admitted to medical school, Dr. Henney graduated from the Indiana University School of Medicine in 1973, and took an internship at St. Vincent's Hospital in Indianapolis, a medical residency in Atlanta, and a fellowship in oncology at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. She is the author or co-author of some 40 academic articles and book chapters and has received numerous awards, including the Public Health Service Commendation Medal.

The Commissioner is the head of the Food and Drug Administration, a critical consumer protection agency that assures the safety and efficacy of pharmaceutical and biological therapeutics, medical devices, blood products, generic drugs, food safety, food additives and cosmetics.

We are trying to prepare a POTUS statement to be released in response to a Supreme Court decision expected this Thursday. It assumes a negative decision, although we obviously do not know the outcome. Some last minute tinkering may be necessary Thursday based upon a quick reading.

Can you tell me what the clearance process is?

Thanks!

Subject: Re: Take Two

This is a redraft of Todd's proposed statement by POTUS in the event of an adverse decision. It assumes that there may be some ambiguity regarding the impact of the decision. The statement may require some fill-in, probably at the end of the first paragraph, when we actually get the decision:

I sincerely hope that today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v.

Abbott, will not weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination. The Administration filed a brief in this case arguing that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA therefore apply.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to protecting them from discrimination. I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) assess the implications of today's decision; (2) review other Federal anti-discrimination protections -- in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, and publicly assisted housing -- potentially available to people living with HIV; and (3) recommend ways to strengthen existing protections.

I call again on Congress to join us in the effort to afford all Americans, including the disabled, equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services.

Should I have Mandi work on getting the women and HIV stat sheet prepared or are you looking at it?

I've got bios for everyone that we're going to print out on the pretty paper. I've got WH folders lined up. I've got women's health from HHS brochures, a one pager on the purpose of the women's initiatives office, and I need to make sure with you that our little paragraph describing this office is ok for the purpose of a briefing folder.

Since this is not an order, it does not need to go through the OMB EO process. I would think you want to send it to the affected agencies, like Justice and HHS, and have some kind of circulation within the EOP, like White House Counsel, and then give it to the Staff Secretary's Office. Either that or simply ask the Staff Secretary's Office what process they want.

Subject: Dr. Jane Henney named Commissioner of the FDA

THE WHITE HOUSE

Office of the Press Secretary

For Immediate Release

June 23,1998

PRESIDENT CLINTON NAMES JANE E. HENNEY AS COMMISSIONER OF THE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION AT THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

The President today announced his intent to nominate Dr. Jane E. Henney to serve as Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration at the Department of Health and Human Services.

Dr. Jane E. Henney is a physician, a cancer specialist and a nationally recognized academic leader and public health administrator who has served in the Carter, Reagan, Bush and Clinton administrations. If confirmed by the Senate, Dr. Henney would become the first woman to serve as Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. During her distinguished career, she has championed modern management strategies and maintained the highest clinical and research standards at two federal public health agencies, and has fashioned innovative health care strategies with a focus on individual patient care at two major university medical centers.

Since 1994, Dr. Henney has been the Vice President for Health Sciences at the University of New Mexico where she presided over a major consolidation of the university's hospitals, schools of medicine, nursing and pharmacy, and specialized facilities for mental health, cancer and pediatrics. From January 1992 to March 1994, Dr. Henney served as Deputy Commissioner for Operations at the Food and Drug Administration where she managed the agency's daily activities, revitalized FDA's six science centers and implemented key legislation, including the Prescription Drug User Fee Act of 1992. From 1985 until joining FDA, Dr. Henney served as Interim Dean of the University of Kansas School of Medicine, as Vice Chancellor for Health Programs and Policy, and as Acting Director of the Mid America Cancer Center at the University of Kansas. Between 1976 and 1985, Dr. Henney served at the National Cancer Institute, rising to the position of Deputy Director, where she was instrumental in the development of two innovative programs which engaged community-based oncologists in research and provided physicians and patients with up-to-date information on state-of-the-art therapy and investigational research protocols.

Born in Woodburn, Indiana, she received a B.S. in biology from Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana, in 1969. At a time when relatively few women were admitted to medical school, Dr. Henney graduated from the Indiana University School of Medicine in 1973, and took an internship at St. Vincent's Hospital in Indianapolis, a medical residency in Atlanta, and a fellowship in oncology at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston. She is the author or co-author of some 40 academic articles and book chapters and has received numerous awards, including the Public Health Service Commendation Medal.

The Commissioner is the head of the Food and Drug Administration, a critical consumer protection agency that assures the safety and efficacy of pharmaceutical and biological therapeutics, medical devices, blood products, generic drugs, food safety, food additives and cosmetics.

DISCUSSION ON WOMEN AND HIV/AIDS

DATE: June 25, 1998
TIME: 11 a.m. - 3

p.m.

LOCATION: Indian Treaty Room
Old Executive

Office Building

I. PURPOSE

AIDS is increasingly a disease of women, particularly women of color. Each and every day, here in the United States, and across the globe, thousands of women are infected with HIV. This meeting will provide an opportunity for women leaders in private industry, philanthropy, advocacy, and government to begin a dialogue about how we integrate HIV/AIDS into the broader women's agenda.

II. BACKGROUND

Women are one of the fastest growing groups infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), making HIV/AIDS a major public health problem for women in the United States. In 1997, a cumulative total of 641,086 cases of AIDS among Americans of all ages were reported to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), including 98,468 women ages 13 and older.

From 1985 to 1996, the proportion of total new AIDS cases reported annually in women in the United States increased from 7 percent to 20 percent.

Women of color are hardest hit. By 1997, 78 percent of women diagnosed with AIDS were African Americans and Latinas. Compared with white women, the HIV incidence was 17 times higher for African American women and 6 times higher for Latinas. Infected minority women tend to be poor, young residents of urban areas, particularly in the Northeast and the South.

HIV/AIDS is also increasing among other subpopulations of women. HIV rates among migrant farm workers and women in small rural communities are increasing. The rates in older women and women who have sex with women are also increasing.

HIV/AIDS is a leading killer of women. AIDS is the third leading cause of death among women ages 25 to 44, and the leading cause of death among African American women in this age group. The AIDS death rate is declining at a slower rate among women than among men. After years of rising death rates among women with AIDS, a 10 percent decline in the number of AIDS deaths among women was reported for the first six months of 1996. Data for the first 9 months of 1996 demonstrate a 19 percent reduction in AIDS deaths overall but still only a 10 percent decline in deaths for women, compared with a 25 percent drop for men.

Given the above data, the problem of HIV/AIDS among women needs to be addressed through nationally coordinated efforts.

Per your suggestion, I've tried to take out most references to the decision, except the original statement of disappointment. I assume that there are folks who can polish this to make it compatible with other similar statements. Thanks for the comment! Let me know if this is better.

NEGATIVE DECISION

I am disappointed by today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, which appears to weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination.

The Administration, through the Solicitor General, had filed a brief in this case supporting the argument that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA are therefore applicable.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those that are living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to insuring that they are not discriminated against on the basis of their disability. In response to today's decision, I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) fully review its implications; (2) assess the degree to which other Federal anti-discrimination protections remain available to people living with HIV in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, publicly assisted housing, and other areas; and (3) provide a report to me with recommendations on ways to strengthen existing protections.

This Administration remains committed to insuring that all Americans, including those that are disabled, are afforded equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services. We call again on Congress to join us in this effort, and to enact the Genetic Testing Privacy Act (???) and the Medical Record Confidentiality Act (???) so that Americans can be assured that their medical care and information remain private and confidential.

We are trying to prepare a POTUS statement to be released in response to a Supreme Court decision expected this Thursday. It assumes a negative decision, although we obviously do not know the outcome. Some last minute tinkering may be necessary Thursday based upon a quick reading.

Can you tell me what the clearance process is?

Thanks!

This is a redraft of Todd's proposed statement by POTUS in the event of an adverse decision. It assumes that there may be some ambiguity regarding the impact of the decision. The statement may require some fill-in, probably at the end of the first paragraph, when we actually get the decision:

I sincerely hope that today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, will not weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect disabled Americans from discrimination. The Administration filed a brief in this case arguing that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA therefore apply.

I want to assure all disabled Americans, including those living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to protecting them from discrimination. I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) assess the implications of today's decision; (2) review other Federal anti-discrimination protections -- in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, and publicly assisted housing -- potentially available to people living with HIV; and (3) recommend ways to strengthen existing protections.

I call again on Congress to join us in the effort to afford all Americans, including the disabled, equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services.

A NATIONAL DIALOGUE ON WOMEN AND HIV/AIDS

Women are one of the fastest growing groups infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), making HIV/AIDS a major public health problem for women in the United States. The disease is becoming increasingly common among younger women. This poor prognosis for many HIV-infected women may be affected by biological factors, but may also reflect such social, economic, and behavioral factors as poverty, domestic violence, homelessness, lack of social support, and difficulty accessing and maintaining appropriate medical care.

Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) is caused by infection with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), a virus that attacks the body's immune system. In 1997, a cumulative total of 641,086 cases of AIDS among Americans of all ages were reported to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), including 98,468 women ages 13 and older. The estimated number of U.S. residents living with AIDS grew to 242,000 at the end of 1997. Many more individuals are living with HIV infection which has not yet progressed to full-blown AIDS.

HIV/AIDS Among Women is an Increasing Public Health Problem

* From 1985 to 1996, the proportion of total new AIDS cases reported annually in women in the United States increased from 7 percent to 20 percent.

*Women of color are hardest hit. By 1997, 78 percent of women diagnosed with AIDS were African Americans and Latinas. Compared with white women, the HIV incidence was 17 times higher for African American women and 6 times higher for Latinas. Infected minority women tend to be poor, young residents of urban areas, particularly in the Northeast and the South.

* HIV/AIDS is also increasing among other subpopulations of women. HIV rates among migrant farm workers and women in small rural communities are increasing. The rates in older women and women who have sex with women are also increasing.

* HIV/AIDS is a leading killer of women. AIDS is the third leading cause of death among women ages 25 to 44, and the leading cause of death among African American women in this age group. The AIDS death rate is declining at a slower rate among women than among men. After years of rising death rates among women with AIDS, a 10 percent decline in the number of AIDS deaths among women was reported for the first six months of 1996. Data for the first 9 months of 1996 demonstrate a 19 percent reduction in AIDS deaths overall but still only a 10 percent decline in deaths for women, compared with a 25 percent drop for men.

Given the above data, the problem of HIV/AIDS among women needs to be addressed through nationally coordinated efforts. This White House meeting will bring together leaders of national women's organizations to discuss the issues, propose strategies and discuss collaborations between women's groups and the government in order to address HIV/AIDS in the lives of American women and their families.

NYC Mayor Praises Gays and Lesbians

NEW YORK -- Mayor Rudolph Giuliani credited gay men and lesbians
Monday

with playing an important role in the city's turnaround, saying New York had grown stronger by embracing diversity and rejecting intolerance.

"Our society has to be better off as we go through sometimes the pain of

opening society up, so that everyone gets a chance to make their maximum contribution," the mayor said during a ceremony recognizing homosexuals working in city government.

"When you think back to 100 years ago, when lots of people were excluded from government, some based on race, some based on gender, some based on sexual orientation, we were working with half or less than half of the potential talent that was available," Giuliani said.

"Maybe that's one of the reasons why the city does so much better now than it did 20 and 30 and 40 years ago," the mayor added.

In a proclamation, the Republican mayor declared Monday "Out in Government Day," part of the commemoration of lesbian and gay pride and history month.

Giuliani's support for most gay rights has made him the target of criticism from the GOP right wing.

When asked later about Republican criticism of President Clinton's nominee for ambassador to Luxembourg, homosexual philanthropist James Hormel, the mayor said he hadn't looked into the dispute. But he added: "Someone's sexual orientation is a private matter, and that should not be the basis on which someone is hired or fired by government."

On Sunday, Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., said Hormel was unqualified because he promotes "immoral behavior."

I have been working on a draft POTUS statement for release if the decision goes badly. Rob has been looking it over, as has HHS. As soon as it's been cleared through him and HHS, I'll send it over to you. It alludes to actions that could become an Executive Order but doesn't explicitly discuss one - we're going to need time to review the decision and its implications, which is what the statement essentially says. If you want to see it now, let me know!

The people I've talked to think at best it will be only a slight setback.
There may be an effort to ask the President to issue a non-discrimination executive order.

Subject: Outcome of Today's FY 99 Labor/HHS Appropriations Mark-up (CARE

Although the Labor HHS Appropriations Sub-committee has yet to adjourn (they are on break at this moment), I just spoke with Ernest Hopkins, who was at the mark-up today and we have the following information about Chairman Porter's mark. The Subcommittee will consider a number of amendments late this afternoon, however, no one has yet indicated an intention to offer an amendment to change the Chairman's proposed funding levels for HIV/AIDS programs.

CDC Prevention: The Chairman proposed funding above the President's request (which, if you recall, included a $2.0 M cut from current FY 98 funding. The exact amount of the increase is unclear, since the Committee recommended both an increase in program expenses and a decrease in administrative expenses. Tentatively speaking, once the dust settles, the net increase in program funding (over FY 98) should be in the $2.0 to $5.0 million range).

Ryan White CARE Act: The committee's overall funding for CARE is above the President's request, although still far short of the community's request. Details are as follows:

Change President's

Community

	Labor/HHS Request	from FY 98	FY 99 Request
Title I	$500.2 M	+ $35.4 M	$489.8 M
$570 M
Title II - Base	$284.5 M	+ $27.0 M	$284.5 M
$342.5 M
ADAP	$385.5 M	+ $100 M	$385.5 M
$458.5 M
Title III	$91.3 M	+ $15.0 M	$86.3 M
$113.0 M
Title IV	$44.0 M	+ $3.0 M	$44.0 M
$61.0 M
AETCs	$17.3 M	+ 0	$17.3 M
$25.0 M
Dental Reim	$7.8 M	+ 0	$7.8 M
$9.0 M

NIH Research: NIH received an overall increase of 9.5%, which, if allocated proportionately, should translate into a comparable increase of HIV/AIDS research (estimated at $150 million).

HOPWA: Both the House and Senate VA/HUD Appropriations Sub-committees have approved the President's proposed $21.0 million increase for HOPWA in FY 99. The community was requesting a $46 million increase for a total funding level for HOPWA of $250 million in FY99).

I don't yet have information about the status of substance abuse treatment funding through SAMHSA or any other mechanism.

The Chairman's budget includes the old needle exchange language (the language contained in both the current and previous fiscal year appropriations bills) minus the opportunity for an HHS waiver. Essentially, this amounts to a one-year ban on the use of federal funds for needle exchange. Period.

Will keep you posted if things change.

SUBJECT: POTUS Statement on Bragdon v. Abbott

TO: Bopper Deyton (Bopper Deyton @ 12022739078 @ fax [UNKNOWN])

READ:UNKNOWN

TEXT:

Below is a proposed statement to be released by the President in response to a decision by the Supreme Court that we expect to be released tomorrow. The Administration has a compelling interest in this case in that it has filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court, as well as in related adjudication by lower courts. In addition, this is very likely to receive significant press attention.

Essentially, this case will determine whether people living with HIV but not yet symptomatic are protected by the Americans With Disabilities Act. The statement is designed to respond to a negative decision by the Court (that the ADA does not provide such protection). Once the decision is released, we will work with the White House Counsel's office to determine if the proposed POTUS statement is applicable. We will then notify you that the statement should be released by the WH Press Office.

I have submitted this statement to several Administration officials for review, including:

- Elena Kagan (DPC)
- Diana Fortuna (DPC)
- Sarah Bianchi (DPC)
- Rob Weiner (WH Counsel)
- Rachel Levinson (OSTP)
- Matt Nosanchuck (Justice)
- Richard Sorian (HHS)
- Eric Goosby (HHS)

Matt has circulated it internally at Justice, and will include the Solicitor General in the discussion loop. We have agreed that this statement will not be released until the decision is released and reviewed by the White House (OGC, OPD, and ONAP), Justice, and HHS. At that point (probably tomorrow morning), we will jointly decide whether a statement by the President is appropriate, and if this proposed statement is acceptable as is or needs modification.

However, in anticipation of the need for a fast turn-around, I would appreciate it if you circulate this internally for comment to facilitate a rapid approval of a final version tomorrow.

DRAFT STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

"I sincerely hope that today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, will not weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect Americans with disabilities from discrimination. The Administration filed a brief in this case arguing that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA therefore apply.

I want to assure all Americans with disabilities, including those living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to protecting them from discrimination. I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) assess the implications of today's decision; (2) review other Federal anti-discrimination protections -- in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, and publicly assisted housing -- potentially available to people living with HIV; and (3) recommend ways to strengthen existing protections.

I call again on Congress to join us in the effort to afford all Americans, including those with disabilities, equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services."

Thanks for the comments. I am working to incorporate them. Again, we're not asking anyone to sign off on this until the decision is ready, but since things will move quickly it seemed prudent to get a draft out for folks to review. Staff secretary's sending it through the loop, also with the understanding that it will not be finalized until we've had a chance to look at the opinion.

I spoke with Liz Savage. Matt Nosanchuck of DoJ's Policy office, with whom I work, had talked with her--he's also going to pass it by the SG.

Once the decision is released, we will work with the White House Counsel's office to determine if the proposed POTUS statement is applicable. We will then notify you that the statement should be released by the WH Press Office.

I have submitted this statement to several Administration officials for review, including:

Elena Kagan (DPC)
Diana Fortuna (DPC)
Sarah Bianchi (DPC)
Rob Weiner (WH Counsel)
Rachel Levinson (OSTP)
Matt Nosanchuck (Justice)
Richard Sorian (HHS)
Eric Goosby (HHS)

Matt has circulated it internally at Justice, and will include the Solicitor General in the discussion loop. We have agreed that this statement will not be released until the decision is released and reviewed by the White House (OGC, OPD, and ONAP), Justice, and HHS. At that point (probably tomorrow morning), we will jointly decide whether a statement by the President is appropriate, and if this proposed statement is acceptable as is or needs modification.

However, in anticipation of the need for a fast turn-around, I would appreciate it if you circulate this internally for comment to facilitate a rapid approval of a final version tomorrow.

DRAFT STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

"I sincerely hope that today's decision by the Supreme Court in Bragdon v. Abbott, will not weaken the protections offered by the landmark Americans With Disabilities Act. The ADA was enacted with strong bi-partisan support to protect Americans with disabilities from discrimination. The Administration filed a brief in this case arguing that people with HIV are disabled whether or not they are symptomatic, and that the protections offered by the ADA therefore apply.

I want to assure all Americans with disabilities, including those living with HIV disease and AIDS, that this Administration is firmly committed to protecting them from discrimination. I have asked the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Attorney General, and the Director of the Office of National AIDS Policy to: (1) assess the implications of today's decision; (2) review other Federal anti-discrimination protections -- in such programs as Medicare, Medicaid, the Ryan White CARE Act, veteran's health care, and publicly assisted housing -- potentially available to people living with HIV; and (3) recommend ways to strengthen existing protections.

I call again on Congress to join us in the effort to afford all Americans, including those with disabilities, equal access to health care, housing, and other essential services."

TEXT:

Below is a proposed statement to be released by the President in response to a decision by the Supreme Court that we expect to be released tomorrow. The Administration has a compelling interest in this case in that it has filed an amicus brief with the Supreme Court, as well as in related adjudication by lower courts. In addition, this is very likely to receive significant press attention.

Essentially, this case will determine whether people living with HIV but not yet symptomatic are protected by the Americans With Disabilities Act. The statement is designed to respond to a negative decision by the Court (that the ADA does not provide such protection). Once the decision is released, we will work with the White House Counsel's office to determine if the proposed POTUS statement is applicable. We will then notify you that the statement should be released by the WH Press Office.

Subject: Daily on Supreme Court decision

Supreme Court Accepts Administration Argument on ADA Protection for Asymptomatic HIV-Infected -- Today, the Supreme Court handed down a decision in the Bragdon v. Abbott case. The case decided whether a woman with asymptomatic HIV who was refused dental care was disabled and therefore entitled to protection under the ADA. The Court ruled that she was disabled because a major life activity--in this case, reproduction--was substantially impaired by her HIV-status.

The Court signaled, but did not decide, on whether being HIV-positive is a priori a disability if reproduction was not the major life activity in question (e.g., women with hysterectomies, some gay men). The Administration, through the Solicitor General, had filed an amicus brief supporting the argument that the woman denied treatment was disabled and therefore entitled to ADA protection. The community is very pleased with the decision, which clearly bolsters the protection of people with HIV against unjustified discrimination. A Presidential Statement expressing satisfaction with the decision was released by the White House Press Office.
