NHTSA tells me this evening that "zero tolerance" is a hard requirement
(and not part of a menu of items that could be passed to meet the statute) that states must enact it or else lose highway funds. But, we should check the NHS statute anyway.

This is a very minor change that Elena wanted to add -- I've bolded it in the draft. I "unbolded" the changes from my last email. Please notify the appropriate person in the clerk's office.

Thanks!

DRAFT DRAFT DRAFT

March 3, 1998

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY OF TRANSPORTATION

SUBJECT: Standards to Prevent Drinking and Driving

We have made progress in improving highway safety during our Administration. Our progress has been accomplished through a variety of innovative and aggressive initiatives, including our "Buckle Up America" campaign to vastly increase safety belt usage and improve child passenger safety, and the formation of a ground-breaking public-private partnership on airbags. We have also taken important steps to reduce the deaths and injuries brought about by alcohol use and driving. In November 1995, I signed a law to require states to adopt "Zero Alcohol Tolerance" laws by October 1998 for young people who operate motor vehicles on penalty of losing highway funds. To date, 46 states and the District of Columbia have enacted "zero tolerance" laws for youth.

However, drunk driving remains a serious highway safety problem. Over 40 percent of all motor vehicle deaths in 1996 -- 17,126 -- were alcohol-related. Nearly 3,000 of these fatalities were young people under the age of 21. Moreover, alcohol-related crashes cost society $45 billion every year, not including the pain and suffering endured by its victims.

We can do more to prevent the many tragic and unnecessary alcohol-related deaths and injuries that occur on the Nation's roads. That is why my Administration has called on Congress to pass legislation ensuring that .08 blood alcohol content (BAC) becomes the national legal limit. Research shows that, at a BAC level of .08, drivers are impaired with regard to critical driving tasks, such as braking, steering, lane changing, and exercising judgment. The risk of being involved in a crash increases substantially when drivers are at a BAC level of .08 or above. In fact, the relative risk of a driver's being killed in a single-vehicle crash at .08 BAC has been estimated to be at least 11 times higher than it is for drivers who have no alcohol in their system. Yet 33 states and the District of Columbia continue to use .10 BAC as the legal limit. It is estimated that, if all states were to lower their limits to .08 BAC, there would be 600 fewer alcohol-related traffic deaths every year.

I hope the Congress will enact this legislation as soon as possible to ensure state passage of .08 BAC laws. Even before the Congress acts, however, we can take action to promote .08 BAC as the appropriate standard across the country, including on federal property.

I therefore direct you, working with appropriate Federal agencies, Congress, the states, safety groups, and other concerned Americans, to report back to me in 45 days with a plan to promote the adoption of a .08 BAC legal limit. Among other things, the plan should consider:

- (1) setting a .08 BAC standard on federal property, including in national parks and on

Department of Defense installations, and ensuring strong enforcement and publicity of this standard;

- (2) encouraging tribal governments to adopt, enforce, and publicize a .08 BAC standard on highways in Indian Country that are subject to their jurisdiction; and
- (3) developing an education campaign to help the public understand the risks associated with combining alcohol consumption and driving.

Yes, the letter is fine, as far as it goes - - our concern wasn't just vetting, it was coordinating the message with Friday's release of the President's FEC/FCC letters on the same subject. The only thing I would suggest is possibly drawing on those letters and last week's events to buttress the response you prepared by saying, as those letters do, for example:

"Last week's defeat of comprehensive campaign finance reform makes it even more imperative that the FCC act to provide free and reduced rate air time to candidates and take other steps that would reform the political debate over the public airwaves."

PRESIDENT CLINTON:
A TOUGH LAW THAT SAVES LIVES

March 3, 1998

"Lowering the legal limit to .08 will not prevent adults from enjoying alcoholic beverages -- provided they do so responsibly. In fact, lowering the legal limit will remind responsible Americans to take even greater care when they use alcohol. But to people who would disregard the lethal threat they pose when they drink and drive, lowering the legal limit sends a strong message: we will not tolerate irresponsible acts that endanger our children and nation."

President Bill Clinton
March 3, 1998

Today, President Clinton calls for legislation setting a nationwide limit for impaired driving at .08 blood alcohol content (BAC) and signs an Executive Memorandum directing Transportation Secretary Slater to develop a plan in 45 days to promote the adoption of .08 BAC on all federal property.

Every 30 minutes, someone dies because of a drunk driver. In 1996, of the 41,907 motor vehicle deaths, 41% -- or 17,126 -- were alcohol-related. Nearly 3,000 of these fatalities were young people under age 21. Over 80% of drivers involved in fatal crashes with positive BACs had levels exceeding .08 BAC. Moreover, alcohol-related crashes cost society $45 billion every year, not counting the pain and suffering endured by its victims.

THE .08 BAC STANDARD SAVES LIVES. A recent study of five states that lowered their limit to .08 BAC found drunk driver fatalities were reduced by an average of 16%. When all states lower their BAC limits to .08 BAC, alcohol-related deaths are expected to decrease by 600 each year.

MAKING .08 BAC THE NATIONWIDE STANDARD. President Clinton endorsed the "Safe and Sober Streets Act," which sets a national BAC limit of .08 percent for drivers age 21 and older. The bill would give states three years to enact laws to make .08 BAC the legal limit, or risk losing highway funds. Fifteen states have already adopted .08 BAC laws: Utah, Oregon, Maine, California, Vermont, Kansas, North Carolina, New Mexico, New Hampshire, Florida, Virginia, Hawaii, Alabama, Idaho and Illinois.

TAKING EXECUTIVE ACTION ON .08 BAC. President Clinton is directing Transportation Secretary Slater to work with Federal agencies, States, safety groups, and others to develop a plan to set a .08 BAC standard on federal property, such as national parks and military bases. The directive also instructs the Secretary to include in his plan other steps to promote the adoption of .08 BAC as the nationwide standard, including an education campaign to help the public understand the risks associated with drinking and driving.

LEADING THE FIGHT AGAINST YOUTH DRINKING AND DRIVING. The President is committed to taking action to reduce the deaths and injuries brought about by alcohol use and driving by teens. The .08 BAC standard builds on the law President Clinton signed requiring all states to have "Zero Alcohol Tolerance" laws for youth by Oct. 1, 1998, or risk losing highway funds. To date, 46 states and the District of Columbia have enacted zero tolerance laws, which prohibit youths under age 21 to drive with any measurable amount of alcohol in their system.

If it's already out there I'd leave it alone; if not, I'd look again at the first line which is a bit misleading - - the legislation won't "set a nationwide BAC limit" it will help to ensure that the States adopt a uniform BAC limit - - but it's both a legal and communications issue, so again, I'd leave it alone if it's out.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF FEDERAL DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

SUBJECT: Steps to Improve Federally Sponsored Child Care

Now more than ever, America's working parents struggle to balance their obligations to be good workers -- and their more important obligations to be good parents. By choice or by financial necessity, millions of Americans rely on child care to care for their children for part of each day. Parents deserve to know that their children are safe and nurtured in child care.

One of my highest priorities is to make child care better, safer, and more affordable. That is why my balanced budget includes the largest single investment in child care in our Nation's history, and proposes specific measures to improve child care quality.

As a supplier of child care and as an employer that must recruit and retain a strong workforce, the Federal Government should lead the way in improving child care. I am proud that our military has developed one of the finest child care delivery systems in the world, and that the Department of Defense, at my request, is sharing its expertise with the public and private sectors. Still, we need to do more. The executive branch of the Federal Government either runs, or contracts with others to run, over a thousand child care centers -- 788 by the military, 109 by the General Services Administration, and 128 by other Federal departments. In addition, the military sponsors nearly 10,000 professional family child care providers. In total, approximately 215,000 children are in our care.

Today I am directing my Cabinet to take significant new steps to improve the quality of Federally sponsored child care in the executive branch by (1) ensuring proper background checks of workers; (2) achieving 100-percent independent accreditation of all eligible centers; (3) exploring partnerships among Federal agencies and with the private sector to improve quality and affordability; and (4) ensuring that all Federal workers become better informed of child care benefits and the options available to them.

should undergo thorough background checks to make sure that our children are safe. The vast majority of child care workers are caring people who have dedicated their lives to teaching and nurturing children. But one tragedy in child care is too many, and criminal and civil background checks are important ways to know that the people caring for our children are fit for this responsibility. Background checks for workers in Federally sponsored child care facilities are required under Federal law, and I want to guarantee that they are being administered appropriately and in a timely fashion.

I therefore direct the Administrator of General Services ("Administrator") to report to me, within 90 days, with a plan to ensure complete and timely background checks, to the fullest extent possible, for all child care workers in nonmilitary, Federally sponsored child care settings. More broadly, to improve our understanding of Federally sponsored child care, the Administrator shall also report to me on methods to better monitor our centers' compliance with Federal health and safety standards. Agencies with oversight of nonmilitary child care settings will report to the Administrator within 60 days on this matter.

Second, all Federally sponsored child care centers should receive nationally recognized, independent accreditation, as soon as they are eligible to do so. Currently, only 76 percent of military centers, and 35 percent of other Federally sponsored centers, are accredited. By the year 2000, 100 percent should be accredited.

I therefore direct the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator to provide me, within 90 days, with a plan to ensure, to the fullest extent possible, independent, nationally recognized accreditation of all eligible, Federally sponsored child care by the year 2000. Agencies with oversight of nonmilitary child care settings shall report to the Administrator within 60 days on this matter.

Third, partnerships among Federal agencies and with the private sector are an increasingly important way to maximize existing resources and improve child care.

I therefore direct the Administrator to work with the heads of all Federal departments and agencies to explore opportunities for collaboration both within Government and with the private sector to leverage resources to improve child care quality and affordability in Federally sponsored settings.

workers are better informed on child care and the options available to them at the national, State, and local levels.

I therefore direct the Director of the Office of Personnel Management ("Director") to ensure that, to the fullest extent possible, all Federal workers receive full information about child care benefits available to them on the Federal, State, and local levels, including information on resource and referral networks, available tax credits such as the Child and Dependent Care Tax Credits and Child Tax Credit, as well as public subsidies. The Director shall also host a nationwide summit designed to showcase model public and private sector solutions to child care needs.

Sean,

We've not met, but I've taken Mike Malone's place as Dir. WH Operations. Mike is away this week, but briefed me before he left on the need to address concerns and problems with the aging Information System in the Executive Clerk's Office. Given the tremendous importance of this system and the data it contains, it's certainly worth undertaking a project to bring this database into the 21st Century. I don't want to take a band-aide approach -- if we're going put some resources against this effort, I want to get it right the first time.

Before I reach out to Tim Saunders and schedule a meeting this week to describe what we (Management and IS&T) propose to do, I thought I had better touch base with you. When it's convenient, please give me a call at x62500. Thank you, John

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF FEDERAL DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

SUBJECT: Steps to Improve Federally Sponsored Child Care

Now more than ever, America's working parents are struggling to balance their obligations to be good workers -- and their more important obligations to be good parents. By choice or by financial necessity, millions of Americans rely on child care to care for their children for part of each day. Parents deserve to know that their children are safe and nurtured in child care.

One of my highest priorities is to make child care better, safer, and more affordable. That is why my balanced budget includes the most significant investment in child care in our Nation's history, and proposes specific measures to improve child care quality.

As a supplier of child care and as an employer that must recruit and retain a strong workforce, the Federal Government should lead the way in improving child care. I am proud that our military has developed one of the finest child care delivery systems in the world, and that the Department of Defense, at my request, is sharing its expertise with the public and private sectors. Still, we need to do more. The executive branch of the Federal Government has responsibility for over a thousand child care centers -- 788 through the military, 109 through the General Services Administration, and 127 through other Federal departments. In addition, the military oversees nearly 10,000 professional family child care providers. In total, approximately 215,000 children are in our care.

Today I am directing my Cabinet to take significant new steps to improve the quality of Federally sponsored child care in the executive branch by (1) ensuring proper background checks of child care workers; (2) achieving 100-percent independent accreditation of all eligible centers; (3) exploring partnerships among Federal agencies and with the private sector to improve child care quality and affordability; and (4) ensuring that all Federal workers become better informed of child care benefits and the options available to them.

First, all child care workers in Federally sponsored centers should undergo thorough background checks to make sure that our children are safe. The vast majority of child care workers are caring people who have dedicated their lives to teaching and nurturing children. But one tragedy in child care is too many, and criminal and civil background checks are necessary to determine whether the people caring for our children are fit for this responsibility. The military already has a model system to conduct background checks of child care workers. I now want to guarantee that workers at all nonmilitary, Federal child care facilities undergo such background checks in a thorough and timely fashion.

I therefore direct the Administrator of General Services ("Administrator") to report to me, within 90 days, with a plan to ensure complete and timely background checks, to the fullest extent possible, for all child care workers in nonmilitary, Federally sponsored child care settings. Agencies with oversight of nonmilitary child care settings will report to the Administrator within 60 days on this matter.

Second, all Federally sponsored child care centers should receive nationally recognized, independent accreditation as soon as they are eligible to do so. Currently, only 76 percent of military centers, and 35 percent of other Federally sponsored centers, are accredited. By the year 2000, 100 percent should be accredited. I therefore direct the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator to provide me, within 90 days, with a plan to ensure, to the fullest extent possible, independent, nationally recognized accreditation of all eligible, Federally sponsored child care by the year 2000. Agencies with oversight of nonmilitary child care settings shall report to the Administrator within 60 days on this matter.

Third, partnerships among Federal agencies and with the private sector are an increasingly important way to maximize existing resources and improve child care. I therefore direct the Administrator to work with the heads of all Federal departments and agencies to explore opportunities for collaboration both within Government and with the private sector to improve child care quality and affordability in Federally sponsored settings.

Finally, employers have a responsibility to make sure that their workers are better informed on child care and the options available to them at the national, State, and local levels. I therefore direct the Director of the Office of Personnel Management ("Director") to ensure that, to the fullest extent possible, all Federal workers receive full information about child care benefits available to them on the Federal, State, and local levels, including information on resource and referral networks, available tax credits such as the Child and Dependent Care Tax Credit and Child Tax Credit, as well as public subsidies. The Director shall also host a nationwide summit designed to showcase model public and private sector solutions to child care needs.
