STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

The events in Pakistan this week represent another setback to Pakistani democracy. Pakistan's interests would be served by a prompt return to civilian rule and restoration of the democratic process. I urge that Pakistan move quickly in that direction.

I am sending my ambassador back to Islamabad to underscore my view directly to the military authorities, and to hear their intentions. I will also be consulting closely with all concerned nations about maintaining peace and stability in South Asia.

Subject: Peter Vallone

Speaker Vallone has asked the President to co-chair a party for his 65th b-day. (Tony Bennett will sing) Other hosts include Moynihan, Schumer, and most if not all of the NY delegation.

What is the process for approval for the President to "chair" an event?

Subject: Richard's Party - Change of Venue

The party is growing,
so it's moving upstairs.
It's no longer in the V.P.'s Ceremonial Office,
it's moved to the INDIAN TREATY ROOM
Tomorrow, Thursday, October 14 at 5pm

===== END ATTACHMENT 1 =====

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT
ENACTMENT OF S. 323

It is my pleasure to sign into law S. 323, the "Black Canyon of the Gunnison National Park and Gunnison Gorge National Conservation Area Act of 1999."

This Act represents more than a decade of hard work by the people of the Western Slope of Colorado to bring to the Black Canyon of the Gunnison the recognition it deserves. Bipartisan support from the Colorado delegation and both Houses of Congress spearheaded this effort to establish our 55th National Park and the Gunnison Gorge National Conservation Area. I would like to commend Representative Mark Udall and Representative Scott McInnis for their leadership on this legislation in the House of Representatives. I would particularly like to commend and congratulate the gentlemen from Colorado, Senator Ben Nighthorse Campbell, who has worked over a decade on this effort. His dedication and commitment to protecting these important natural resources is responsible for the achievement we are celebrating today.

The Black Canyon of the Gunnison was established in 1933 as a National Monument. This Act redesignates the Monument as a National Park and expands its size to over 30,000 acres by transferring approximately 7,000 acres of land now managed by the Bureau of Land Management, and by authorizing the National Park Service to acquire an additional 2,500 acres. These actions add geographical and recreational diversity and protect the rural scenic backdrop for this spectacular gorge. The expansion will also enhance and strengthen existing park resources and provide greater opportunities for visitor use and enjoyment.

Like other National Parks, the Black Canyon of the Gunnison belongs to all Americans, an heirloom to be passed on from generation to generation. As such, it deserves the highest level of protection to assure that the outstanding characteristics and qualities that make it worthy for National Park status will never be degraded.

In the words of geologist Wallace Hansen, "No other canyon in North America combines the depth, narrowness, sheerness, and somber countenance of the Black Canyon of the Gunnison."

By signing this Act, we recognize for all future generations the unique combination of geologic and biologic features that make the canyon such an awe-inspiring place.

The Act represents a continuing commitment to the protection of our nation's wilderness resources by expanding the existing Black Canyon of the Gunnison Wilderness by over 4,400 acres and by establishing the 17,700-acre Gunnison Gorge Wilderness that will be managed by the Bureau of Land Management.

The Act also creates the 57,725-acre Gunnison Gorge National Conservation Area, which includes the Gunnison Gorge Wilderness. This recognition is deserved for an area that offers a variety of natural and geologic features and unsurpassed recreational opportunities. The Bureau of Land Management will be responsible for managing these lands, and as directed by the Act, will develop a management plan to ensure the long-range protection and management of the Conservation Area.

Finally, the Act calls for a land study for Curecanti National Recreation Area. This study will seek solutions to protect the scenic, natural and cultural resource values that make Curecanti such a great place to explore and enjoy, and determine the best management strategies for this popular recreation area.

The National Park Service and the Bureau of Land Management should be commended for their efforts in working together to identify alternatives that ultimately gained the support of the Department of the Interior and the Administration. By signing this law, we are protecting unique natural resources that will continue to be enjoyed by all Americans for many years. We can be proud of the legacy of park, public land, and wilderness protection that we are leaving for the generations to come.

Subject: Rabbi Joseph Weinberg

Rabbi Joseph P. Weinberg, senior rabbi at Washington Hebrew Congregation, passed away suddenly of a brain tumor Friday night at the young age of 62. This is a large, well-established synagogue in DC (just up the street from Nav Obs) and I think some of the principles may have spoken at or participated in events there over the years.

Should you wish to send a message of condolence, his widow's information is as follows:

Mrs. Marcia Weinberg

It would be nice if Moynihan got his Vieques response today before he gives out his letter but its not essential. A couple of other points, though.

Re the final draft, it now should be changed to reflect that Sec. Cohen yesterday identified the next step in the process. The phrase "and now he is considering the next steps in the process" could be replaced by "and he has called for its recommendations to be discussed with Puerto Ricans as well as the Navy before he makes a recommendation to me".

"Federal" before "elections" in the second graph should be "presidential". Or, better, the phrase could read "Because Puerto Ricans do not have votes the Federal Government". They do vote in the Federal election for their one partially-voting rep to Congress.

Today I met for half an hour with the three archivists who'll soon be on assignment to the White House: Angela Fritz, John Keller, Richard Stalcup. They appear to be very professional, and we had a good chat about our expectations. The plan is to have them start working this Thursday, October 21st. They'll spend about a week working with Terry and Lee in Records Management getting oriented. Then, the idea is to have them begin a rotation through certain White House Offices, according to a careful plan - - starting with offices that have asked for archivist help. Specifically, Angela Fritz will start working with the diarist Ellen McCatheran; John Keller will begin working with NSC; and Richard Stalcup will work in Correspondence. They'll report directly to Terry and Lee, who'll keep me up to speed.

We just got sign-off from Podesta. There are two different versions of the cover note: one for roth and moynihan, the other for stark/thomas, bliley/dingell.

for all letters, there should be two attachments, first the table and second the longer description.

Chris is still waiting for Jack Lew's final sign-off and will call you with changes.

Thanks.

October 19, 1999

[Roth, Moynihan]
Chairman
U.S. Committee on Finance
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Chairman Roth:

It was a pleasure to meet with you and Senator [Moynihan/Roth] earlier this month to discuss our mutual commitment to strengthening and modernizing Medicare. It continues to be my hope that the Congress will take action this year to, at minimum, make a down-payment on needed reforms of the program. I look forward to working with you toward that end.

In 1997, the Medicare trustees projected that Medicare would become insolvent in 2001. Working together across party lines, the Congress passed and I enacted important reforms that contributed towards extending the life of the Medicare trust fund to 2015. As with any major legislation, the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) included some policies that are flawed or have had unintended consequences that are posing immediate problems to some providers and beneficiaries. In addition, the program faces the long-term demographic and health care challenges that will inevitably result as the baby-boom generation ages into Medicare. As we worked together in 1997 to address the immediate threat to Medicare, we must work together now to address its short-term and long-term challenges.

Preparing and strengthening Medicare for the next century is and will continue to be a top priority for my Administration. For this reason, I proposed a plan that makes the program more competitive and efficient, modernizes its benefits to include the provision of a long-overdue prescription drug benefit, and dedicates a portion of the surplus to help secure program solvency for at least another 10 years. However, I also share your belief that we need to take prompt action -- whether in the context of broader or more limited reforms -- to moderate the excessive provider payment reductions in the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) of 1997. I believe that legislative modifications in this regard should be paid for and should not undermine the solvency of the Medicare trust fund.

You have requested a summary of the administrative actions that I plan to take to moderate the impact of the BBA. In the letter that you sent to me last Thursday, you also asked about four specific issues related to payment for hospital outpatient departments, managed care, skilled nursing facilities, and disproportionate share hospitals.

Attached is a summary of the over 25 administrative actions that the Administration is currently implementing or will take to address Medicare provider payment issues. The Department of Health and Human Services is taking virtually all the administrative actions possible under the law that have a policy justification, which will accrue to the benefit of hospitals, nursing homes, home health agencies, and other providers.

We are finishing our review of our administrative authority to address the 5.7 percent reduction in hospital outpatient department payments. We believe that the Congressional intent was for this policy to be implemented in a way that is budget neutral for hospitals and I favor a policy that achieves this goal. The enactment of clarifying language on this subject would be useful in making clear Congressional intent with regard to this issue. I have attached a letter from Office of Management and Budget Director Jack Lew, which was sent at the request of Congressman Bill Thomas, detailing how such language would be scored by OMB.

With regards to managed care, we share your commitment expanding choice and achieving stability in the Medicare+Choice marketplace. The BBA required that payments to managed care plans be risk adjusted. To ease the transition to this system, we proposed a 5-year, gradual phase-in of the risk adjustment system. This phase-in forgoes approximately $4.5 billion in payment reductions that would have occurred if risk adjustment were fully implemented immediately. The Medicare Payment Advisory Commission and other experts support the Administration's risk adjustment plan. Consistent with this position, most policy experts believe that a further slow-down of its implementation is unwarranted. However, we remain committed to making any and all changes that improve its methodology. Moreover, as you know, any administrative and legislative changes that increase payment rates to providers in the fee-for-service program will also increase payments to managed care plans.

On the issue of skilled nursing facilities, we agree that nursing home payments for the sickest Medicare beneficiaries are not adequate. I intend to take all actions possible to address this. Administratively, we can and will use the results of a study that is about to be completed to adjust payments as soon as possible. While we believe that these adjustments must be budget neutral, we are continuing to review whether we have additional administrative authority in this area.

Finally, it appears that there has been confusion about the current policy for disproportionate share hospital (DSH) payments. Hospitals across a considerable number of states have misconstrued how to calculate DSH payments. The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has since concluded that this resulted from unclear guidance. Thus, as reported last Friday, HHS will not recoup past overpayments and will issue new, clearer guidance as soon as possible.

We believe that our administrative actions can complement legislative modifications to refine BBA payment policies. These legislative modifications should be targeted to address unintended consequences of the BBA that can expect to adversely affect beneficiary access to quality care.

I hope and expect that our work together will lay the foundation for much broader and needed reforms to address the demographic and health care challenges confronting the program. We look forward to working with you, as well as the House Ways and Means and Commerce Committees, as we jointly strive to moderate the impact of BBA on the nation's health care provider community.

DESCRIPTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS BY THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION TO MODERATE THE IMPACT OF THE BALANCED BUDGET ACT OF 1997 ON MEDICARE PROVIDERS

HOSPITALS: GENERAL

Capping hospital transfer policy at 10 DRGs for 2 years, through 2002. We will postpone for two years the extension of the hospital transfer policy to additional diagnoses beyond the current set of 10 Diagnosis Related Group (DRG) categories. We also will consider whether further postponement of extension to additional diagnoses is warranted.

Stop administrative recoupment of DSH payments based on unclear guidance. We have recently determined that certain hospitals received additional disproportionate share hospital (DSH) payments because guidance on how to claim these funds was insufficiently clear. We will therefore hold harmless hospitals that have received these additional payments. We also will soon clarify guidance to hospitals and our claims processing contractors on how to claim these funds. And we will provide further clarification to State Medicaid agencies because they are the primary source of data critical to the DSH calculations. We will apply the clarified policy and hold hospitals responsible for being in compliance as of January 1, 2000.

HOSPITAL OUTPATIENT PAYMENTS

We are finishing our review of our administrative authority to address the 5.7 percent reduction in hospital outpatient department payments. We believe that the Congressional intent was for this policy to be implemented in a way that is budget neutral for hospitals and the Administration favors a policy that achieves this goal. Unfortunately, a technical drafting change has produced some confusion over the outpatient payment formula. The enactment of clarifying language on the subject would be most useful in eliminating the confusion caused by the technical drafting of the current law. In addition, there are a number of changes that we believe are necessary to address specific policy concerns and moderate the payment reductions in the Medicare prospective payment system (PPS) for outpatient departments. Although we are prohibited by law from committing to changes before the final rule is published, we can outline the approaches we believe are consistent with Administration policy and expect to take in the outpatient department rule. These include:

Delay implementation of the volume control mechanism for 2 years, which would reduce payment reductions. We expect to delay implementing the proposed "volume control mechanism." The statute requires the agency to develop a volume control mechanism. In the proposed rule, we suggested use of a mechanism that might lead to a downward adjustment in the payment rates as early as 2002 (to reflect volume increases in 2000). Delaying this mechanism would provide time for providers to adjust to the new system.

Moderate payment reductions for rural, cancer and other hospitals experiencing large changes, in budget-neutral manner, in transition to prospective payment system (PPS). We expect to include a 3-year transition to the new PPS by making budget-neutral adjustments that will increase payments to hospitals that would otherwise incur large payment reductions. These hospitals would include certain rural, inner city, cancer, and teaching hospitals. Some hospitals, like cancer hospitals, are projected to experience a reduction in excess of 30 percent. This transition policy would ensure that payments do not drop below a specified threshold to protect against such reductions.

Delay implementation of prospective payment system for cancer hospitals until additional data are collected. The lack of reliable data from cancer centers makes developing a prospective payment system for them difficult. Consequently, we now expect to delay full implementation of the PPS system for the cancer hospitals and to use an interim payment system for at least 18 months from the initiation date of PPS for other hospitals. We would not end this interim system until we are ready to implement a prospective system for cancer hospitals based on full information.

Make technical refinements to the Ambulatory Payment Classification (APC) system. We plan to make changes to address the many technical comments received regarding the proposed Ambulatory Payment Classification (APC) system as part of the final rule, including the detailed comments from MedPAC. We also plan to address the many other comments, including those related to the appropriateness of the system for categories of providers, in the final rule. And we have hired another independent, outside contractor, Kathpal, to provide additional private-sector expertise as we address problems with the data we have on the cost of chemotherapeutic agents. This contractor is examining a random sample of patients who need chemotherapy and other high-cost drug costs to advise us on possible methods and data for assuring adequate payment for these drugs. We believe that further outside reviews would delay the implementation of the system and the planned reductions in beneficiary out-of-pocket expenses.

Allow for temporary cost-based APCs for certain new technologies. Concerns have been raised about the adequacy of payments in APCs for medical technologies that are new (and hence are not reflected in the data bases on which we do our estimates) and where the cost of the item is very large relative to the payment for the APC. In some instances it may be possible to accommodate new, high-cost technology items within the APCs. In others, we expect to specify in advance and use a set of cost-related APCs for some period of time while better data about actual costs are collected.

Create additional APCs for certain high-cost drugs (e.g., chemotherapy drugs). Packaging payments for certain covered drugs with the procedure or visit with which they are furnished could underpay hospitals and slow the introduction of new drugs into the system. Thus, we anticipate creating additional APCs to pay for certain drugs, particularly high-cost drugs. Where appropriate, we would permit billing for multiple APCs depending on dosages actually used. With respect to chemotherapy, we expect to substantially increase the number of APCs for chemotherapy agents to minimize the variability within groups and assure beneficiary access is not compromised. We would also create APCs for supportive and adjunctive therapies.

Create separate APCs to pay for blood and blood products. Under the proposed rule, we would pay for blood and blood products as part of the payment for a surgical procedure or blood transfusion service. As a result of concerns raised in comments, we have reconsidered our proposal and now expect to implement separate APCs to pay for blood, other blood products and anti-hemophilic factors.

Pay, at least temporarily, for corneal tissue at acquisition costs rather than as part of the payment for overall corneal transplant surgery. Under the proposed rule, we would pay for corneal tissue acquisition costs as part of the payment for corneal transplant surgery. Given the variable rates at which hospitals acquire the tissue from eye banks, we are likely to accept the recommendation to decouple payment for tissue acquisition from that for the surgical procedure and to pay for it, at least until further experience is gained, based on acquisition cost.

Eliminate use of diagnostic codes in payments for medical visits and reassess use in future. The proposed rule based payments for medical visits to clinics and emergency departments on codes for both medical procedures and diagnosis. Because diagnostic codes are not used in payment for all other services, we now expect to revise our medical groups by eliminating the use of diagnostic codes in computing payment amounts for the present.

SKILLED NURSING FACILITIES (SNF) PAYMENTS

Increase payment for high acuity patients. We will use administrative flexibility to increase relative weights for the Resource Utilization Groups for high acuity patients under the Skilled Nursing Facility Prospective Payment System (SNF PPS). We expect to have research findings on advisable refinements completed by the end of this year and to include them in a proposed rule next Spring, for implementation in October 2000. We believe these changes should be budget neutral. However, we are continuing to review whether we have additional administrative authority.

Exclude certain types of services furnished in hospital outpatient departments from SNF PPS: CT scans, MRIs, cardiac catheterizations, emergency services, major ambulatory surgical procedures, and radiation therapy. Using the limited administrative discretion afforded by the statute, we have excluded these types of services performed in hospital outpatient departments from the SNF PPS bundle. We have done so because such services are exceptionally intensive and well beyond the scope of SNF care plans. We received a significant number of comments, both in response to last year's interim final rule, and at a national Town Hall meeting we held to solicit comments on SNF PPS. We are examining whether any additional hospital outpatient services (e.g., chemotherapy) could be carved out within the scope of our present administrative authorities, but believe that legislation is necessary to exclude these or other services (e.g., prostheses) categorically.

HOME HEALTH PAYMENTS

Delay tracking patients and pro-rating payments. Although fiscal intermediaries are responsible for tracking and pro-rating payments, we were unable to make the necessary systems changes to accomplish this due to our efforts related to Year 2000 computer systems requirements. Therefore, we are delaying implementation of the requirement until the implementation of the prospective payment system. We have developed a way to implement this proposal under the prospective payment system that will allow fiscal intermediaries and HCFA to more directly track beneficiaries. We also want to clarify that the law does not make home health agencies responsible for tracking utilization for purposes of pro-rating payments.

Provide for extended interim payment system repayment schedules for agencies. As part of our Medicare reform plan, we are allowing agencies an automatic 36 months to repay excess interim payment system (IPS) overpayments. The first year is interest-free.

Postponing the requirement for surety bonds until October 1, 2000. We are postponing the requirement for surety bonds until October 1, 2000, when we will implement the new home health prospective payment system. This will help ensure that overpayments related to the interim payment system will not be an obstacle to agencies obtaining surety bonds.

Change surety bond requirement to $50,000, not 15 percent of annual agency Medicare revenues. We are also following the recommendation of the General Accounting Office by requiring all agencies to obtain bonds of only $50,000, not 15 percent of annual agency Medicare revenues as was proposed earlier.

Eliminate the sequential billing rule. As of July 1, 1999, we eliminated the sequential billing rule. Many home health agencies had expressed concern about the impact of the implementation of this requirement on their cash flows and this measure should alleviate these problems to a large degree.

Phase in reporting of services in 15-minute increments. We are phasing in our instructions implementing the requirement that home health agencies report their services in 15-minute increments in response to concerns that the demands of Y2K compliance were competing with agency efforts to implement this BBA provision. By allowing this degree of flexibility for a temporary period, we will prevent any agency cash flow problems or returned claims.

PHYSICIAN PAYMENTS

Improve annual updates in payments for physicians' services to correct for erroneous projections through administrative actions. As we indicated in the Federal Register on October 1, 1999, at this time, we do not believe we have the ability under current law to make adjustments to revise the Sustainable Growth Rate (SGR) based on later data. We agree that there is a problem and thus have submitted, as part of the FY 2000 budget, a budget-neutral legislative proposal to require that revisions be made to correct estimation errors in calculation of the SGR and to fix other technical aspects of the SGR. However, we are continuing to review whether we have any ability administratively to address this issue.

RURAL PROVIDER PAYMENTS

Change the average wage threshold percentages so more rural hospitals can reclassify. We are implementing policies making it easier for rural hospitals, whose payments now are based on lower, rural area average wages, to be reclassified and receive payments based on higher average wages in nearby urban areas and thus get higher reimbursement. Right now, facilities can get such reclassifications if the wages they pay their employees are at least 108 percent of average wages in their rural area, and at least 84 percent of average wages in a nearby urban area. We are planning to change those average wage threshold percentages in the FY 2001 hospital regulation so more hospitals can be reclassified.

Use same wage index for inpatient and outpatient PPS. In the proposed rule, we expect to help rural hospitals by using the same wage index for calculating rates that is used to calculate inpatient prospective payment rates. This index would take into account the effect of hospital reclassifications and redesignations.

Modify Health Professional Shortage Area designations. We are also working to address other concerns of rural providers, where we can, through administrative actions. The Health Care Financing Administration has formed a high-level working group on rural health to work with providers to identify both administrative and legislative issues and resolve those that we have the authority to address under current law. For example, we are working with the Health Services and Resources Administration to modify the Health Professional Shortage Area designations. We are also considering changes to policies related to Critical Access Hospitals, Graduate Medical Education payments for rural providers, and wage indices for rural providers.

AMBULATORY SURGICAL CENTER (ASC) PAYMENTS

Postpone implementation based on 1999 survey. We plan to publish the final rule on payment policy changes for ASCs next spring and implement the new system in July 2000. The current ASC rates have been in place since 1990 and are based on 1986 survey data. We appreciate the desire to incorporate more current data. However, the process of sending out and having the ASCs complete the surveys, auditing the surveys, analyzing the data, writing a proposed rule, commenting on a proposed rule, and issuing a final rule is lengthy. If we were to delay implementing payment changes until the 1999 survey data are incorporated, we would have to delay the payment policy changes planned for July 2000 for an additional three years.

MEDICARE +CHOICE PAYMENTS

Phase in risk adjustment over a 5-year period. In March, we announced a five-year transition to comprehensive risk adjustment for Medicare+Choice plans to minimize the disruption to plans. We plan to begin the transition in 2000 with a 90/10 blend of demographically and risk adjusted rates. This blend will be gradually increased over five years so that in 2004, rates will be fully risk adjusted using a comprehensive adjustment system that takes into account all care settings.

We believe that this five-year transition strikes the appropriate balance between concern for plans and our obligation to be fiscally responsible and ensure that plans are paid fairly and appropriately for the care they provide, especially to the sickest beneficiaries. Our actuaries estimate that this transition schedule will cost the Medicare Trust Funds $4.5 billion more than full implementation of risk adjustment in 2000. Our current phase-in schedule prevents plans from experiencing more than a five to ten percent shift in rates in the first few years. For example, based on our impact analyses using 1997 and 1998 plan data, no plan would face more than a 1.85 percent reduction in 2000 and plans on average would face only a 0.7 percent reduction in 2000. Significant differences in later years would indicate that a plan's enrollees are substantially healthier than average, in which case it is appropriate to pay more to other plans that are caring for less healthy enrollees. A number of experts, including the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission, support this approach. We would like to work with Congress and other interested parties to further review technical modifications to improve Medicare+Choice risk adjustment.

Extending EverCare frail elderly demonstration through 12/31/01 and exempt from risk adjustment during this extension. For EverCare managed care plans that provide specialized services to the frail elderly, we are extending this demonstration project for an additional year through December 31, 2001. We also will continue the exemption from risk adjustment during this extension. This will provide additional time to complete our evaluation of this project. It also will allow EverCare to submit additional data on the special population it serves, which we can analyze for possible use in refinement of our risk adjustment methodology.

Improve beneficiary protections and access to administration. We also published refinements to Medicare+Choice regulation that improve beneficiary protections and access to information. For example, we clarified that any beneficiary who is enrolled in a Medicare+Choice plan that withdraws from the program is entitled to immediate enrollment in any other remaining Medicare+Choice plan serving the enrollee's area.

Ease provider participation rules. We have taken additional steps to assist plans and encourage their participation in Medicare+Choice. We worked with Congress to give plans two more months to file the information used to approve benefit and premium structures so plans are able to use more current experience when designing benefit packages and setting cost sharing levels. We also eased provider participation rules and increased flexibility for plans in coordinating care for enrollees with serious or complex conditions and in conducting initial health assessments for new enrollees.

[House: Bill Thomas, Pete Stark, Bliley, Dingell]
Chairman
U.S. xx
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear :

I am writing to respond to your request about administrative actions that my Administration can take to moderate the impact of the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) of 1997 on Medicare providers.

In 1997, the Medicare trustees projected that Medicare would become insolvent in 2001. Working together across party lines, the Congress passed and I enacted important reforms that contributed towards extending the life of the Medicare trust fund to 2015. As with any major legislation, the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) included some policies that are flawed or have had unintended consequences that are posing immediate problems to some providers and beneficiaries. In addition, the program faces the long-term demographic and health care challenges that will inevitably result as the baby-boom generation ages into Medicare. As we worked together in 1997 to address the immediate threat to Medicare, we must work together now to address its short-term and long-term challenges.

Preparing and strengthening Medicare for the next century is and will continue to be a top priority for my Administration. For this reason, I proposed a plan that makes the program more competitive and efficient, modernizes its benefits to include the provision of a long-overdue prescription drug benefit, and dedicates a portion of the surplus to help secure program solvency for at least another 10 years. However, I also share your belief that we need to take prompt action -- whether in the context of broader or more limited reforms -- to moderate the excessive provider payment reductions in the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) of 1997. I believe that legislative modifications in this regard should be paid for and should not undermine the solvency of the Medicare trust fund.

You have requested a summary of the administrative actions that I plan to take to moderate the impact of the BBA. In particular, questions have been raised about four specific issues related to payment for hospital outpatient departments, managed care, skilled nursing facilities, and disproportionate share hospitals.

Attached is a summary of the over 25 administrative actions that the Administration is currently implementing or will take to address Medicare provider payment issues. The Department of Health and Human Services is taking virtually all the administrative actions possible under the law that have a policy justification, which will accrue to the benefit of hospitals, nursing homes, home health agencies, and other providers.

We are finishing our review of our administrative authority to address the 5.7 percent reduction in hospital outpatient department payments. We believe that the Congressional intent was for this policy to be implemented in a way that is budget neutral for hospitals and I favor a policy that achieves this goal. The enactment of clarifying language on this subject would be useful in making clear Congressional intent with regard to this issue. I have attached a letter from Office of Management and Budget Director Jack Lew, which was sent at the request of Congressman Bill Thomas, detailing how such language would scored by OMB.

With regards to managed care, we share your commitment expanding choice and achieving stability in the Medicare+Choice marketplace. The BBA required that payments to managed care plans be risk adjusted. To ease the transition to this system, we proposed a 5-year, gradual phase-in of the risk adjustment system. This phase-in forgoes approximately $4.5 billion in payment reductions that would have occurred if risk adjustment were fully implemented immediately. The Medicare Payment Advisory Commission and other experts support the Administration's risk adjustment plan. Consistent with this position, most policy experts believe that a further slow-down of its implementation is unwarranted. However, we remain committed to making any and all changes that improve its methodology. Moreover, as you know, any administrative and legislative changes that increase payment rates to providers in the fee-for-service program will also increase payments to managed care plans.

On the issue of skilled nursing facilities, we agree that nursing home payments for the sickest Medicare beneficiaries are not adequate. I intend to take all actions possible to address this. Administratively, we can and will use the results of a study that is about to be completed to adjust payments as soon as possible. While we believe that these adjustments must be budget neutral, we are continuing to review whether we have additional administrative authority in this area.

Finally, it appears that there has been confusion about the current policy for disproportionate share hospital (DSH) payments. Hospitals across a considerable number of states have misconstrued how to calculate DSH payments. The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has since concluded that this resulted from unclear guidance. Thus, as reported last Friday, HHS will not recoup past overpayments and will issue new, clearer guidance as soon as possible.

We believe that our administrative actions can complement legislative modifications to refine BBA payment policies. These legislative modifications should be targeted to address unintended consequences of the BBA that can expect to adversely affect beneficiary access to quality care.

I hope and expect that our work together will lay the foundation for much broader and needed reforms to address the demographic and health care challenges confronting the program. We look forward to working with you, other committees of jurisdiction, and the rest of Congress as we jointly strive to moderate the impact of BBA on the nation's health care provider community.

Subject: Partial Birth Abortion

Sean, I have Elena's old file on Partial Birth Abortion (I'm working on this wonderful issue now and it's expected to come to the floor as early as this afternoon). On May 13, 1997, Bruce and Elena sent a memo to the President recommending that he send a letter to Senators Daschle and Feinstein endorsing their substitutes to the underlying bill. He agreed strongly on his note on the memo, and I have the draft letter text, but not the final letter. I would suspect that it went out the same day or the next day. Is it possible to track that down?

We would be there - pending OK of prosecutor. I guess really it would just be me- Dennis is returning to Saudi until the end of the trial. Thank you for sending the note to Mrs. Gore.

I am in Minnesota now. My Dad passed away the 16th. Must be something about October.

Subject: Radio Address this week CHANGED to FRIDAY

I am sad to say that the President's Radio Address has been moved to Friday evening. I realize that this may affect some of you and your families or people whom you are arranging to come ability to be here. The Radio Address is now scheduled for Friday evening at 4:45pm and therefore the guests will need to arrive to the NW gate at 4:15pm. Please call your family / guests ASAP and let me know ASAP if they can still come. Thank you very much and again I am sorry about the change.

Sean/ Paul:

In the NASA/NSF paragraph on the 2nd page, we'd like you to consider the following small edits to replace the words "discovery and education":

"If we want to to maintain our current economic prosperity, it is essential that we sustain our investment in long-term research across all the scientific and engineering disciplines. This Act maintains the Nation's investments in science, technology, and learning, which have fueled unprecedented economic growth for the past decade."

Thanks for your consideration...

ACTION

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: GENE SPERLING
SANDY BERGER

SUBJECT: Section 201 Steel Wire Rod Decision: Trinidad and Tobago

In indicating your preference for providing relief to the steel wire rod industry through a tariff rate quota (TRQ) that would modestly roll back imports, you asked whether there is a way to exempt Caribbean countries, including Trinidad and Tobago. The short answer is that an outright exemption would be difficult to defend in the WTO, and the WTO-sanctioned alternative of safeguarding Trinidad and Tobago's historical share within the TRQ could harm other developing countries such as South Africa.

No Exemption Available for Trinidad and Tobago

There does not appear to be an exception under WTO rules available for Trinidad and Tobago. WTO rules generally require that we apply any safeguard measures in a non-discriminatory manner – arguably with exceptions for partners in free trade agreements such as Canada, Mexico and Israel. Our CBI preference program does not qualify as a free trade agreement under the WTO because it is a one-way program under which the United States unilaterally provides duty free access for certain products. By contrast, free trade agreements must eliminate trade restrictions on “substantially all trade” in both directions. There is an exemption available under WTO rules for developing countries accounting for very small shares of imports, which permits us to exempt the Andean countries from the proposed trade remedy. However, as our third largest foreign supplier of wire rod, Trinidad and Tobago would not qualify.

Alternative “Substantial” Supplier Allocation Approach

We could provide favorable treatment to Trinidad and Tobago within the proposed TRQ in a manner consistent with WTO rules by allocating country-specific shares. The WTO permits allocation of guaranteed import shares within a given TRQ for “substantial” suppliers accounting for at least 10 percent of non-exempted imports over the last three years. This allocation would cover the EU, with a 26 percent average share of wire rod imports during 1996-8, Trinidad and Tobago with 20 percent, and Turkey with 10 percent. If we allocate individual shares only to these “substantial” suppliers, all other non-exempted countries would compete for the remainder of the TRQ on a first-come, first-served basis.

This approach would favor traditional, larger suppliers whose imports have declined in recent years over the new, smaller, developing country entrants whose exports rose sharply from 1996 to 1998. Under this country allocation approach, 56 percent of the 1.4 million ton tariff-surge-free quota would be allocated to the EU, Trinidad and Tobago, and Turkey. This would result in a 20.6 percent increase in these three countries' aggregate exports to the United States above 1998 levels. Europe would be the biggest winner, with a TRQ allocation 34 percent higher than their 1998 import level, followed by Trinidad and Tobago with a 12 percent increase, and Turkey with a 7 percent increase.

Access to the U.S. market for the remaining 16 exporting countries (including India, Indonesia, Ukraine, Moldova, India, Brazil, Egypt, and South Africa) would be proportionately reduced. Rather than competing with all countries (including Europe, Trinidad and Turkey) for an overall global TRQ that is 8 percent below 1998 levels, they will compete with each other for a residual TRQ that would be 29 percent below their aggregate 1998 import levels. Furthermore, the ITC estimates that the EU and Trinidad and Tobago may not be able to fill quota allocations based on their historical shares. Thus, the overall level of protection – including increased prices – would likely be higher under a TRQ with specific allocations for substantial suppliers than under a global TRQ that is more likely to be completely filled.

Complete Country Allocation Approach

WTO rules would also permit allocating specific quotas to all suppliers. This approach, however, would have additional drawbacks: it would further restrict competition and raise prices, limit user flexibility, increase the quota rent to foreign producers, and leave no room for new entrants. In addition, based on 1996-98 import averages, it would cut back imports from specific developing countries suppliers, such as South Africa by 52 percent, Moldova by 22 percent, India by 59 percent, and Ukraine by 29 percent.

RECOMMENDATION

If you decide to impose trade relief in the form of a TRQ rollback, we recommend that you impose a TRQ without country specific allocations, so as to avoid discrimination against new and fledgling developing country suppliers to the U.S. market and unnecessary distortions that would impose further economic costs on wire rod consuming industries and workers.

Joel Wiginton just called me from the Hill to say that Boxer pulled him aside to say that she is now very nervous about losing Bob Kerrey, Lincoln and Edwards (if we lost all three, we would lose our ability to sustain a veto). Based on some floor exchanges, Boxer revised her recommendation from yesterday and requested that the President call these three members to shore up their votes. Joel and I are drafting a call sheet to submit if there is agreement to do so (Joel is trying to reach Larry or Tracey to discuss).

Public Liaison requested a Pres'l message for a groundbreaking ceremony tomorrow afternoon for the Japanese American Patriotism Memorial (a monument to Japanese American citizens who maintained their loyalty and gave their service to America during WWII despite their/families' internment). OPL has asked for a message because they said that Mr. Podesta wanted the President to attend the ceremony, but couldn't fit it in to his schedule. In view of that, is this something you want to see, or do you just want us to get it back to OPL? Thanks!
