Summary of Conclusions

It was agreed that:

- USG strategy must not rely on the OSCE's Kosovo Verification Mission (KVM) managing a series of crises like the present one involving the seizure of eight VJ soldiers by the Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA). The USG should use a successful resolution of the current crisis to convince all sides of their mutual interest in (1) taking steps to avoid further incidents, (2) cooperating with KVM, and (3) pursuing positive change on the ground and an interim political settlement. (Action: State) ~~(S)~~

- The three-track strategy described in the State Department paper should be presented to NSC Principals after being modified to reflect the Deputies' discussion. The revised paper should:
 - describe and assess the following two options for the negotiations: (1) continuing to focus on an interim political settlement; or (2) shift emphasis to pursuing the incremental implementation of a settlement based on the commitments already made by Belgrade;
 - describe and assess two broad options for handling the KLA: (1) seeking to co-opt KLA moderates and isolate the extremists by creating positive change on the ground and offering to bring the KLA into the political process; or (2) threatening to apply negative pressure if the KLA fails to abide by the cease-fire, cooperate with KVM or allow negotiations to proceed; and,
 - identify which elements are currently funded or unfunded. (Action: State) ~~(S)~~
- The USG should consider what strategy to pursue if conditions deteriorate to the point that the three-track strategy described in the State Department paper can no longer be implemented and consideration must be given to the withdrawal of KVM. (Action: NSC) ~~(S)~~

Summary of Conclusions

It was agreed that:

- USG strategy must not rely on the OSCE's Kosovo Verification Mission (KVM) managing a series of crises like the present one involving the seizure of eight VJ soldiers by the Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA). The USG should use a successful resolution of the current crisis to convince all sides of their mutual interest in (1) taking steps to avoid further incidents, (2) cooperating with KVM, and (3) pursuing positive change on the ground and an interim political settlement. (Action: State) (S)

- The three-track strategy described in the State Department paper should be presented to NSC Principals after being modified to reflect the Deputies' discussion. The revised paper should:
 - describe and assess the following two options for the negotiations: (1) continuing to focus on an interim political settlement; or (2) shift emphasis to pursuing the incremental implementation of a settlement based on the commitments already made by Belgrade;
 - describe and assess two broad options for handling the KLA: (1) seeking to co-opt KLA moderates and isolate the extremists by creating positive change on the ground and offering to bring the KLA into the political process; or (2) threatening to apply negative pressure if the KLA fails to abide by the cease-fire, cooperate with KVM or allow negotiations to proceed; and,
 - identify which elements are currently funded or unfunded. (Action: State) (S)
- The USG should consider what strategy to pursue if conditions deteriorate to the point that the three-track strategy described in the State Department paper can no longer be implemented and consideration must be given to the withdrawal of KVM. (Action: NSC) (S)
