RE: A MEETING WITH PRESIDENT CLINTON REGARDING DR. ALEJO RIZAL LOPEZ LIEUTENANT GENERAL IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY (SERIAL NO. 001733):

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

I have corresponded with your office since April, 1998 to schedule a meeting regarding Dr. Alejo Rizal Lopez. I can appreciate all of the distracting circumstances which have now been resolved which will afford you the opportunity to finally schedule this very important meeting. I know that you are aware that Dr. Alejo Rizal Lopez was a distinguished officer in the Army of the United States. He also was instrumental in setting up the general headquarters for Fil-American Guerrilla Forces in Manila in the Republic of the Philippines. Dr. Lopez also supplied necessary strategic information for the Central Intelligence Agency at their request. Also Dr. Lopez afforded your mother every courtesy as his guest when she visited the Republic of the Philippines. He has consistently referred to you as his own personal friend in great detail.

I, also have met you and your wife Hillary when you came to North Shore Congregation Israel in Wilmette, Illinois. My wife Michelle, was responsible for you well being as you and the first lady came during your last presidential campaign. Again, I am requesting this meeting of the utmost importance regarding confidential information which I must present to you in person. I have spoken with several people on your staff including Ms. Barbara McMillen, Ms. Karen Peterson and Ms. Stephanie S. Street. I cannot stress enough the importance of you scheduling this meeting at your earliest convenience.

Please contact me with the time and designation of a scheduled meeting to discuss issues of deep concern on behalf of Dr. Alejo Rizal Lopez.

Respectfully,

Dear Mr. President,
I have appreciated your being a basketball fan for many years.
You seem to have a love for the game as I do. The question I have for you is have you ever been to a Washington Wizards game and how do you feel about the team? Rod Strickland is my favorite basketball player and I would like to offer you the opportunity to see him play live. I have season tickets and I would like to know if you would like to join me to see a game this year. I know you are a busy guy and can probably get better tickets than what I have, but I think it would be fun.
Thanks and hope to hear from you soon,

I am attending Grand Rapids Community College working towards a nursing degree. I have been in community developement for three years.I love every minute of it.

Thanks to you,I have started one" diabetic group" in a senior community.I have also began a "teen support" group with in a low income housing complex.I'm in the middle of many other projects with others from the Creston Community. I had to stop and thank you for giving me the opportunity to do what others are only talking about. Thank you!

(I have never thought I would be writing the President or thanking him no less.) I would like you to meet my AmeriCorps team. You would definitely be proud of passsion and the Though you are quite busy, I would love for you and your family to come to Memphis, TN for a weekend of Bar-be-que and blues.

B.B. Kings club has some of the finest blues talent in the world appearing there. Priscilla Presley has opened a theme restaurant on Beale St. called Elvis Presley's. Excellent entertainment and good food as well.

Without a doubt, you need a taste of home after the ordeal you and the nation has been through.

The invitation is open ended so that you all may choose your time to accept.

Mr. President,

I along with many other Americans have just listened to your Statement. I appreciate your forthrightness and sincerity in this statement. "I am sorry" is not easy for anyone to say, one on one, let alone to television cameras and crowds of reporters, and yet to acknowledge one's sorrow for words spoken and deeds done, indeed, humbles a man, as you stated, "you have been humbled." Mr. President, in your humbled state, you have become a great man, may you build on that strength as you lead the nation and rebuild your family life and relations with those relationship with you has become strained in this trying days.

Dear President Clinton:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of both The Haitian Holiday Festival '99 (HHF'99) and the National Organization for the Advancement of Haiti (NOAH), it gives me great pleasure to formally invite you and the members of your administration to attend The Haitian Holiday Festival Gala that will be held at the Caucus Room in the Canon Office Building on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C. from 5 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, March 10, 1999.

The Haitian Holiday Festival, Inc. is a non-profit grass roots organization committed to promote the unique history and culture of Haiti. The overall theme of the Gala is "Re-discover Haiti with a friend". Our objective is:

To build a network and coalition of interested parties in both the public and private sector that wish to make economic progress in Haiti beneficial to all Haitians and private investors.

We believe that by educating and informing the world about the Haitian experience we will achieve this goal.

We will be personally honored by your presence, however, we certainly recognize that your schedule may not permit you to attend the Gala. For this reason should you not be able to attend we respectfully request that a member of your administration familiar with matters regarding Haiti attend in your absence.

To facilitate our planning we respectfully request, that at your earliest convenience, your staff notify us of your intention by contacting the event manager at The Haitian Holiday Festival

Dear Mr. President:

The Cuban American Bar Association of Los Angeles will soon host it's scholarship award presentation of 1999. The Association will be awarding Southern California Law Schools scholarship grants for Hispanic law students. Cuban film makers, directors, and composers will speak on their creative viewpoint. Lawyers, businessmen and community leaders of all nationalities will come together at the world famous "Conga Room" on the evening of Friday, March 5th, 1999.

Your presence is requested at an evening where Hispanics learn that are commonalities exceed our differences, and that there is strength in unity. Less than two percent of attorneys in the United States are Hispanic. One of the goals of the Cuban American Bar Association is to build a sense of pride and encouragement amongst the Latinos of California to seek higher education. The Association awards law school scholarships to Hispanics who not only deserve it, but also who need it, thereby facilitating a legal education to individuals who will become educated voters, advocates, and ultimately law makers.

I would like to cordially invite you to attend the March 5th event, and help us promote education and unity within the legal and professional community of Cubans and other Hispanics of Los Angeles. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Elsa I. Martinez, President
Cuban American Bar Association

Dear President Clinton,

Schedule looked

I wanted to let you know about the Northern Ireland Women's Leadership 2000 Forum that I am conducting in Washington, March 13-19, 1999. An important part of the conference is to give the Assembly women an opportunity to talk with key American political leaders. Being able to spend time with you would be the highlight of their visit to Washington.

By way of background, the Leadership 2000 Forum is an advanced political training conference for the women members of the Northern Ireland Assembly. It is a follow up to the Belfast Vital Voices Conference. The Leadership 2000 Forum is designed to help the Assembly women increase their political and media skills so that they can become more visible political leaders. Their increased visibility and credibility will undoubtedly encourage more women to become politically active in Northern Ireland. It will help them make sure that the institutions created and the policies enacted by the new government meet the needs of the women, children and families in Northern Ireland.

As you know, throughout The Troubles, women in Northern Ireland played a significant, though usually unheralded, role in building grassroots support for peace. The female Assembly members have an extraordinary opportunity to continue that tradition. They are in a unique position to ensure that women are brought into the mainstream of political and economic life in the North.

Meeting with you while they are in Washington will be a significant factor in helping them realize their full potential as political leaders. I hope that you will be able to find time in your schedule to talk with the Assembly members. While Tuesday, afternoon March 16 or Wednesday March 17 would be best for us, we would naturally arrange a meeting at your convenience.

Thank you very much for your consideration of my request.

Sincerely,

Mary

Dear President Clinton:

The towns of Kendrick and Juliaetta are celebrating their 25th Anniversary of their Senior Mealsite on March 19th. We would like to invite you to be with us on this Special Day. A noon lunch will be served at the Golden Sunset Senior Center in Kendrick followed by a program with entertainment, presentations, and recognition of volunteers and the many people who have helped keep this program active through the years.

There is some information that might be helpful for you to know:

- One of the people who has been an important part of the senior mealsite is Louise Pea who started as their cook twenty-five years ago. She is known for her ability to search the community for fresh vegetables and fruits grown locally to be shared with the seniors at the mealsite. These two communities are blessed to have Louise and her husband Lyle working with this program. We hope that she may be honored in some way for all that she has done.
- There are five people who have been a part of the senior mealsite since it's beginning on March 3, 1974. Louise and Lyle Pea, Ann and Bud Fairfield, and James Bower. Many others have come and gone but these few are still there from the original group.
- The mealsite started in the old fire house on Main Street and moved to it's present location sometime in 1978. Their present building was once an old machine shop. Assisted by a grant the seniors volunteered their talents and many hours of labor to transform this building into the senior center it is today. They do not own the building. It is rented to them.
- As you know this community is a beautiful place to visit with the quaint feeling of a small farming town out of a Currier and Ives painting. With the flowing Potlatch River and the sloping ridges of the Potlatch, American, and Texas Ridges surrounding them in the natural Idaho we all love so dearly.

- The people that you will meet are a strong example of everyday Idaho residents who have helped farm the land, build the dams, log the trees, and fish the streams and rivers we love.

I hope you will let me know if you can attend. I hope that if you are absent that you would find time to send a letter or some other appropriate acknowledgment.

Sincerely yours,

Tuesday, March 16, 1999 – start time 5:00 PM
Delray T.E.E.N. Society Pregnancy Prevention Program “Kick-off”
Delray Beach, Florida

Dear President Clinton,

I understand from one of our Board members, Skeets Friedkin, that you will be in Palm Beach on Tuesday, March 16th. This is the same day that we are kicking off a new Carrera Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program in Delray Beach, which is close to the location where a luncheon is being hosted in your honor by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Simon. We would greatly appreciate the opportunity to have you as our honored guest speaker at the kick-off which begins at 5:00 p.m. An invitation for the event is attached. Your presence at this important celebration would mean a great deal to the teens in this program and their families.

As you know, the Carrera program, founded by Dr. Michael Carrera is based on “hope for the future.” The teens who were selected for this program live in a community where 80 babies were born to teens (27% of total area births). These rates are more than double the county average. The area also ranks high in low birthweight babies and juvenile justice problems. Local school attendance, graduation rates and standardized test scores are well below the County averages. The Carrera Model is specifically designed to address these problems, and these are the adolescents that the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy is targeting for effective prevention. This program is a collaboration of Planned Parenthood, the Delray Boys and Girls Club and is funded by the Children’s Services Council of Palm Beach County.

Although we are officially kicking off the program on March 16th, our staff started recruiting teens last November. I have attached a case description which we recently submitted as justification for additional grant funding for a program social worker. It describes the life of one of our teens who attempted suicide. It describes a very hopeless existence but for the fact that he has bonded with the program staff who are advocating on his behalf and at every chance convey that there is hope. If you could find time in your schedule to stop by the Delray Boys and Girls Club, where this program takes place, and meet this child and the others this program serves, you will profoundly reinforce that there really is hope for their future!

In 1995 (our latest statistics), for every dollar Florida spent on expenditures to support families begun by teens, it spent less than one cent on investments to prevent teen pregnancy. You have consistently pointed out the fiscal and social short-sightedness of this policy and programmatic approach. Planned Parenthood has taken the leadership to spearhead two local community teen pregnancy prevention coalitions, one in Broward County and the other in Palm Beach County. The Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy which is modeled after the National Campaign is in its second year. A prospectus of the Campaign is also enclosed.

In the summer of '96, Dr. Michael Carrera was selected by the White House to join you when you announced your request for $30 million in your FY 97 budget to fund promising strategies to reduce adolescent pregnancy. At that time you quoted Pearl Buck, by saying "If our American way of life fails the child, it fails us all." The American way of life is failing many children in our neighborhoods. We are inviting our community to "Adopt a T.E.E.N." [see enclosed invitation]. I am positive that your support will ensure that many more of our 'teens' will be 'adopted'. We have an in-house public relations person to promote and publicize the event as well as a large group of loyal and enthusiastic volunteers.

I have enclosed a package of information that will explain the T.E.E.N. Society program, together with some newspaper articles that highlight the kickoff and first birthday celebration of the Hollywood Carrera program which was the first program of its kind in the state.

I understand that demands on your time are enormous. However, I sincerely hope that you can allocate some of that precious time and accept our earnest invitation.

Respectfully,

What Is the Broward Campaign?

Established in 1997, the Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy is a county-wide, nonprofit, nonpartisan initiative to prevent teen pregnancy. Modeled after the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy, the Broward Campaign is funded entirely through donations and grants.

Why Do We Need It?

As a community, we face a monumental problem with teen pregnancy. More than 1,900 babies were born to teenagers in Broward County in 1996. Teen pregnancy brings high risk for everyone involved, especially the young mother and her baby. That high risk most often translates to a high cost for taxpayers. In fact, teen pregnancies bear staggering long-term costs, both economically and socially, for every member of our community.

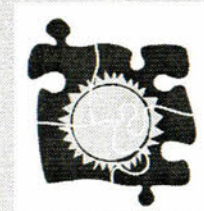

Studies indicate that no single effort can effectively reduce the rate of teen pregnancies. Solutions must be collaborative and supported by all, regardless of race, religion, politics, culture and social values. However, until this campaign, there had been no focused and cohesive effort to allow the different factions of our community to work together as one for the prevention of teen pregnancy.

Our Mission and Goal

The mission of the Broward Campaign is to prevent teen pregnancy by supporting values and encouraging actions that are consistent with a pregnancy-free adolescence. The campaign's goal is to reduce the teen pregnancy rate in this community by 1/3 by the year 2002. (The national goal is 1/3 by the year 2005.)

StatisticStatisticStatistics that Count

- Broward County ranks #3 in Florida for the number of teen births.
- More than 1900 babies were born to Broward teens in 1996; 145 of the mothers were 15 or younger.
- In 1997, there were 427 repeat births to Broward teens aged 15 to 19.
- In 1997, Broward communities with the highest births per 1,000 teens (151-219) were in neighborhoods with residents at or below the poverty level.
- 60% of all Fort Lauderdale teens have had intercourse; 39% are presently active.
- If this trend continues, the number of sexually active teens would be staggering when you consider the teen population in Broward is expected to grow by more than 52% by 2010.
- One in five babies born to Broward teens suffered from some abnormal condition.
- 96% of teenage girls surveyed said "being informed about sex, pregnancy, birth control and the responsibility of caring for a baby" would help curb teenage pregnancy rates.

Campaign Values

Every aspect of the campaign strives to follow six main principles:

- Understanding for diverse views
- Impartiality
- Cooperation with existing organizations
- Acknowledgment of the interrelationship between poverty and teen pregnancy
- Dedication to proven training and research methods
- Commitment to direct prevention efforts for both boys and girls

Leading the Way

Leadership is what the Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy is all about. It takes the form of five separate task forces comprised of leaders from various groups in our community, all working together toward our common goal.

- Local Collaborative Action Task Force defines, coordinates and leverages community resources marked for teen pregnancy prevention
- Effective Programs and Research Task Force contributes necessary research, evaluation, and sources of experts and funding
- Media Task Force encourages and coordinates supportive media campaign
- Religious and Public Values Task Force fosters open discussions to identify barriers that impede progress to the goal and to share programs that work to reach the goal
- Corporate Task Force encourages participation from community business leaders by offering career awareness, mentoring and job opportunities for our teens, and supporting a forum to educate and teach their working parents.

Working Strategy

Among our five task forces, we employ a five-point strategy for teen pregnancy prevention in Broward:

- Make a strong commitment to prevent teen pregnancy and attract powerful allies to the cause
- Secure media support
- Initiate and promote state and community action
- Launch a county-wide discussion of the function of religion, culture, and public values, seeking to establish common ground
- Ensure that all efforts rely upon the most accurate information available

Funding Opportunities

Why should you support The Broward Campaign? Your reasons may be personal, but consider the following:

- You agree with the mission of the campaign to prevent teen pregnancy by supporting values and encouraging actions that are consistent with a pregnancy-free adolescence;
- You recognize the problem of teen pregnancies and understand that the consequences are serious and contribute to many of our community's enduring social problems;
- You recognize that current efforts addressing the problem of teen pregnancies are fragmented, and you want to help support a community-based effort to reduce teen pregnancy;
- You recognize that the knowledge base of how to reduce teen pregnancy through community-based programs needs to be strengthened;
- You share our concern and care about our community's teens;
- You simply want to help.

is the Most Powerful Contraceptive.

Thousands of Broward County teenagers are growing up without hope and having babies — a devastating combination which feeds off of itself. In 1996 alone, 1,913 unwed teenage girls in Broward had babies, and 169 of the mothers were under 15. For every five teens who had a baby, four more had abortions, and one miscarried. Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) are perhaps even more frightening. The number of STDs in Broward surpassed national figures last year, and in Fort Lauderdale, AIDS is the leading killer of young men and women. Most contracted the virus as teens.

What is the Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society?

The Hollywood T.E.E.N. (Teen Education for Every Nationality) Society is a holistic teen pregnancy prevention and youth development program based on a successful concept developed by Dr. Michael Carrera. It focuses on teens at risk who face many obstacles, often including being children of teen parents themselves. Through long-term, holistic, caring involvement in these children's lives, the Carrera model aims to break the cycle of hopelessness, poverty and teen parenthood. Teens in the program stay in school longer, delay sexual activity longer, and attend college at higher rates than their peers, both locally and nationally. Fewer than two percent of female participants become pregnant annually, versus 22 percent in many of the most at-risk communities; and these young people are more likely to have bank accounts and a higher level of employment.

The program's "above the waist" approach to pregnancy prevention encourages abstinence and involves a comprehensive blend of regular healthcare, counseling, educational services, sports, self-expression training, family life/sex education, and job assistance. The staff are trained to treat participants as if they were their own children. Ultimately participants learn to view life more positively. They finish the program armed with the confidence, knowledge and personal skills to help them break out of poverty without the burden of teen parenthood.

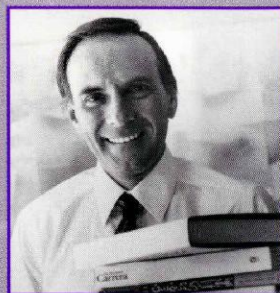

Why Broward County, Florida?

Because of its staggering teen pregnancy and STD rates, Broward County was selected as one of seven sites in the country, and the only one in the Southeast, to begin the program this fall. The area surrounding the Hollywood Boys & Girls Club is particularly high-risk, marked by Broward's third highest rate of teen pregnancy and infant mortality. That's where the program will begin.

Who will be helped?

The Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society, based at the Hollywood Boys & Girls Club, will serve 50 teens, aged 13 to 15, who live near the Club. Using a random-assignment design will make the project one of fewer than 10 teen pregnancy prevention programs nationally with that level of scientifically credible evaluation data.

Based on results of the Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society, the Carrera model will be implemented in other South Florida neighborhoods. Our entire community stands to benefit from this program.

About Dr. Carrera

Dr. Michael A. Carrera is director of the Children's Aid Society's Bernice and Milton Stern National Training Center for Adolescent Sexuality and Family Life Education in New York City. In 1984 he founded the nationally acclaimed Carrera Model of Teen Pregnancy Prevention. Because of his extensive work in this field, he is recognized as a long-standing champion of adolescent wellness throughout the United States. Dr. Carrera will be personally involved in implementing the Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society.

-- Dr. Michael A. Carrera, Founder
The Carrera Model of Teen Pregnancy Prevention

In 1984, the Children's Aid Society (CAS) of New York implemented a teen pregnancy prevention program for high-risk adolescents in Harlem. Known nationally as the "Carrera Model" after its founder, Dr. Michael A. Carrera, Director of CAS, this abstinence-based program offers a nurturing, holistic and long-term approach to teenage pregnancy prevention. The goal of this phenomenally successful program is to reduce teen pregnancy, not so much by preaching against sex, as by creating a vision for the future through five program components and two support services that assist teens in their efforts to succeed. As the leading reproductive health care provider and advocate, Planned Parenthood applied for an opportunity to replicate this program in partnership with the Hollywood Boys & Girls Club, Broward Employment Training Administration and FAU's Institute for Career & Employment Training. After an intensive screening process, Planned Parenthood was selected as one of only seven agencies in the United States and the only agency in the state of Florida to participate in this three-year national pilot project. The Hollywood program has shown excellent results and we are now proud to invite you to the kick-off of our second Carrera site in Delray Beach.

Get a life before creating one. Sounds simple. Most of us try to do it. But if you're a dirt-poor kid with nothing going for you, achieving it can loom as dauntingly as the Himalayas.

Michael Carrera knows that. He also knows that the only way to help such kids is to offer a strong hand up. The child who sees himself or herself going to college or pursuing a career is less likely to jeopardize that future with an unwanted pregnancy.

Fran

Surrounded by preteens at the Riviera Beach Boys and Girls Club recently, Dr. Carrera surveyed the latest children to get this chance. The Carrera Model, a pregnancy-prevention program he developed in New York 15 years ago, is under way in Palm Beach County.

Nationwide, 48 programs operate in such cities as Des Moines, Indianapolis and Omaha. Now, they have come to Riviera Beach, Delray Beach and Belle Glade. They're comprehensive and expensive. The Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County is investing $400,000. But if successful, the money saved will be infinitely greater.

So how's this for success? Researchers tracking Dr. Carrera's New York City programs found that pregnancy rates were one-fourth what could be expected; fewer boys fathered children; and school dropout rates declined. If results of a seven-city study are as good, Dr. Carrera won't hesitate to ask his old friend Donna Shalala, secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services, for a federal grant to reach more children.

A new program in Riviera Beach, Delray Beach and Belle Glade attacks teen pregnancy by creating in kids a sense of hope.

Dr. Carrera, professor emeritus of health sciences at Hunter College, began directing adolescent sexuality and pregnancy prevention programs for the Children's Aid Society in New York in 1970. By 1987, when he received the Robert Wood Johnson Medical School Award for Outstanding Contribution to Sexuality Education, he had received many honors.

Today, he shares credit for that acclaim with the kids who taught him, poor kids he met as a new teacher in urban schools in the 1960s. They may have been bored with math, but they were intrigued with life — relationships, love, sex. Impressed with their interest and appalled at their ignorance, Dr. Carrera looked, unsuccessfully, for information. He has since written five books.

The short, wiry New Yorker believes young people need concise and consistent guidance, positive reinforcement, a healthy and nurturing environment, structure and clear limits, quality academics and a clear understanding of appropriate sexual behavior. His programs offer health services, mental health counseling, job services, creative arts programs and sex education for parents as well as children.

Children selected for the program are those least likely to succeed — kids at promise rather than kids at risk, Dr. Carrera calls them. They get limited attention at home, do poorly in school, aren't in sports or clubs and come from single-parent homes where substance abuse and/or violence are common. They must commit to the program for three years. Parents must be involved. In Riviera Beach, the program has 28 girls and boys; in Delray Beach, 33; in Belle Glade, 22. Planned Parenthood of Palm Beach and the Treasure Coast Area and of Boca/Broward are working with the Florida State and Boys and Girls Clubs.

How many kids with no hope today are offspring of people who were once kids with no hope? Plenty — which shows the need for Dr. Carrera's above-the-waist approach to pregnancy prevention. He believes that lasting change in young people's lives comes only from a sustained effort, with people who offer constant support and whatever services are necessary. How else to counter what he describes as an American society both sex-saturated and sex-repressed?

The most potent contraceptive you can give kids, he says, is to help them believe they are valuable. No preaching. Just promise.

Teen pregnancy-prevention effort a success at Boys and Girls Club

By D. AILEEN DODD
Herald Staff Writer

A year after an innovative national pregnancy prevention program for students was launched at the Hollywood Boys and Girls Club, none of the teens who enrolled in it have become parents.

On Wednesday, Dr. Michael Carrera, director of Children's Aid Society of New York and the program's founder, came to the Hollywood club to celebrate the successful year.

"I am very pleased to say there have been no pregnancies at the Hollywood site," Carrera said.

"Hope has a contraceptive effect."

The club, attended by 2,000 children, was selected in 1997 to take part in the project, Hollywood TEEN (Teen Education for Every Nationality) Society. Planned Parenthood of South Palm Beach and Broward County administers the project.

Program administrators hired a staff of about a dozen adults and selected 100 students age 13 to 15 to participate in the scientific study, which is funded by a grant from the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation of New York.

Half of the students received the Carrera Model for Teenage Pregnancy, which keeps teens busy learning about themselves and planning careers as a way to prevent pregnancy.

The other 50 students, part of the control group, participated in regular club activities.

"The boys and girls at the ages of 13 and 14 continued to abstain from sex, while the boys and girls in the control group had higher rates of initiating sexual activity," Carrera said.

The study will continue for two more years comparing the groups.

"The kids know they are going some place; they are improving their grades. They got jobs, bank accounts," said Marilyn Bonilla Krantz, president and chief executive officer of Planned Parenthood of South Palm Beach. "The kids and the staff in one year nurtured a parallel family."

TEEN Society participants Luis Morales of Hollywood and Cassandy Francois of Miramar earned money working at a day-care last summer. It was the boys' first job.

"It was hard waking up every morning during the summer," Francois said.

By the end of the summer Morales had saved $850. Francois had saved $600.

"I've got $40 now," Morales said. "I spent the money on contacts, hair cuts, clothes for school and stuff I needed."

Francois still has $200. "I want to save for a car."

The model is used in 48 community centers across the nation, 12 of which are part of the scientific study.

Planned Parenthood was selected as the only agency in the Southeastern United States to participate in the study. In South Florida, the program is spreading to centers in Belle Glade, Riviera Beach, Delray Beach, Lauderdale and Deerfield Beach.

"The kids come to us and say 'I'm thinking about having sex, should I do it?'" Carrera said. "We won't try to change their minds. We ask them do they want to become parents. What we don't want is to have a young person make a decision to have intercourse and be secret about it."

Hyacinthe Stewart of Hollywood, who received an award Wednesday, has two children in TEEN Society.

"I'm a widow," she said. "Thank God for the staff at TEEN Society. They are my son's role model."

WAY TO GO: Dr. Michael Carrera, right, of the Children's Aid Society shakes hands with Joed Guzman of Hollywood at the Boys and Girls Club.

HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS

The Carrera Model of Teenage Pregnancy Prevention focuses on the following steps to keep students from wanting to become parents too soon:

- Access to medical and mental health care services.
- 24-hour contact with staff at home or at work.
- Tutoring.
- Recreational activities and sports to emphasize discipline and self-control.

- Self-esteem building and creative expression through arts.
- Age appropriate one-on-one family life and sexual education.
- Career guidance and job training.

Change 'at-risk' to 'at-promise' by helping combat teen pregnancy

To many people, teen-agers like Amy and Juan are "at-risk." The names are made up but they symbolize many real kids. Usually, but not always, they are a racial minority, poor, on welfare and are being raised by an unwed mother. Usually, they do poorly in school, lack positive adult role models, and have little hope of getting a diploma, a job or otherwise succeeding in life. Their self-image is rock-bottom.

Amy and Juan probably will start having sex too young, have unprotected sex and thus risk AIDS and pregnancy.

To sex educator Dr. Michael Carrera, Amy and Juan are not "at-risk"; they are "at-promise." With proper help, he believes, they carry the promise of delaying sex until they grow up and boosting their chances to succeed in life. To turn that promise into reality, he has brought his acclaimed Carrera Model of Teen-age Pregnancy Prevention to South Florida.

The region should welcome the chance to be in a national spotlight while testing his innovative and effective program, proven in 22 cities and praised by President Clinton as a national model.

On Wednesday, 50 teen-agers took a pledge to say no to sex and yes to responsibility. They agreed to join the Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society at the Hollywood Boys and Girls Club. T.E.E.N. stands for Teen Education for Every Nationality.

Under Carrera's guidance, the program is being conducted by Planned Parenthood of South Palm Beach and Broward Counties. This "above the waist" approach gives teens what he calls "the most potent contraceptive" — the belief that they are valuable and have hope for a bright future.

It's a comprehensive, long-term, multi-part, collaborative and holistic program, bringing structure, accomplishment, personal responsibility and purpose to teens. They get health care and psychological counseling, help with homework, tutoring and admission to college. They participate in sports to develop self-discipline and impulse control. They flex creative muscles through arts programs. They get help with job interviewing and training skills. And they get intensive sex education.

Last year, 35,000 teen-age girls became pregnant statewide. A total of 1,913 teens gave birth in Broward County, 1,367 in Palm Beach County and 3,838 in Dade County. Many of them were younger than 15. Florida spent $1.2 million in 1996 on children of teen parents.

Elsewhere, "Carrera kids" were far less likely to be sexually active or cause a pregnancy, use alcohol or drugs or commit crimes. They were far more likely to stay in school, get diplomas and go on to college. They improved their behavior and showed more self-esteem and a more positive outlook on life.

So far, the local three-year pilot program only has $131,000 and needs $150,000 more just for the first year, plus $560,000 more for the next two years. Local businesses, civic associations, government agencies, foundations and individual donors should contribute generously to help let the program operate for the full three years, thereby increasing its chances of success. Amy and Juan need all the help they can get.

Project aims at teen pregnancy

Program offers activities for youth and parents

By DOUGLAS C. LYONS
Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Timothy Rheinsmith, 13, is one of 50 youngsters in Broward County who will soon give up their afternoons to help prevent teen pregnancy.

"I signed up the first day," the seventh grader said on Monday afternoon.

Rheinsmith's enthusiasm is something officials of the Hollywood T.E.E.N. Society hope will make the three-year project a success and cut unwanted pregnancies in South Florida.

The program, which will start on Wednesday at the Hollywood Boys and Girls Club, is modeled after the Carrera Program. That New York City project touts abstinence while offering youths and their parents support to keep adolescents' mind off sex.

"We look at young people through a certain lens," Dr. Michael A. Carrera, the program's founder, told an audience at the club. "That is all young people are: 'at-promise' and not 'at-risk.' Everyday, our language and our action says that they are capable of great things."

Carrera recently selected Planned Parenthood of South Palm Beach and Broward Counties as one of 12 pilot programs across the country for demonstration projects to prove that a long-term commitment to teen-agers can prevent unwanted pregnancies.

When the New York program started in 1984, only six of 170 teenage girls became pregnant during the first five years.

Only two of 175 boys fathered children during that same period.

Carrera hopes to duplicate that success in other cities, to curb an outbreak of unwanted teen pregnancies.

"We're in a situation where we can't afford not to do it," he said. "Orthodoxy has failed. There are 1,300 youth [nationwide] who give birth every day. These aren't 1970 figures, they haunt us today."

The pilot project is the only one in South Florida and is paid for by $212,000 in money or in kind services from several organizations, including the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, the Children's Aid Society and the Boys and Girls Club of Hollywood at 1111 N. 69th Way.

The project requires teen-agers and their parents to participate in several afternoon activities, including job skills development, sex education classes, mental health counseling and a creative arts program.

The Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy

A Brief Prospectus

This prospectus briefly lays out the rationale and need for a local campaign, describes its mission and proposed activities, and its initial organizational structure. This local campaign and prospectus is modeled after a national initiative to bring business, media, community and government leaders together to design an integrative approach and a campaign to prevent teen pregnancy. This document is intended as a proposed starting point for group discussion and further development.

Why the Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy?

There are at least eight reasons to mount a local campaign:

1. The magnitude of the problem is significant

- More than 40 percent of young women in the United States become pregnant each year before they reach age 20, producing the highest teenage pregnancy rate of any industrialized nation. In 1988, the teenage pregnancy rate in the United States was more than twice that of England and Wales, and almost ten times that of Japan.
- In Broward County last year, 1,836 babies were born to unwed, teenage girls.
- Twenty-one percent of teens who have had sexual intercourse became pregnant in 1995. Eighty-five percent of those pregnancies were reported as unintended.
- Two-thirds of teenage mothers in Florida do not provide information about the father on the birth certificate.
- In Broward County, the number of teenagers is expected to grow by more than 52% by 2010.

In the face of these high rates generally, and the poor position of the United States in particular, many have asked what the underlying causes may be. Although many explanations are often cited, the truth is that no solid evidence is available to answer this question.

2. The consequences of teenage pregnancy and child-bearing are serious and contribute to many of our community's enduring social problems. With a federally mandated teenage pregnancy prevention component of welfare reform, new block grants, Medicaid reform and a general demand for community collaborative efforts to name just a few trends, the timing for launching a local Campaign is excellent.

3. The public is deeply concerned about the current state of the family in America, and sees teenage pregnancy as an important part of a larger crisis in values and community well-being. These somewhat diffuse but powerful concerns are not being channeled into useful action. We have access to a national campaign model that we can modify to meet our local needs. The national call for local campaigns also provides a framework for action.

4. There is a need to recruit community leaders willing to state forcefully and repeatedly that we must address teenage pregnancy and that our community must take collective and organized action to address this serious social problem. We need a collective voice to state that as a community we consider teen pregnancy prevention as a top priority.

5. Reducing teenage pregnancy requires the help and power of the media, but forging partnerships with the media is a community task that individual organizations cannot do alone. A collective call for media support is more compelling and newsworthy.

6. Although there are several community groups, organizations and efforts focused on reducing teenage pregnancy and coordinating resources, they are currently fragmented and lack a broad base of support, and visibility.

7. Even though major disagreements about values and behavior often impede our ability to take action to reduce teen pregnancy, there is at present no organized local dialogue on these issues, and no organized and systematic effort to build common ground and to search for ways to move forward.

8. The knowledge base of how to reduce teenage pregnancy through community-based programs needs to be strengthened. This will require new investments in program evaluation and more effort to put current knowledge in the hands of service providers. There is at present no leadership organization in place that regularly convenes local investigators, evaluates their results using strong scientific standards, synthesizes and distributes their findings, alerts funding entities of new ideas and findings emerging from the field, and identifies critical gaps.

Mission and Goal: The mission of this campaign is to prevent teen pregnancy by supporting values and stimulating actions that are consistent with a pregnancy-free adolescence. The campaign's goal is to reduce the teen pregnancy rate in this community by 1/3 by the year 2002 (The National Goal is 1/3 by the year 2005).

Strategy:

The Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy will:

- ♦ Bring community leaders together to develop a common vision for accomplishing our campaign mission.
- ♦ Lead a local discussion about the role of religion, culture, and public values in an effort to build common ground.
- ♦ Define and coordinate the community's teen pregnancy prevention resources.

- ♦ Assure that the community's efforts are based on knowledge about what works.
- ♦ Design a Community Communication Campaign to promote adolescent wellness/prevention of teen pregnancy.
- ♦ Approach major local and national foundations for joint organizational and programmatic funding in an effort to leverage community dollars.
- ♦ Enlist the help of the media to reach our target audiences.

Structure:

The Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy will establish the following Task Forces:

Media Task Force to oversee an ambitious and multifaceted media campaign to reduce teenage pregnancy by:

- Educating media leaders generally about teenage pregnancy in order to gain their interest and cooperation, and to broaden the varieties of media drawn into the cause of reducing teenage pregnancy.
- Encouraging the incorporation of messages that support teenage pregnancy prevention and teen wellness into many types of media programming (radio, television, magazines, movies), but especially entertainment programming.
- Developing a series of well-researched and targeted public service announcements (PSA's) that are distributed widely over a long period of time.

Local Collaborative Action Task Force to define and coordinate the community's teen pregnancy prevention resources by:

- Identifying existing community efforts to coordinate teen pregnancy prevention resources and action plans.
- Develop a comprehensive model (Carrera as a base) for teen pregnancy prevention program classification, design and coordination.
- Define gaps in community services and programs.
- Approach major local and national foundations for joint organizational and programmatic funding.

Religious and Public Values Task Force to stimulate an explicit discussion of the underlying disagreements and differences that often impede progress in reducing teen pregnancy by:

- Convening groups with differing views to discuss their perspectives about the role of religion, culture and public values in reducing teen pregnancy.

Effective Programs and Research Task Force to assure the community's efforts are based on knowledge of what works by:

- Identifying existing teen pregnancy prevention program research/evaluation efforts.
- Identifying local teen pregnancy prevention program research experts.

Other Organizational Matters

- Establish an Organizational Committee to coordinate the campaign start-up.
- Establish a Budget Committee to identify campaign costs.
- Establish a Development Committee to help ensure adequate, long-term funding for the campaign.
- Establish two advisory panels, one of parents and one of teens.
- Establish a set of affiliated organizations and individuals ("Campaign Affiliates") who support the overall mission of the campaign.
- Define the lifespan of the campaign.
- Discuss the staffing and corporate identity/association for the campaign.

In Summary

The Broward Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy will fill an important leadership void in our community. It will stimulate organized action in our community to reduce teen pregnancy, elicit the support of the media, strengthen the knowledge base for community intervention, and open a dialog on issues of religion, culture and public values as they relate to teen pregnancy. This is a call for leadership to make it happen-- to collectively create a vision for how we as a community are going to reduce teen pregnancy and measure the results of this Campaign.

Agency Name: Planned Parenthood of South Palm Beach and Broward Counties, Inc.
Program Name: Delray Beach T.E.E.N. Society

15. Provide a case study. Explain specifically how a real person or family was helped by the program. If the program has not yet begun operation, write "N/A" in the space.

The Delray Beach T.E.E.N. Society began serving 35 extremely high risk African American youth from an isolated, underserved, impoverished neighborhood at the Delray Beach Boys & Girls Club in November, 1998. The intensive, comprehensive youth development program provides family life education, employment preparation, and educational, arts and sports activities after school, five days a week. Parents are encouraged to be involved. Health care services will begin shortly. The program is in dire need of additional services to ensure that this program model succeeds in Delray Beach as it has elsewhere with youth who come from similar difficult circumstances. The services for which funding is not yet available are: mental health/social work services; daily monitoring and follow-up with strong, ongoing connections to participants' homes and community; computer training; and tutoring.

Joe, (not his real name) is a 15 year old participant in the Delray Beach T.E.E.N. Society. He lives near the Boys & Girls Club with his mother, who is addicted to crack cocaine. As she is unemployed and unable to manage money, the family struggles to make ends meet. Supervision, guidance and stability are not available in the home. Joe's father, who lives nearby, is involved in his life on a regular basis. He is employed as a nurses aide at a local hospital. He would like Joe to live with him, and to attain full custody. However, Joe's mother will not consider this. The family situation has been a source of constant chaos, stress and growing hopelessness for Joe.

Joe has much to gain from all of the program components of the T.E.E.N. Society. He is failing in school and is not oriented toward future employment satisfaction and self-sufficiency. His poor knowledge of sexuality, personal health and family life is alarming. His use of free time is not productive or positive. He needs regular health care and an understanding of achieving and maintaining well-being. His self-esteem and self-discipline are very poor.

In the short time since November that the program has been in operation, Joe has shown improvement in some areas. He has responded to the program's opportunity to fill his many needs for help, activities and a "parallel family" by attending very regularly and bonding with the Program Coordinator. The Coordinator was therefore surprised when Joe stopped attending a few weeks ago. She followed up with the family but was unable to obtain any information on him. Finally, she received a telephone call from Joe, who apologized to her for his absence and asked if could return. He had been hospitalized for a suicide attempt..

Without the critical onsite, culturally relevant and "youth-friendly" mental health/social work services and a staff member to build and maintain strong ties to participants' homes that the program now lacks, Joe's ability to benefit from the other program components, and the chances for his future as a whole, will be severely compromised. Unfortunately, Joe is by far not the only Delray T.E.E.N. Society participant in desperate need of the missing mental health, social work and home liaison services. 20% of the participants have been identified as suffering from significant emotional and or medical problems. Because of the barriers of culture, fear or hostility toward government programs, inexperience with counseling, and general lack of rapport with adults, these issues often go unnoticed and are not effectively treated by service providers in traditional after school program settings.

Therefore, the help of the United Way is critically needed to provide missing essential service components to the Delray T.E.E.N. Society. The investment will be returned manyfold in the promising futures of the participants who are drawn to and counting on this program to change the course of their lives.

Dear Friend:

On behalf of President Clinton, thank you for inviting the President to attend Motherhead/Fatheread of Forsyth County's reception on May 4, 1999 in North Carolina.

The tremendous demands on the President's schedule do not permit the White House to honor your request. Please know that your request was given full consideration and that President Clinton appreciates your interest.

Once again, thank you for contacting the White House.

February 24, 1999

Dear President Clinton:

It has been an exciting year for MOTHERHEAD, Inc.! The founder Nancye Brown Gaj received the National Humanities Medal in November at the White House. She was presented the medal by President Clinton who said, "Gaj has unleashed the power of family reading in schools and homes all across America [and is] a true revolutionary of literacy."

On Tuesday, May 4, 1999, MOTHERHEAD/FATHERHEAD of Forsyth County, Inc., will host a reception to recognize Ms. Gaj and to introduce her to our community. We are inviting a few of MOTHERHEAD'S special friends from Winston-Salem and Forsyth County to serve as co-hosts for this event. Because of your long-time support of and interest in the MOTHERHEAD literacy program, we would like to invite you to be among this distinctive company.

Your duties as co-host will include allowing your name to be placed on the invitation as a co-host and attending the reception if at all possible. The reception will be held at Forsyth County Public Library, 660 W. 5th Street, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. Ms. Gaj will be introduced by a representative from the North Carolina Humanities Council and will speak about MOTHERHEAD and the future.

We hope that you and a guest will be able to join us on May 4, 1999. We ask that you let us know by Monday March 1, 1999 if you are willing to have your name placed on the invitation as a co-host for this event. Above all, your presence along with that of other friends will ensure that the evening will be a meaningful tribute to Nancye Gaj and the Forsyth County MR/FR program. Please feel free to call me at 722-1642. Your answer will be gratefully received.

Enclosed, please find our MR/FR brochure. Thank you for your time and consideration of our request.

Respectfully,

Kris Jonczak

As we look forward to our Tenth Anniversary of the African American Festival of Academic to be held Saturday, May 15, 1999, at the Richard Montgomery High School, athletic field, we are reminded of the excellent turnout of students family, friends and well-wisher's, at the 1998 festival. A total of 3,500 students were celebrated for their outstanding academic achievements with total attendance at approximately 10,000. FESTIVAL IS FREE TO ALL.

The AAFAE would be honored to have you as guest speaker during our A.M. Program. Your presence would be a great inspiration to these young achiever's. Our mission for the past ten years has been to encourage and recognize the academic achievements of all African American students in Montgomery County.

Our goal is to establish positive role models for young people to emulate. By doing so, we are helping to create a strong educational foundation on which the African American community can build. We know, "That it Takes a Village to Raise a Child", and that we perform a vital service to the community.

FREE WORKSHOPS

During 1997, the festival also began a new venture by offering a series of free workshops to the community, covering topics of mutual interest to all Montgomery County residents and anyone with interest.

MCEA AWARD

Exciting news, November 1998, the Montgomery County Board of Education presented to the African American Festival of Academic Excellence, it's Distinguished Service to Public Education Award for exemplary contribution to the public education in the Montgomery County.

Feds Reviewing Gerrymandering Charges

Federal education officials are investigating complaints filed by some parents who claim Montgomery County school officials violated federal civil rights laws by creating a new elementary school district in Silver Spring. The parents allege that the new boundaries further segregate by socioeconomic status New Hampshire and Oak View elementary schools where 90 percent of the students are members of minority groups, are overwhelmingly poor and need help with the English language. Redistricting also created a third elementary school, Blair, where a large portion of the student population will also be minorities and are poor enough to receive lunch subsidies.

Montgomery County school officials deny the gerrymandering charges.

Info Available on New Prepaid College Program

Maryland's new prepaid college trust program, designed to help parents with college tuition for their children, is now accepting applications. The deadline is June 30.

Recently enacted by the state, the program will help parents save for rising college tuition - in advance of their child's enrollment - at one of Maryland's public colleges and universities. Open to all families, the program offers different tuition plans depending on the school the student enrolls in as well as different payment options.

Education Notes Additional information about the new college tuition initiative to parents and students will be provided in a series of forums this month. The remaining dates and time are 7 to 8:30 p.m. on June 10, at Sherwood High School, and June 11 at Walter Johnson High School.

Springbrook Student is New Board Member

Geonard Butler, an 11th grade student at Springbrook High School, is the new student member of the Montgomery County Board of Education. His term will begin on July 1. Among Butler's many leadership positions are executive board member and public relations coordinator of the Maryland Association of Student Councils and vice president of B.R.O.T.H.E.R.S. Inc. He serves on the youth advisory committee to the county executive and has been a mentor at Cannon Road Elementary School since 1996. He also is active in student music and drama programs at Springbrook.

Honors

Montgomery County Teacher of the Year. David Chia, a fourth grade teacher at Georgian Forest Elementary School is Montgomery County Public School's "Teacher of the Year." After winning the Agnes Meyer Outstanding Teacher award earlier this spring, Chia is the only MCPS teacher to win both major teacher awards in the same year.

Physics Fanatics at Wootton. The Wootton High School senior physics team outscored 91 other teams across the United States to win the national championship in the open division of a rigorous test that measures engineering aptitude and skills. The team members are: Sam Blasak, Jack Chuang, Catherine Delbel, Annie Huang, Adit Kooval, Sunia Liang, Bryan Wang, and Jennie Yoon.

North Chevy Chase Webmasters. A team of five sixth graders at North Chevy Chase Elementary School won third place for webpage development from ThinkQuest Junior, an Internet learning program. Under the guidance of NCC computer lab instructor Patrick Ostrom, the team's "Kid's Consumer Corner" was selected as one of 77 finalists in the nation. NCC was the only school in Maryland to enter the contest. Team members are Payton Baron, John Cornwell, Ben Jaskiewicz, Rebecca Herring and Alex Whitnall. Ostrom won $4,000 and each team member won $2,000.

Nutrition Personnel Honored. In a salute to school food and nutrition services personnel, the Montgomery County Board of Education recently recognized the achievements of several employees: Linda Haynes, special education assistant; Judy King, food services satellite manager; and Estella Konche, food services satellite manager.

Also recognized were Linda Shimulunas, quality control assistant; Loring Triplett Jr., food services sanitation technician; Ruth Turner, cafeteria manager; and Alice Williams, cafeteria worker.

Academic Festival Honors Black Excellence

More than 3,500 elementary and secondary honor students who attend Montgomery County Public Schools were recognized at the ninth annual African American Festival of Academic Excellence.

History

In 1989, a group of concerned African Americans sought to fill a need whereby African American Students in the Montgomery County Public Schools System would be recognized for their academic achievements. Thus the African American Festival of Academic Excellence was born.

Since 1990, we have recognized the academic achievements of thousands of students and hope to continue this tradition well into the 21st century.

General Meeting

Meetings are held every second Thursday at Richard Montgomery High School, 250 Richard Montgomery Drive, Rockville, at 7:00 p.m.

The Festival is held annually on the third Saturday of May at Richard Montgomery High School. Outstanding students from grades three to twelve who attend Montgomery County Public Schools receive medals, certificates and cash awards.

We invite family, friends, educators, community leaders, politicians and anyone else interested in the academic achievement of African American students. Admission is free.

Dear Ms. Izing:

On behalf of President Clinton, thank you for inviting the President to attend Cub Scout Pack 850's Blue and Gold Banquet and Bridging Ceremony on February 27, 1999 in California.

The tremendous demands on the President's schedule did not permit him to accept your invitation. Please know your request was given full consideration and that President Clinton appreciates your interest. Additionally, I have forwarded your request for a special letter to the Office of Presidential Letters and Messages for their consideration.

Once again, thank you for contacting the White House.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. President:

We are having a Blue & Gold Ceremony for the Cub Scouts 69th Birthday. The Cub Scouts would be honored if you could come and celebrate with us. You will be able to see the Cub Scouts get their awards. They will receive the Rank of Bobcat, Wolf, Bear or Webelo. We have worked hard to earn all these awards. Some of the things we learn is to be good citizens, to be fair and have good sportsmanship, to be respectful to others, to wear our uniform proudly because we are Cub Scouts !!

We hope you can come, but if you can't, could you write a letter to Pack 850, because the Scouts would really enjoy hearing from you.

Thank You!
The Cub Scouts Of Pack 850

Written by Nandor Izing, 11 years old, Webelo, Arrow of Light

P.S. Dear Mr. President,

I am very proud of the Scouts in Pack 850. I have been working very hard for the past 5 years to plan and provide this program to the boys. I have enjoyed all the events throughout the years, even though it has consumed much of my time, but I believe in the principals of the Scouting Program. We've learned a lot and have had a lot of fun. I expect "my Scouts" will be better citizens, respectful and honest. We have made many friends, but even more treasured, made many memories together. At the Blue & Gold Banquet, I will have the honor of Bridging Over 5 Webelo Scouts, to Boy Scouts, all who have earned the highest award in Cub Scouting, the Arrow of Light. They are all looking down the Scouting Trail toward Eagle Scout. I'm sure they will all achieve their goals. It would bring a great honor and something to look up to, if you could send these boys a note of congratulations for their achievements, a note of encouragement, to continue to strive for their goals.

I respectfully thank you, Mr. President. My family visited your boy-hood town of Hot Springs, Arkansas this summer. We took pictures in front of all the signs that mentioned you, as well as the home you lived in. My son, Nandor thought it was pretty "cool" to see first hand where the President lived. He felt a special privilege to be able to visit, all the way from California, and share it with his classmates!

Sincerely,
Lisa K. Izing, Committee Chair

The San Jose Police Department has a Youth Court Program that serves as a diversion for first time offenders to the juvenile justice system. This year we have also initiated an aggressive anti-violence presentation dealing with school violence. The presentation takes the form of a mock trial where a student is the victim of a hazing incident and results to violence to solve the problem. We demonstrate what happens in the criminal justice system as a result of the violence and then initiate a discussion of the alternatives. The students act as the prosecutors, defence and jury, we would like to invite you to be the " Judge." The available dates this semester are March 3rd, March 31st and May 5th. Some of these dates are flexible to accomodate your schedule. I can be reached at (408)

HISTORIQUE DE LA VIE DE L'ARTISTE

- 50 ans, Bernard de SOUZY, sculpteur, Franco-américain, travaille entre la Californie et PARIS. En 1983, il se fait un nom en remportant un succès mondial avec "le lampadaire aux serpents" alors qu'il est designer de luminaires d'inspiration ART DECO

Il consacre une grande partie de son existence à une passion débordante, dévorante, celle de la chasse aux grands fauves en Afrique. Puis comme s'il avait été ensorcelé, il se met à toucher la matière pour faire renaître de ses doigts les animaux dont il a tant recherché les trophées, comme s'il voulait s'exorciser d'une passion qu'il trouve désormais dérisoire. Se situant dans le courant actuel du retour au figuratif, il traduit sa vision intime et charnelle de l'Afrique. Sans croquis, ni travail préliminaire, l'artiste modèle quasiment les yeux fermés, en utilisant des outils qu'il fabrique lui-même.

RENCONTRE AVEC DEPARDIEU

Lorsque l'artiste rencontre l'impressionnant "fauve parmi les fauves", Gérard Depardieu, il est immédiatement inspiré par la force, la puissance, le modelé des formes de sa stature imposante. Il lui propose alors de le statuer "grandeur nature" selon la tradition de la sculpture héroïque classique, dans le plus simple appareil.

Gérard, férù de sculpture, comprend l'inspiration de son nouvel ami et accepte avec audace le projet. De cette amitié virile, naîtra "la force aveugle", statue de 2 mètres de haut, pesant 300 Kg de bronze montée sur un socle allégorique représentant une énorme bobine de film de 1,30 m de diamètre sur 70 cm de hauteur, conçu par le créateur-designer Michel KIRILIUK. En accord avec l'acteur, ce piédestal représente une rétrospective symbolique des principaux films historiques de sa carrière: Christophe Colomb, Cyrano, Le Colonel Chabert, Camille Claudel...

FABRICATION DE LA STATUE

A partir du modèle en terre glaise rouge, sculpté par l'artiste, le mouleur a tiré un moule en élastomère silicone très élastique de marque RHONE-POULENC (STE CODIM: 45.91.05.44) qui a permis de reproduire le modèle original au centième de millimètre.

La méthode à la cire perdue, utilisée par l'artiste est une technique chère mais extrêmement précise car elle permet d'imprimer mêmes ses "empreintes" digitales, rendant ainsi l'œuvre originale. Elle repose sur la substitution du bronze en fusion à 1000 degrés, à la cire. Il se solidifie immédiatement. Après quelques heures, le fondeur (FONDERIE SYLVA - POSSEIDON - MORANGIS- 91) casse la gangue (le moule) de plâtre réfractaire qui enrobe la pièce. Apparaît alors le bronze brut qui sera ciselé à la main, puis patiné par oxydation accélérée. Le traitement sera au sulfate de fer ou cuivre afin d'obtenir la couleur définitive.

Les bronzes de Bernard de Souzy ne sont tirés qu'à huit exemplaires et sont tous des originaux numérotés avec certificat d'authenticité. Cette stricte discipline garantit à l'acquéreur la propriété d'une œuvre rare, et fidèle à l'esprit de son auteur.

REMISE DE L'ŒUVRE

La remise de la statue s'est effectuée le 5 octobre à 18 heures à l'hôtel de ville du XXème arrondissement sous la direction du député-Maire Mr CHARZAT, et en compagnie de nombreuses personnalités du monde politique, cinématographique et journalistique.

Dear Mr. President:

We are honored to extend this invitation for you to address the tenth annual CNN World Report Contributors Conference. It takes place at CNN headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia from May 3 through May 7, 1999.

More than 300 journalists and television executives will gather for a week of seminars, workshops and other events. Among the highlights of these conferences are the distinguished and prominent speakers who address not only the journalists in Atlanta, but a global television audience. Our speakers have included United Nations Secretary-General Kofi Annan, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat, and U.S. Presidents Bill Clinton and Jimmy Carter.

The CNN World Report program plays a unique role in the world of international communications. It airs seven days a week on CNN and CNN International, featuring news reports from more than 200 global broadcasters. The program provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and information. The annual conference is an opportunity for our contributors to interact with one another and the CNN World Report staff.

We look forward to hearing from you. If you have any questions, please call Eason Jordan, President, International Networks and Global Newsgathering. Fax number is 404-827-5843.

FROM THE DAY THAT OUR PRESIDENT RECEIVED AN

COME REPEATEDLY TO NEW YORK AND ESPECIALLY AT THE TIME OF OUR " FUND RAISER" EVERY SATURDAY
THE DAY BEFORE MOTHERS DAY AT THE MARINA DEL REY

AFFAIR WILL BE MAY 8TH OF MAY, 1999. (OVER)

YOUR DIRECTOR OF SCHEDULING SEND A DECLINE
NOTE, REMINDING US THAT " WE ARE THE FORGOTTEN
ONE". WE CANNOT ALL BE FAMOUS OR BE LISTED IN" WHO'S WHO" BUT EVERY PERSON GREAT OR SMALL HAS IMPORTANT WORK TO DO. FOR IT'S NOT THE BIG CELEBRITY IN A WORLD OF FAME AND PRAISE, BUT IT'S DOING UNPRETENTIOUSLY IN UN DISTINGUISHED
WAYS THE WORK THAT GOD ASSIGNED TO US, UNIMPORT-AS IT SEEMS: THAT MAKES OUR TASK OUTSTANDING AND BRING REALITY TO DREAMS-SO AT THE SPOT GOD PLACE
YOU BEGIN AT ONCE TO DO, LITTLE THINGS TO BRIGH-TEN UP THE LIVES SURROUNDING YOU, FOR IF EVERY-BODY BRIGHTENED UP THE SPOT ON WHICH THERE'RE
STANDING, BY BEING MORE CONSIDERATE AND A LITTLE LESS DEMANDING, THIS DARK OLE WORLD WOULD VERY SOON ECLIPSE THE " EVENING STAR", IF EVERYBODY

Mr. President, I extend an open invitation to visit our Reservation anytime you can find the time. We have a casino here and are quite proud of our accomplishments derived from that income. We are a small tribe located in beautiful Santa Ynez surrounded by mountains. I'm sure you know where we are, Ronald Reagans Ranch is nearby. But he is Republican. I like that guy. Please consider my invitation in your busy schedule.

They have a very wonderful museum in Hope, Ark. I was interested to know have you been there to see it. I have relatives that live in Hope, Ozan, Nashville, and Mineral Springs. My parents were born and raised in Ozan before they moved to Chicago. I really would love to meet you one day, because you will rarely find someone as famous as you coming from the same place that I visit. My parents have a home in Ozan, and they go every three months. If you can find a way for me to meet you in person I really would appreciate that. Thank you very much.

Mr. President,

I would like to ask if you allow me to meet you sir. I have requested assistance from you before but to no avail. Rex Horne is a member of my family so I know about when you attend his church in Little Rock. I have been a supporter of you and have prayed for you for the longest. I would like to ask that before your term ends that I could meet you personally. Of course, on your terms not mine. I have heard so much about from my family but I never have personally met you. I would see you anywhere and at any time. Such as at Little Rock or when I visit Washington DC this summer.
