SUBJECT: NEC WEEKLY REPORT

us/10 to talk to run
Don't OK

U.S.-EU Bananas Dispute: Negotiators exchanged proposals via phone this week for a settlement using historical quotas, our preferred basis for a settlement. The gap narrowed sufficiently that Ambassador Barshefsky and her counterpart, EU Trade Commissioner Pascal Lamy, have been asked by the negotiators to consider whether they should talk via telephone soon. The purpose of a final Barshefsky-Lamy discussion would be to close a deal or end the negotiations. An admitted incentive for the European Commission negotiators to close now is it would appear to EU Member States that the Commission pressed this Administration for every possible concession. In the perception of some Commission officials, another benefit could be to make it less necessary for the new Administration to assume a tough stance initially on use of Carousel in the beef dispute or to move aggressively on initiation of WTO action re: Airbus.

California Electricity Situation: The two largest California electricity utilities remain in precarious financial situation. After a seven hour meeting Tuesday evening with myself, Secretaries Richardson and Summers, Governor Davis, key California legislators, and utility executives, working groups were established to examine possible alternatives to avoid utility bankruptcies. A follow-up videoconference with the Governor and utility executives is scheduled for Saturday afternoon to examine the progress of the working groups. Because of its credit situation, Pacific Gas & Electric, one of the two electricity utilities, may have difficulty obtaining natural gas for its natural gas customers. Its executives have requested that you exercise emergency authorities to ensure that deliveries of natural gas continue. We are examining the implications of doing so.

✓ Steel: Rep. Regula wrote you and the President-elect on January 3, on behalf of the Congressional Steel Caucus, renewing the call for comprehensive import protection under Trade Act Section 201. Unfortunately, in the view of private and USG experts we have consulted, a comprehensive Section 201 action could not meet the International Trade Commission's "serious injury" test under current circumstances of declining imports and domestic demand. I met with USWA President George Becker, who urged the Administration to initiate the Section 201 action despite our misgivings. I will be consulting with John Podesta on how to respond. Becker and industry welcomed your recent recess appointment of Dennis Devaney to the International Trade Commission.

✓ The Emergency Steel Loan Board this week, for the first time, guaranteed a loan in the amount of $110 million issued by Citicorp to Geneva Steel of Utah. Geneva and other applicants for guarantees have received effective action from the Board, but myriad delays on the part of the commercial lending institutions involved (so far, mainly Citicorp) have prevented any loans from closing until now. LTV Steel Corp., which obtained bankruptcy protection on December 29, 2000 also has indicated its intention to make use of the program if negotiations with Chase Manhattan and other lenders on a $250 million credit are successful. The Board has opened a second tranche for guarantee applications, and presently can fund up to $600 million in loan guarantees.

✓ Child Labor/Sweatshops: I will join Secretaries Summers, Albright, and Herman on Tuesday in a White House event to announce new Administration efforts to fight child labor and sweatshops overseas, including the announcement of a $750K grant to the Fair Labor Association, where Chuck Ruff was Chairman of the Board. I will read a statement from you expressing your commitment to the fight against unfair labor practices and honoring Chuck Ruff for his extraordinary leadership for this cause.

Dear Representative Salmon:

Thank you for your letter regarding the status of Mohammed Deif. We are deeply disturbed by reports that Mohammed Deif has escaped or was released from detention.

We have raised our concerns with the Palestinian Authority and urged them to do everything within their power to ensure he is in custody. We will be following up on this issue and monitoring it closely. You point out that Deif is suspected of involvement in several actions that have cost the lives of American citizens, which is a matter of great concern to me. More generally, I firmly believe that the Palestinian Authority must do more to arrest all individuals suspected of involvement in terrorist activities.

For the past several weeks, our priority has been to end the bloodshed and restore calm. Simply put, there can be no place for violence. At Sharm el-Sheikh, Israelis and Palestinians reached important understandings on security matters -- and they must now live up to their commitments. The United States will continue to work tirelessly with the two parties toward that goal.

Thank you for your letter on this important matter.

FROM: Thurgood Marshall, Jr. PfA for T.M.,

SUBJECT: FEMA Recommends that You Grant the Request of the Governor of Louisiana for a Major Disaster Declaration

On December 11, 2000 and continuing through January 3, 2001, a severe winter ice storm impacted the northwest corner of the State of Louisiana causing widespread power disruptions. During the height of the storms an estimated 70,000 customers were without power. The American National Red Cross opened several shelters. The most significant damage was to utilities and costs associated with debris removal.

A joint Federal, State and local Preliminary Damage Assessment (PDA) to assess the damage to the infrastructure was conducted on January 8-11, 2001. On January 11, 2001, Governor M.J. "Mike" Foster, Jr. requested a major disaster declaration for Public Assistance and Hazard Mitigation for the parishes of Bienville, Bossier, Caddo, Claiborne, Lincoln, Ouachita, Union, and Webster.

FEMA has concluded that the situation is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the State and local governments. Supplemental Federal assistance is necessary. The situation warrants a major disaster declaration. In the event of a declaration, FEMA intends to provide Public Assistance for Bienville, Caddo, Claiborne, Lincoln, Union, and Webster Parishes. Additional programs and areas may be designated at a later date, if requested and warranted. In the event of a declaration, FEMA intends to designate all parishes in the State of Louisiana eligible to apply for assistance under the Hazard Mitigation Grant Program.

Senators Breaux and Landrieu and Representatives McCrery and Cooksey represent the affected areas.

Dear Governor Foster:

As requested, I have declared a major disaster under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (Stafford Act), for the State of Louisiana due to damage resulting from a severe winter ice storm beginning on December 11, 2000, and continuing through January 3, 2001. I have authorized Federal relief and recovery assistance in the affected area.

Public Assistance and Hazard Mitigation will be provided. Consistent with the requirement that Federal assistance be supplemental, any Federal funds provided under the Stafford Act for Public Assistance and Hazard Mitigation will be limited to 75 percent of the total eligible costs in the designated areas.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will coordinate Federal assistance efforts and designate specific areas eligible for such assistance. The Federal Coordinating Officer will be Mr. Carlos N. Mitchell of FEMA. Washington, D.C. 20472

Dear Mr. Witt:

I have determined that the damage in certain areas of the State of Louisiana, resulting from a severe winter ice storm beginning December 11, 2000, and continuing through January 3, 2001, is of sufficient severity and magnitude to warrant a major disaster declaration under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (Stafford Act), I, therefore, declare that such a major disaster exists in the State of Louisiana.

In order to provide Federal assistance, you are hereby authorized to allocate from funds available for these purposes, such amounts as you find necessary for Federal disaster assistance and administrative expenses.

You are authorized to provide Public Assistance and Hazard Mitigation in the designated areas and any other forms of assistance under the Stafford Act you may deem appropriate. Consistent with the requirement that Federal assistance be supplemental, any Federal funds provided under the Stafford Act for Public Assistance or Hazard Mitigation will be limited to 75 percent of the total eligible costs.

Further, you are authorized to make changes to this declaration to the extent allowable under the Stafford Act.

Embargoed Until January 10

- The Blue Chip panel lowered its forecast of real GDP growth in calendar-year 2001 by 0.5 percentage point to 2.6 percent, following a 0.3 percentage point downward revision a month earlier.
- The downward revision to year-over-year growth partly reflects a downward revision to real GDP growth in 2000:Q4 from 2.9 to 2.2 percent at an annual rate. The panel projects that real GDP will slow to a 1.9 percent annual rate in 2001:Q1, and that it will gradually pick up to a 3.5 percent rate by the fourth quarter.
- When it was finalized on November 17, the Administration projection of calendar-year real GDP growth was below the then-current Blue Chip consensus. It is now 0.7 percentage point above the January Blue Chip consensus.
- The panel lowered its forecast of CPI inflation in 2001 by 0.1 percentage point to 2.6 percent.
- According to a special question in the January survey, 36 percent of the panel's forecasters think real GDP growth will dip to 2 percent or less for two consecutive quarters this year.

Attached is a fascinating article about how a former Florida Governor (Claude Kirk, the model for the swamp-dwelling ex-Governor "Skink" in Carl Hiasson's novels) came to Washington to help Interior Secretary Wally Hickel lobby President Nixon and John Ehrlichman to kill a huge jetport in the middle of the Everglades. They succeeded.

That was actually the environmental battle that crystallized in the mid-1980's the dream of restoring the Everglades, which you have finally put into final form.

Destiny's Child

The battle over Homestead is déjà vu all over again

By Jim DeFede

As Bill Clinton's presidency draws to a close, one of his last acts will be to decide the future of Homestead Air Force Base. Miami-Dade County is pushing to have the base turned into a major commercial airport, while environmentalists oppose such a plan, arguing the base's location between Everglades and Biscayne national parks makes it unsuitable for such development. In many ways Clinton's decision is reminiscent of a choice made by President Richard Nixon exactly 30 years ago involving a proposal to build a jetport in the Big Cypress area of the Everglades. The situations are eerily similar.

Past as prologue:
President Clinton could learn a thing or two from Richard Nixon

Nathaniel Reed recalls the moment well. Early January 1970. He was sitting in the Roosevelt Room of the White House with his boss, Gov. Claude Kirk, the first Republican governor of Florida since Reconstruction.

Also present were Interior Secretary Walter Hickel and Department of Transportation Secretary John Volpe.

As the governor's chief environmental advisor, Reed was waiting to meet President Nixon regarding the future of one of the most controversial endeavors in Florida's history: the building of a jetport in the middle of the Everglades in what was known as the Big Cypress swamp.

The fight over the jetport had been raging in South Florida for more than two years. Environmentalists in the state, led by Joe Browder and Marjory Stoneman Douglas, railed against the proposed facility, which already was under construction at the time of Reed's White House meeting. Bulldozers and construction crews had broken ground in October 1968 and had completed a two-mile-long runway, the first of several landing strips in what was envisioned to be the largest airport in the world.

The jetport, located 50 miles west of downtown Miami and just north of the Tamiami Trail, was to cover 39 square miles of marshland, making it four times larger than Miami International Airport. County officials predicted a takeoff or landing every 30 seconds. A high-speed rail line would link the airport to Miami. Led by Dade County Mayor Charles Hall, construction of the facility was promoted as essential to the area's economic well-being.

Governor Kirk was initially supportive of the plan, bowing to South Florida's politicians and business leaders. Reed, however, changed the governor's mind. As Reed remembers it, he received a call one day in 1969 from Bob Padrick, a Gulf Coast Chevrolet dealer who served on the South Florida Water Management District. "Bob called and told me that I had to see for myself what was happening in Big Cypress," Reed says.

So Reed arranged for a state plane to take him over the construction site. "I was absolutely dumbfounded by what I saw," he recalls. "Here in the middle of Big Cypress were bulldozers knocking down trees and tearing through the land. When I got back to Tallahassee, I told Governor Kirk that we'd been had. We were assured by Dade County the impact would be negligible. Clearly that was not the case.

"The governor said to me: 'Oh God, Reed, I've already come out in support of the jetport.' He said he had campaigned on a pledge of increasing business developments and creating new jobs, which this project was going to do. But I told him he had to do something." The governor finally agreed, temporarily halting construction so he could have a chance to examine it more closely.

Reed and Padrick may have been the first people with real power to raise concerns about the jetport, but they certainly weren't the first to object to it. "We started working to oppose it as soon as we heard that the county and developers were assembling real estate out there," says Joe Browder, who at the time was president of the local chapter of the National Audubon Society. "The campaign to stop the jetport started before there was any construction." One of those enlisted early in the fight was Miami attorney Dan Paul. "The Miami Herald said we were impeding the economic engine of the county," Paul recounts. "I was told that I should be dropped in the middle of the Everglades with a butterfly net."

In those early days of the fight, Browder brought together an unlikely coalition of activists, including hunters and Miccosukee Indians. (Browder's efforts were beautifully documented in the 1993 children's book, Save the Everglades, written by Judith Bauer Stamper.) Finally he called on the first lady of the Everglades, Marjory Stoneman Douglas. The scene is recreated in Stamper's book:

"Finally, though, Joe put down his cup [of tea] and began to talk. He explained that he needed her help in the fight against the jetport. He brought up her book on the Everglades and how well known she was. He knew how much she loved the park. He said, 'If the jetport is built and the land is drained, the water for the Everglades will be polluted. Wildlife will disappear. You are more famous than anyone. People will respect you. They will listen to you.'

"Mrs. Douglas smiled. 'Just because I wrote a book doesn't mean they'll listen to me. I'm just one person. People don't listen to one person about anything. They listen to organizations.'

"Now it was Joe's turn to smile. 'So why don't you start an organization?' he asked."

Before she could answer, Browder drove Douglas to the construction site.

"As they drove through the park the sweet sounds of mockingbirds and wrens filled the air. Mrs. Douglas spotted an otter playing in the canal along the side of the road. It slid down the side of the canal and then floated on its back, basking in the warm sunshine.

"As they listened to the birds and watched the otter they grew quiet. Each of them was reminded once again of how much there was to love about the park. They knew it would be destroyed if the jetport was built.

"At last they reached the jetport site. Joe led Mrs. Douglas to the place where the airstrip was being built. She looked around at the fallen trees and the bald patches of land. She saw the swampland torn apart and drained.

"That's all it took."

A short time later Douglas announced that she was forming an organization to fight the jetport. The group would be called Friends of the Everglades.

By the fall of 1969 the plan of attack was clear. While Browder and Douglas helped educate the public, not just in Florida but throughout the nation, as to the threat posed by the jetport, Reed strode through the corridors of power in Tallahassee and Washington.

Following the governor's order to temporarily halt construction of the jetport, Reed and Browder, working with a cast of scientists and other experts, created a list of 112 questions they wanted Dade County to address. At a subsequent public meeting to hear the county's response to those questions, Reed became infuriated when it became clear county officials refused to give serious consideration to the environmental concerns.

"You are wasting our time," Reed recalls chiding Mayor Charles Hall before a packed audience. "The mayor went ballistic." Hall called Reed and Browder "white militants" and told them to "go to hell." Eventually, Reed says, the mayor became so angry he threw his chair across the stage and stormed out of the meeting.

Through the governor Reed retaliated by yanking all state-required permits for the jetport. Both sides began lobbying Washington for assistance. The Department of Transportation and the Federal Aviation Administration advocated in favor of building the airport. Reed and the governor, meanwhile, lobbied the U.S. Department of the Interior and found an ally in Walter Hickel.

Ironically environmentalists had opposed Hickel's nomination as Interior Secretary, citing his abysmal record as governor of Alaska. But after winning Senate confirmation to the post, Hickel decided his first official trip would be a two-day camping adventure in the Everglades. Reed acted as tour guide, and remembers how, at the end of the first day, Hickel and Governor Kirk polished off a bottle of whiskey at their campsite and then jumped into canoes in the middle of the night for a tour of Lostmans River, about 25 miles south of Everglades City. "They were bombed out of their minds, and they had these park rangers with them, and they kept asking the rangers what an alligator roar sounds like, and then they'd try to mimic one," Reed says, laughing at the memory. "They just howled away." Hickel ended up proving to be a valuable ally in Kirk's fight against the jetport.

Browder and the National Audubon Society had their own contacts as well. The national president of the society helped convince Nixon's chief of staff, John Erlichman, that the jetport was a mistake.

Environmentalists found an unexpected friend in Julie Nixon. The president sent his daughter on a "fact-finding mission" to the Everglades during the jetport debate. (An alligator hunter was hired by the Secret Service to walk in front of her and scare off any threatening creatures.) Browder prepared a wonderful tour for her, and she returned to Washington opposed to the jetport.

In January 1970 Reed and Kirk were summoned to the White House. After waiting a short time in the Roosevelt Room with Hickel, Transportation Secretary Volpe, and others, Reed says Erlichman suddenly burst into the room and announced that the president had made a decision: The jetport was dead.

Rather than couch the decision in environmental terms, Reed recalls Erlichman saying that the president didn't trust what was happening with the jetport because he believed it was part of a play by Dade County Democrats to get rich from land speculation. As Erlichman was speaking, Nixon walked in. He told the group his decision needed to remain secret for a few days. Volpe would have to privately brief the mayor in Dade County; he also needed to alert key members of Congress. "I don't want any showboating," Reed says Nixon commanded.

As they were leaving the White House, Hickel offered the governor and Reed a ride to the airport. "We hadn't gotten 250 yards from the White House," Reed says, "when Hickel gives Kirk a big slap on the knee and says, 'Who makes the first call?' Kirk says, 'I'll flip you for it.' Kirk calls heads and it turns out to be tails, and so Hickel picks up his car phone starts to dial the chief environmental writer for the New York Times. And I said, "I thought we were sworn to secrecy back there." And Hickel says, "Nathaniel, you don't understand. We are in the middle of one of the great environmental victories of all time. We can't keep it to ourselves." Besides, once word of the decision was leaked, there would be no turning back.

The next morning the story was on the front page of the Times. A short time later, Reed fielded a call from Erlichman, who was furious at Hickel and Kirk. According to Reed the president's aide grumbled, "Dealing with those two juvenile delinquents is going to drive me stark-raving mad."

Today the jetport site is used as a training center for airline pilots practicing takeoffs and landings.

In 1971 Reed left the governor's office and went to work for Hickel as an assistant secretary at the Department of the Interior, where he helped develop the plan for the federal government to buy the Big Cypress swamp. The purchase was completed in 1974, and the name was changed to the Big Cypress National Preserve.

As the debate over Homestead Air Force Base heats up in the coming weeks, the names may have changed, but the story remains essentially the same. The FAA is pushing for the development of Homestead, as is the county mayor, who makes the same desperate argument his predecessor did 30 years ago about the county's economic future.

Instead of shady Democratic land speculators waiting to cash in, we have a pack of mostly Republican developers being handed a no-bid sweetheart contract that allows them to cash in on a new airport. "This is just plain old big-city greed," Browder says today.

On the environmental side of the issue, current U.S. Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt has come out strongly against an airport in Homestead, as has Carol Browner, administrator of Environmental Protection Agency, an agency created, coincidentally, by Nixon. Still lurking in the background, though perhaps not as prominently, are Browder, Reed, and in spirit at least, the memory of Marjory Stoneman Douglas.

Only one question now remains: Will President Bill Clinton fulfill destiny's role?

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: THURGOOD MARSHALL, JR.
Assistant to the President and Cabinet Secretary

KRIS M. BALDERSTON
Deputy Assistant to the President and Deputy Cabinet Secretary

SUBJECT: FEMA RECOMMENDS THAT YOU GRANT THE REQUEST OF THE GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS FOR A COST SHARE ADJUSTMENT

Due to the severity and magnitude of damage resulting from a severe winter ice storm in the State of Arkansas, you declared a major disaster on December 29, 2000, FEMA-1354-DR.

The major disaster declaration authorized debris removal (Category A) and emergency protective measures (Category B), including direct Federal assistance. The assistance was provided at 75 percent Federal funding. The Hazard Mitigation program was added on January 8, 2001.

On January 8, 2001, Governor Mike Huckabee requested that the disaster declaration for the State of Arkansas be amended to allow for 100 percent Federal funding for debris removal for all declared counties.

Due to the devastation caused by the disaster in the State of Arkansas, it is imperative at this time that debris removal be authorized at a cost share of 90 percent Federal funding and 10 percent State funding for all counties designated under the major disaster declaration, FEMA-1354-DR, beginning on December 29, 2000, through and including February 27, 2001. Further, FEMA recommends that this assistance be extended for an additional period of time, if requested and warranted.

We respectfully request that you expand the scope of assistance authorized under the initial Presidential declaration. Attached is a copy of the Governor's request, copies of the initial declaration letters signed by you, and amended declaration letters for the State of Arkansas.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 10, 2001

The Honorable Mike Huckabee
Governor of Arkansas
250 State Capitol
Little Rock, Arkansas 72201

Dear Governor Huckabee:

I have determined that the damage in Arkansas resulting from a severe winter storm beginning on December 12, 2000, and continuing through January 8, 2001, is of sufficient severity and magnitude that special conditions are warranted regarding the cost-sharing arrangements concerning Federal funds provided under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (Stafford Act).

Therefore, I amend my declaration of December 29, 2000, to authorize Federal funds for debris removal at 90 percent of total eligible costs from December 29, 2000, through and including February 27, 2001.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Bill Clinton". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

The Honorable James L. Witt
Director
Federal Emergency Management Agency
Washington, D.C. 20472

Okay for Signature by
Dep Stf Secretary Adam Rozman
Date 1/10/01

Dear Mr. Witt:

I have determined that the damage in certain areas of the State of Arkansas resulting from a severe winter ice storm beginning on December 12, 2000, and continuing through January 8, 2001, is of sufficient severity and magnitude that the provision of additional Federal assistance to ensure public health and safety is warranted under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (Stafford Act).

Therefore, I amend my declaration of December 29, 2000, to provide that the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) may reimburse 90 percent of the costs of debris removal from December 29, 2000, through and including February 27, 2001. This adjustment of the cost share may be provided to all counties under the major disaster declaration. You may extend this assistance for an additional period of time, if requested and warranted.

Please notify the Governor of Arkansas and the Federal Coordinating Officer of this amendment to my major disaster declaration.

Sincerely,

Bin Clinton

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: THURGOOD MARSHALL, JR.
Assistant to the President and Cabinet Secretary

KRIS M. BALDERSTON
Deputy Assistant to the President and Deputy Cabinet Secretary

SUBJECT: FEMA RECOMMENDS THAT YOU GRANT THE REQUEST OF THE GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN FOR AN EMERGENCY DECLARATION

On December 11-31, 2000, the State of Michigan was severely affected by winter storms that produced record and near record snowfall in Lower Michigan. The southern portion of Lower Michigan was particularly hard hit. Schools were closed and travel throughout the area was severely disrupted. There were no deaths reported and no shelters opened.

On December 21, 2000, Governor John Engler requested a declaration for emergency snow removal assistance for a total of 41 counties. In an attachment to the Governor's request the State provided the actual snowfall amounts reported in the affected areas. On January 3, 2001, the Governor amended his request to include all required certifications.

FEMA has concluded that the situation is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the State and local governments. Supplemental Federal assistance is necessary. The situation warrants an emergency declaration. In the event of a declaration, FEMA intends to provide emergency protective measures (Category B) under the Public Assistance program to save lives and protect public health and safety, and property for a period of 48 hours. This assistance is for the counties of Allegan, Barry, Calhoun, Cass, Clare, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gratiot, Isabella, Kalamazoo, Kent, Lapeer, Livingston, Macomb, Midland, Montcalm, Muskegon, Oakland, Ottawa, Saginaw, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Tuscola, Van Buren and Washtenaw. Additional areas may be designated at a later date, if requested and warranted.

Senators Levin and Stabenow, and Representatives Hoekstra, Ehlers, Camp, Barcia, Upton, Smith, Rogers, Kildee, Bonior, Knollenberg, Levin, and Rivers represent the affected area.

RECOMMENDATION

That YOU grant the Governor's request.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 10, 2001

The Honorable John Engler
Governor of Michigan
P.O. Box 30013
Lansing, Michigan 48909

Dear Governor Engler:

As requested, I have declared an emergency under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (the Stafford Act) for the State of Michigan due to the emergency conditions resulting from the record/near record snow on December 11-31, 2000. I have authorized Federal relief and recovery assistance in the affected area.

Emergency protective measures under the Public Assistance program to save lives, protect public health and safety, and property will be provided. This emergency assistance will be provided for a period of 48 hours. Consistent with the requirement that Federal assistance be supplemental, any Federal funds provided under the Stafford Act for Public Assistance will be limited to 75 percent of the total eligible costs in the designated areas.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will coordinate Federal assistance efforts and designate specific areas eligible for such assistance. The Federal Coordinating Officer will be Mr. Robert R. Colangelo of FEMA. He will consult with you and assist in the execution of the FEMA-State Agreement for emergency assistance governing the expenditure of Federal funds.

Sincerely,

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 10, 2001

The Honorable James L. Witt
Director
Federal Emergency Management Agency
Washington, D.C. 20472

Dear Mr. Witt:

I have determined that the emergency conditions in certain areas of the State of Michigan, resulting from the record/near record snow on December 11-31, 2000, is of sufficient severity and magnitude to warrant an emergency declaration under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC 5121, et seq., as amended by the Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000, Pub. L. No. 106-390, 114 Stat. 1552 (2000) (the Stafford Act). I, therefore, declare that such an emergency exists in the State of Michigan.

In order to provide Federal assistance, you are hereby authorized to allocate from funds available for these purposes, such amounts as you find necessary for Federal disaster assistance and administrative expenses.

You are authorized to provide emergency protective measures under the Public Assistance program to save lives, protect public health and safety, and property. Other forms of assistance under Title V of the Stafford Act may be added at a later date, as you deem appropriate. You are further authorized to provide this emergency assistance in the affected areas for a period of 48 hours. You may extend the period of assistance, as warranted. This assistance excludes regular time costs for subgrantees' regular employees. Assistance under this emergency is authorized at 75 percent Federal funding for eligible costs.

Further, you are authorized to make changes to this declaration to the extent allowable under the Stafford Act.

Sincerely,

Bin Clinton
