fax # 202-456-7805

Dear Ms. Muscatine,

Harper's Bazaar is very interested in doing an interview with Hillary Rodham Clinton for a feature that would be published in our February, 2001, issue. Obviously, we're assuming that by that time, she'll be Senator Hillary Rodham Clinton, but I assume that it's appropriate to address this request to you, rather than her campaign press people.

We'd like to make this feature a Q&A-style piece. And we'd like to have our editor in chief, Kate Betts, conduct the interview.

The timing is tricky. It would require that Kate interview Mrs. Clinton before the end of November--ideally, sometime during the second or third week of November (from, say, the 12th to the 25th). But we realize how tight her schedule is and we would be as flexible as possible.

You can reach me at (212) 903-5453, or on email at Mduenwald@hearst.com. Please let me know whether you think this could be possible.

Best regards,

Re: Hardcover History

Dear Ms. Muscatine,

Thank you, for consulting by phone with Andrew Firda at The History Channel's in-house production department. This letter will clarify the questions outlined in your earlier conversation.

The History Channel has recently debuted Hardcover History: The History Channel Book Club (Sundays 10:00 a.m.). The program features informative conversations with the most sought-after authors of historical books. Recent interviewees include historians Stephen Ambrose, James McPherson, political insider David Gergen and Pulitzer prize winning author Arthur Schlesinger Jr.

The intention of Hardcover History is to give the viewer a more intimate appreciation of the author and their publication. Dr. Geoffrey Wawro, professor of history at the Naval War College, anchors the exclusive half-hour interview.

We are currently preparing our production schedule for winter 2000 and it would be both an honor and pleasure to interview First Lady / Senator Elect, Hillary Rodham Clinton regarding her new book "An Invitation to the White House: At Home with History."

If you have any questions please contact our head researcher Anastasia Gilder at 212-551-1532 or email her at anastasia.gilder@aetn.com

Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
Washington DC

Dear Hillary Rodham Clinton,

I have been assigned by Elle magazine to write an article about your arrival in the Senate--the first time a First Lady has assumed an elected office. Obviously, because of who you are and because of the office you are assuming, your transition into that office will be keenly anticipated. I would love to be able to talk with you--in as much or as little time as you are able to give me--about this moment that is so important not only to you but to the country.

As you may know, Elle is the most-widely published women's magazine in the world, known not just for its fashion coverage but for its cultural and political coverage as well. Editions appear in 33 countries; in America, it has a circulation of over a million readers. This article will run in the February issue, which will appear on the newsstands in late January, right around the time the new Congress will be going into session.

So that you can see the kind of article I would like to write, I am including a list of questions I would ask you.

1. Having been the first First Lady elected to public office, how do you hope to be treated by your colleagues when you join the Senate in January?

2. What will be the first three pieces of legislation you propose and why?

3. What does it say about the advancement women in America have made that we now have more women in the Senate than ever before?

4. What national issues do you believe are most pressing to the country as a whole?

5. Can you reflect back on and assess your Senate campaign?

6. How did it make you feel that 61 percent of the women in New York voted for you?

7. Does it say anything about the political climate in the country that Elizabeth Dole's presidential campaign failed so badly, in part because she was unable to raise money?

8. What initiatives do you plan to take as a Senator to advance children's issues?

9. What happened in your Senate campaign that you didn't expect?

10. What can be done to help the country overcome the partisanship that has come to define politics?

11. How do you expect your first year as a Senator to go?

12. My daughter is a senior at Barnard College. Describe what you see for her (and your daughter's) generation's future.

I hope that it is clear from these questions the kind of article I would like to write about you. As Elle represents such an enormous audience of women, I also hope that this is an interview you will somehow find time to do. My daughter would very much like to read what you have to say.

With warm regards,

Paul Alexander

SUBJECT: Request for Broadcast Interview with
First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton

Maureen Bunyan, primary news anchor for WJLA/ABC7, Washington, DC, would like to arrange a broadcast interview with First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton for some time during the next few weeks. Ms. Bunyan would be pleased to work with you to arrange the interview at Mrs. Clinton's convenience with options including:

- A taped interview for airing during the 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. newscast; or
- A live interview with Mrs. Clinton during the 6 p.m. or 11 p.m. newscast

The format will be one on one. The topics of the interview will include, but not be exclusive to:

- Mrs. Clinton's experiences during her senatorial campaign
- Mrs. Clinton's goals for New York State
- The First Lady's plans for transition from the White House to the US Senate,
- Mrs. Clinton's response to speculation about her post-senatorial political future

Ms. Bunyan will be pleased to discuss these subjects and other questions for the interview with you. For your information, Ms. Bunyan anchors the 6 p.m. and the 11 p.m. weeknight news broadcast on WJLA/ABC7. She is a veteran local news anchor having worked in Washington television news for twenty-seven years. Please see Ms. Bunyan's bio attached.

MAUREEN BUNYAN

Maureen Bunyan is the primary news anchor for WJLA-TV, Channel Seven, the ABC affiliate in the Washington, D.C. area. She joined WJLA-TV in February, 1999, as single anchor of the 11 p.m. weeknight newscast, the only solo news anchor of a major local newscast in the Metro area and one of few solo anchors of major local news programs in the nation. Ms. Bunyan is teamed with veteran WJLA-TV newswoman, Kathleen Matthews, on the 6 p.m. weeknight newscast. The two broadcasters are the only all female news anchor team in the Metro area and one of few such teams in the country.

Before joining WJLA-TV, Ms. Bunyan headed her own communications consulting company for three years, providing public relations, public affairs and media relations services to businesses and non-profit organizations. Among the corporate clients she advised are Shell Oil Company and DuPont Company. Among the non-profit organizations with which she worked are the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, the NAACP, the National Council of La Raza and AARP. She also served as Chief Correspondent for "Religion and Ethics Newsweekly", a PBS weekly news magazine based in Washington, D.C. and was a substitute host on NPR's "Talk of the Nation" and on WAMU Radio's, "The Derek McGinty Show". In the Fall of 1996, Ms. Bunyan helped launch cable network, MSNBC, where she served as an interim news anchor from September through December.

From 1973 to 1995, Ms Bunyan was a lead anchor of WUSA-TV, Channel Nine, the CBS affiliate in the Washington, D.C. area. She co-anchored the 6 p.m. weeknight newscast for eighteen years and the 11 p.m. weeknight newscast for eight years. She covered major local, national and international stories and traveled extensively to produce reports from Central and South America, the Caribbean, Africa and Asia. For five years she hosted the award-winning, weekly news magazine shows, "22:26 with Maureen Bunyan" and "Studio Nine".

In recognition of her significant contributions to broadcasting for over twenty-five years, Ms. Bunyan has been inducted into the "Silver Circle" of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and into the Broadcast Pioneers Club, Washington, D.C. Chapter. She has also been awarded seven local EMMY's , including the "Ted Yates Award", given to Washington, D.C. news broadcasters whose work exemplifies the best of television journalism. In 1990, she was named "Journalist of the Year" by the National Association of Black Journalists. In addition, Ms. Bunyan has been honored with awards from numerous other professional organizations, including, the American Association of University Women, Women in Communications, Women in Film and Video, the National Commission on Working Women, the Greater Washington Society of Association Executives and Women of Washington. She has been awarded honorary degrees from Trinity College and Bowie State University.

Named a "Washingtonian of the Year" in 1992, Ms. Bunyan has an extensive record of community service. She has served on the boards of the Meyer Foundation, the Washington Performing Arts Society, the Women's Campaign Fund, the National Commission on Working Women, the National Council for Research onWomen, the Journalism Advisory Board of American University, The Family Place, and the Ionia Whipper Home for Girls. She is a founder, past co-chair and current board member of the International Women's Media Foundation, which promotes press freedom and serves women in the news media in 100 countries through international conferences and training programs. She is one of the 35 founders of the National Association of Black Journalists, the nation's largest organization of minority news people.

Ms. Bunyan attended the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism Summer Program for Minorities and holds a Masters Degree from Harvard University Graduate School of Education.

Ms. Bunyan began her journalism career as a news intern and free-lance writer for The Milwaukee Journal. She also worked as a reporter for WGBH-TV, Boston and for WCBS-TV, New York City.

Ms. Bunyan was born in Aruba. She is of Guyanese descent.

GANNETT

23 October, 2000

Dear Lissa,

USA TODAY would like to request an post-election interview with Mrs. Clinton. We are hoping we can do this the day after the election or as soon thereafter as she begins her first post-election round of media interviews. As the nation's largest newspaper _ and one that can feed our stories to six New York state newspapers and a Buffalo TV station _ we would like to be the first to interview her for a 1A cover story.

The interview would focus on her history-making role as the first-ever first lady to run for public office.

Assuming she wins, we will be asking about what kind of a senator she intends to be. What are her goals as a lawmaker? Can she outline how she intends to pursue her agenda on education, health care and economic revitalization legislatively? Does she have a particular piece of legislation that she intends to make her top priority?

Has she thought about how she will make the transition from the White House a club whose furnishings still include brass spittoons? Has she thought about acquiring a residence in Washington? What other kinds of adjustments will she be making as she enters public office and the president leaves his?

We also will be seeking comment from the president on that last question. If they want to talk to us about it together, so much the better.

We'd also like to ask Mrs. Clinton about her legacy as first lady. How does this first lady of firsts (first working mom to occupy the office; first to run for political office) want to be remembered? How does she intend to spend her last two months at the White House? Are there any projects she wants to complete before leaving?

She's a New York resident and wants to be a New York senator, but Mrs. Clinton is the nation's first lady. Her role and the historic nature of this campaign makes this a national story. We hope that you'll expedite our efforts to tell it well in our paper.

Sincerely,

Kathy Kiely

November 3, 2000

Dear Ms. Batcheller,

Thank you so much for talking with me this morning about our requests for interviews with Mrs. Clinton by Mike Wallace for 60 Minutes.

As I explained, there are three scenarios:

1. Post-Election – Soon after Nov. 7, Mike would be very interested in a sit-down interview with Mrs. Clinton, concerning the election and her plans. This interview should air within days after it is recorded.

2. Exit interview – Mike and I have been talking with The White House about an interview with the President, which, if Mr. and Mrs. Clinton desired, would include the First Lady. Mike certainly wants to talk to both of them. This interview, as we have been discussing with the press office, would be recorded at the President's convenience and scheduled—possibly sometime in January-- so that 60 Minutes would present the first prime time exit interview.

   Over the past fifty years, Mike has interviewed every U.S. President, including John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and George Bush. In addition, First Ladies Eleanor Roosevelt, Rosalyn Carter and Nancy Reagan.

3. Post-January – We would collect material over time to produce the first profile of Mrs. Clinton, post-election and post-White House.

Obviously, two out of three of these scenarios could occur; Mrs. Clinton could appear in a solo interview that might air before or after the exit interview, and she could also appear in the exit interview.

Thank you for helping us with this request.

Dear Mrs Clinton,

I write on behalf of The Sunday Telegraph to congratulate you on winning your senate seat and to ask if you would consider granting an interview to the Review section.

The 2,000-word piece would take up a full broadsheet page and would run in our main interview slot on page 3. It would also be puffed on the cover of the newspaper.

As you may know, The Sunday Telegraph was recently voted Newspaper of The Year and is Britain's leading quality broadsheet, with an ever-rising readership of over 2 million. We think our readers would be fascinated to read an interview with you, and we would be delighted if you agreed.

If you were interested, we would require only an hour of your time and we would fly out our star interviewer, Gyles Brandreth, to meet you at your convenience in America. Gyles is a former Government Minister who has conducted many exclusive interviews with people such as Sir Edward Heath, Lord Snowdon and the Duke of Edinburgh.

If you would like to consider the possibility, or if you have any questions you would like to go through with me, I can be contacted on 0207 538 7160 or e-mailed at emma.gosnell@telegraph.co.uk. I really look forward to hearing from you.

TO: Erica Batcheller, First Lady's Office
FROM: Walt Duka, AARP Bulletin

Erica ---

This is a follow-up to our phone conversation earlier today. As I mentioned, we're doing an post-election piece on Congressional newcomers and their views on the direction the 107th Congress might take. The emphasis, of course, is on issues of interest to older Americans.

We're assuming Mrs. Clinton will be successful in her bid for the Senate and would certainly like to have her views reflected in the article. (As you know, the Bulletin goes monthly to all 32 million of our members.)

I'm requesting about 10 minutes of her time to talk to me on the phone. My number's 202-434-3357.

Our deadline is impending, and ideally I'd like to speak to her this week. However, we can still work in comments from her if I can talk to her next Monday. Beyond that, I'm afraid, is just too late.

For our planning purposes, it would be very helpful to know if this phone interview is feasible in the time period indicated. I recognize that, on your end, the days after the election will be very hectic and probably somewhat confused. But any advance guidance you can give would be greatly appreciated.

Many thanks – and I wish you well in the transition.

Dear Senator-elect Clinton,

Congratulations! We are delighted to have a new senator from our neck of the woods, the Hudson Valley. Our monthly magazine covers the 10 counties along the river, including Westchester. I'm sure that our readers would be most interested in hearing more about your plans for the region. If your schedule permits it, I hope that you will be able to grant us a short interview. We would be delighted to conduct the interview in person, by telephone, or via e-mail — whatever is most convenient for you.

Thank you for considering our request. And again, congratulations!

Sincerely,

Valerie Havas

Ms. Lisa Muscatine
VIA FACSIMILE: 202-456-7805

Dear Ms. Muscatine:

Ingrid Sischy, a contributing editor at Vanity Fair, is currently on assignment for the magazine gathering research and conducting interviews for a future piece on the artist Jeff Koons, who contributed a piece or pieces of art work to Mrs. Clinton's senatorial campaign.

Ms. Sischy was hoping to speak to Mrs. Clinton about Mr. Koons if at all possible, and would be grateful for a brief phone interview with the senator-elect. A longtime contributor to the magazine and herself the editor of Interview magazine, Ms. Sischy has previously written profiles on artists such as Alice Neel, Francesco Clemente, David Hockney, and many others. Any assistance that you can give to Ms. Sischy would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Bruce Handy

To Whom It May Concern:

As the only daily Polish television station in Chicago POLVISION would like to request an interview with The First Lady, Hilary Rodham Clinton.

Polvison is staffed almost entirely by professionals of Polish Heritage who understand and recognize Mrs. Clinton as one of the most powerful and dedicated woman in the United States. It would be our honor and privilege to introduce Mrs. Clinton to the Polish community in their native language. As you may already know, Polish Americans represent one of the largest ethnic populations in the U.S.

- some 9 million strong (according to the 1990 Census Bureau.) In Chicago alone, there are over one million Poles/ making this the second largest population of Poles other than Warsaw, Poland. In addition one million Poles reside in New York.

Polvision would like to present Mrs. Clinton's profile to Polish Americans as the First Lady, as a Wife, as a Mother and as a Politician. Since Mrs. Clinton is a very admired personality in the Polish community, we believe that our program would greatly enhance her popularity.

Polvision produces and distributes daily news programs for broadcast, cable and satellite television. We propose to air this mutually beneficial interview in Chicago, New York and Poland.

We appreciate your consideration. Please call me at (773) 267 – 8808, ext. 109 to further discus this interview possibility. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Margaret Wrona

Current Migration Patterns

Poles continue to come into the Chicago area in large numbers ; 45,192 legal immigrants arrived from 1990-94, according to the INS. Poles are coming through family reunification provisions and the visa lottery. Some come because they have special employment skills. The lottery has resulted in an overwhelming outpouring of applications from Poles especially because it is possible for people already in the US to change their status if chosen in the lottery. Polish application for citizenship is high . It appears that few are returning to Poland

Links To Homeland

Links to the homeland have probably been stronger in Polonia than in most other ethnic communities in America . Because of the history of the home country and efforts of its leaders to nationalize emigrants living abroad. The identification of the "fourth province of Poland" waned when both Polonia and Poland turned their attention to their own problems. The newest cohort and traditional Polonia have been very active in trying to influence the American government, first with a higher level of education, obtained under the communist system. While many came as formal immigrants, an even larger number entered on a temporary basis and remained illegally.

Although most Poles of all three cohorts had not planned to stay , most did because of political complications back home and increasing satisfaction with life in this country . Chicago has long been one of the main centers of the national Polish American community known as Polonia.

Religion

Most Poles are Roman Catholics. An interesting development in Polonia has been the creation of a Polish National Catholic Church, founded in 1873 as a revolt against Irish influence and over Papal control. The PNCC has local leaders and elected clergy who can marry. Only about 5% of Polish American join the PNCC, but the religion has spread to the mother country, an unusual phenomenon. The election of Pope John Paul II and his several visits to the United States including Chicago has been a great source of pride to Polonia.

Holidays and Special Events

Three main events in the Polish calendar have been carried over to Polonia. Christmas involves a highly decorated evergreen tree, once traditionally lit with candles, and a 13-course Christmas Eve dinner with a place set for a "hungry stranger" and hay laid under tablecloth . Wafers like communion wafers are shared along with forgiveness for past offenses against one another and best wishes for the future. Gifts are opened after dinner. Even those who are not active Catholics attend Christmas Midnight Mass. Christmas day is spent visiting relatives. Eater is the second most important religious holiday and follows 40 days of self denial during Lent. The pious visit the decorated "graves" of Jesus at Polish churches on Good Friday. The third big holiday, Polish Constitution Day (May 3) celebrates Polish Constitution of 1791, which was never put into practice because of the 1793 partition of Poland, Prussia, Russia and Austria. The holiday is observed with a parade. Casmir Pulaski Day (first Monday in March) is an official Illinois holiday the commemorates the Polish count who fought and died in the American Revolution. It is celebrated with a weekend parade, downtown lunch and event at the Polish Museum.

Re: White House Christmas`s tree

Dear Ms. Muscatine,

Now is the time that the White House begins to prepare all of the decorations for Christmas. Therefore I would like to feature the White House Christmas tree and interview the person responsible for that. We are interesed in filming the whole process from the tree choice up until the completion of the decorations. My co-worker spoke with you a few weeks ago in regards to the 200th Anniversary of the White House so you have our background information but here it is again in case you need it.

Idea Television is based in Washington D.C. and we do a weekly program that runs in Brazil and Portugal to an estimated 2 million viewers. The company features stories, investigative reports and in-depth profiles and highlights the trends in arts, politics, science, and behavior in the U.S.A.

America, America is a half-hour magazine show that offers a broad range of stories, from features to special reports and in-depth-profiles of major personalities in such different fields as arts, science, and politics. The show airs weekly at primetime on Globosat Brazil, the cable channel of Globo TV, the fourth largest TV network in the world. America, America also airs in Portugal on TV Cabo.

If you have any further questions please call me at (202) 429-2525. Hoping to hear from you soon to confirm the schedules.

Sincerely,

Luciana Almeida

TO: Erika Batchheller

Hi Erika. I just spoke to you on the phone. I'm Portuguese, my name is Clara Pinto Correia, I am a Full Professor at Universidade Lusófona (Lisbon) where I teach Embryology and History of Science, I got my Ph.D. at SUNY at Buffalo, did a post-doc at UMass-Amherst and worked after that at the History of Science Dept. at Harvard. Presently I'm Stephen Jay Gould's research associate there. I'm also a writer, and have a weekly editorial at the magazine "VISÃO", pretty much the Portuguese equivalent of Time magazine. My husband is American and teaches at Amherst College. I've long admired the work and public presence of Hillary Clinton and today, after the announcement of her Senate victory, VISÃO asked me to go over to the States to interview her (long, detailed interview on politics, being a woman, having a family, how to explain America to Europeans, what's worth fighting for, what's next for her, why these choices). I'm writing to enquire about the possibilities of setting up this interview. I understand Mrs. Clinton must be extremely busy and pestered with requests of this sort right now, and my friend Susan McGowan, through whom I got your phone number, also told me she's going to be visiting Vietnam. Is there any possibility of scheduling something between November 26th and Sunday 3rd? Any time and place would do for me.
Thank you in advance for your help.
Best
Clara

This is to request an onair interview with Mrs. Clinton to be conducted by the Channel 2 News anchor, Jacob Eilon, on her upcoming trip to Israel to mark the funeral of Mrs. Leah Rabin of blessed memory.

While we fully realize that Mrs. Clinton's time is at a premium, we are hoping that she might be available for a taped, if not a live, interview during her trip.

Channel 2 News, Israel has a long standing request for an interview with Mrs. Clinton. While the present situation is unfortunate, perhaps this request may now be realized.

Channel 2 News is the leading news program in Israel and the anchor, Jacob Eilon, has much experience interviewing world leaders, including President Clinton.

While time is short, I will leave you only with my telephone number. I would be most appreciative if someone from your office could contact me.

Re: Request for Interview

Dear Ms. Muscatine:

First, please let me convey my congratulations to First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton on her election to the United States Senate last Tuesday. This letter is sent in order to request an interview with Mrs. Clinton for a monthly called FORESIGHT. My name is Reiko Kinoshita. I am a journalist, who serves on the International Women's Media Foundation Board of Directors and was a senior visiting scholar at The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies. In 1993, I authored "FIRST TEAM." A copy of the book was presented to the First Lady, and another one was subsequently requested by Mr. Mike McCurry. For your review, please find attached my biography.

Since its inception in March of 1990, I have been writing in FORESIGHT. It is one of Japan's most respected publications on international affairs and published by the 104-year-old Shinchosha. Available exclusively by subscription, for an annual cost of 12,000 Yen (approximately $111.00), the monthly's 30,000 subscribers consist of statesmen, academics, journalists, business leaders, university students and Japan specialists overseas. To commemorate the magazine's tenth anniversary, FORESIGHT has just released a special book edition available for the first time to the general public. Under the title of "WHAT'S NEXT?: 2001 - 2010," it features my exclusive interview with Mr. Steve Case of America Online, Inc.

As an international journalist who has written about Mrs. Clinton over the last eight years, I would very much like to hear her thoughts at present. In particular, her aspiration as a public official, including how the Senator-elect hopes to contribute to the well-being of America. I would be most grateful if your office could kindly arrange an appointment sometime between late January of 2001 and early February, in time for FORESIGHT's eleventh anniversary issue.

REIKO KINOSHITA FUNABASHI

Ms. Kinoshita is a freelance journalist in the field of international affairs. Her most recent writing has been a bi-monthly feature titled "The Society" in the FORESIGHT magazine, published by SHINCHOSHA. The series takes a close look at distinguished groups of individuals, which contribute to the foundation of a truly civil society. Preceding "The Society," she wrote four consecutive serials in FORESIGHT; "AMERICA X: Dissolution and Recreation of American Dreams," "THE CLUB," "THE PRIZE" and "THE INSTITUTION."

As a contributing correspondent from 1997 through 1999 Ms. Kinoshita wrote "AMERICAN REVIVAL," a quarterly article in USHIO, presenting entrepreneurial spirits behind the recent revitalization of America. She had also reviewed books for the magazine's "WORLD BESTSELLERS SELECTION" prior to the quarterly.

Ms. Kinoshita is the author of four books:

INFLUENTIAL (Shinchosha, 1991)

FIRST TEAM (Shueisha, 1993)

THE PRIZE (Shinchosha, 1993)

THE CLUB (Shinchosha, 1996)

"INFLUENTIAL" was given "Readers' Award" in 1992, which described the book as "one of the 100 most read in Japan in 1992."

Ms. Kinoshita was born in Tokyo in 1948, and graduated from International Christian University in 1972. She later studied political science and linguistics at Stanford University's Graduate Program in 1974.

As Senior Visiting Scholar at SAIS (The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies), The Johns Hopkins University in Washington, D.C., Ms. Kinoshita focused on new U.S.-Japan relations.
She is Media Fellow of the World Economic Forum (Geneva, Switzerland), and serves on the International Women's Media Foundation Board of Directors (Washington, D.C.). She is married to Yoichi Funabashi.

BOOKS

"INFLUENTIAL" is a comparative analysis of institutions, which are considered to be crucial to today's international affairs.
The Washington Post Style Section, Foreign Affairs, The Economist, Institute for International Economics, Rhodes Scholarships, Cable News Network, Center for International Affairs, Policy Planning Staff and The International Herald Tribune are the subjects of the book.

"THE PRIZE" presents unique awards and prizes of international excellence and significance. They are: Pulitzer Prizes, Ramon Magsaysay Award, MacArthur Fellows Program, George F. Kennan Award, Thomas Cook Travel and Guide Book Awards, Awards to Distinguished Foreign Born Individuals, Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, Global 500 and Internationale Flimfestspiele Berlin.

"FIRST TEAM" is about President Bill Clinton and First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton. Based on extensive research and interviews, which were conducted from the Pennsylvania primary in April of 1992 through the inauguration the following January, the book examines the principles behind the making of the First Team and discusses the prospect of leadership.

"THE CLUB" depicts the art and importance of global networking.
Burning Tree Club, World Economic Forum, Trilateral Commission, National Gallery of Art, overseas Chinese/Hong Kong power elite, National Security Archive, White House Fellows, Royal Geographical Society, Mèdecins Sans Frontiéres and America's Cup comstitute the book's 10 chapters.

Message: Interview request for Hillary Clinton

Dear Lissa,

MTV Production in Oslo is currently creating a television series for Norwegian TV2, Noways largest television broadcaster. One of these programs deals with our presenter, Synnøve Svabøs, travelling around the world meeting personalities who in her opinion counts as world-opinion leaders. In addition to have met Tony Blair, president Kostunica and Prince Albert of Monaco we would like to include Hillary Clinton in this program. We do not request more than 15-30 minutes of Mrs. Clintons time and we do not have the need to set up much equipment ahead.

The form these interviews have taken previously is that presenter Synnøve brings with her a gift from Norway as an introduction. The topic she would like to discuss is power and women – Hillary's new role and goals for the future. The interview is very much based on Synnøve Svabø's admiration for Hillary Clinton as a role model for women around the world. Now after the election – the issue is even more relevant.

We are vey open to what date and place might fit Hillary Clinton's schedule. However, we are filming in USA in week 48 and could stop by the East Coast on our way back from L.A. on the 2nd 3rd or 4th of Desember. Hopefully Mrs. Clinton will have a less busy schedule after the elections. The program in question will be sent on TV2 in Febuary 2001 on prime-time Saturday. It is important for us to stress that the show is family entertainment and that our presenter attracts a large proportion of the viewers with her programs. Hope to hear from you soon and that we will be able to make some arrangements.

Sincerely,
Marius Jensen

Dear Ms. Solis-Doyle,

On behalf of TV Asahi, which is a major television network in Japan, I am writing to submit a request for an interview with the First Lady. TV Asahi is prepared to accomodate any date or place that you would designate for the interview.

We would use excerpts from the interview on two of Asahi's news programs, which are both extremely influential in Japan. One program, entitled "Sunday Project," is a Japanese equivalent of NBC's "Meet the Press" targeted primarily towards Japan's political and corporate leaders. The other program, entitled "News Station" is the country's highest rated nightly news program with a daily audience of approximately 15 million. In the past, such world figures as Margaret Thatcher, Nelson Mandela, Mikhail Gorbachev and Boris Yeltsin have appeared on these programs.

The Japanese public have always regarded Mrs. Clinton as a great political figure who has an enormous impact on the way women and the disadvantaged are treated globally. It would be a tremendous honor to have Mrs. Clinton appear on TV Asahi and to have her share her views on US-Japan relations and US domestic politics with our audience.

Please feel free to call me at 202 285-4510 if you have any questions or comments.

I hope Mrs. Clinton will be able to fit this interview into her busy schedule.

Regards,

Kevin Keefe

Re: Request for interview with FIRST LADY to mark forthcoming Irish visit by President and Mrs Clinton.

Lissa,

I work on the most popular radio programme on Irish National Radio which is presented by Marian Finucane and we would love to organise a short interview with the FIRST LADY to mark her upcoming visit to Dublin.

Marian Finucane has recently interviewed Northern Ireland Secretary of State for NI Peter Mandelson MP, Mrs Mary Robinson , UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, President Mary Mc Aleese and Deputy Irish Prime Minister Mary Harney. Last year we did a lenghty interview with both the British and US Ambassadors in Dublin to which there was a very positive reaction.

Needless to say we would accomodate Mrs Clinton wherever and whenever she agreed to talk to us . We have been in touch with Barbara Scarlett in the US Embassy in Dublin but I understand that the decision rests with your office.

We would use the interview to congratulate the First Lady on her recent success in the Senate Race in New York. Both President and Mrs Clinton are hugely popular figures in this country and we see this as an appropriate forum for the Irish people to bid farewell to the couple.

I would be grateful if you could call me at your convenience - my direct line is 0035312082913.

Dear Lissa,

The Irish people are absolutely thrilled with Mrs Clinton's recent success in the New York Senate Race. The First Lady has always been held in very high esteem here thanks to all the efforts on the part of the Clinton Administration in bringing about lasting peace in Northern Ireland.

As recent news reports have mentioned the possiblity of a visit to this country by President and Mrs Clinton in the next two months, I would like to request a short interview with the First Lady on our radio programme which has the highest radio listenership in Ireland and is presented by Ireland's leading broadcaster - Marian Finucane.

Recent interviewees on the programme include UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, Mrs Mary Robinson, British Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, Peter Mandelson MP and Irish President Mary Mc Aleese who spoke to us in advance of the recent WOMEN AND THE LAW seminar in Dublin at which Mrs Cherie Blair was guest speaker.

Needless to say should Mrs Clinton agree to talk to us however briefly on the programme we would make ourselves available at a time and place convenient to her. Should the Irish visit not take place, could I even request a congratulatory phone call just to mark the Senate victory.

Obviously all details re specific content for the interview would be checked and negotiated well in advance.

I can assure you that the Irish people would be delighted to hear the First Lady on national radio in this country and I would be most grateful if you could consider our request.

Barbara,

Firstly, can I thank you for your help in my attempts to co-ordinate an interview with Mrs Clinton. I can appreciate the demands on the First Lady's time but once again I stress that we would be in a position to record the interview at any time - day or night, to accomodate her schedule.

The following is a brief outline of the questions we would hope to put to Mrs Clinton in the course of the interview.

OUTLINE

How Mrs Clinton has reacted to the euphoria which has greeted her visits to Ireland ? How did this impact on her personally or would she expect to be greeted like this anywhere else in the world?

The development of her knowledge of the Irish situation and how she witnessed the aftermath of violence when she visited Omagh?

How conscious would she be of the importance of the Irish American vote in American and New York politics in particular?

Her own background - decision to study law, the political thinking in College at that time, her early ambitions and the existence of a 'glass ceiling' ..

The development of her career alongside that of her husband and the difficulty of maintaining balance in her public / private life..

Her memories of campaigning for the White House and her eight years as First Lady..

Her position on Health Reform..

Mrs Clinton's decision to run for the Senate and plans for her new role..

How she guarded her daughter's privacy..

RE: Interview Request
VIA FACSIMILE: 202 456-7805

Dear Ms. Muscatine,

I am a senior writer for The Times of London's Saturday colour magazine, and I am most interested in interviewing Hillary Rodham Clinton about her book, "An Invitation to the White House." Although the book is not, as yet, published in Britain, there is great interest in it, and the mark Mrs. Clinton made on the White House during her stay.

We would anticipate a five or six page feature, using photographs from the book (for which we would be happy to make a donation to the National Park Foundation.) We would also use Mrs. Clinton's photograph on the cover.

I realize the First Lady is very busy right now, but to do justice to the feature, I would need at least a half-hour interview. I am available at short notice here at the Washington office.

I look forward to hearing from you, and am happy to discuss further details by phone.

Yours Sincerely,

Kate Muir

November 10, 2000

Dear Lissa,

This letter is a follow-up to a telephone conversation I had with a member of your staff yesterday (Thursday) concerning a forthcoming programme my station is working on.

Ulster Television is the largest commercial television station in Ireland, both North and South of the Border. Its flagship current affairs programme, "Insight", is at the moment preparing a 30-minute documentary on the impact of both the President and First Lady on the Northern Ireland peace process over the past eight years.

My name is Trevor Birney and I will be the Principal Reporter on the programme. In the past I have been closely involved in the station's coverage of U-S affairs. After the first Presidential visit to Ireland in 1995, I wrote a book on President Clinton's involvement in the peace process entitled "When the President Calls". I presented the First Lady with a copy during the 1998 trip. For the book, President Clinton gave an interview along with many other White House employees including former National Security Advisor, Anthony Lake and former White House spokesman, Mike McCurry. The book was launched in Belfast by the U-S Ambassadors to the UK and Ireland.

In putting a proposal to do a documentary making the end of the present administration, we have received the backing of the U-S Consulate in Belfast. Daniel Cruise at the NSC has been very helpful with our request for an interview with the President which is currently being considered.

The President's special advisor on Northern Ireland, George Mitchell has already signed up along with several other politicians on Capitol Hill.

To get to the point, we would also like to interview the First Lady.

At this point, we envisage the documentary being broadcast on the fifth anniversary of the President and First Lady's historic trip to Ireland on November 30th, 1995. If it comes off, the President's interview will be ran uncut and in full. We propose to do the same with the First Lady.

The interview would last no more than 10-minutes and would cover her memories of visiting Ireland in 1995 and her subsequent trips. The First Lady particularly took up the issues of women in politics here and it would be interesting to hear her views on the impact on her of the people she met. During one of her trips, the First Lady visiting Omagh along with her husband just weeks after a terrorist bomb had killed 29 people there. We would want to ask about her memories of that day. A full list of questions can be forwarded if that is helpful.

Obviously, we are aware of the First Lady's hectic schedule which will only be made worse by her election as Senator for New York. But I would impress on you the interest in her in Northern Ireland where the majority of people view her and the President as the effective parents of the peace process. We want to make a programme which does justice to their role here during the last several years.

If the First Lady is agreeable, we would propose the interview could be carried out sometime in the seven days before the 30th November anniversary which would then be broadcast as live in prime time across Ireland.

At the moment there is intense speculation of the President and First Lady visiting Ireland again over the 7th, 8th and 9th of December. If this proves to be the case, a programme looking back over the last eight-years would only help to build the right atmosphere for their return.

I hope that this is a proposal you can give serious consideration to. If you have any queries please contact me at tbirney@utvplc.com or at the telephone numbers below.

Thank-you for your attention and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Dear Ms Muscatine,

I am writing to you from TODAY, which is the BBC's flagship news programme to request a radio interview with Senator Clinton for late December.

TODAY has a listenership of eight million and sets the news agenda for the UK. We are internationally renowned for the quality of our journalism, and our political interviews are cited throughout the European press as well.

We would like to invite Senator Clinton to celebrate her tremendous success over the past year with us; ask her about her plans for New York for the future; and about how this new position will affect her other interests - such as her well-known campaigning work for children and women's rights.

Any possible interview would take no more than ten minutes of her time. We are, of course, flexible about the time and date. I would be happy to talk over any further details you may require in order to come to a decision and can be contacted on the above telephone number, or by email.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Lissa,

I am writing to request an interview with Hillary Clinton for BBC Newsnight, the main UK evening news analysis program, before Mrs Clinton takes office in January 2001. We would like to discuss with her the move from being First Lady to becoming Senator for New York. The interview will be conducted by Kirsty Wark or Jeremy Paxman, the two anchors of the show and it would last approximately 20 minutes.

Newsnight, the equivalent of ABC's Nightline, has been in Washington and across the USA in the last 18 months to interview American politicians including the Presidential nominees, George W. Bush and the Vice President, as well as William Cohen, Larry Summers, Strobe Talbott and Madeleine Albright. Our international interviews range from Tony Blair and Robin Cook to George Soros, Vladamir Putin, Bill Gates and Igor Ivanov. We have also interviewed American cultural figures such as Toni Morrison, Norman Mailer, Naomi Wolf, Noam Chomsky and Gore Vidal. In brief, we interview and gain the attention of the news-makers at home and abroad.

Our program airs Monday to Friday on BBC TV in Britain and highlights are then re-broadcast the same day on our International BBC World Service Television which is shown in 170 million homes worldwide in over 200 countries, including 30 million in the US alone. In the USA, we offer all films and material to ABC Nightline, C-Span TV and Radio, PBS, BBC America and BBC News Online.

I would be grateful if you could contact me to let me know if Mrs Clinton would be available to join our program. I can be reached at the BBC in Washington DC on 202-3315752 and I look forward to hearing from you in due course. Many thanks.

REQUEST FOR AN INTERVIEW WITH SENATOR HILLARY CLINTON

This is a formal request for an interview with Senator Hillary Clinton for "The World at One", programme on BBC Radio Four. We would like to do an end of year, reflective interview sometime between now and Christmas - ideally around the week beginning 11th of December 2000.

The "World at One" is the UK's premier radio current affairs programme. It seeks to provide intelligent news in depth by exploring a few significant issues each day. Through specialist insight and interviews with key decision-makers - past interviewees include Prime Minister Tony Blair; Israeli Premier Ehud Barak and former South African President Nelson Mandela - it offers listeners the context and background to news developments. For many months our programme covered Mrs Clinton's bid to be elected New York Senator: our listener's interest in that was highlighted by the increased number of e-mails and letters we received during that time. In this interview, she would have a chance to reflect on the campaign, discuss the highs and lows of her year, and to discuss her future plans.

In practical terms, the interview would take about 15 minutes. We can either arrange for a reporter to come to visit her at a time and location convenient to Mrs Clinton, or simply do it over the telephone. Can I ask you to contact me on +44 208 624 9745 or by e-mail liz.homewood@bbc.co.uk, to discuss these matters further.

I look forward to hearing from you, soon.

Thanking you in advance.

Yours sincerely

Liz

DIRECT LINE: FAX:

TO: HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON

FROM: EMMA GOSNELL, The Sunday Telegraph Review

FAX: 001 202 456 7805

DATE: 9 NOVEMBER 2000

Dear Mrs Clinton,

I write on behalf of The Sunday Telegraph to congratulate you on winning your senate seat and to ask if you would consider granting an interview to the Review section.

The 2,000-word piece would take up a full broadsheet page and would run in our main interview slot on page 3. It would also be puffed on the cover of the newspaper.

As you may know, The Sunday Telegraph was recently voted Newspaper of The Year and is Britain's leading quality broadsheet, with an ever-rising readership of over 2 million. We think our readers would be fascinated to read an interview with you, and we would be delighted if you agreed.

If you were interested, we would require only an hour of your time and we would fly out our star interviewer, Gyles Brandreth, to meet you at your convenience in America. Gyles is a former Government Minister who has conducted many exclusive interviews with people such as Sir Edward Heath, Lord Snowdon and the Duke of Edinburgh.

If you would like to consider the possibility, or if you have any questions you would like to go through with me, I can be contacted on 0207 538 7160 or e-mailed at emma.gosnell@telegraph.co.uk. I really look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Emma Gosnell

Gayleen Dalsimer
Press Coordinator
The First Lady's Press Office

Dear Gayleen Dalsimer,

I am following our telephone conversation with these requests. As I mentioned I am an artist with Associated Press assigned to illustrate a floor plan of the White House showing the refurbishing that has been done under the present administration. My project must be complete the week of the inauguration.

Along with the floor plan I would like to show samples of the fabrics, carpeting, wall paper and paint for each for each of the four rooms and the foyer.

Could you please supply me with the following:

1.The related press releases or a very brief list of what work was done in each of the five rooms.

2. Samples or photographs or drawings of the new fabrics, wall papers and carpets.

3. Photographs of each of the rooms would be helpful, but I'm not certain they would be necessary.

Finally, I would like to have you or someone at the White House proof my text and illustration for accuracy.

Thank you for your help.

Sincerely,

Francois Duckett

Re: Judy Weinraub / Washington Post Story

My media director, Tiki Davies, had lunch today with Judy Weinraub and at the end of lunch, mentioned a story idea. She then called me and here is the gist of what she wants to write. Judy wants to do a story on the impact of Hillary's decision to hire an American chef and the switch to American service. She thinks this is an incredibly positive story that ought to be done near the inauguration. She wants to highlight this decision as an extremely positive one and to showcase the dramatic effect that Walter's hiring has had on small producers of top quality products. For example, she mentioned is Jonathan White, the cheese maker that Walter uses a lot. She is hearing from a lot of people that Walter has reached out to the food community at large and is using a lot of small purveyors for which working with the White House has meant a great deal – it has even meant that they can stay in business.

She wants to talk with Walter and do a very positive story on Hillary's decision to hire him. She read Hillary's book and believes that this decision has been a really important one historically.

Ms. Lisa Muscatine
Press Secretary to the First Lady
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Ms. Muscatine:

For the past three years, I have engaged in talks with Marsha Berry concerning First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton's participation in Listen To Our Voices, a national educational television program focusing on youth violence in America. I am pleased to say that after three years of research and development, Listen To Our Voices is ready for a national audience.

I recently talked with Marsha in regards to the First Lady giving the forward presentation of Listen To Our Voices, with children and young adults affected by violence. Marsha's thoughts concerning this idea were favorable and she encouraged me to contact you to discuss this opportunity further.

Ms. Muscatine, I realize the First Lady's schedule is very hectic. However, the taping of the forward presentation can be scheduled after the elections, and around the First Lady's schedule. To accommodate her schedule (if necessary), the production team for JMG Productions is willing to travel to New York.

JMG Productions, a tax-exempt, nonprofit production company, in association with the National 4-H Council, the National Campaign To Stop Violence, the National Urban League, the Child Welfare League of America, and the Boys and Girls Clubs of America is collaboratively launching Listen To Our Voices.

Listen To Our Voices is an educational, documentary program that raises awareness on the issue of youth violence through the voices of children and young adults. This informative and compelling program is designed to reach young people between the ages of seven and seventeen, as well as their parents and/or guardians. The goals of this program are to promote violence prevention, educational awareness, family values and opportunities for the future. The objective of this program is to send a message to children and young adults that violence is not the answer to a problem.

Upon completion of the Listen To Our Voices program, it will be distributed to schools and youth organizations nationwide. In addition, the program is being marketed to television networks, and is currently being reviewed by TeenNBC.

TELEPHONE: (202) 362-0722 WEBSITE: jmgproductions.org FACSIMILE: (202) 362-3018

Production for the first segment of the Listen To Our Voices program is scheduled for Saturday, October 14, 2000, at the National 4-H Conference Center in Chevy Chase, Maryland. Educators, parents and children representing the following schools will convene for the taping of a forum discussion on violence:

Pearl High School-Pearl, Mississippi
West Side Middle School-Jonesboro, Arkansas
Heath High School-Paducah, Kentucky
Columbine High School-Littleton, Colorado
The District of Columbia Public Schools
Newark New Jersey Public Schools
Virginia Public Schools
Maryland Public Schools
New York City Public Schools

The forum discussion will engage participants in talks about violence prevention solutions that can be implemented in schools and communities nationwide. During taping of the forum discussion on October 14th, there will also be a simultaneous broadcast of the discussion on the Internet.

When tragedy kills one child, it destroys many. There are no explanations or answers to the violent tragedies that have claimed innocent lives in our nation's schools and communities. When children are able to fake a fire alarm and open gunfire on students and teachers, that is a problem. When teenagers are able to premeditate the ambush of a school, and successfully carry out the plan a year later, that is a problem. We, as a nation must wake-up to the problems concerning our children. Children are our future and when senseless tragedies claim innocent lives of tomorrow's leaders, it is time to take a stand and make a difference. Listen To Our Voices is a start.

Ms. Muscatine, it is often difficult to convey three years of research, development and planning in a letter. It is also difficult to encourage the participation of a high profile figure, First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, in a letter. However, I must try and do so. The problem of children and violence is out of control. If Listen To Our Voices can help prevent another violent and senseless tragedy in the hallways of our schools and on the playgrounds of our communities, a difference will be made.

Please contact me at your earliest convenience so that we can arrange a meeting to discuss the possibility of the First Lady giving the forward for the Listen To Our Voices program. Thank you for your time. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Joelle Mireille Goode

Monday November 13 2000

Dear Press Office

Re: request for interview with Hillary Clinton

Following my previous attempt to arrange an interview with Hillary Clinton, I hereby put a request in writing once again.

I was fortunate enough to be in New York during the week leading up to the senate and presidential elections, and would like to conduct an interview with Hillary Clinton following her success in New York.

I would like to conduct a 30-minute interview over the telephone sometime between now and mid December, and I would be grateful if you could tell me what's possible.

As a Welsh language weekly current affairs magazine, Golwg is read by approximately 12,000, with Welsh readers subscribing in North America, as well as Europe, Japan and of course Wales and the United Kingdom.

The interview with Hillary Clinton would be published in Welsh, and would be printed as soon as possible following our telephone interview.

I look forward to hearing from you soon, and I would be more than welcome to answer any further questions you may have as regards the magazine. I could also supply you with copies of the magazine, if that would be of help.

My direct e-mail address is golygyddol@golwg.com, and I can be reached on the general telephone number, (UK code) + 01570 423529.

Yours faithfully,

Karen Owen

RE: Nelson Mandela Tribute

Dear Ms. Batcheller:

The Oprah Winfrey Show is planning a very special program celebrating the life of Nelson Mandela. Oprah Winfrey will be interviewing Mr. Mandela on November 17, 2000. We are inviting World Leaders and international celebrities to pay special tribute to Mr. Mandela and would like to hear how he has touched or inspired the life of the First Lady. We read that she was moved by her trip to South Africa and Mr. Mandela and would like to include any personal stories or memories that she may have about Mr. Mandela. We are certain her participation would be a wonderful addition to this program.

We understand that this is an extremely busy time for Mrs. Clinton and would like to work around her schedule, following the election if necessary. We can send a crew to her, wherever she is anytime between now and November 14, 2000. Per our conversation, we can also make arrangements to have your staff tape the message and send it to us, if it should be easier on the First Lady and her staff. The shoot will take only a short amount of time and is intended to be incorporated into the show, scheduled for broadcast on Monday, November 20th.

If you would like to participate, please contact me as soon as possible so that we make the necessary arrangements. My direct line is (312) 633-1123 and my Email address is DBrooks@Harpo.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

Dear Lissa,

On behalf of Paula Zahn, host of The Edge with Paula Zahn on the Fox News Channel, I would like to request an interview with First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton. The interview would be about Mrs. Clinton's new book, An Invitation to the White House. The book ties in with the 200th Anniversary of the White House. Paula would also like to ask the First Lady about her historic victory in the New York Senate race and about being Senator-elect.

The Edge with Paula Zahn airs weeknights on the Fox News Channel at 10 p.m. ET. Our program usually tapes at 4 p.m. daily, however, if the First Lady is interested in doing the interview, we could make the tape time flexible in order to work around her schedule. The interview would be one-on-one and would last about a half-hour.

Attached you will find a biography on Paula Zahn. I realize the book's publication date is November 29, 2000. It would be greatly appreciated if you could respond to this request before November 17th.

Thank you. I look forward to hearing from you soon!

Sincerely,

PAULA ZAHN
(ANCHOR)

Paula Zahn joined FOX News Channel (FNC) in March of 1999. Currently, she is host of "The Edge With Paula Zahn" (Mondays-Fridays, 10-11PM ET), a one-hour hard news driven program offering a wide array of compelling and diverse interviews, from the world's top decision makers to the nation's leading opinion leaders. Most recently, Zahn anchored the network's signature evening newscast, "The Fox Report."

Prior to joining FNC, Zahn was the anchor of "CBS Evening News Saturday Edition" and served as the back-up anchor for Dan Rather on the evening news. Prior to that, Zahn spent six years as the co-host of "CBS This Morning." While in this position, she co-anchored CBS Sports' weekday morning coverage of the 1994 Olympic Winter Games in Lillehammer and also served as the primetime co-host of the 1992 Winter Olympics in Albertville, France. In continuing at CBS, Zahn also contributed to "48 Hours," "CBS News Sunday Morning," as well as network specials and documentaries, and in 1994, received an Emmy Award for Outstanding Coverage of a Continuing News Story. In 1998, she was awarded a GRACIE by American Women In Radio and Television (AWRT).

Before joining CBS News, Zahn served as co-anchor of ABC's "World News This Morning," while also anchoring news segments on "Good Morning America." Before her stint there, Zahn was an anchor/reporter at KCBS-TV in Los Angeles (1986-87), where she received an Emmy Award for reporting, and WNEV-TV (now WHDH-TV), the CBS affiliate in Boston (1983-85). Zahn received the Newscaster of the Year Award from AWRT for her work at KPRC-TV (1981-83), the NBC affiliate in Houston and an Emmy Award for Investigative Reporting while an anchor/reporter for KFMB-TV (1979-81), the CBS affiliate in San Diego.

A graduate of Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, Zahn began her career at WFAA-TV (ABC) in Dallas. In 1992, Zahn, now a mother of three, was named one of the 1992 Mothers of the Year by the National Mother's Day Committee.

Press Secretary for Hillary Clinton
fax: 202-456-7805

To Lissa Muscatine:

Hello. I'm writing because I'm working on a piece for Mademoiselle magazine called "When I Was 25," for which we're asking luminaries from all walks of life to tell us what they were doing --what exactly their life was--when they were 25. We would love to be able to include Mrs. Clinton in the piece, should she be interested in commenting.

I could interview her briefly by phone, or she could e-mail directly with me, or she could pass an answer on to you, from which I would take an excerpt of either 30-40 words or 150-200 words. Since the excerpts are to be in the respondents' own voices, I'd need to get her exact words.

If she's interested, we'd probably need to have her response by, say, late next week, though if we knew she was going to respond for sure, we could probably extend that by a few days.

Thanks in advance for your help with this matter. I hope to hear from you and/or Hillary Clinton as soon as you can, by either phone or e-mail.

Sincerely,

Cathi Hanauer

Subject: Wendy Diamond, Animal Fair

Dear Gayleen:

As per your conversation with Wendy Diamond today, following is some information about Animal Fair and the project we hope to pursue with your office.

Animal Fair magazine is the first lifestyle magazine for animal lovers and pet owners. Each issue features celebrities, art, fashion, beauty, photography, design and travel and highlights the work fo four not-for-profit organizations that support animal rescue. Animal Fair donates 10% of the proceeds of magazine sales to animal charities across the country and is distributed by Warner Distribution Services.

Animal Fair has worked with some of the top names in arts and entertainment over the last year of its operation including Brad Pitt, Renee Zellweger, Rupert Everett, Halle Berry, Kim Cattrall, Eric McCormack, Patrick DeMarchelier, Bruce Weber, William Wegman, George Rodrigue, Kenny Scharf, Mary Boone and many, many others. In addition to the print publication, Animal Fair also hosts two events annually, Paws for Style, a one of a kind celebrity and dog fashion show, and Canine Comedy, an evening of comedy's top stars, both of which benefit local animal rescue efforts.

Wendy Diamond, the founder and editorial director of Animal Fair, seeks to work with your office to create copy for an upcoming issue of the magazine. We would like to produce a piece on Buddy using Wendy and her rescue dog, Lucky. The story would be a humorous tale of "dog seeking dog" and include scenes of Buddy's last days in the White House and the AF founder.

Please let me know if I can provide you with any further information. I can be reached at 212-629-0392 x204.

Dear Lissa,
Thank you for getting back with me regarding First Lady Mrs. Hillary Rodham Clinton and "The First Women of The Whitehouse. I have had the pleasure of interviewing Mrs. Clinton several times and have always been impressed with her intelligence and personal passion as a woman in government. Dedicated to original and honest conversation interviews, my experience brought me to the realization that a Real Women's Political Forum with Women of The Whitehouse would extend the valuable mark, vast contributions and importance that goes beyond fashion and hairstyles.

Combining the innovativeness of technology with the communication connection of high quality talk radio breaks new ground and reaches the American People personally and directly.

Attached is my resume, and I believe you have a list of interviewed guests. The interview will air on WLS/ABC Radio Chicago. There is additional interest from The ABC & CBS News Corporation.

The contribution of the First Ladies shared experiences, vision and final months at The White House after eight years of service has infinite significance.

I look forward to discussing these opportunities with you and thank you for your time and attention.

REAL WOMEN'S POLTICAL FORUM – First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, Potential (Candidate) First Lady Tipper Gore and Former First ladies Mrs. Betty Ford, and Mrs. Nancy Reagan, (example: A Charlie Rose like scene/Roundtable) discussion about their experiences, feelings, and contribution desires for the future. This candid and intimate dialogue invites the American People into a respectful and passionate experience of Women & The Whitehouse.

I am writing to request an interview with Chelsea Clinton for a feature story/possible cover that would run in the March issue of Mademoiselle magazine.
The story: America loves Chelsea Clinton, even though they know very little about her. She has successfully pulled back from the public eye while still endearing herself to the American people, and done so gracefully. We would like to do a responsible and respectful profile on who Chelsea is—how she feels about her public life, how she's managed to stay private, and basically, what her passions, hobbies and interests are. Mademoiselle's readers are in their early twenties, and have a great interest in Chelsea, who is one of the few positive examples of people in their age group.
I am an editor and staff writer at Newsweek in the Arts & Entertainment section, and am doing this story as a freelance piece for Mademoiselle. Our deadline is in two weeks, but obviously, we will stretch it to the next issue if Chelsea is willing to grant us an interview.
Thanks For Your Time.

Wednesday, November 15th, 2000

Dear Erica Batcheller:

As Election 2000 has gone from the polls to the courts, Court TV is quickly becoming the network of record for the legal battle.

As we move forward with our extensive coverage of these extraordinary news events, we continue to produce live and up-to-date specials to keep our viewers informed of the latest events. With that in mind, we would like to invite the First Lady and Senator-Elect Hillary Clinton to join us for a one-on-one interview with our Chief Anchor and Managing Editor Fred Graham.

We are interested in discussing the latest developments in the presidential election; the election process – in Florida and around the country, the latest rulings made on the recounts, and the current and future role of the Electoral College. We would also like to congratulate her on her victory to the U.S. Senate. It would be an honor for us to interview Senator Clinton on her future plans in her new role in Congress.

While our daytime and evening election program coverage is live, we would like to make every effort possible to speak with Senator Clinton, therefore we would be able to do a pretaped or live interview, as per her schedule. We would like very much to work with you to arrange this at a time most convenient for Senator Clinton.

Our Court TV studios are conveniently located at 600 Third Avenue, between 39th & 40th Streets in Manhattan. We would like to ask if it would be at all possible to speak with her next week, in regards to the historical events taking place.

I am looking forward to speaking with you further. I can also be reached directly at (212) 973-8951.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dear Erika,

We are interested in hosting Mrs. Clinton on the Yair Lapid show on Israel TV channel 2.
Yair Lapid is one of the most well known print and broadcast journalists in Israel. He has been hosting a televised one on one interview show for over three years which has attracted over 420 of the leading Israeli and international political. business. entertainment and media figures. Among them Prime Ministers Baraq. Peres. Netanyahu and others.In addition we have interviewed high profile individuals such as Bill Gates, the Dali Lama, Jihan Saadat and others. Our show is televised on Thursday evenings at 9:30 pm (prime time).
We are looking to speak with Mrs. Clinton about her relationship with Leah and Yizhak Rabin and to allow our Israeli viewers to hear first hand about their friendship over the years.
We look forward to your earliest response and we will happily provide any further details that you may need.
I thank you for your assistance.

Gayleen Dalsimer, Press Coordinator
The White House

Dear Ms. Dalsimer:

First, thank you very much for your assistance in this matter. USA TODAY is interesting in running a major package in late October that will mark the 200th anniversary of the White House as the President's residence. We would like to be able to tour the White House with curator Betty Monkman as part of this package, and we hope you'll be able to help us arrange that.

For this package, my colleague Susan Page is preparing a Page One "cover story" on life in the White House from the perspective of occupants, both modern-day and historic. She has interviewed, by phone or fax, Barbara Bush, Maureen Reagan and Lynda Bird Robb. She's requested an interview with President Clinton and hopes these and other interviews will be able to take place.

Earlier this month, Susan, editor Anita Sama and I met at the public relations offices of Shandwick International for lunch with three people from the White House Historical Association: executive vice president Neil Horstman, Maria Downs and historian William Bushong.

That meeting helped us develop another pivotal element of this package - and one that will likely determine play and color positioning. That is my story detailing 10 rooms that display little known and interesting pieces of decorative art and other objects within the White House. This story would key off a White House tour of these rooms. Clearly, the USA TODAY editors who will assign space for the anniversary package would be most likely to give it a higher profile if the coverage would give readers a look into the White House beyond that common to a public tour.

When this concept of a 10-places tour surfaced during the historical association luncheon, Ms. Downs and Mr. Horstman recommended that an excellent guide for selecting decorative art and other pieces would be a new book, The White House; Its Historic Furnishings & First Families, by Betty Monkman. They also suggested that a perfect person to lead such a tour would be Ms. Monkman. After paging through the early copy they provided, I heartily concur and hope this will be possible.

Following this meeting, Susan Page and I met to discuss our coverage ideas with White House Usher Gary Walters on Sept. 19. He was very encouraging. For our discussion, he led us into the Map Room with its storied past and excellent examples of Chippendale 18th century furniture, a place that would certainly warrant inclusion on our list of 10.

We talked of possible access to other decorative pieces on the second floor in areas like the Lincoln Bedroom, something that would help make this story distinctive for our 2.4 million readers. Mr. Walters said that the bedroom had been the subject of a media visit in 1993 by ABC's Sam Donaldson.

"I'm sure we can work out most of these things," Mr. Walters said to us. "You're not looking for things that are necessarily personal to the family, so I don't think we have a difficulty with that."

He also recommended that a perfect person to lead such a tour would be Curator Betty Monkman. I later chatted by telephone with Ms. Monkman.

Per your request, we have below a list of what we would like to visit in our 10-room tour to discuss decorative art and history in these places:

- The Lincoln Bedroom, with that famous bed of rosewood veneer and the richly carved headboard that was purchased by Mary Todd Lincoln much to her husband's consternation, resulting in his familiar "flub dubs" quote.
- The Map Room
- The East Room, with its famous Gilbert Stuart painting of Washington, the only object that has been consistently displayed in the White House since the beginning.
- State Dining Room.
- Blue Room, which contains some of the most treasured decorative arts in the White House, according to Ms. Monkman's book. They include original Bellange pieces obtained by President Monroe. There are also certain decorative pieces, which, according to the book, were the subject of criticism that led to the electoral defeat of Martin Van Buren.
- Treaty Room, where there is the famous Potter & Stymus Cabinet Table purchased during the Grant Administration, used then for his cabinet and used frequently by president's since, particularly as the place where treaties have been signed. This was a suggestion from Gary Walters when he asked for a decorative object that has been used frequently by presidents.
- Oval Office, with the Resolute Desk made from the timbers of a British warship and used by nearly every president since 1880.
- Queens Sitting Room, one of the last rooms still decorated in the manner prescribed by Jackie Kennedy, who was so influential in White House preservation.
- Truman Balcony - the site of burn marks which President Clinton mentions as a point of reflection at moments of national crisis in the documentary prepared by the National Geographic Society.
- Not sure of the location, but wherever is located the fabled "Ship of State," the Hiawatha Boat centerpiece obtained at the 1876 Centennial Exposition by Julia Grant. This was another suggestion offered by Gary Walters.

The package of stories is scheduled to run the last week of October.

The USA TODAY participants in the tour would be Susan Page and myself. We would also like to include a photographer. We understand this is questionable. However, Mr. Walters indicated that this might be doable.

Thanks very much for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Gregg LaRoya

RE: Nelson Mandela Tribute

Dear Ms. Batcheller:

The Oprah Winfrey Show is planning a very special program celebrating the life of Nelson Mandela. Oprah Winfrey will be interviewing Mr. Mandela on November 17, 2000. We are inviting World Leaders and international celebrities to pay special tribute to Mr. Mandela and would like to hear how he has touched or inspired the life of the First Lady. We read that she was moved by her trip to South Africa and Mr. Mandela and would like to include any personal stories or memories that she may have about Mr. Mandela. We are certain her participation would be a wonderful addition to this program.

We understand that this is an extremely busy time for Mrs. Clinton and would like to work around her schedule, following the election if necessary. We can send a crew to her, wherever she is anytime between now and November 14, 2000. Per our conversation, we can also make arrangements to have your staff tape the message and send it to us, if it should be easier on the First Lady and her staff. The shoot will take only a short amount of time and is intended to be incorporated into the show, scheduled for broadcast on Monday, November 20th.

If you would like to participate, please contact me as soon as possible so that we make the necessary arrangements. My direct line is (312) 633-1123 and my Email address is DBrooks@Harpo.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

THE THINGS SHE CANNOT CONTROL OFTEN MEASURE A WOMAN! SHE IS MEASURED BY THE WAY HER BODY CURVES OR DOESN'T CURVE, BY WHERE SHE IS FLAT OR STRAIGHT OR ROUND. 36-24-36 AND INCHES AND AGES AND NUMBERS MEASURE HER, BY ALL THE OUTSIDE THINGS THAT DON'T EVER ADD UP TO WHO SHE IS ON THE INSIDE.

AND SO IF A WOMAN IS TO BE MEASURED, LET HER BE MEASURED BY THE THINGS SHE CAN CONTROL, BY WHO SHE IS AND WHO SHE IS TRYING TO BECOME. BECAUSE AS EVERY WOMAN KNOWS, MEASUREMENTS ARE ONLY STATISTICS AND STATISTICS LIE!

Dear Lisa,
It seems like you were just here for the Convention! Dedicated to exceptional, smart and refreshing interviews the upcoming charitable event in Los Angeles, The Carousel of Hope on October 28, 2000 poses a priceless opportunity with Current, Past and a Potential future First Lady.

Dear Erika:

It was a pleasure speaking with you this morning. As I mentioned, on December 1, 2000, our morning show host Don Weeks will be celebrating his 20th anniversary with WGY. Because this occasion is so special to Don and to WGY (not to mention his listeners), we would be honored if the First Lady would join us in celebrating.

We would love for Mrs. Clinton to call Don live on the air to offer an anniversary greeting. If Mrs. Clinton's schedule doesn't allow for a live greeting, we could certainly arrange to pre-record a greeting to be played on the air that morning. And, of course, if the President could join her, that would be wonderful!

Radio 810 WGY in Albany, New York is a powerful 50,000-watt clear channel News/Talk station serving upstate New York, and reaches north to Ticonderoga, west to Syracuse, south to Poughkeepsie and east into Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

"The Don Weeks Show", which airs weekdays from 5:30 to 9:00 AM, reaches approximately 250,000 listeners each morning, and consistently ranks among the top morning shows in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy market. "The Don Weeks Show" is a fun, family-oriented variety program, and attracts listeners from all ages and income levels.

Thank you very much in advance for any help you and the First Lady can give us in celebrating Don Weeks' 20th Anniversary. I look forward to hearing from you soon. New York loves our new Senator Hillary Clinton!

November 28, 2000

Senator-Elect & First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, West Wing
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Hillary,

Again, many many congratulations on your triumph.

Talk Magazine is organizing a photo shoot that will celebrate the incumbent and freshmen women Senators of the 107th Congress. Most of the 11 other Senators have already confirmed their participation. This session marks an exciting new chapter in American politics because of the record number of women serving next year. As the first First Lady to become a member of this group, your inclusion in this photo is of course extremely important. Indeed, it would be very strange not to have your presence alongside all your peers in this shoot that is tentatively scheduled for December 5th.

I have just spoken with Kathie Berlin about this photograph and she seemed to agree that it would be a wonderfully historic addition to the magazine.

It was a pleasure to see you moments after your victory on election night. I wish you all the luck in the world for the next act of your brilliant career.

Best wishes,

Tina
