The Play Space Initiative

PlayBoard, the lead agency for children's play in Northern Ireland, in partnership with Belfast City Council, have pleasure in inviting you to attend a ground-breaking event of its environmental Belfast Play Space, to be held at:

Musgrave Park, Stockman's Lane, Belfast
on the morning of Thursday 13th May 1999
(precise time to be confirmed later)

GUEST OF HONOUR:

The First Lady of the United States, ~~Mrs~~ <sup>Redwan</sup> Hillary Clinton

IN ATTENDANCE:

Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, Dr Mo Mowlam
The Lord Mayor of Belfast, David Alderdice

The Play Space Initiative, which was launched in September 1998 by Hillary Clinton and Cherie Blair, will lead to the development of a number of environmental havens for the children of Northern Ireland. The Musgrave Park site is the first of two planned centres of excellence, and we are delighted to welcome again the First Lady of the United States, Hillary Clinton, to undertake the ground-breaking exercise. We invite you to celebrate with PlayBoard the next phase of this exciting initiative.

Please complete the attached slip and return to Caroline Mills at PlayBoard, 59/65 York Street, Belfast BT15 1AA. Tel: 01232 803380 Fax: 01232 803381

BT Northern Ireland help XXXXX Stay in Touch

BT Northern Ireland will provide the latest in telecommunications technology this week when it provides the video-conferencing link-up for XXXXX visit to Northern Ireland.

XXXXX is visiting Belfast once again as part of the Vital Voices, Women in Democracy initiative to highlight the role of women in society including business and politics. The XXXXXX will speak at a conference in the Spires Centre to an audience of over 400 delegates, however, with the aid of video-conferencing from BT Northern Ireland, her message will be transmitted to the Women Mean Business Conference at the Slieve Russell Hotel, Co.Cavan; to Magee College, Derry, and to the Moylin House Community Centre, Craigavon. In total the XXXXX message will be carried to almost 1000 people. Secretary of State Dr Majorie Mowlam will host the visit.

Commenting on the event, BT Northern Ireland, Director, Lucy Woods said, "BT Northern Ireland are delighted to once again support this valuable initiative that upholds the role of women in economic and political life. We are also thrilled to provide the telecommunications necessary for the successful delivery of the XXXXX address. We believe this is recognition of our commitment and quality service to consumers in Northern Ireland. That commitment extends internationally with our global joint venture with AT&T to serve the communication needs of multinationals and the international calling needs of individuals and businesses around the world using an advanced worldwide network.

"Video-conferencing is the latest in digital technology meeting the demands of many companies through better quality and better value telecommunications, and offering yet another business solution."

For further information on this release please contact Marnie O'Neill or Carmel O'Connor on Belfast 214239.

Notes to Editors

- 1 BT Northern Ireland is one of the most capital intensive local businesses, with an annual investment expenditure of up to £40m each year.
- 2 BT employs almost 2,800 people in Northern Ireland.
- 3 The fifty-fifty global joint venture with AT&T has been approved by the European Commission and will later this year seek approval from the US Department of Justice and the Federal Communications Commission.

Marsha,

The best way to contact Tara Bolduc, UVM Senior, daughter of longtime Leahy staffer, is via e-mail, because the apartment phone is three flights down or something. E-mail address is Tara.Bolduc@NUIGALWAY.IE. If she were given a contact she would follow up. Her brother, David Bolduc, and his wife Shelley will be visiting Tara and would love to hear the First Lady speak also, if possible. If it can happen, great. If not, no sweat. Thanks. rgp

PROPOSED ITINERARY FOR THE VISIT OF THE FIRST LADY OF THE UNITED STATES
& THE GROUND-BREAKING EXERCISE OF THE PLAY SPACE INITIATIVE

1. Hillary Clinton arrives at the site, to be greeted by children from PlayBoard's PlayClubs who participated, earlier in this year, in design workshops. Almost 100 children from PlayBoard's out-of-school clubs gathered in Belfast to design their ideal environmental play area. Children will be presenting their drawings and models to Hillary Clinton and the other speakers, and will be joined by children from Cranmore Integrated Primary School, which is located nearby.
2. Hillary Clinton talks to the children for a short time, looking at their drawings and models, before progressing up the path, towards the platform
3. Hillary Clinton, assisted by a child, plants something of local origin – possibly bluebells (a wild flower, endangered in Northern Ireland). The Lord Mayor/Dr Mowlam, again assisted by a child, plant something of North American origin. These plants will eventually be transferred to the sensory garden which PlayBoard wish to call "Hillary's Garden"
4. Another possible photo opportunity would be a ground-breaking exercise, with Hillary Clinton cutting the first sod of earth.
5. Hillary Clinton and the other speakers proceed to the platform. At this stage, it is thought that the platform will be erected facing the Play Space although not actually part of it. This location is slightly raised, and will allow the speakers and invitees to view the site better. The seats will be placed in theatre style.
6. Speeches – the speakers could be introduced by children (to be selected).
Speakers:           Hillary Clinton
                          Dr Mo Mowlam
                          Lord Mayor of Belfast, Cllr David Alderdice
                          Antoinette McKeown
7. Hillary Clinton, as agreed, is introduced to 'friends of PlayBoard'.

NB: Wet weather contingency being drawn up at present.
PlayBoard is currently sourcing chairs, flooring and marquees.

Background Information to the Musgrave Park site

Musgrave Park, the site of the first PlaySpace in Northern Ireland, is situated in the south-west of the city. The site is considered a neutral venue for the following reasons:-

- The site is surrounded by a highly deprived Protestant estate to the east (Taughmonagh) and Catholic west Belfast, which has the highest levels of family poverty in Northern Ireland, also bordering the site. Belfast City Council has agreed approximately four acres within the Musgrave Park site for the Play Space, providing an environmental haven for children from both communities to come together in a space that they can call their own.
- The Park has also been designated as the site for new integrated primary and secondary schools for integrated education, a real sign of communities and families who want their children to grow up together in peace. Children aged 4-16 from both communities will attend the schools (this is also the age range for playwork). Children from the primary school, Cranmore Integrated Primary School, will be present to greet Hillary Clinton next week.

PlayBoard is also inviting children who participated in the design workshops and who inspired the final plan for the Play Space along to show Hillary Clinton their work and to inform her of why they chose particular features for the site. We will also have a model Play Space which children from the YMCA PlayClub in Newcastle, County Down, developed featuring their "Bridge of Peace".

FINISHED TRANSCRIBING – NEEDS TO BE EDITED

FIRST LADY HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON
REMARKS TO
PROJECT CHILDREN'S IRISH VALENTINE
THE KENNEDY CENTER
FEBRUARY 3, 1999

Thank you very much. Thank you. It is an honor for me to be hear again and don't you feel energized after seeing the Trinity Irish Dancers? And it is that kind of energy that children give us and remind us of. I want to read The Railway Children by Seamus Heaney.

The Railway Children
By Seamus Heaney

When we climbed the slopes of the cutting
We were eye-level with the white cups
Of the telegraph poles and the sizzling wires.

Like lovely freehand they curved for miles
East and miles west beyond us, sagging
Under their burden of swallows.

We were small and thought we knew nothing
Worth knowing. We thought words traveled the wires in the shiny pouches of raindrops,

Each one seeded full with the light
Of the sky, the gleam of the lines, and ourselves

So infinitesimally scaled

We could stream through the eye of a needle.

Each of us has memories of childhood. And tonight we celebrate Project Children's Irish Valentine. Through the power of a child's voice, Seamus Heaney takes us back to a time of imagination and innocence. A time when we felt so small we could fit through the eye of a needle. A time when we looked to adults to protect and guide us.

And that is exactly what Project Children, thanks to all of you, has been doing for the past twenty-five years: Guiding the children of Northern Ireland as they create their own world -- a world without the bombings and hatred of the past, a world filled with peace and hope for the future.

For 25 years, Project Children have helped both Catholic and Protestant children to build bridges of friendship and understanding. To see that what they shared in common was far greater than what they thought they had in terms of differences. To understand that a just society is built on the foundation of mutual respect -- especially for our differences.

For 25 years, Project Children has opened the hearts and minds of so many people and especially the heart and mind of -- one child at a time -- to plant the seeds of peace which now flourish. In so doing, we have been shown the road to peace depends, not only upon teaching children, but also listening to them. Which is what we are doing tonight.

Through readings, song, and dance, we can hear the voices of the young people who will one day inherit Northern Ireland. Their calls for peace, once whispered, are now a reality in their homeland and an inspiration for the entire world.

I've heard these voices of peace. I've heard them in Belfast and I've heard them here in Washington. Because the participants of Project Children's Washington program have made it clear to all of us that we had to open our hearts and minds. One of those young people, Vicky Moore, interned in my office at the White House. And, when she returned to Northern Ireland, she ran for the Executive Committee of the Women's Coalition -- and she won. She is now the youngest person ever to serve on this Executive Committee. I like to think that my osmosis she picked up some political hints while she was here with us.

I heard these voices of peace in Johnny Graham, another Project Children participant who created Grassroots: Northern Ireland, an organization modeled after our own AmeriCorps. Johnny and his friends understood that without opportunity, too many young college graduates, will leave Northern Ireland in search of jobs. So they've helped graduates earn money while working for community organizations and staying home to build a strong, prosperous, hopeful, peaceful future. There are so many stories like these, so many voices to hear.

I remember just this past September when the President and I were in Belfast. And I went to a beautiful green space

And I heard those voices of peace standing with Protestant and Catholic children on one of Belfast's beautiful green spaces this past September. We were joined by an American organization named KaBOOM! and a Northern Ireland organization named PlayBoard, which were teaming up to create safe environments for children to play in -- something almost unheard of during the Troubles. I stood with these children on a grassy hilltop as they released white balloons into the air -- carrying with them their dreams for tomorrow.

Mason - maybe we could work with this? -Kathy

Because tonight we mark more than an anniversary -- we celebrate the promise of a new day for the children of Northern Ireland. A day when they can play and grow up like all children should -- without respect to religion or politics, without stereotyping or name calling, without fear or violence.

And when they do, it will be because Project Children helped give them the courage to imagine a different world...and the commitment to create it for themselves and all who follow. Just as you've done for 25 years.

Happy anniversary and thank you very much.

Memo to: Office of the First Lady, Katy Button
From: Public Affairs Office/US Embassy Dublin, Barbara Scarlett B.
Subject: FLOTUS/GALWAY VISIT

Katy:

1. Press:

We have a number of requests from Irish media for interviews with the First Lady during her Galway visit. As discussed in our telephone conversation April 26, 1999, I am forwarding copies of the written requests from the most prominent media for your Office's review and recommendation. I note that the Flotus schedule to date does not include media encounters. However, my understanding is that the President of University of Galway, Dr. Fottrell, may raise the press scenario with you in your meeting with him tomorrow April 29 at 3pm. Do you envisage press interviews for the Flotus? Have requests come into you? Please advise.

Note: In addition to the Vincent Browne radio interview, the Pat Kenny radio interview, and the Irish Times Education Services, requests have come in from the regional and Galway City print media, and local FM radio programs. All want the human interest side of the FLOTUS.

As well, Wall Street Journal/Washington reporter will be coming to cover the events.

2. Advance:

We understand that the Advance will arrive on Tuesday. Who is coming? Will Patrick Halley be here then also? We will be in the Great Southern Hotel awaiting them. The University is on stand-by for the walk-thru, and the Department of Foreign Affairs representatives will be available to assist. We plan to have the usual requirements and rooms set up by that time.

All the Best,

B.
Barbara

Dear Ms. Scarlett,

We would like to request an interview with the First Lady, Hillary Rodham Clinton, on the occasion of her visit to The National University in Galway on May 12th, 1999.

Our proposal is for an extended interview of about 45 minutes length which would encompass the whole width and depth of her life and career to date.

These programme length interviews are a feature of our programme and have attracted very favourable comment in the past. The intention of these programmes is to portray the whole personality of the interviewee, what motivates them and to move beyond mere political rhetoric.

Should however, Hillary Rodham Clinton be only available for a shorter interview, we would still be interested in pursuing this request.

The interview could either be recorded which would be a straight one-to-one or it could be live in which case we would include calls from our listeners.

The interview could be conducted at our studio in Galway at a time convenient to the First Lady.

"Tonight with Vincent Browne", is one of Ireland's most influential radio programmes and we would very much value having Hillary Rodham Clinton as our guest.

Should you require any further information, please feel free to contact me at:
☎ 208-3267 / 3992 / 3994.

Yours Sincerely,

TO: JEAN RYLANDS - AMERICAN EMBASSY

FROM: NITA BYRNE - PAT KENNY RADIO PROGRAMME

RE: HILARY CLINTON INTERVIEW

Dear Jean,

Could you please forward a request on my behalf for an interview with Hilary Clinton on the Pat Kenny Radio Programme. From what I can gather the First Lady will be in Galway on the 12th and we would love to broadcast our programme from Galway University to co-incide with her visit there.

We would request an interview with the First Lady at any time that is convenient for her. We can record the interview at a hotel/venue of her choice and we can do the interview in Dublin/ Galway or Belfast, whichever fits into her itinerary.

As you know we are on air from 100-1200 and it would be wonderful if we could do a live interview from Galway University, but we would be obviously be delighted with any time at all and will arrange to make ourselves available for any time slot you suggest.

Pat has met the First Lady when he did MC in Dublin for President Clinton's visit and Pat broadcast his programme from the White House on St Patrick's Day so the First Lady will be aware of him. I hope this might help in our request.

The format of the interview would be as follows:

- * The popularity of Hilary Clinton as First Lady
- Her role in the future
- Social Issues Women in Society
- Her work with Vital Voices

If you require any further information please do not hesitate to call me,

I hope you will view this request favourably and look forward to hearing from you,

Regards,

Attention : Barbara Scarlett

From : Yvonne Healy

Following our telephone conversation earlier, I am writing to confirm my request to do a short - 10 minutes - interview with Mrs Hilary Clinton, who is visiting NUI, Galway on 12 May.

The interview is for the Alma Mater column in Education & Living, which as you know, is the the weekly education supplement of the Irish Times.

For Alma Mater, people talk to us about their school days or other educational influences. One question we usually ask is : did you learn anything at school/college that has influenced/helped you in later life?

Education & Living boasts a broad readership including educators, parents, employers and importantly, young people. In fact it is the only youth newspaper in Ireland.

Dear Ms Berry,

I am writing to inquire whether there is any chance of an interview - no matter how brief! - with the First Lady in advance of her visit to the UK next week. Both I and my paper are particularly interested in her engagement with the ChildLine charity and would like to talk to her generally about this and related issues.

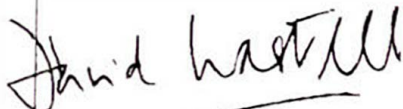

Since taking up this post last summer I have written from time to time about the involvement of Lady Meyer, the wife of the British ambassador, with the campaign for internationally missing and exploited children. The Sunday Telegraph was, so far as I know, the only paper to report in advance that Mrs Clinton would be joining Cherie Booth to launch the new campaign in Washington, which we were able to do with the help of both Lady Meyer and of Downing Street.

I was present at the Embassy last month when Mrs Clinton gave her speech and was very struck by her deep concern.

I have no doubt that Lady Meyer would vouch for me if you were in any doubt, as would Shaun Woodward of ChildLine, whom I have known for many years.

I will be away from my office for the later part of today and tomorrow morning, and could be contacted most easily during that time on my cellular telephone (202-255 0454) if you would like to discuss this further. I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

In spite of our progress on human rights over the last half century, it is unconscionable that the circle of human dignity has not been expanded wide enough to include all the children of the world. There are still too many children who are abused and neglected, denied health care and education. There are too many children who are victims of violence and war – too many left to fend for themselves on the streets, working in inhumane conditions, trafficked like drugs and sold into prostitution. And, through it all, there are still too many children whose suffering we fail to see, to feel, to hear, and ultimately, to stop.

We know that human rights do not miraculously appear when we turn 18. They are not handed to us by parents or governments. No piece of paper can give them or take them away. Every single boy and girl is born with the rights and dignity accorded to all human beings. And it is up to adults to make these promises real in the everyday lives of all children.

Dear Melanne,

How are things at your end? Our recce team is just out in Chicago and Washington at the moment and we are all looking forward to seeing you at the NATO Summit.

I have just one more request on the "Hearing Children's Voices" conference, which is self-explanatory if you read the enclosed letter. The Express is sponsoring the conference and wants to run something exclusive on the day.

Would it be possible for them to use a précis of Hillary's speech, or a short article based on it?

Maybe Marsha could give me a ring to discuss this, or contact Rosie Boycott directly.

Thanks again for all your help with this.

Dear Fiona,

Firstly, I just wanted to stress once again how delighted I am that The Express is sponsoring Hearing Children's Voices. It is a fantastic project and it is a great pleasure to be involved.

As we discussed in our meeting, our plan editorially is to run features in the week commencing May 10th. I am keen to start the series with a piece written by Cherie Booth and our focus will then move onto case studies highlighting the plight of children forced to endure the judicial system. On the day of the conference itself, I would like to publish something from Hilary Clinton and the most straightforward solution would seem to be to use a précis of her speech. I would therefore be extremely grateful if you would pass this request onto Mrs Clinton's office at The White House so that we can establish if this will be possible.

If you need anything further, please let me know. Otherwise, I look forward to hearing from you in due course.

With best wishes,

Rosie
