

George Nager

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW

1565 Franklin Avenue - Mincola, N. Y. 11501

516 P1 2-0700

FAX: 516-741-4777

March 30, 1994

Mrs. Hillary Rodman Clinton
White House,
Washington, D.C.

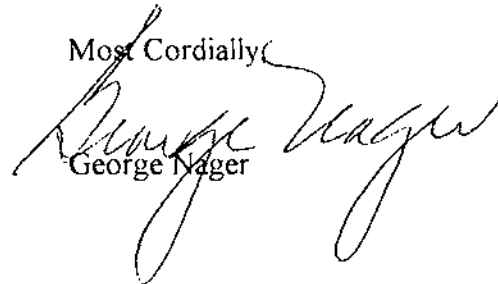

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

With all of the cannons to the right, to the left, front, volleying and thundering, I thought you might like to receive a quiet word of thanks and appreciation for you and the things you stand for.

My wife, our friends, and I all have a tremendous admiration for you. The noise of those tin can beaters, cannot extinguish our regard.

Stand in there.

Most Cordially,

George Nager

GN/mm

George Nager
1565 Franklin Avenue
Mineola, New York 11501

Mrs. Hillary Rodman Clinton
White House,
Washington, D.C

1800 PENN 50140804  CR 0001
 AUTOMATED MAIL (HUM) *****
WHITE HOUSE
1800 PENNSYLVANIA AVE NW
WASHINGTON DC 20500-0005

LeDon Young
204 South Pennsylvania Avenue
Centre Hall, Pennsylvania 16828

814-364-1495

March 18, 1994

Ms. Hillary Rodham Clinton
White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Ms. Clinton:

I am very angry that you have encountered the present mess.

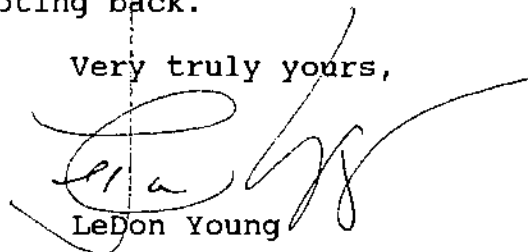

In each instance, your motives were to simply practice law (if you hadn't appeared before appointees of your husband's you couldn't have done your job), and to promote the standing of your state and gender (the more women that sit on the boards of corporate America, the more inroads we will make).

You are well aware, having attended college and law school as I did, that we are easy targets because we are, or were, so few and "uppity women" must be dealt with before they give others encouragement.

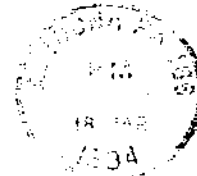

Also like you, I lost the most precious, supportive and unconditional love of my life, my Daddy. But I want to tell you what he told me when I went to take the Bar Exam. He said, "As long as they are not shooting bullets at you, you can get through it." I asked what I was to do if they did get out weapons. He replied, "Duck and shoot back."

I suggest you start shooting back.

Very truly yours,

LeDon Young

LeDon Young
264 South Pennsylvania Avenue
Centre Hall, Pennsylvania 16828

MS. HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON
WHITE HOUSE
1600 PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20500

Bruer & Wooddell, P.C.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

BRENTWOOD CENTER
2740 S. GLENSTONE, SUITE 202
SPRINGFIELD, MISSOURI 65804

ATTORNEYS:
BOB BRUER
JOHN WOODDELL

TELEPHONE: (417) 887-2740
FAX: (417) 887-1742

LEGAL ASSISTANTS:
KELLY KIRKPATRICK
PEGGY SHEPPARD
MARGARET PETERS

April 7, 1994

President and Mrs. Bill Clinton
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear President and Mrs. Clinton:

On behalf of myself and my family I wish to express our appreciation for the direction you have taken America. You are more than a breath of fresh air. Your health care reform is a great social plan. It will improve the health and welfare of all people.

We understand that Whitewater is a diversion created by your detractors. We are not remotely concerned with any allegations.

Very truly yours,

Bob Bruer

BB/mp

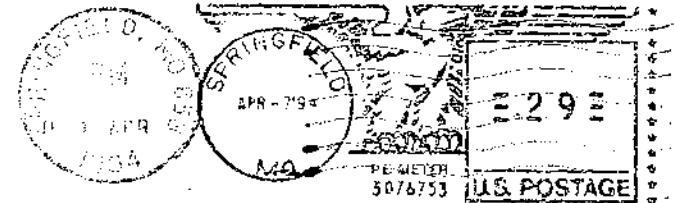

Bruer & Wooddell, P.C.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW

BRENTWOOD CENTER

2740 S. GLENSTONE, SUITE 202

SPRINGFIELD, MISSOURI 65804

President and Mrs. Bill Clinton
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

FRED AND JEAN WILLIAMSON
2065 S. Don Carlos
Mesa, Az. 85202
(602) 491-2826

March 27, 1994

Mrs. Bill Clinton
White House
Washington D.C.

Dear Hillary,

My wife and I want you to know that we love and appreciate you and your husband. We happen to have been life long Republicans who voted for your husband and thrilled at his inauguration where the two of you displayed a new life and hope for the country. We knew it was a tremendous day for you and we rejoiced with you.

I am a retired Baptist minister after forty years of ministry and we know what it is to be constantly in the public eye and with criticism often undeserved. We know what its like when you often cannot answer lies and untruths said about you and when your good motives are treated cynically and are distorted by others. We feel for you and pray for strength for you.

We believe both you and Bill have a genuine Christian faith and we trust that it will remain strong and even grow in the midst of criticisms which often come your way from fellow believers. We are sure that this is very hard to take.

We appreciate your stand on abortion and gay rights though we may differ on details. We believe that health care, welfare reform and crime prevention are certainly as important moral issues as abortion. We commend your husband's efforts on these issues.

Most of all we want to thank you personally for your work on health care. We believe that you are a brilliant caring person and we do not believe that anyone would have been able to do a better and more exhaustive study than you have made. Before you began your work no one was doing anything about the problem. Now everyone is an expert on it and all the special interests are out to criticize but mainly to look out for their own interests and money.

We personally are on Medicare, which we think is great, and have other private affordable insurance which is meeting our needs very adequately. We, however, are very concerned about the millions who are not covered or are inadequately covered. We are concerned about those who cannot get insurance and those who lose theirs through job changes. We believe this will cost money. We do not expect reform to help us but we are willing to pay so that others may have the insurance they need.

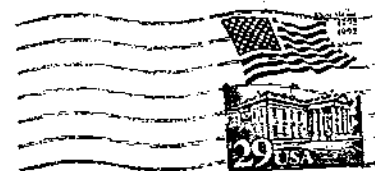

Keep up the good work and be assured that you have millions of people who support you who may never speak up. When the going gets rough and you wonder if its worth it all or if anyone cares, remember God cares and has called you to a great task and to a great moment in American history. In His strength you will succeed. In the Book of Esther Mordecai said to Queen Esther in challenging her, "Who knows but that thou hast come to the kingdom for such a time as this."

In Christian love,

Jean Williamson
Fred Williamson

Fred & Jean Williamson

Fred & Jean Williamson
2065 S. Don Carlos
Mesa, Az 85202

MRS. HILLARY CLINTON
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

6 Commodore Drive, C346
Emeryville, CA 94608

March 15, 1994

Ms. Hilary Rodham Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Ms. Clinton:

I am writing to express my dismay and anger that you and your husband have been subjected to such outrageous pettiness on the part of the press and their not-too-hidden sponsors over the "Whitewater" situation and practically every other matter on which they can conjure up some kind of negative presentation. To listen to them, you would think that there were no critical national and world issues to address whatsoever.

I suppose you both knew it would be hard moving into Washington, but I doubt that you would have credited that you would be treated as shabbily as you have been. That, I believe, is because you are people of good will and decent values. Those that are attacking you are, in my opinion, quite the opposite. There is no beating such people. There is only outlasting them by the evidence of your own works. I would hate to think that the only time you and the President will get the appreciation and respect due to you is some number of years after you have left the White House, but it is a possibility.

It is to express my appreciation and respect for both of you right now that I want to write, and at least make this gesture of support for you both. I feel tremendous satisfaction that I finally voted for the candidate for President who won, knowing that you both are in the White House has restored a great deal of my sense of enfranchisement in my own country, and I am never ashamed of you as I have been of so many presidential administrations in the past.

If there is any suggestion I would have to give you (and I can hardly imagine the volumes of well-meant advice which must be coming your way), it would be to make as much time as you can for yourself, and to take care of yourself. There's still so much ahead. Pace yourself. Being well is the most important thing.

To Ms. Hilary Rodham Clinton
March 15, 1994
Page Two

Who am I, writing this letter? A forty year old in the Bay Area, B.A. Economics, MBA; working in Oakland as a legal assistant/office manager for a small law firm. Recently married, one stepdaughter. Working hard, trying to save for our own home. Avid intermediate skier. Past and future world traveller.

It seems absurd to ask, but I would like to say that if there is anything that I can do to be of further support, I would be happy to do so. You are both giving this country so much. Is there something that I can give back?

With sincerest regards to you and the President,

Jane Scrivener Cartmell

Jane Scrivener Cartmell
6 Commodore Dr, C346
Emeryville, CA 94608

Ms. Hilary Rodham Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Janice I. Meissner
P.O. Box 7313
Las Cruces, NM 88006-7313

TO: FIRST LADY HILLARY RODMAN CLINTON
THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, DC, 20000

3/30/94

DEAR MRS. CLINTON,

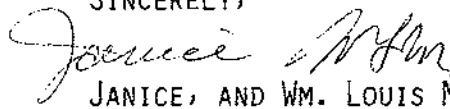

I WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT MY HUSBAND AND I BELIEVE YOU HAVE DONE SO MUCH FOR THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SINCE YOU REACHED WASHINGTON.

WE BELIEVE YOU HAVE BROUGHT HEALTH-CARE TO THE FOREFRONT WHEN PREVIOUS PRESIDENTS DID NOTHING ABOUT THIS PROBLEM. YOU AND THE PRESIDENT ARE TO BE COMMENDED.

DESPITE ALL THE SCRUTINY FROM THE PRESS, THE CARTOONISTS AND GOSSIP COLUMNISTS, WE WANT YOU TO KNOW THAT SOME OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE FEEL THAT ALL THOSE CONDEMNING YOU NEED TO 'BUG OFF'. WE MUST GET ON WITH THE BUSINESS OF THE NATION.

I THINK IT IS FANTASTIC THAT THEY ARE SCREAMING ABOUT MONEY YOU MADE ON THE FUTURES MARKETS WHEN THAT SORT OF THING IS DONE EVERY DAY.

SINCERELY,

JANICE, AND WM. LOUIS MEISSNER

Janice I. Meisner
P.O. Box 7313
Las Cruces, NM 88006-7313

FIRST LADY HILLARY RODMAN CLINTON
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20000

John W. Steer
183 A Apache Lane
Stratford, CT 06497-8178

March 9, 1994

First Lady, Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mrs. Clinton:

The attached letter to Congressman Leach is an understatement of my views on the matter.

Please be assured that millions of us support you and the President personally, and in your major programs.

Grave-digging the political past has always seemed to me pointless, and scurrilous. What counts is today. Keep going! You are on the right track, and THAT is what the stupid republicans hold against you. They're trying to tar you with the embarrassing corruption of the last three republican presidents, Nixon, Reagan, and Bush. It won't work. We remember.

Sincerely,

John W. Steer

John W. Steer
183 A Apache Lane
Stratford, CT 06497-8178

March 8, 1994

Congressman James Leach
House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Congressman Leach:

I know one is expected to write courteous letters to members of congress. Your recent behavior, however, calls for plain talk.

I once admired your calm and reasoned comments on various TV appearances. Today, your posturing as attack dog against the President on the sixteen-year-old Whitewater case, makes you look trivial. This is pathetically transparent dirty politics. With our country and the world in its present state, you have important and unfinished business in the national interest, and I resent your wasting our time and our money in this way.

Do you really think the American people are not aware of your real motives? Do you really think the American people care about a sixteen-year-old case which a previous republican justice department - no less - dismissed for lack of any credible evidence of wrong-doing. (And that in an election year when they were looking hard for any possible dirt against the opposing candidate.) Do you really think the American people want you to waste millions of dollars more of tax payer's money on yet another congressional political circus, carefully timed to make negative headlines during the 1994 elections? (Weeks and months of mud-throwing allegations, which though proven false, will you hope, destabilize the country and leave a smear.) Do you really think the American people don't understand your slimy game? Do you really think that the American people don't understand that President Clinton is trying to help and build up the country, and that you and your republican colleagues are not. If so, on all counts, you are wrong!

Furthermore, Congressman, to try to undermine the President, as you did a few weeks ago on the McNeil-Lehr Newshour, when he was abroad trying to increase our safety in the still dangerous nuclear age was a strange act. There was a better time when politicians out of patriotism, put political differences aside at the waters edge. Too bad you and Bob Dole choose not to remember.

(2)

No American President in recent memory has been subjected to such relentless, malicious, and unfair attacks on his private life prior to entering office. President Clinton has handled all your meanness with remarkable grace. In fact, the more you attack him, the more millions of us like him. We judge our Presidents by their performance IN office. His record of accomplishment in the public interest is overall excellent. And we judge our congressmen the same way. Your recent performance is found wanting!

Sorry I had to be so plain-spoken, but the stakes for the nation are too high to sit silently by while you and others try to bring down the President with trivial argumentum ad hominem. You may remember from college that "argumentum ad hominem" is the weakest of all arguments, the last refuge of the intellectually bankrupt.

So, Congressman, back off. Stop wasting everybody's time trying to smear the President. Get on with your job of trying to improve our country. That's what we pay you for, and you were once capable of. Meanwhile, the low-road of your party, fools no one!

Sincerely yours,

John W. Steer

cc. President Clinton
Mrs. Clinton
Senator George Mitchell
Senator Robert Dole
Senator Christopher Dodd
Senator Joseph Lieberman
Speaker Tom Foley
Congresswoman Rosa DeLauro
McNeil-Lehr Newshour
Jim Lehrer
Robin McNeil
Mark Shields
New York Times
Joseph Lelyved
Howell Raines
R.W. Apple
Thomas Friedman
Gwen Ifill
Larry King

John W. Steer
183A Apache Lane
Stratford, CT 06497-8178

03:03 03/19/94 MLCR#B WGMF, DE 2029

First Lady, Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C.

PAMELA McDONALD
995 HOPMEADOW STREET
SIMSBURY, CONNECTICUT 06070

March 13, 1994

Dear Hillary Rodham-Clinton,

I read this column, thought of you and thought again of the tough year you have been having.

Your courage and fundamental integrity shine between the lines of anything the press or anyone else has to say. I, for one, do not expect you to be perfect. I just notice that that's what you expect of yourself.

Please be gentle with yourself.
You are more important than your perfection.

With great respect and faith in you & our country,
Pamela J. McDonald

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

Hillary Rodham Clinton
The White House
Washington, D.C.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

PAMELA McDONALD
995 HOPMEADOW STREET
SIMSBURY, CONNECTICUT 06070

Dear Hillary: Just do your job

By ELLEN GOODMAN

OK, so you should have been a brain surgeon. You open up a few craniums, and you're home for dinner. This is the kind of health care involvement nobody would criticize, the kind of two-career family everybody would understand.

But here you are, lawyer, public policy junkie, health care honcho, full-time volunteer, first lady, stuck in the center of the Whitewater controversy.

The pundits are talking ominously — again — about the dangers of having someone in power who can't be fired, just divorced. And you have to listen to Alfonse D'Amato questioning your ethics.

If you haven't entirely lost your sense of humor, there must be a good belly laugh in the stories about the tarnishing of the halo around your head. Just when was that hallowed halo time?

Was it back in 1992, when you answered the first questions about Whitewater by saying that you could have stayed home and baked cookies? The whole world came down on your head.

Was it during the Republican National Convention when you were the Feminist from Hell? Or during the "Billary" humorfest? Or when you were snidely dubbed Saint Hillary for talking about a politics of meaning?

It must have been when you went to Capitol Hill last fall and the senators fell into a state of shock that you "were effortlessly answering complex questions in great detail." Why, one even suggested you were smart enough to go on "Jeopardy."

Not a few opponents and commentators insist that they are merely treating you as an equal — showing respect for your power, intelligence and status as one of America's 100 Best Lawyers and a certifiable New Woman. Why, by accusing you of sleazy, greedy behavior and cover-ups, they are actually taking you seriously.

And if this were not enough, too many women have put too much stock in your one basket. There is a chorus of friends and enemies who seem to agree that the advancement of women — nay, the entire women's movement — is riding on your success.

Well, take a good long look at what's on your plate. In the past year, your father died, your mother-in-law died and one of your best friends committed suicide. You've got a widowed mother, a teenage daughter, a job and a role and a husband with the weight of the world on his shoulders.

On top of that you have an overdeveloped sense of responsibility and a gritty, sometimes grim, determination to prove that you can handle it all.

What should you do? First, stand up like a big girl and answer the questions about Whitewater all by yourself. When that's done and it will be, cut loose from the day-to-day internecine warfare of the White House. Step back from the wrangles over appointments and the strategy sessions and the power struggles.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

OK, so you should have been a brain surgeon. You open up a few craniums, and you're home for dinner. This is the kind of health care involvement nobody would criticize, the kind of two-career family everybody would understand.

But here you are, lawyer, public policy junkie, health care honcho, full-time volunteer, first lady, stuck in the center of the Whitewater controversy.

The pundits are talking ominously — again — about the dangers of having someone in power who can't be fired, just divorced. And you have to listen to Alfonse D'Amato questioning your ethics.

If you haven't entirely lost your sense of humor, there must be a good belly laugh in the stories about the tarnishing of the halo around your head. Just when was that hallowed halo time?

Was it back in 1992, when you answered the first questions about Whitewater by saying that you could have stayed home and baked cookies? The whole world came down on your head.

Was it during the Republican National Convention when you were the Feminist from Hell? Or during the "Billary" humorfest? Or when you were snidely dubbed Saint Hillary for talking about a politics of meaning?

It must have been when you went to Capitol Hill last fall and the senators fell into a state of shock that you "were effortlessly answering complex questions in great detail." Why, one even suggested you were smart enough to go on "Jeopardy."

Not a few opponents and commentators insist that they are merely treating you as an equal — showing respect for your power, intelligence and status as one of America's 100 Best Lawyers and a certifiable New Woman. Why, by accusing you of sleazy, greedy behavior and cover-ups, they are actually taking you seriously.

And if this were not enough, too many women have put too much stock in your one basket. There is a chorus of friends and enemies who seem to agree that the advancement of women — nay, the entire women's movement — is riding on your success.

Well, take a good long look at what's on your plate. In the past year, your father died, your mother-in-law died and one of your best friends committed suicide. You've got a widowed mother, a teenage daughter, a job and a role and a husband with the weight of the world on his shoulders.

On top of that you have an overdeveloped sense of responsibility and a gritty, sometimes grim, determination to prove that you can handle it all.

What should you do? First, stand up like a big girl and answer the questions about Whitewater all by yourself. When that's done and it will be, cut loose from the day-to-day internecine warfare of the White House. Step back from the wrangles over appointments and the strategy sessions and the power struggles.

Treat health care reform as what it is — a tough job, but your job. Go to it in the morning. Work hard. Do your best. Go home at night.

Remember that there are two things you don't have to be. You don't have to be a co-president. You don't have to be everything to everyone. Even to every woman.

Ellen Goodman writes a syndicated column from Boston.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

March 11, 1944

Mrs. Hilary Clinton
White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mrs. Clinton,

You have more friends than you perhaps realize.
My friends and family respect and admire you.
And I personally have you and your husband on my daily prayer list.

President Clinton seems to be the first President since Franklin Roosevelt who has a vision and the leadership skills to help some of the worst problems of the nation.

Your political enemies--all with considerable ethical problems--can't derail this, as long as you and your husband do not become discouraged.
I personally look forward to two full terms for President Clinton in which he can help this country start down a better road to the future.

Very truly yours,

Mary H. Killecut

Mary H. Killecut
125 Avon Road
Syracuse, N. Y. 13206

Enc.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

125 Avon Rd
Syracuse NY 13206

Mrs. Hilary Rodham Clinton
White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500-0001

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

SYRACUSE HERALD-JOURNAL

"Ignoring party politics and pursuing an independent course, we shall not hesitate to discuss public questions and to support such men and measures as seem best calculated to advance the best interests of the people." ARTHUR JENKINS, Founder, in first issue of Herald, Jan. 15, 1877.

PUBLISHED BY THE HERALD COMPANY
Post Office Box 4915
Clinton Square, Syracuse, N.Y. 13221
Thursday, March 10, 1994

STEPHEN ROGERS, President
STEPHEN A. ROGERS, Editor and Publisher
TIMOTHY D. BUNN, Executive Editor
TIMOTHY P. ATSEFF, Managing Editor
L. PETER LYMAN, Editorial Page Editor
JAMES F. KLEINKLAUS, Advertising Director
THOMAS J. HECK, Circulation Director

IN OUR OPINION

NEW YORK'S D'AMATO GOP's unlikely ethics poster boy

because they get a chance to do their favorite thing — pontificate on television.

In some ways, D'Amato is a natural to lead the GOP effort. He is always on the attack, which makes him a useful political ally. You'd want him on your side in a street fight, even if you wouldn't want your sister to marry him. (Although he might make a perfect brother-in-law if you were looking for government jobs for your kids.) Even conservative columnist George Will, no friend of Clinton or the Democrats, has referred to D'Amato as a "publicity-mongering practitioner of smash-and-grab opportunism."

D'Amato's ethical resume could most gently be described as colorful. When critics point out that his campaign contributors consistently have benefited from federal largess, the senator protests that he does nothing for them that he wouldn't do for any other constituent.

In 1991, the Senate Ethics Committee cleared him on 15 of 16 ethics charges. The panel issued only a rebuke to him for allowing his brother, Armand, to use the senator's office on behalf of a law client. It said it couldn't prove that contracts awarded to D'Amato supporters were connected to campaign contributions, which tells us as much about the quality of Senate investigations as it does about D'Amato.

D'Amato is nothing if not brazen. Most people — even most senators — would have been content to let the Ethics Committee findings die a quiet death. Not D'Amato. He used his taxpayer-supported franking privilege to send out three million letters to his constituents, ostensibly thanking them for their support during his ordeal. Shame is unknown to this man.

D'Amato is tough; he is relentless; he is fearless. He won't let go of Whitewater until he has wrung every possible political advantage out of it. But if Republicans are looking to make a stand on the moral high ground, they could have picked a better flag bearer.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

LAW OFFICES

SCHIAVETTI, GEISLER, CORGAN, SOSCIA, DE VITO,
GABRIELE AND NICHOLSON

GARDEN CITY CENTER
100 QUENTIN ROOSEVELT BOULEVARD
GARDEN CITY, NEW YORK 11530
(516) 542-1000
FAX (516) 542-1226

New York Office
1633 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N.Y. 10019
(212) 541-9100

Westchester Office
709 WESTCHESTER AVENUE
WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. 10604
(914) 946-0400

17 MARCH, 1994

DEBORAH A. AVILES
Partner

MRS. HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20500

DEAR MRS. CLINTON

As a life long Republican, I am thoroughly ashamed by the blatant "political bashing" occurring with regard to the alleged Whitewater "scandal".

It is readily apparent that the motive behind the G.O.P. tactic is twofold; namely their lack of a comprehensive political agenda, and additionally, the continued apprehension if not outright resentment of an intelligent, educated, and professional woman. The Republicans demonstrated that "ugly side" during the 1992 G.O.P. Convention, much to the disgust of most Americans. I had hoped that the G.O.P. learned from past mistakes... but apparently not.

PHOTOCOPY
PRESERVATION

It is politics as usual in Washington, D.C., which once again highlights the complete inertia and at times outright paralysis of government which frustrates all Americans.

This country is in dire need of health care reform, welfare reform, deficit control, and a comprehensive crime package. We also need restoration of spirit. Though you certainly do not need my advice, here it is anyway. Keep your "eye on the ball"; keep focused on the issues and concerns important to the American people, and the reason why President Clinton was elected.

This country is at a turning point and we need the collective leadership of both you and the President.

Press on and hold your head up high! The American people are pulling for you.

Tenderly,

Deborah A. Aviles

