Dear Jennifer,

It was a pleasure meeting you at lunch on Thursday. As promised, I've enclosed several books. The copies of Pregnancy and Your Baby's First Year, Toddlers and Preschoolers, and Your School-Age Child are for you. Please pass the copy of Making Sense of Your Teenager on to Hillary Clinton along with the attached note.

Your thoughts about becoming a clinical ethicist in a health care setting were intriguing. It's a fascinating field, and one which is sure to grow in both size and importance over the next fifty years. If I wind up as director of the Ethical Culture Fieldston Schools, we'll have to work out a way to get you involved with the schools' ethics program.

Meanwhile, if there's any way I can be of service to the administration on issues related to children, families and/or health communications, please feel free to contact me. And if you run across any information about the story behind the so-called White House cufflinks—or can get your hands on a pair of them—please let me know. When I spoke to one of the Secret Service agents, he said that he'd also heard about the story, but didn't know what it was.

All the best,

encs.
