Summary of Conclusions

It was agreed that:

- The USG should work closely with the Kosovo Liberation Army to promote full compliance with its undertakings on demilitarization. (Action: State) ~~(C)~~
- The USG should work with the UN to expedite the recruitment and deployment of personnel for the UN Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK). (Action: State, USUN) (U)
- The USG should redouble its efforts to secure Congressional agreement to release funding for the U.S. contribution to UNMIK's budget and international police force. (Action: All) (U)
- The USG should use its planned contribution to the July 28 Immediate Needs Conference to leverage contributions from other donors, while avoiding a contribution that exceeds a "fair share" of identified requirements. (Action: State, NSC) (U)
- The USG should consider contributing to the UN Trust Fund for Kosovo in order to support the costs of local public administration. (Action: State, OMB) (U)
- The USG should quickly complete work on a southeast Europe (SEE) investment climate initiative and trade initiative for the July 30 Stability Pact Summit in Sarajevo. Secretary Albright should contact her counterparts to urge that the summit produce concrete results in these areas. (Action: NEC, Treasury, State) (U)
- The USG should independently develop an estimate of funding requirements for the US contribution to SEE development so that these requirements can be reflected in an early fall amendment to the FY00 request together with revised defense requirements associated with KFOR. (Action: State, USAID, Treasury, OMB) (U)
- Consideration should be given to bringing the Russian Federation into the High-Level Steering Group responsible for guiding the donor coordination process for Kosovo and SEE;

while Russian participation could begin in September, no commitments should be made at this time. (Action: State, Treasury) ~~(C)~~

- The USG should support a narrow definition of "humanitarian assistance" for Serbia. Any additional assistance to local communities controlled by opposition leaders should be carefully targeted, coordinated with the Europeans and conditioned on the local leaders committing to greater unity within the democratic opposition. (Action: State) ~~(C)~~

WASHINGTON

Dear Gary:

Thank you for your letter regarding Kosovo and the need to hold accountable those responsible for ethnic cleansing. I know you were as encouraged as I was by Justice Arbour's announcement of the indictment of Milosevic and his associates for crimes against humanity and other war crimes. The indictment sends a strong message: those who order such brutal crimes will not do so with impunity.

The end of the airstrikes and the entry of the international security presence into Kosovo underscored the importance of the ICTY's work. New accounts of mass graves surface daily, confirming the horrible stories that refugees told the world when they fled.

As you know, the United States supports the work of the Hague Tribunal more than any other nation. For six years, this support has been unstinting. While the Tribunal is an independent body, we have urged it to aggressively pursue its investigation of war crimes in the former Yugoslavia. We will continue to provide as much relevant information as we can to assist the Tribunal as it solidifies the case against Milosevic. Most recently, Director Freeh sent a team of forensic experts to help examine what he refers to as the "massive crime scene" in Kosovo. The FBI's work will be critical to building the case against war criminals.

I am gratified by Congressional cooperation on this issue, especially the approval of supplemental funding for the Tribunal. This funding will help greatly in our efforts to deepen and intensify our support.

Again, thank you for writing and for your support of the Tribunal's work.

Sincerely,

I know you were as encouraged as I was by Justice Arbour's announcement of the indictment of Milosevic and his associates for crimes against humanity and other war crimes. The indictment sends a strong message: those who order such brutal crimes will not do so with impunity.

The end of the airstrikes and the entry of the international security presence into Kosovo underscored the importance of the ICTY's work. New accounts of mass graves surface daily, confirming the horrible stories that refugees told the world when they fled.

As you know, the United States supports the work of the Hague Tribunal more than any other nation. For six years, this support has been unstinting. While the Tribunal is an independent body, we have urged it to aggressively pursue its investigation of war crimes in the former Yugoslavia. We will continue to provide as much relevant information as we can to assist the Tribunal as it solidifies the case against Milosevic. Most recently, Director Freeh sent a team of forensic experts to help examine what he refers to as the "massive crime scene" in Kosovo. The FBI's work will be critical to building the case against war criminals.

I am gratified by Congressional cooperation on this issue, especially the approval of supplemental funding for the Tribunal. This funding will help greatly in our efforts to deepen and intensify our support.

Again, thank you for writing and for your support of the Tribunal's work.

Sincerely,
