Giving and Volunteering in the United States 1992 Edition

Another Landmark Study From INDEPENDENT SECTOR

*Who Gives? Who Doesn't? Who Volunteers? Who Doesn't?
What Motivates Individuals to Give and Volunteer?*

This comprehensive, national study has the answers to these questions, and many more! Among other things, you'll learn:

- Who actually gives and volunteers the most.
- How much time and money is actually donated.
- What motivates donors and volunteers.
- Which organizations benefit from this giving.

The third in a series of biennial updates of trend data and statistical information about the giving and volunteering behavior of Americans, 18 years or older.

INDEPENDENT SECTOR

INDEPENDENT SECTOR is a nonprofit coalition of over 800 corporate, foundation and voluntary organization Members with national interest and impact in philanthropy and voluntary action. The organization's mission is to create a national forum capable of encouraging the giving, volunteering and not-for-profit initiative that help all of us better serve people, communities and causes.

The goals, objectives and activities central to the pursuit of INDEPENDENT SECTOR's mission are concentrated in six program goal areas:

PUBLIC INFORMATION AND EDUCATION, to achieve increased public awareness of this sector and of giving and volunteering, while promoting active citizenship and community service;

GOVERNMENT RELATIONS, to develop and maintain effective relationships with government, and to coordinate the multitude of interconnections between the nonprofit sector and the various levels of government;

RESEARCH, to develop an identifiable and growing research effort that produces the body of knowledge necessary to accurately define, chart and understand the sector and the ways it can be of greatest service to society;

GIVE FIVE, to increase support for the public services of voluntary organizations by helping Americans understand and move toward the national standard of giving five—five percent of income and five hours per week to the causes of their choice;

LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT, including Values and Ethics, to enhance the capacity of the not-for-profit sector to achieve excellence in leadership and management of philanthropic and voluntary organizations;

THE MEETING GROUND, to create and maintain a significant sense of community among the organizations of the sector, to provide a "meeting ground" for cooperation and learning.
