Dear Catherine,

A great deal of empathy went out to you as I observed the challenges you faced recently at Treasure Island. I hope you have been able to catch your breath after that incredible week.

I'm writing to follow up on conversations we have had about a meeting between the major school reformers and service-learning leaders. Last week I met with Frank Newman who liked the idea of such a gathering, is willing to cosponsor and will help in lining up participants. I would also like to involve the Alliance for Service-Learning in Education Reform. Frank and I spoke of a potential late February 1994 meeting. Assuming this is the right track, I would like to frame up a plan and budget to which you and/or Peter Cerber at MacArthur could react. As you and I discussed, an advance paper will be written and circulated to serve as the basis for interaction and a following document.

Perhaps we can talk soon about this as I would like to move forward as quickly as possible. I'll call you next week.

Best Regards,

James C. Kielsmeier
