Dear Rick,

Warm thanks for taking time out of your hectic schedule to meet with 150 Fulbright graduate students from 81 countries last Thursday. Your outline of the national service program was instructive. I personally appreciated your stress on the "ethic of service" and the concept that we should be measuring greatness not by the distance but by the closeness between the achieving person and others. I have long been interested in national service and applaud your efforts. My card is enclosed. If you have a mailing list for press releases, etc., about national service, please put me on it.

I am also enclosing an IIE annual report. If there is any way we can help, do not hesitate to call. Meanwhile, I share one of my favorite quotations by Thomas Jefferson: "There is a debt of service due from every man to his country, proportioned to the bounties which nature and fortune have measured to him."

Sincerely,

Sherry L. Mueller
