Statewide

Participant: 2,000

Learn and Serve America K-12 school-based projects engage elementary and secondary school students of different ages, races, genders, ethnic groups, disabilities, or economic backgrounds in a variety of service-learning activities. The student service activities must promote academic and personal growth and, at the same time, address the community's unmet human, educational, environmental, and public safety needs. The funds may also be used to engage adults in voluntary service to local elementary or secondary schools. The projects involve students in the planning and administration.

AMERICORPS

AmeriCorps is a national network of community-based programs that engage Americans of all ages in results-driven service. In exchange for a year or two of service, AmeriCorps Members earn education awards to finance college, graduate school, or vocational training or to help pay back student loans. By participating in AmeriCorps, Members learn new skills, take on challenging responsibilities, and join a national network of people committed to service.

All AmeriCorps programs have a common mission: getting things done to help communities by bringing together people from all backgrounds to solve problems at the local level; encouraging responsibility through service and civic education; and expanding opportunity by helping to make education more affordable.

Prairie Girl Scout Council: In-School Program

Participants: Over 1,700

Appropriate materials will be developed from Girl Scout contemporary issues series and other sources and delivered in school to girls in Lee County, Oktibbeha County, and Attala County. College level volunteers will assist each school group to develop and deliver a service project in the community. The program aims to increase self-esteem, improve behavior, develop respect for others, and improve school attendance for the participants.

LEARN AND SERVE AMERICA K-12 SCHOOL-BASED PROGRAMSMississippi Department of Education

Statewide

Participant: 2,000

Learn and Serve America K-12 school-based projects engage elementary and secondary school students of different ages, races, genders, ethnic groups, disabilities, or economic backgrounds in a variety of service-learning activities. The student service activities must promote academic and personal growth and, at the same time, address the community's unmet human, educational, environmental, and public safety needs. The funds may also be used to engage adults in voluntary service to local elementary or secondary schools. The projects involve students in the planning and administration.

AMERICORPS

AmeriCorps is a national network of community-based programs that engage Americans of all ages in results-driven service. In exchange for a year or two of service, AmeriCorps Members earn education awards to finance college, graduate school, or vocational training or to help pay back student loans. By participating in AmeriCorps, Members learn new skills, take on challenging responsibilities, and join a national network of people committed to service.

All AmeriCorps programs have a common mission: getting things done to help communities by bringing together people from all backgrounds to solve problems at the local level; encouraging responsibility through service and civic education; and expanding opportunity by helping to make education more affordable.

FOSTER GRANDPARENTS PROGRAM (FGP)

Foster Grandparents, low-income seniors, aged 60 or older, provide individualized attention and guidance to children with mental, physical or emotional disabilities. They receive a small stipend that enables them to serve--but they will tell you that they serve because they love the opportunity to make a life better for children in need. Nationally, over 23,000 Foster Grandparents serve an annual total of over 21 million hours through 279 local project. These volunteers serve over 80,000 children at over 7,700 community organizations.

I'll be in luka on Monday. I'm to meet Reginald at 9:30 in the Lee County NRCS office. Tuesday I'll be in Wiggins. Monday and Tuesday I'll be with NRCS and NCCC Members. Wednesday and Thursday I'll be with RECD Members in Jackson and Greenville. Also, I'm meeting with Marsha Kelly from the state commission on Wednesday and Jerry Robinson from the Delta Service Corps on Thursday. I'll probably meet with Ruby Buck from MACE on Friday unless Jerry Robinson bails out. I've been told that everyone is taking Friday off and that a lot of Members won't be working. I don't think that's necessarily true so I'll try to fill Friday up with site visits in the Delta. However, given the Panola county miscommunication I'm afraid some of the sites on the list don't exist. I'm taking my list with me and I'll check it out with Bettye. I'm taking my cell phone with me and I'll call in at least once a day! Have fun while I'm gone.

P.S. Your almanac is on my desk.
