Dear Sana:

Thank you for your letter letting me know of your withdrawal for consideration at HHS. I know you must have prayed over your decision for a long time.

I can tell from your letter how excited you are joining the largest women-owned law firm in the country. You will still have a hand in health care reform. I know you will be happy and will assume each challenge with great enthusiasm.

Happy Holidays to you.

Sincerely,

Alexis M. Herman
Assistant to the President and Director of Public Liaison

Dear Alexis,

Barbara Blum has shared your recent note to her with me. Thank you again - for your efforts on my behalf.

I trust by now you have received a copy of my letter to Drs. Lee + Elders at HHS, respectfully withdrawing my contention for the DTS slot I had wanted for so long. Alexis + I hope you understand: I just couldn't be unemployed any longer.

Suffice it to say that since the end of the litigation,

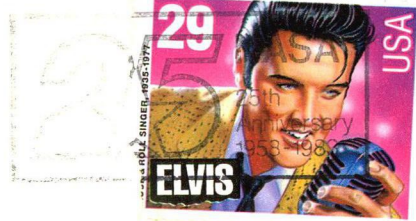

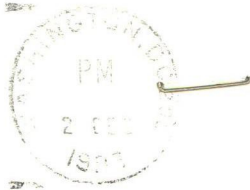

Sana F. Shtasel

I have done all I knew how to stay attractive and available to the Administration. More than anything, I wanted to serve and believe I could have made a contribution in a variety of roles (DOJ, HHS, EEOC, WH etc).
I am proud of the work I did for the campaign & the transition (all unpaid) and hope I helped advance our mutual cause. I confess - privately - that I am profoundly disappointed that, for whatever reason, nothing worked out. Perhaps that will change in the future.
Keep me on your list.

My new job ~ worrying about community health centers +
health care reform ~ may well provide opportunities for us to work together. I look forward to that.

Hope you're thinking ~ Happy Holidays.

Sana

Dear Alexis:

As you will see from the attached, I have formally withdrawn from consideration for the position of Deputy Assistant Secretary for Population Affairs at the Department of Health and Human Services. I have accepted another wonderful opportunity. You undoubtedly know that decision on the DASPA is still pending. With no guarantee, and with the assurance of staying at the heart of the health care reform debate and in the continued service of folks in need, I decided to take this step.

You have been a source of considerable strength during this employment saga. Please know that my commitment to the Administration is unwavering, as well as my enthusiasm for its goals. If I can be of any help to you in any way, I trust you will instantly pick up the telephone.

Hope to see you very soon under any circumstances. My best for a happy and healthy holiday season.

Yours sincerely,

Sana B. Shtasel

Dear Drs. Lee and Elders:

I have bad news and goods news.

As I trust Ernie Tucker of your Personnel Department has by now advised you, the bad news is that I must reluctantly withdraw from consideration for the position of Deputy Assistant Secretary for Population Affairs (DASPA). I had long hoped to serve you and the Administration in this capacity and had generated considerable support from Members of Congress, providers, and affected advocacy groups to this end. I believe my substantive experience and procedural know-how would have permitted me to make a meaningful contribution. Please do not take my withdrawal as indication of any lack of interest or commitment. Rather, another opportunity presented that will likely permit me to work with you in a different capacity.

That is the good news.

I have become a member of the law firm of Feldesman, Tucker, Leifer, Fidell and Bank - the largest women-owned law firm in the country - with a very specific agenda. We represent the National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC) which, along with the Title X family planning clinics and many other primary care providers, has substantial stake in the outcome of health care reform. As you know, Community Health Centers, a $2 billion industry with 1,500 service delivery sites nationwide, have long been on the front lines of primary and preventive care. The centers treat annually some 7 million of the 37 million un- and underinsured that, at bottom, health care reform is meant to assist. NACHC hopes to work with you closely as the debate unfolds, to ensure that the centers continue to play a significant role both in the national delivery of comprehensive health care services and in the training of primary care providers. As a result, I will be in touch with you on this and many other matters in the very near future.

I greatly appreciate your consideration of me for the DASPA role and trust you will turn to me if I can be of service to you in any way.

Yours sincerely,

Sana F. Shtasel
