

'97 SEP 12 PM5:39

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 10, 1997

'97 SEP 12 PM5:39

OVAL

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: SUSAN BROPHY SB

SUBJECT: CONGRESSIONAL CORRESPONDENCE

Attached for your signature is a birthday letter to Rep. Bob Finler (D-CA).

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

Dear Bob:

Happy 55th Birthday! Hillary and I join all those gathered to celebrate this milestone in extending warmest wishes. We hope the coming year brings you good health and much happiness.

You can be proud of your hard work on behalf of the people of Southern California and our country. Let us continue working together to strengthen our nation and build a brighter future for all Americans.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Bob Filner
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Christian Coalition

'97 SEP 10 PM12:22

Donald Paul Hodel
President

September 9, 1997

The President
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

Last week the Christian Coalition announced that it was placing worldwide religious persecution at the top of its legislative priority list. This means that we support passage of the Wolf-Specter legislation. Its passage will give the United States much better tools to use against religious persecution than the annual debate over MFN.

In the course of my remarks at the National Press Club forum sponsored by Human Events, I indicated that I hoped that you would use the power of the presidency to draw attention to this problem and to put pressure on those governments which are engaging in religious persecution to stop such actions, as did President Carter regarding human rights and President Reagan in calling for the removal of the Berlin wall.

You have tremendous ability, as President, to focus world attention on those who are guilty and at the same time to encourage and offer hope to those who are being tortured, maimed and killed for their religious beliefs.

Although some reports missed this point, I was careful not to criticize you or your administration. For, if you have failed to act aggressively on this matter, so have we. Atrocities against millions of Muslims and Christians in the Sudan are documented with at least 1,500,000 murdered. The torture, beating, and killing of Christians and the treatment of the Tibetans by China gave rise to the effort to deny China MFN status. Now that we have recognized the terrible atrocities which are being carried out against people of faith, especially Christians, our failure to take prompt action places America's leaders (elected and otherwise) in the same morally derelict position as those of the 1930's who, knowing enough about the Nazi's increasing persecution of Jews to perceive the problem, did nothing to try to stop the extermination of an entire people.

9/10/97

Send to Don Skind?

Yes ☒

No ☐

Mr. President
September 9, 1997
Page Two

It is not possible to visit the Holocaust Museum without experiencing a sense of disgust at the callousness of leaders who chose to ignore the horrible treatment of Jews by Hitler. Every one of the alleged reasons for not acting rings hollow in our ears and so long as the story is told, good men and women will shake their heads in dismay and know that whatever else they accomplished in office is tarnished by their refusal to speak out and act on that overwhelming injustice.

America must not delay its words and actions while at this very moment men, women, and children are being beaten, bloodied, and butchered. Your statements to date have been indicative of concern but they have, also, been general in nature, and seemingly rather clinical. They are not an earnest call to action and concern. The Advisory Commission on Religious Persecution has been moving at a snail's pace. The State Department Report, perhaps understandably, relies only on documented incidents, and even on that basis acknowledges that atrocities are occurring all over the world. What is heart rending is to read the weak and meaningless things being said and done by the United States in response. It is comparable to a bystander to a murder saying, "I mentioned that I didn't think the murderer should be doing that."

These actions are not enough. Open, strong, targeted statements from you and others in your administration are needed, and they are needed now. As you are reading this letter, somewhere in the world real, live human beings, innocent of all crimes except belief in a God other than the one prescribed by the state, are being beaten until unconscious or dead, or hung or tortured or sold into slavery in the worst conditions. We cannot justify any further delay in seeking to help them. They need to know that they are not forgotten. Their governments need to be told in unmistakable terms that the United States will no longer take a casual, sedate, and bureaucratic approach to their atrocities.

You, more than any other person in the world, can take the lead and move the world toward making the 21st century safe for people of faith. If you do not, it may happen anyway, if it is the Lord's will. Nevertheless, I hope and pray that you will not look back when you have left the presidency and realize, along with historians, that you missed the chance to make a real difference to the millions of oppressed people of this world. It may be that the Lord has placed you in the most powerful position in the world for just such a time as this. In the name of God, and for the sake of those least able to help themselves, please, make use of your power without further delay.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Donald Paul Hodel". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style with a large initial 'D'.

Donald Paul Hodel

Potus wants responses prepared (timely). Potus will San.

B

9-9-97

To Horskind for reply after you have seen.

B.

YES
B

'97 SEP 9 PM3:57

9/8/97

Dear Mr. President,

My name is Caterina Maniscalco, and I'm a student at AU. To come and see you today was the greatest experience for me - I'm so happy! Not too long ago, I wrote you a thoughtful, heartfelt letter. At the end I asked you to respond, but if you couldn't do it personally I asked you NOT to send a form letter, but that's what I got!

If you ever find a moment, can you PLEASE get in touch with me? I have some questions I've been dying to ask you!

Address: American University Hughes Hall 318
4400 Massachusetts Ave. NW
Washington, DC 20016

E-mail: C16candles@aol.com

Looking forward to hearing from you, and I wish you luck in all you do! (U)

Caterina Maniscalco
* Keep up the good work!

Mr. President, my story is much more complex, but my space here is limited. So many young men and woman struggle with the system and lose, not only their ~~themselves~~ self-respect but their dreams. The system is not set up to work for adverse circumstances and it is frustrating for those of us who are willing to go the extra mile to make something of ourselves. We are told that there is no chance and then ~~we~~ looked down upon when we do not make it.

I made it because I had will power and ambition, but so many of my peers lack those qualities. I want to let them know my story and also that you are aware of Orphans with living parents.

Mr. President, I know you are extremely busy, but I would really appreciate the chance to meet with you and discuss this subject more in depth. Please feel free to give me a call at

202-885-8418 / 202-885-6748

I believe that, with your help, I can make a difference.

Thank you for taking the time to read this. Regardless of whether or not I hear from you I think you are an amazing man.
most sincerely - RE AL

Mr. President, my story is much more complex, but my space here is limited. So many young men and woman struggle with the system and lose, not only their ~~themselves~~ self-respect but their dreams. The system is not set up to work for adverse circumstances and it is frustrating for those of us who are willing to go the extra mile to make something of ourselves. We are told that there is no chance and then ~~we~~ looked down upon when we do not make it.

I made it because I had will power and ambition, but so many of my peers lack those qualities. I want to let them know my story and also that you are aware of Orphans with living parents.

Mr. President, I know you are extremely busy, but I would really appreciate the chance to meet with you and discuss this subject more in depth. Please feel free to give me a call at

202-885-8418 / 202-885-6748

I believe that, with your help, I can make a difference.

Thank you for taking the time to read this. Regardless of whether or not I hear from you I think you are an amazing man.
most sincerely -

'97 SEP 9 PM4:00

Dear Mr. President,

The last time you were here, I gave you a letter, you put it in your pocket and you never called. Someone told me that you had not called because I am African! I said to myself "This president would not think this way", Not my president. I've been here for seventeen years. I love America and I've been a loyal citizen. I hope that you will be in touch this time, even if you do not trust me to cut your hair.

Gilda Sadyh.

owner of Gilda's at A.U

Gilda's

GILDA

American University, Butler Pavilion
4400 Massachusetts Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20016
(202) 966-2575 • (202) 885-6465

08/09/97

09:58

AMEB HELSINKI EXEC → 999812024561210

NO. 356

001

9/10/97

send to Dorskind?

✓ yes

no

Coordinate w/ WSC?

Yes ✓
no

'97 SEP 10 AM 9:09

[Handwritten signature]

American Embassy

Itäinen Puistotie 14A
00140 Helsinki, Finland

Fax Cover Sheet

DATE: September 8, 1997

TO: Ms. Nancy Heinrich
Office of the President
The White House

PHONE:
FAX: 202/456-1210

FROM: Ambassador Derek Shearer

PHONE: 358-9 171-931
FAX: 358-9 174-681

RE:

Number of pages including cover sheet: 4

Dear Nancy,

If possible, would you have the attached letter typed up and signed to Cdr. James Weaver.

Thanks in advance.

Derek

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT memorandum

DATE: August 5, 1997

U-136-97

REPLY TO

ATTN OF:

DAO: MSHEEN MS

SUBJECT: PRESIDENTIAL LETTER - CDR JIM WEAVER

THRU: DCM [Signature]

TO: AMB

Sir,

Per my last request of 2 May, request you review the attached draft for submission to the White House Correspondence Office for a letter to CDR James Weaver "from the President". This letter would ^{be} to mark his retirement and commemorate his efforts in the Finnish F-18 program.

Jim will attend the Program Management Review in Finland the first part of October, as his last official act in the program. The Finnish Government will be presenting him with a medal for his contributions to the Finnish Defense Forces. It would be a really nice touch for you or your designated representative to present the Presidential letter. He will not retire until February 1998, so if this is not possible there is still time to have it presented in Washington D.C.

V/R

Mike

Nancy,
I'd appreciate it if you could have attached letter typed up and signed POTUS.
Thanks,
Dorely

08/09/97

09:58

AMEB HELSINKI EXEC → 999812024561210

NO.356

003

+358 9 171396

06/08/97

10:30

AMERICAN EMBASSY USDAO HELSINKI → DCM

NO.020

001

6 August 1997

TO: Commander James L. Weaver, USN
Department of the Navy
Navy International Programs Office
1111 Jefferson Davis Highway, Suite 701
Arlington, Virginia 22202-1111

It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to convey my thanks and appreciation as well as those of our nation for your vital and highly effective contribution to our nation's security and foreign policy. The professionalism and dedication you have shown in managing and directing the sale and support of the F-18 Hornet to the Finnish Air Force has been praised at the highest levels on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean.

Your efforts exemplify the ever expanding role of the soldier-statesman as we move into the 21st century. It is a fitting culmination to your distinguished and extremely productive career in our United States Navy.

My best wishes to you and your family as you enter this new phase of your life and career.

God speed and fair sailing.

08/09/97

09:58

AMEB HELSINKI EXEC → 999812024561210

NO. 356

004

06/08/97

10:30

AMERICAN EMBASSY USDAO HELSINKI → DCM

NO. 020

002

Bill Clinton

President, United States of America

Stuffy sec

AKIACHAK NATIVE COMMUNITY

Akiachak Indian Reorganization Act Council '97 SEP 9 AM 10:56

Post Office Box 70

Akiachak, Alaska 99551

(907)825-4626

Fax No. (907)825-4029

The Honorable William Jefferson Clinton
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20004

5 September 1997

RE: State of Alaska v. Native Village of Venetie
No. 96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear President Clinton:

I am writing this letter to you on behalf of our tribal members requesting you to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993, in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) to have precluded the Tribes from exercising their basic governing powers. However, the Solicitor's opinion was not a term of self-governance determination and was not a final decision. Senator Ted Stevens achieved "self-determination" for the Tribes through Congress' intent to achieve a principled way to resolve the issue.

On November 2, 1996, the Tribes rejected the Alaska Tribes and the "lower 48" state petitioned the Supreme Court.

that is likewise the deadline for the United States it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

send to Dorskind?

✓
YES

NO

it Act basic ever, self-sage, would about ns of s no

ese that the ptly

the
the same way, the

Staff sel

AKIACHAK NATIVE COMMUNITY

Akiachak Indian Reorganization Act Council 97 SEP 9 AM 10:56

Post Office Box 70

Akiachak, Alaska 99551

(907)825-4626

Fax No. (907)825-4029

The Honorable William Jefferson Clinton
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20004

5 September 1997

RE: State of Alaska v. Native Village of Venetie
No. 96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear President Clinton:

I am writing this letter to you on behalf of our tribal members requesting you to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993, in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of the 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANCSA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANCSA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Ted Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANCSA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANCSA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

send to

Dorskind ?

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion. Mr. Willie Kasayulie, a tribal member, also made a verbal request during the historic meeting of Tribal leaders at the Rose Garden on April 29th, 1993 to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion. We have also repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an amicus brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as the trustees for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal rights of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principle of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States today on record, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principle, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the Tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

AKIACHAK NATIVE COMMUNITY

Akiachak IRA Council

Phillip K. Peter, Sr.

Chairman

cc: Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of the Interior
Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Port Graham Village Council

PO BOX 5510

Port Graham, AK 99603-5510

FAX

Staff sec

'97 SEP 9 AM 10:57

To:

From:

Mr. William J. Clinton

President of the United States

Ms. Elaine McMillen

First Chief -

Native Village of Port Graham

Date: 9-8-97

Number of Pages: 13

Phone: 907-284-2227

Fax: 907-284-2222

Remarks:

Send to Dorskind?✓
yes

no

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL
P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99603-5510
907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Elenore McMullen, First Chief

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL
P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99603-5510
907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Olga Fomin, Second Chief

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL

P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99603-5510

907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Feona J. Sawden, Elder Representative

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL
P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99803-5510
907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Riley Meganack, Member

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL

P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99603-5510

907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Melvin Malchoff, Treasurer

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Native Village of Port Graham

PORT GRAHAM VILLAGE COUNCIL

P.O. BOX 5510 • PORT GRAHAM • ALASKA 99603-5510

907-284-2227 FAX 907-284-2222

September 5, 1997

Mr. William Jefferson Clinton
President of The United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20004

Re: State of Alaska V. Native Village of Venetie, No.96-1577 in the U.S. Supreme Court

Dear Honorable President Clinton:

We write to request the United States to withdraw the Interior Department Solicitor's Opinion of the former Administration which denies fundamental powers of self-governance to Alaska Tribes, and to file an amicus brief in the United States Supreme Court in support of the Tribes in the Venetie case.

On January 11, 1993 in the very last days of the Bush Administration and over the strong objection of your transition team, Solicitor Sansonetti of the Department of the Interior issued an opinion construing the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANSCA) to have implicitly terminated the Indian Country status and, thus, the basic governing powers of 226 federally recognized Tribes in Alaska. ANSCA, however, was not a termination Act. In fact, the primary purpose of ANSCA was to promote self-determination and enhance the powers of Alaska Natives. On the eve of its passage, Senator Stevens, one of its primary sponsors, proclaimed that ANSCA would achieve "self-determination without termination." Even if there were doubts about Congress' intention with respect to Tribal powers, federal Indian Law canons of construction require that they be resolved in favor of the Tribes. Thus, there is no principled way that ANSCA can be construed as a termination Act.

On November 20, 1996 the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals correctly applied these canons, rejecting the terminationist views of the Sansonetti opinion and held that Alaska Tribes are entitled to the same rights and powers as their sister tribes in the "lower 48" states. Relying heavily on the Sansonetti opinion, the State promptly petitioned the Supreme Court to review the Ninth Circuit's decision. On June 23rd, the Supreme Court granted review. Venetie's brief must be filed by October 6, 1997 and that is likewise the deadline for the United States if it is to file an amicus brief on Venetie's behalf.

The Native Village of Venetie has repeatedly requested Secretary Babbitt to withdraw the Sansonetti opinion, and also has repeatedly requested Attorney General Reno to file an Amicus Brief in support of Venetie. Dozens of Alaska and "lower 48" tribes have joined the call, along with the National Congress of American Indians. To date neither request has been granted.

The Federal Government stands as trustee for all Native American Tribes, and the Venetie case demands that the federal government defend the fundamental tribal right of self-determination embraced by Chief Justice Marshall 165 years ago. It has been a basic principal of federal Indian Law for a century and a half that Indian tribes retain their rights and powers unless and until they are expressly terminated by Congress. Yet the current official position of the United States, as expressed in the Sansonetti opinion, rejects this fundamental principal, leaving the United States today on record as supporting the effective termination of 226 Alaska Tribes. Virtually the only difference between the recent and disastrous Narragansett Termination Act and the government's position in the Sansonetti opinion is that the former only devastated one tribe, whereas the latter could well destroy all Alaska tribes and gravely endanger the rest of the tribes in the United States.

Mr. President, please do not permit your administration to go down in history as having supported the termination of 40% of the tribes in the United States.

Sincerely,

Agnes I. Miller, Secretary

cc: The Honorable Bruce Babbitt, Secretary of The Interior
The Honorable Janet Reno, Attorney General

Urgent FAX

'97 SEP 9 PM4:05

ENS

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155

Pages 21 (including Cover)

Date: SEPT. 8, 1997

To: NANCY HORNREICH
FOR PRESIDENT

Fax No: 202-456-6703

From: Alan Freeman, President IN
ENS, Inc.

FAX No.: 972-9-861-1006

Phone No.: 972-50-834-779
CELLULAR

DEAR NANCY,

I AM FAXING THE MATERIAL (2 PAGES)
THAT WAS FAXED TO MARTHA'S VINEYARD
AGAIN TO YOU AS I DO NOT KNOW IF HE RECEIVED IT. THE REST IS ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.

IT IS URGENT AS IT DEALS WITH
THE MIDDLE EAST AND SEC. ALBRIGHT'S TRIP THERE. STU GIZENSTAT AT THE STATE DEPT. HAS A COPY OF THE MATERIAL

7107

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155

Hotel Metropole Grand
17 Gad Machnes Street
Netanya
Israel

September 7, 1997

URGENT
PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL

President Bill Clinton
White House
Martha's Vineyard

via Fax
White House signal

DETERMINED TO BE AN ADMINISTRATIVE

MARKING INITIALS: M DATE: 9/19/97
2019-0774-5

Dear Mr. President,

At the outset, I want you to know how much you are loved in Israel. I have been in Israel for ten months now working on our ten hour series of TV and video programs entitled:

Israel 50: Golden Anniversary:
The Search for Peace in the Middle East

Every place I went - restaurants, hotels and taxis - when they saw that I was an American, they praised you and told me how much they liked you and appreciated how much you care for Israel.

I usually wear a yarmulke, knitted in red, white and blue with the name Bill Clinton on it. A gift shop owner on Ben Yehuda Street or near it in Jerusalem gave me two kippas about six months ago with your name on it. One skullcap I was supposed to send to you, hoping you would send him a thank-you letter, the other I would wear. The one that I wore mysteriously disappeared only several weeks after wearing it. The second one lasted two months until someone, I guess who also admired you, wanted it for themselves. I will make contact again with the shop, explain the circumstances and hope that I will give your yarmulke to Madeleine

September 7, 1997

I personally think that you are one great President and have always told you that in my letters to you and Nancy Hennreich. You graciously responded with four letters to me since your Presidency. You are a great friend of the Jewish people and Israel. I am very proud to be an American with you as our President.

I am writing to you now because I have an idea and a plan to implement it that could move the peace process forward at this very bad time.

I am enclosing a copy of an op-ed from The Jerusalem Post entitled "Conflict Management". The gist of it is that perhaps we expected too much too soon. Perhaps we need a generation of getting used to the idea of peace before the real peace comes.

My plan tries to create a new generation that can implement a real peace. It involves a massive education program reaching all Jewish and Arab youth in their respective schools and homes. There will be a scholarship contest with millions of dollars of scholarships awarded to both Arab and Jewish students.

I have been working on this project full-time since Madrid 1991. We are now trying to line up major multi-national commercial sponsors for it. I was trying to pilot it in Israel but the potential Israeli sponsors react much slower than American companies.

Yesterday I faxed the enclosed letter along with all the details of this project to Pepsico's Roger Enrico. I don't know his reaction yet.

I then phoned Stu Eizenstat last night. Stu knows me many years going back to the President Carter years. I told him the gist of my letter to Pepsi. He liked the idea very much. I am faxing him the same material I have faxed you.

I felt Pepsi is right for this program as they have plants in Israel and a distribution system for both Jews and Arabs. They have an Israeli franchisee in Tempo beverages in Netanya and an Arab franchisee in the Arab territories.

September 7, 1997

I think this program should be enacted during Madeleine Albright's visit here. I think the U.S. Government should kick it off with the first "Double Chai" Mordechai Award of $3.6 million in conjunction with Pepsi also sponsoring $3.6 million if they wish to. Pepsi's participation provides a distribution/ promotion system for the 10 week program.

I believe that Ms. Albright must make this program a requirement that Arafat must comply with as our ten hour program is balanced. It includes twenty minutes of Arafat at the National Press Club and an all-Arab Press Conference in Madrid given by then Deputy Foreign Minister Netanyahu.

By offering millions of dollars for Arab scholarships also reduces the influence of Hamas' economic aid programs.

Hopefully our program can help stop Arab youths from committing suicide with bombs killing innocent Israelis by informing them the Koran does not offer paradise for that type of heinous act. More details on this concept are given in my letter to Roger Enrico.

My earlier letter to you suggested that Arafat mobilize moderate Islamic clergy to preach at the mosques on Friday on this concept.

There will be a theme on "Make Money - Not War" showing how Jewish-Arab partnerships and joint ventures will make better lives for both peoples.

I would like to close on a light note. Back to the yarmulkas. When people asked me where I got it, I said with a straight face and a serious voice "Hillary knitted it for me while she was baking cookies". "Oh" they said, "how nice!"

I can be reached on my cellular phone in Israel at 972-50-834-779 or at my hotel in Netanya, 972-9-862-4777, Room 404.

Shalom.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Alan D. Freeman', with a long horizontal line extending to the right.

Alan D. Freeman
President & CEO

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

May 8, 1996

Mr. Alan Freeman
President
ENS World News, Inc.
445 West 45th Street
New York, New York 10036

Dear Alan:

Thanks for sharing your views with me. The historic progress we have witnessed since September 1993 holds forth the promise of hope for all the people of the Middle East. For too long, conflict has robbed that region of its resources, its potential, and, most important, the lives of so many of its sons and daughters. Now there is an opportunity to define the future of the Middle East in terms of reconciliation and coexistence rather than confrontation and violence.

The leaders of Israel and its Arab neighbors have been charting a new course toward a brighter future. Implementation of the historic Israeli-Palestinian Declaration of Principles is underway, and both sides are facing the challenge of overcoming old sorrows and antagonisms to realize a shared vision of peace. Israel and Jordan have signed a peace treaty and are committed to building a warm relationship with enduring ties of cooperation between their countries. There are no limits to what can be done if the region's energy and talents can be channeled into creating new opportunities and building a land as bountiful and peaceful as it is holy. I have pledged the active support of the United States toward this goal.

The path ahead will not be easy. Difficult issues must be discussed and resolved. And the enemies of peace, whose weapon is terror and whose mission is to destroy, will not be silent. But they cannot be allowed to succeed, and the United States will work actively to ensure that they do not. The progress already made in peace negotiations is substantial, and we will do everything possible to facilitate further advances on the Syrian and Lebanese negotiating tracks. The United States will continue to be a full and active partner in these negotiations.

Our success will mean a brighter future for the region and the world.

Sincerely,

ENSENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 43rd Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155

ALAN D. FREEMAN
PRODUCER OF PROGRAM

Alan D. Freeman, founder and president of ENS has extensive journalistic and media experience. He has won five Gold Medals at the International Film and TV Festival of New York. He produced the first "Earth Day" filmstrip program for America's schools in 1970 and the Energy Conservation programs of the mid '70s. He produced the "Golda Meir-Israel's Woman of Valor" record album and book set in 1980 for the Israel Bond Organization and Boys Town Jerusalem shortly after covering the Camp David meetings and the Israel-Egypt Peace Treaty Agreement in Washington. In 1984 he pioneered free media programming in American schools sponsored by commercials.

As a journalist, Freeman covered all four Reagan-Gorbachev Summits from 1985 to 1988 and produced the Nuclear Disarmament Media Program that was used nationally in 18,000 USA schools. During the Iceland Summit, he was able to persuade the Soviets to release the sister of Mikail Shirman to go to Israel to donate bone marrow for her cancer-stricken brother.

Freeman covered the 1991 historic Middle East Peace Talks in Madrid. His questioning of the Jordanian Foreign Minister on "shaking hands with Yitzhak Shamir" was seen on all major networks world-wide. ENS World News produced a one-hour video, "The Making of Peace" featuring highlights of that conference as well as video clips that were not widely televised such as the all Arab press conference given by Israel's Deputy Foreign Minister, Benjamin Netanyahu. Freeman was one of only two non-Arab journalists permitted to attend.

Freeman is currently producing the Israel 50 Golden Anniversary 1948-1998: The Search for Peace in the Middle East series of programs for international distribution. The second video in this series entitled "Giving Peace a Chance" won first prize at the Charleston International Film Festival in 1996.

TELEVISION & VIDEO PROGRAMS REACHING 200 MILLION ADULTS AND STUDENTS WORLDWIDE
Celebrating our 25th Anniversary

THE MAKING OF PEACE MADRID PEACE SUMMIT Volume 1 1991	GIVE PEACE A CHANCE DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLE Volume 2 1993	THE RISKS OF OSLO II LEHAI'S RABBI SHLOMO HUSKIN Volume 3 1995	PEACE WITH SECURITY PRIME MINISTER BENJAMIN NETANYAHU Volume 4 1996	GOLDA MEIR ISRAEL'S WOMAN OF VALOR 2 AUDIO CASSETTES Volume 5 1979
---	--	--	---	--

ISRAEL 50

GOLDEN 1948-1998 ANNIVERSARY

THE SEARCH FOR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST

ENS WORLD NEWS
MPC - 91

ENS WORLD NEWS
WPA - 93

ENS WORLD NEWS
RSR - 95

ENS WORLD NEWS
BN - 96

ENS WORLD NEWS
GM - 79

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7156

URGENT

September 5, 1997
17 Gad Machnes
Netanya, Israel
via fax

PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL

Mr. Roger Enrico
CEO PEPSICO
Purchase, NY

DETERMINED TO BE AN ADMINISTRATIVE

MARKING INITIALS: N DATE: 9/14/16
722-5774-5

Dear Roger:

I wrote you last December about the tremendous public relations and marketing opportunity Pepsi had in trying to make peace in Hebron when a senior PLO advisor requested a Pepsi bottling plant from me (since Pepsi was our former sponsor) that would be run by Arab and Jewish managers. Arafat then met several days later for the first time with Jewish settlers on the possible bottling plant and the story made all the Israeli newspapers.

You referred my letter to Nicholas Versloot, the Pepsi manager in Israel at that time. He did not do anything about the request saying it was too political. He also did not implement our advertising and sales promotion program which could have raised Pepsi's market share considerably. He is no longer with Pepsi - Israel.

As you know, Pepsi's performance in Israel is abysmal. Pepsi's market share is only about 10%. I guess much of it was due to the previous Arab boycott making Pepsi a newcomer in Israel. Thus, they need a program such as ours that makes a family buy certain products for 10 weeks continually.

The students in Israel are offered 1,000 scholarships worth $9,000 each. In order to win they must create their own video on the peace theme and Israel's 50th anniversary. Their videos must also include commercials of the sponsoring companies that the students must add visuals off the internet to the sponsor's sound track. Professors of communications from Israel's universities are the judges.

There are 25 thirty-second commercials in each two hours of programming. Therefore, there are 125 spots in the total ten hours of programming. If Pepsi bought 30 spots @ $20,000 each totaling $600,000, Pepsi would have one commercial for every 20 minutes of programming.

I would also encourage Pepsi to give $400,000 to the Golda Meir Internet Scholarship Program which would then qualify Pepsi to receive a $35,000 silver and gold plated trophy called the "Mordechai Award". The sculptures, only 24 are being made, shows Haman, the tyrant who wanted to kill all the Jews, leading Mordechai (who saved them with Queen Esther), on a horse through ancient Persia.

A sponsor of $1,000,000 gets the award. Pepsi would be the first recipient in the world of the award and could hold an elaborate press conference attended by Israeli and American government officials.

The sponsorship by Pepsi would be very timely for three reasons:

1) U.S. Secretary of State Madeline Albright will be in Israel next Wednesday, September 10th, and probably would participate in such a press conference as it furthers President Clinton's goals in the region. It offers a new hope by reaching out to millions of Jews and Arabs with an educational program showing all the benefits of peace and trying to offer real knowledge about the parties while dispelling the negative myths and stereotypes. It offers some new ideas for peace.

2) The second reason for the timeliness of this proposal is because the tragic death of Princess Diana was associated with drunk driving.

As I wrote you before, Pepsi was ENS's first sponsor in 1984 in a news program that went free to the nation's (USA) schools because it included commercials. It was ENS's idea in 1984 to provide news programs to schools with commercials. Pepsi's media director at that time, Henry Hayes, agreed with us to add a drunk driving sequence before the commercial showing a tragic accident due to drunk driving followed with the words "Make sure your drink is soft" followed by the Russia in 1988 working on an ENS/USSR joint venture in education, they wanted the same combination for their schools.

Enrico

Page 3

September 5, 1997

Since our Israel 50 Golden Anniversary - The Search for Peace in the Middle East program will be viewed by about 1½ million Israeli and Arab teenagers, we would preface some of the Pepsi commercials with a sequence showing Princess Diana's death linked with the drunkenness of the car's driver.

3) The third reason for the timeliness of this proposal again deals with a tragedy occurring only yesterday. Three Arab youngsters blew themselves up in a Jerusalem bombing killing four Israelis - three of them, teenage youth and wounding 192 others.

After the conference on terrorism in Sharm-el-Sheik in 1996, I wrote to President Clinton and faxed a copy of the letter to the Israeli UN ambassador. It suggested a way to fight terrorism. Those uneducated, poverty stricken Arab youth would blow themselves up killing Israelis thinking they are going to paradise as promised by certain radical Islamic fundamentalist clergy in my letter. I suggested that Yasir Arafat mobilize a moderate group of Islamic clergy to go to all the mosques on Friday preaching that the Koran does not say terrorists will go to paradise killing innocent Israelis.

What the Koran actually says, and we show it in our program explained by Hebrew University's renowned Islamic studies scholar, Dr. Judah Friedman, is that an Arab who dies defending his country will get an eternal reward. We will include Arab Koran experts in our program saying this does not mean "blowing yourself up killing innocent Israeli civilians." The Israeli ambassador liked the idea so much that he immediately upon receiving it, faxed it at night which was morning in Israel, so the work in implementing it could begin.

Enclosed is a copy of President's Clinton's response to my letter.

Roger, as brilliant and expertise as you are in your field - THE WORLD'S COLA KING and master of innovative marketing programs, means that Pepsi's job is still selling cola. Also keep in mind that if this works well in Israel, it will work well in the USA and many other countries. There is a tremendous amount of Christian support for Israel in the USA. Let me give you some numbers as how this peace project proposal will sell tons of Pepsi, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Pizza Hut in the Middle East - both to Israelis and Arabs. It will also help your Arab franchisee in the Arab territories sell much more Pepsi.

Our program requires the purchase of 25 shekels (about $8.00) of Pepsi every week as well as 50 shekels (about $16) of Pizza Hut and/or Kentucky Fried Chicken. A burger chain could also be given as an option.

The following numbers are mind boggling:

10 weeks of Pepsi @ $8 (25 shekels) per week is $80

500,00 families in Israel are expected to participate

500,000 families x $80 =

$40 million in Pepsi sales in Israel in 10 weeks!

This could significantly boost Pepsi's market share in Israel virtually overnight!

Let us look at Pizza Hut potential sales:

$16 (50 shekels) a week x 10 weeks = $160

500,000 families at $160 =

$80 million in Pizza Hut Israel sales in 10 weeks

The same numbers would apply to Kentucky Fried Chicken.

I would like to close with a suggestion. Instead of sponsoring $1 million, be a sponsor of $3.6 million.

The breakdown is as follows:

- A) $1 million in scholarships for Jewish student winners of the Project Internet Golda Meir video programs. Students must make a one hour video from parts of our video and audio tapes including the making of Pepsi product commercials.

B) $1 million in scholarships for Arab student winners. Same above rules.

Enrico

Page 5

September 5, 1997

- C) $1 million for advertising and promotion in Israel: outdoor advertising, newspapers, and TV.
- D) $600,000 for Pepsi commercials in the ENS Israel 50 Golden Anniversary - The Search for Peace in the Middle East program.
ENS would keep a 5% administration cost on the $3,000,000 to handle the logistics of the scholarship contest and placement of advertising in conjunction with Israeli media and advertising agencies.

The $3.6 million is not only a substantial amount, but has a wonderful meaning in Hebrew. The Hebrew word for life "chai" has a numerical value of 18 since the two Hebrew letters have numerical values of 8 and 10. Therefore, the number 36 has a value of double chai - a doubling of life. This double life could be interpreted as a life for the Jewish people and life for the Arab people working in peace together!

ENS would consult with BBDO-GITAM in Israel and other agencies in Israel on the spending of the one million advertising, but would have final decision. The program is scheduled to be launched on Feb. 1, 1998. BBDO in Tel Aviv as well as the Pepsi bottler Tempo in Netanya told me they have no budget for this program. In fact, BBDO told me yesterday they have not had a Pepsi advertising budget for 2 years.

In closing, multiply the $200 million potential sales of Pepsi products in Israel by 50 to get the USA sales potential of this Israel 50th anniversary program. Israel is 6 million population - USA is 280 million.

THE POTENTIAL SALES OF PEPSICO PRODUCTS IN THE USA ON THIS PROJECT ARE $10 BILLION.

In closing, as Cola King I think you cannot allow the situation in Israel of a 10% market share. We can change this virtually overnight with your financial support and hopefully help make peace at the same time.

My cellular phone in Israel is 972-50-834-779.

With warmest personal regards,

Alan D. Freeman
President and CEO

Alan Freeman, President of ENS World News, presenting the first copy of THE MAKING OF PEACE video to Israel's Prime Minister, Benjamin Netanyahu, shortly after the Madrid Peace Conference in 1991. Freeman has won five Gold Medals at the International Film and TV Festival of New York and is the producer of all these programs. Teacher's guides are included for all programs.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

May 8, 1996

Mr. Alan Freeman
President
ENS World News, Inc.
445 West 45th Street
New York, New York 10036

Dear Alan:

Thanks for sharing your views with me. The historic progress we have witnessed since September 1993 holds forth the promise of hope for all the people of the Middle East. For too long, conflict has robbed this region of its resources, its potential, and most important, the lives of its sons and daughters. Now there is an opportunity to define the future of the Middle East in terms of mutual respect and coexistence rather than confrontation and violence.

The leaders of Israel and its Arab neighbors have been charting a new course toward a brighter future. Implementation of the historic Israeli-Palestinian Declaration of Principles is underway, and both sides are facing the challenge of overcoming old stereotypes and prejudices to realize a shared vision of peace. Israel and Jordan have signed a peace treaty and are committed to building a warm relationship with enduring ties of cooperation between their countries. There are no limits to what can be done if the region's energy and talent can be channelled into creating new opportunities and building a land as beautiful and peaceful as it is holy. I have pledged the active support of the United States toward this goal.

The path ahead will not be easy. Difficult issues must be discussed and resolved. And the enemies of peace, whose weapon is terror and whose mission is to destroy, will not be silent. But they cannot be allowed to succeed, and the United States will work actively to ensure that they do not. The progress already made in peace negotiations is substantial, and we will do everything possible to facilitate further advances on the Syrian and Lebanese negotiating tracks. The United States will continue to be a full and active partner in these negotiations.

Our prayers will assist a brighter future for the region and the world.

Sincerely,

Bill Clinton

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC.
EDUCATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, INC.

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036
212-923-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155
<http://www.wnl.com/ona>

Celebrating our 25th Anniversary

Television & video programs reaching millions of adults and students worldwide

BACK OF CASE

ENSENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155

Alan D. Freeman, president of ENS World News, presenting a copy of the video, GIVING PEACE A CHANCE, to King Hussein of Jordan shortly after the signing of the Washington Declaration between Jordan and Israel in Washington DC in July 1994.

TELEVISION & VIDEO PROGRAMS REACHING 200 MILLION ADULTS AND STUDENTS WORLDWIDE

Celebrating our 25th Anniversary

Distribution in Israel of ENS's Israel 50 Golden Anniversary 1948 - 1998:

The Search for Peace in the Middle East program.

1. Free distribution - through purchase of products at supermarkets.
2. Internet sales - 250,000 Israelis use the internet. The program will be offered for sale and will include:
 - 5 2-hour videos
 - 5 30-minute audio cassettes
 - 5 books on making videos using the internet.

Internet users should be receptive to the offer because of the 30,000 NIS scholarships that can be won for the best videos produced using the internet.

3. Traditional sales at gift shops, hotel shops, video stores, Judaica shops, mail order, etc.

THE MARKET RESEARCH CONDUCTED FOR NEARLY ONE YEAR IN ISRAEL ON THIS PROGRAM HAS BEEN VERY POSITIVE!

During 36 years of professionally marketing ENS NEWS programs, we have never seen such a program that is desired by almost everyone with teenage children. Winning a scholarship could make all the difference to them. Scholarship monies are held in escrow in the Union Bank of Israel until the winners are ready to enter the university of their choice.

THIS PROGRAM HAS EVERYTHING:

- 1) It commemorates the 50th anniversary of Israel with videos, audios and framed photographs of Israel's history.
- 2) It provides 1,000 scholarships for Israel's young men and women, @ 30,000 NIS each. Many more scholarships are likely to come later once the program begins from philanthropists, corporations and foundations.
- 3) It promotes the Internet and helps students learn how to use this new and very important source of knowledge and information.
- 4) It is completely FREE! The purchase of moderate quantities of wholesome food products is all that is required.

This program is a celebration of Israel's 50th birthday. There will be a discover Israel theme showing ten cities or areas in Israel. Each of the ten videos will feature one of these cities or areas. There will be great music with song and dance throughout the videos.

Several other themes will be integrated into the videos. There will be short interviews with Israel's industrial leaders like Dan Propper, Dov Lautman, Yitzhak Kaul, Hanan Achsaf, etc. showing how much Israel has achieved in commerce and industry in only 50 years.

OVERVIEW OF PROGRAM

The basics of this proposal for the marketing, distribution and promotion of our video, audio, and book program "ISRAEL 50 - GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY - 1948 - 1998: THE SEARCH FOR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST" is as follows:

Goal: To distribute this program virtually free of charge through the purchase of moderate amounts of grocery products to every family in Israel. The programs in Israel are in English, Hebrew, Arabic, and Russian. When the person speaks in Hebrew, there will be English subtitles. When the speakers speak in English there will be Hebrew subtitles. In the book, accompanying the program, teaching the students how to make their own video off the internet with our videos and audio cassettes, there will be complete texts of the entire program in four languages.

All seven of Israel's Universities have either been invited or will be invited to participate. Full three-year scholarships will be awarded to develop a new generation of expert Israeli communicators that can tell Israel's story well to the world's decision makers as well as to home listeners. Fifteen million New Israeli Shekels in scholarships are expected to be raised in the Diaspora. A one year scholarship "Junior Year in Israel" is offered in other countries.

As an additional incentive to participate in the program, certain hotels will offer free weekends at their resort hotels to the lucky winners of drawings. A chance to win one of these weekends is given to all who participate. The winners of the free weekends are chosen monthly by chance.

SCHEDULE OF DISTRIBUTION

10 Weeks of ENS Items with Purchase of NIS 250 per week

1. Feb. 1, 1998 - An ENS book highlighting Israel's 50 years, ENS's Israel 50 Program and the Golda Meir Internet Scholarship Contest will be given out to program participants with the purchase of NIS 250 sponsor's products.
2. Feb. 8 - Volume 1 - two-hour video program THE MAKING OF PEACE describing Israel-Egypt Peace Agreement of 1979 and the Madrid Peace Conference of 1991. The handsome package for the 7 part program is included.
3. Feb. 15 - 35 minute audio cassette - Part 1 of GOLDA MEIR: ISRAEL'S WOMAN OF VALOR Program.
4. Feb. 22 - Volume 2 - two-hour video program GIVING PEACE A CHANCE describing the Oslo 1 Agreement at the White House between Israel and the PLO featuring the handshake between Prime Minister Rabin and Chairman Arafat in 1993.
5. March 1 - 35 minute audio cassette - Part 2 of GOLDA MEIR: ISRAEL'S WOMAN OF VALOR Program.
6. March 8 - Volume 3 - two-hour video program THE RISKS OF OSLO II featuring Efrat's Rabbi Shlomo Riskin and describing the territories and redeployment.
7. March 15 - 35 minute audio cassette - Part 3 of GOLDA MEIR: ISRAEL'S WOMAN OF VALOR Program.
8. March 22 - Volume 4 - two-hour video program ISRAEL/JORDAN PEACE TREATY describing the Israel - Jordan Washington Declaration 1994 and the Israel - Jordan signing of treaty 1995.
9. March 29 - Volume 5 - two hour video program BENJAMIN NETANYAHU: PEACE WITH SECURITY describing Netanyahu with Washington and New York leaders and Israel issues - Hebron, Har Homa.
10. April 5 (one week before Pesach) - KIDS DRAW and PAINT VIDEO ART KIT made by International Paper Company - Strathmore Division and ENS. International Paper Company makes Israel's milk cartons and is also the leading USA sponsor of the ENS SEARCH FOR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST Project. The art kit comes with a thirty minute video, teaching children ages 9 and up how to draw a space ship and a sailing ship as well as featuring Jerusalem's preschool Israeli/Arab Children's Play Project.

THE ISRAEL 50 ENS MAGEN DAVID PROGRAM 6-POINTED STAR - 10 WEEK - 6 COMPANIES

A PROGRAM SO BIG IT TAKES SIX OF ISRAEL'S LARGEST COMPANIES COMBINED TO DO IT!

10 weeks of programs wherein a customer spends 250 NIS per week for a combination of companies like Strauss, Elite, Osem (50 NIS each) and Prigat, Coca-Cola and Colgate-Palmolive, Heinz-Starkist Tuna (25 NIS each) products.

A fast food chain such as Burger King or Pizza Hut could participate requiring a family purchase of 100 NIS every other week or 50 NIS weekly. This total would combine with the grocery products total.

CALCULATIONS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

10 weeks @ 250 NIS per week = 2500 NIS per customer.

5% of 2500 goes to ENS = 125 NIS per customer for cost of materials and programs.

10% of ENS's 125 goes to the Golda Meir Project Internet ENS Scholarship Fund = 13 NIS per customer.

An expected 500,000 Israeli families will participate with NIS 13 per family for the scholarship allotment, totaling scholarships of NIS 6,500,000. This would create 217 full tuition scholarships of NIS 30,000 each (NIS 10,000 each year for three years).

We are aware that there will be additional contributions to the scholarship fund from companies, foundations and individuals around the world combining with our 200 scholarships, totaling 1,000 full scholarships.

©1997 ENS World News

Urgent FAX

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC. • EDUCATION • NEWS • SERVICE

445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036 • 212-903-5722 • Fax: 212-489-7155

Pages 8 (including Cover)

Date: SEPT. 9, 1997

To: NANCY HERNANDEZ FOR PRESIDENT CLINTON

Fax No: 202-456-6703

From: Alan Freeman, President
ENS, Inc.

FAX No.:

Phone No.: 972-50-834-779

DEAR NANCY,

ENCLOSED ARE PAGES DESCRIBING
SOME OF THE CONTENT OF THE PROGRAM
THAT WAS FAXED TO THE PRESIDENT
YESTERDAY IN REFERENCE TO SEC. ALBRIGHT'S TRIP TO ISRAEL.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Alan Freeman", is written below the typed message.

The Making of Peace
Madrid

The Making of Peace Madrid

With the cooperation of other networks throughout the world.

This educational video cassette allows you to eyewitness the spectacular events of Oct. 30 - Nov. 4, 1991 — the days when Israel, the Jordan/Palestinian delegation and Syria negotiated face to face for the first time in 43 years.

THE MAKING OF PEACE
MADRID
PEACE
SUMMIT
Volume 1

WARNING: For non-commercial private exhibition in homes only. Any public performance, other use, or copying is strictly prohibited and may subject the offender to civil liability and severe criminal penalties under federal law.

ENS WORLD NEWS, INC.
EDUCATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, INC.
445 W. 45th Street, New York, NY 10036

© 1996 ENS WORLD NEWS

ADDITIONS TO PROGRAM

The first video "The Making of Peace" will now also include one hour on the 1979 Israel/Egypt Peace Treaty.

Dan Pattir, chairman of the Israel government's committee of Channel 2 News and former press secretary to both Begin & Rabin talks for 30 minutes about the Begin role at Camp David.

Joseph Finklestone, author of "Anwar Sadat: Visionary Who Dared" and the first Jew to interview Sadat comments 30 minutes on Sadat.

Both Pattir & Finklestone compare Sadat to Arafat.

A fifth video on the Israel/Jordan Peace Accord has been added.

The "Golda Meir Israel's Woman of Valor" audio program has been divided into five 30 minute segments.

Peace a Chance'

hed stunned as two arch enemies
id vowed to live in peace together.
ures the drama of that historic day, 1993, on the White House lawn with quent speeches.

ir features Bustan Abraham, a group s & Israeli Arabs playing music erpts from Yasser Arafat's speech in National Press Club are included as ws with Egyptian, Palestinian, and m the Seeds of Peace program. An venture is explored.

peeches and commentary by:
lon, Prime Minister Rabin, Yasser on Peres, Abba Eban, Faisal ur Bronfman, Leon Charney, Katie ng Carter, Alan Freeman, Andre on Odom, Lester Pollack, Jody ur Reich & others.

te exhibition in homes only. Any public performance, other use, or copying re offense to civil liability and severe criminal penalties under Federal law

D NEWS, INC.

NAL NEWS SERVICE, INC.

Street, New York, NY 10055

7 83009 13933 5

SEP-02-97 TUE 14:09

P.01/03

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

FACSIMILE TRANSCEIVER

'97 SEP 9 PM4:04

MODEL OF MACHINE: Xerox Telecopier 7017SF FAX NUMBER: (210) 458-4655DATE: September 2, 1997TO: Ouida Hinsley FAX: 254-751-8670
Office of Mr. Bernard RapoportFROM: Barbara Hallack
The University of Texas at San Antonio

Phone: 210-458-4101

MESSAGE:

Ms. Hinsley, attached is a draft proclamation as well as a co to UTSA by Mayor Peek. We would appreciate Mr. Rapoport similar proclamation from President Clinton. The dedication Downtown Campus is September 26. Please keep me informed need additional information.

Thank you.

Thank you.

NUMBER OF PAGES: (Including cover sheet) = 3

IF THERE ARE ANY PROBLEMS IN RECEIVING THIS MESSAGE, PLEASE CALL
(210) 458-4101.

Fax: Rebecca
202-456-6703

SEP 2 1997

OFFIT
9-9-97
To Dorland for reply?
Yes ☒ No ☐
for reply - but don't think we need a proclamation do you join?

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, on June 5, 1969, legislation was signed in front of the Alamo creating the University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA); and

Whereas, in its 28-year history, UTSA has produced more than 36,000 graduates, 70 percent of whom continue to live and work in San Antonio;

Whereas, UTSA has been one of the fastest growing and developing universities in the State of Texas, presently serving the higher education needs of about 17,600 students; and

Whereas, UTSA received statewide approval and support from the Texas Legislature to build and operate a new UTSA Downtown Campus; and

Whereas, the campus opened for classes on July 2, 1997, and, when completed, will serve the needs of about 10,000 additional students; and

Whereas, the new Downtown Campus, located in the area just west of downtown San Antonio, will play an integral role in the development of the inner city; and

Whereas, on the 26th day of September 1997, the Frio Street Building is dedicated to the students, faculty, staff and citizens of South Texas.

Now, therefore, I, William Clinton, President of the United States of America, in recognition thereof, do hereby express heartfelt thanks and deepest appreciation to UTSA for its past contributions and for its continuing effort to expand access to higher education for all San Antonians.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, ON JUNE 5, 1969, LEGISLATION WAS SIGNED IN FRONT OF THE ALAMO CREATING THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO (UTSA); AND

WHEREAS, IN ITS 28-YEAR HISTORY, UTSA HAS PRODUCED MORE THAN 36,000 GRADUATES, 70 PERCENT OF WHOM CONTINUE TO LIVE AND WORK IN SAN ANTONIO; AND

WHEREAS, UTSA HAS BEEN ONE OF THE STATE'S FASTEST GROWING AND DEVELOPING UNIVERSITIES, PRESENTLY SERVING THE HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDS OF ABOUT 17,600 STUDENTS; AND

WHEREAS, UTSA RECEIVED STATEWIDE APPROVAL AND SUPPORT FROM THE TEXAS LEGISLATURE TO BUILD AND OPERATE A NEW UTSA DOWNTOWN CAMPUS; AND

WHEREAS, THE CAMPUS OPENED FOR CLASSES ON JULY 2, 1997, AND, WHEN COMPLETED, WILL SERVE THE NEEDS OF ABOUT 10,000 ADDITIONAL STUDENTS; AND

WHEREAS, THE NEW DOWNTOWN CAMPUS, LOCATED IN THE AREA JUST WEST OF DOWNTOWN SAN ANTONIO, WILL PLAY AN INTEGRAL ROLE IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE INNER CITY.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HOWARD W. PEAK, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF SAN ANTONIO, IN RECOGNITION THEREOF, DO HEREBY EXPRESS HEARTFELT THANKS AND DEEPEST APPRECIATION TO UTSA FOR ITS PAST CONTRIBUTIONS AND FOR ITS CONTINUING EFFORT TO EXPAND ACCESS TO HIGHER EDUCATION FOR ALL SAN ANTONIANS.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I HAVE HEREUNTO SET MY HAND AND CAUSED
THE SEAL OF THE CITY OF SAN ANTONIO
TO BE AFFIXED THIS 9TH DAY OF AUGUST, 1997.

HOWARD W. PEAK
MAYOR

note from
BERNARD RAPOPORT

9-8 97

To: Rebecca

FAX # 202-456-6703

From: Cecilia Husley
FAX # 254-751-8670

Is this possible?

SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE
WASHINGTON

September 8, 1997

The President
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington DC 20500-5000

Dear Mr. President:

'97 SEP 9 AM 11:48

I have submitted my letter of resignation to the Secretary of Defense with an effective date of October 31st. As I have planned all along, I will return to MIT.

Over the past four years, I have had numerous experiences where I've been humbled and awed because of the opportunity you have given me to serve as Secretary of the Air Force. It has been an absolute pleasure to serve as a member of your team. I am forever grateful.

The words "honor" and "privilege" fall far short of expressing the deeply felt pride and the matchless respect I feel today towards the Air Force. It has been a wonderful experience to meet and work alongside the men and women who make countless sacrifices in defense of the greatest nation in the world. The United States Air Force's 50th Anniversary has been filled with ceremonies that reflect on past accomplishments—but rest assured, the future looks just as brilliant as the past!

I am proud to have served you and our nation and I sincerely thank you for this opportunity you've given me.

Sincerely,

919197

Delivered by Laura Moxness

Send to Donskind +
Executive Clerk?

Yes ☒

No ☐

ANDERSON-LEE LIBRARY

43 Main Street
Silver Creek, NY 14136
Phone: 716-934-3468
Fax: 716-934-3037

'97 SEP 9 AM 11:52

August 28, 1997

Ms. Betty Currie
c/o The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave.
Washington, D.C. 20502

Dear Ms. Currie,

Our library was recently given a lovely children's book in honor of President Clinton's birthday. This book, Woodrow, the White House Mouse, was donated by Aaron Patterson, a member of the White House Staff - Correspondence office. Aaron is a former Silver Creek resident and library user. We are very honored to have this book dedicated to the President. It will be a very special part of our children's collection.

Sincerely,

Sandy Apthorpe
Librarian / Director

98-97
To Dorshind for reply?

Yes ☒ No ☐

if we have an address etc.

For Capron Marshall - from Fatus

Dear President
Bill Clinton,

Thank you for picking are school.

I'm so excited!

Love Melanie

P.S. Thank you

This note was loose - I'm guessing it goes with this.

Dear Mr. President
I ~~say~~ a lot
I hope one day I could ~~say~~ for you on a good occasion
Name - ~~Ernie~~
Richard at Metro
Food Market in Croft number
(440) 573-5065

Thank You
for Coming to are

2 Wild

Shool

SCUP
Dominique

JOHN E. BALDACCI
MEMBER OF CONGRESS
2ND DISTRICT, MAINE

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-8-97

9/4/97

Copied
VP
COS

Mr. President -

I just wanted to drop you a note to say that while I was disappointed that George Sengal didn't receive the nod, that Kermit Long will be an excellent choice. I will help as much as any member of the House can. I also wanted to say I appreciate the time you took and the courtesy you and your staff afforded me.

I Hope everything is well w/Hillary and Chelsea and look forward to seeing you'all again.

John

9/9/97
Send to Chris Walker to prepare reply?

Yes ☒
No ☐

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-8-97

From the desk of Dan Glickman, Secretary

8-8-97

~~Mr. President~~ -

Thought you'd like to see the attached article on Air Force One, which was modified at the Boeing Wichita plant.
I actually set foot on the airplane before any President did.

3/2

✓ Dan

Copied
COS

JIM DORSKIND:

Please coordinate
the reply.

WichitaOnline • Features

Hollywood's Air Force One close to original

But film blockbuster purposefully overstates features on Boeing-built presidential aircraft.

By Tom Webb
The Wichita Eagle

WASHINGTON -- Is it Hollywood, or is it Wichita?

This summer's hit movie "Air Force One" has left audiences guessing what's really on the President's famous Boeing 747. As many Kansans will recall, the president's aircraft was built mostly in Wichita in the late 1980s.

In the movie version, "Air Force One" has more gadgets than the Batmobile: an escape pod, a missile-avoidance system, a parachute ramp, a weapons arsenal and the ability to be refueled in midair, to name only some.

In real life, Boeing Wichita workers did install some amazing features on the plane. But not nearly as many as Hollywood invented.

"A lot of it is the magic of Hollywood -- like the escape pod -- and I'm sure you can pick those out being from Wichita," said Lt. Col. Napoleon Byars, the Air Force officer who worked closely with the movie makers.

And the movie makers worked with Boeing officials in Wichita and Seattle to get the plane's special look just right, thereby adding to the movie's realism.

"The producers of the movie did their homework very well," said Dick Ziegler, a spokesman at Boeing Wichita. "They consulted with Boeing, they consulted with me, they consulted with the Air Force. Any of the theatrical license that was going to be taken, we were aware of it beforehand."

In the movie, Air Force One is hijacked by terrorists with the president (played by actor Harrison Ford) on board. The president uses his military skills and knowledge of the plane's capabilities to try to rescue the hostages.

In real life, there are two Boeing 747s that serve as the president's aircraft. The airframes for both were manufactured in Boeing's plant in Everett, Wash., and in 1987 both were flown to Wichita, where "they were quite literally gutted on the inside," Ziegler said.

Updated
FRIDAY
August 8, 1997
12:05 a.m. CDT

Pick a section
Go there

Turning a pair of ordinary 747s into the ultra-sophisticated Air Force One aircraft -- with its communications, military and security needs -- took Boeing Wichita more than three difficult years. Due to ever-changing modifications and never-ending turf battles, the first plane was delivered late, and Boeing was forced to swallow enormous cost overruns.

But those headaches faded once the dazzling planes were delivered in 1990, and today Boeing and its workers share an enormous sense of pride in those airplanes.

So what, exactly, did the folks at Boeing Wichita install on the real Air Force One during those three years in Wichita? Boeing has never said. And partly for security reasons, it still won't, even though the movie showcases an array of gadgets, some real, and some imaginary.

"As to whether there's a real gun rack on Air Force One, or is there a real escape pod on Air Force One, I can't speak to that," Ziegler said.

But President Clinton can, and recently did.

"As far as I know, there is no escape pod, and I don't think we have quite the arsenal on there, and there's no back door (for parachuting)," President Clinton said after the movie opened July 25. Incidentally, Clinton liked the movie as much as Boeing. He's already seen it twice.

The Air Force, too, gives the movie high marks. It cooperated with the film makers.

"For Hollywood, the idea is to sell tickets," Byars said. "For us, the idea is to portray the Air Force in a positive light. It's been a while since the Air Force has been on the silver screen. Can you name the last Air Force movie?"

Top Gun, perhaps?

"That was Navy," Byars replied coolly.

All agree that the movie Air Force One looks amazingly like the real plane, both inside and out. And some of its movie features do exist in real life.

Definitely the (midair) refueling and the security of Air Force One," Byars said. "It definitely is the most secure plane in the world."

Added Joe Lockhart, a White House spokesman, "They got a lot of stuff right. It certainly wasn't an exact replica, but they got the basic outlines right. The president has an office up front, and there's a conference room in the middle, and the press sits in the back."

But, he quipped, "Everything is on a slightly larger scale. I don't think we could have fit 50 to 60 hostages in the conference room."

Unlike the movie, there also are no parachutes, said an official at Andrews Air Force Base. With no way to jump out, a parachute would be useless.

As for the plane's ability to avoid missiles, that's something the Air Force will not discuss for security reasons. Former President George Bush, however, once did tell a New York newspaper that "it was reassuring to have a device that would fend off heat-seeking missiles." Bush has not yet seen the movie, his spokesman said Thursday.

But millions of Americans have, as Air Force One has become the month's biggest hit. At Towne West Square Cinemas in Wichita, the crowds have been good "and everyone seems to be pretty enthusiastic," said manager Jeff Quick.

Tom Webb reports on the Kansas Congressional delegation in Washington, D.C. He may be reached at (202) 383-6055.

RETURN TO TOP | © 1997 The Wichita Eagle

Business | Calendars | Editorial | Extras | Features | Help | Home Page | Local news | Movies | Obituaries | Sports | Technology

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN

9-10-97

Mr President

Please don't forget us Thanks

Kim Sears

Our Market

Bob Bluff

8/5/97

Small Business

C, SHO SHO letter about where we're doing for summer - report of the conf - Budget provisions etc
- TBC -

copied
COS

JIM DORSKIND:

Please coordinate
the reply.

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-10-97

Roller
FBI BK

Capitol

Emanuel

COS

Easy-to-concoct drug often makes users turn violent

By Debbie Howlett
USA TODAY

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — Lynn Yazel's eyes settle on the modest house just across Short Street as police carry out boxes of camp fuel, glass jars, coffee filters and red phosphorous. Individually, the items have little meaning. Together, they make up the components of a methamphetamine lab.

"This was a nice neighborhood a few years ago," Yazel laments. "It's a damn shame."

Yazel's sentiments are echoed in communities throughout the Midwest, which is fast becoming the nation's new center for the illicit manufacture of methamphetamine — a substance so odious that National Drug Policy Director Barry McCaffrey calls it "the crack of the '90s."

Just six years ago, police didn't even tally meth lab seizures in the nation's heartland because there were so few. Last year, the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and local police seized 450 labs — almost half the national total — in the 11 states between the Rockies and the Mississippi River. The drug's rapid spread through the sprawling suburbs and rural communities of middle America has been accompanied by an alarming surge in drug-related crime, violence and fear.

"It's totally overwhelming us," says Shirley Armstead, a spokeswoman at the DEA field office in St. Louis. In 1993, authorities seized 12 meth labs in Missouri. Last year, the DEA and local police seized 235 labs. That's 50% more than were seized in California, a state with nearly six times the population and where meth emerged more than a decade ago as the favored drug among motorcycle gangs. And Missouri's numbers continue to rise sharply. The first eight months of this year, authorities raided 333 labs. Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas also rank among the top 10 states for the production of methamphetamine. The DEA lists Minnesota and Iowa among the top 15.

Please see COVER STORY next page ▶

Continued from 1A

"No question about it," says Lt. Dennis Jensen, who heads the Independence Police Department's narcotics unit. "Meth has become the drug of choice in the Midwest."

A potent form of speed that can be snorted, smoked or injected, meth produces the same sort of effect as crack cocaine: an intense "rush" followed by a state of high agitation that can lead to volatile behavior. And meth's effect can last six to eight hours, far longer than the 20-minute high of crack.

"What makes methamphetamine users dangerous in their communities is that prolonged use can result in paranoid delusions," says Carol Falkowski, a drug abuse researcher with the Minnesota Department of Human Services. "The users behave in erratic ways, sometimes violently."

COVER STORY

Authorities can't say precisely what the meth explosion is doing to Midwest crime rates. The DEA still tracks meth use only among criminals in Western cities. But in Portland, Ore., San Jose, Calif., and Phoenix, Western cities with histories of methamphetamine use, one in five people arrested test positive for the drug.

John Bolger of the Minnesota state police says crack use is so common in his state that police officers are instructed how to deal with delusional, or "tweaking," meth users: stay 10 feet back, speak in a low pitch and don't shine bright lights.

Bolger points to a 1995 murder by an Arizona man as an example of how dangerous the drug is. In that case, Eric Smith — high on meth for 24 hours — stabbed his 14-year-old son 29 times and then cut off the child's head. He told police he thought the boy was possessed.

Easy as baking a cake

Throughout the 1980s, meth was largely a West Coast phenomenon. Motorcycle gangs hired "cooks" with solid chemistry backgrounds to concoct batches of the crumbly white powder in sophisticated labs.

The key ingredient, phenyl-2-propanone, was outlawed by the federal government in 1988. Meth cooks then turned to substances like ephedrine, which is available in over-the-counter asthma and cold tablets. Making meth from ephedrine requires removing one hydrogen and one oxygen molecule from the drug's chemical makeup. The process is as easy as baking a cake.

"It's so simple any clown can do it," says Mike Shanahan of the Jackson County (Mo.) Drug Task Force.

More than 50 meth "recipes" are in circulation, many of them available on the Internet. All involve adding household acids, camp stove fuel, black iodine, red phosphorous or even lye to crushed cold tablets and cooking the brew over low heat. The "juice" is then left to stew in glass jars where the meth separates from the other chemicals. A $200 investment in materials can produce about $2,000 worth of meth.

The ease and relative low cost of making the drug launched a cottage industry. And the Midwest has proved an ideal location to do business. Police forces in major cities have long targeted drug operations. But meth labs located in quiet suburbs, small towns and rural areas of the Midwest are less likely to attract scrutiny. The Midwest also offers an attractive customer base. Meth users are typically white, working-class men in their 20s or 30s.

"If you look at the demographics, we have a heavy population of that type," says Scott Rowland, general counsel for the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics, which prosecutes many meth cases. "There are a lot of remote areas that lend themselves to meth manufacturing."

Now there is growing concern that meth's appeal has begun to spread to college campuses and Midwest urban areas.

'Like shooting fish'

Nowhere in the Midwest is the meth problem more acute than here in Independence, Harry Truman's hometown and now a city of 112,000 in the shadow of Kansas City.

The city's drug enforcement unit has shut down 82 meth labs so far this year, a quarter of the state's total. "Per capita, there's more meth here than anywhere in the United States," Jensen says.

There are so many labs in operation that police have turned to a tactic called "knock and talk" to gain access to suspicious sites without waiting for a search warrant. Detectives simply walk up to a suspected house, tell the occupants that they have had complaints about possible drug activity and ask if they can look inside. Amazingly, four of five suspects let them in.

"It's like shooting fish," says detective Ron Franks, a burly officer with cropped hair.

Acting on a tip, Jensen and three detectives parked on Short Street near the wood-frame house with its sagging porch. As they got out of their cars, a woman pulled out of the driveway in a beat-up Chevy Blazer. The detectives followed her.

Three blocks from the house, they stopped her on a traffic violation. After a 10-minute conversation, police persuaded her to return to the house and let them in. In the home, which the woman first said was empty, police found three men in the basement surrounded by all the equipment needed to make meth. A fourth man was hiding in the attic. All five were arrested. Charges are pending the results of tests on three jars of liquid seized in the raid, which was legal because one of the occupants gave police permission to come inside.

"It's getting so you don't even want to live in your own neighborhood any more," says Yazel, who has raised four children during her 35 years on Short Street.

Meth carries with it the same sorts of crime problems that attend all addictive drugs, including higher burglary rates and violence. The large number of people arrested are crowding Midwest jails. And the mixing of volatile chemicals in the manufacturing process creates a fire and explosion hazard.

In a tragic case the day after Christmas in 1995, three toddlers, ages 1, 2, and 3 were burned beyond recognition when a meth lab in their Riverside County, Calif., trailer exploded. Studies by police in Western states have shown that as many as one of every four labs seized had signs of explosions and fires.

Noxious fumes also pose a health risk. Police wear respirators and protective clothing whenever they handle chemical evidence from a meth lab. A hazardous materials unit from the fire department must oversee lab clean-ups.

"It's basically a toxic waste site," says Shanahan, a former FBI agent who runs the Jackson County Drug Task Force.

'Dungeon of death'

The spread of meth has become a huge community concern. When a local sales tax was about to expire two years ago, voters in the Kansas City metropolitan area agreed to extend it and use the money to help pay for the drug task force, community education programs and additional drug treatment facilities. In Oklahoma, the state has instituted a 40-hour training course for police that helps officers recognize the components of mom-and-pop meth labs that might otherwise be overlooked. The Partnership for a Drug Free Iowa has produced public service announcements showing an officer in toxic-waste gear searching a basement lab. A voice over describes the lab as a "filthy dungeon of death."

Zilli Slaboda, who leads an epidemiology working group sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, has studied drug use in 20 U.S. cities for three decades. The spread of meth into the Midwest is one of the clearest trends she has found. And she says the drug's popularity is likely to continue its push eastward.

DEA statistics show no meth lab busts last year in the 14 states along the East Coast, but 12 labs were shut down in Pennsylvania. That's the same number of labs seized in Missouri just three years ago.

USA TODAY • WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1997

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-10-97

RM/EM RM

copied
Lindsey
cos

Air War Over Texas: Little Legend Finds Help In Congress to Break American Airlines' Lock

By DAVID ROGERS
And ASRA Q. NOMANI

Staff Reporters of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL
WASHINGTON—Without a plane yet to its name, little Legend Airlines is already stirring up the industry.

The upstart Texas company, led by a former Vietnam War fighter pilot and Reagan-era aviation regulator, is going toe-to-toe with giant American Airlines and much of the Dallas establishment over plans to begin limited service from the city's old Love Field.

Twenty years after airline deregulation, Legend's cause has touched a nerve in Congress where there are growing complaints of anticompetitive practices in the airline industry. And now Legend's case has turned into a donnybrook that threatens to engulf the government's entire $42 billion transportation budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Driving the issue is Sen. Richard Shelby, a Democrat-turned-Republican from Alabama and the new chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee's transportation panel. Up for re-election, he shows flashes of his old populism: "They're gouging my people," he says of the big airlines like American, a unit of AMR Corp. And as chairman, Mr. Shelby single-handedly amended the transportation bill to help Legend break American's lock on the Dallas-Fort Worth market.

It's pure power politics. Then again, many things about the airlines seem to be.

For a start-up company, just getting an airport gate and takeoff time slot are major hurdles, and in the past decade, federal rules have helped the biggest lines consolidate their grip on major hubs. UAL Corp.'s United Airlines and American last year controlled about 87% of the flying rights at Chicago's O'Hare—up from 66% a decade before, according to Congress's General Accounting Office. At LaGuardia Airport in New York, American, Delta Air Lines and US Airways held almost two-thirds of the slots last year, more than double their share in 1986.

To damp down the growing unrest, the Transportation Department is slated to announce next week that it's loosening the reins at tightly held airports. Western Pacific Airlines and Nevada-based Reno Air are expected to get new rights at Chicago, while ValuJet Inc. and Spirit Airlines are expected to be aided in New York. This comes as department officials finalize a report to Congress on what is being done to remedy anticompetitive practices in the industry.

A meeting here next month will air beefs by big corporations that airlines are gouging their business-travel budgets. Sen. John McCain (R., Ariz.), the new chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, is expected to unveil legislation to lift limits on long-distance flights from Washington's National Airport. These curbs protect United's investment at Dulles Airport in Virginia but anger Phoenix-based America West Airlines, which is prevented from flying nonstop from National to its home base.

At the heart of the Legend dispute is a 1979 deal struck by former House Majority Leader Jim Wright, a Texas Democrat, to give Dallas-Fort Worth Airport—and American—pre-eminence by limiting long-distance flights from the older Love Field. The pact, written into law, sealed a shared commitment by the two rival cities to the new airfield but also gave American extraordinary power over a vital hub for the nation.

Legend seeks to loosen one exemption in the Wright rule permitting long-distance flights from Love by planes with 56 or fewer seats. For reasons of cost and marketing, Legend wants to reconfigure larger DC-9-type planes with 56 wide seats appealing to business travelers while saving some space for packages. Legend's chief, T. Allan McArtor—who flew in Vietnam and went on to head the Federal Aviation Administration in the late 1980s—has long ties to Federal Express Corp., but so far the Memphis-based package carrier isn't an investor in Legend.

American officials doubt the viability of Legend's plan. Still, AMR's chairman and chief executive, Robert Crandall, has already threatened to "sue everyone in America to close Love Field" if the Wright rule is altered.

Mr. Crandall is a frequent visitor to the Clinton White House, and American pumped $313,000 in corporate funds into Democratic campaigns in the last election, according to the citizens lobby, Common Cause. Much of that money came within weeks of a favorable ruling by the Transportation Department last September that created an obstacle for Legend by insisting that it could meet the Wright standard only with planes designed from the outset for 56 seats. Such planes exist, but they are less roomy and too costly from Legend's standpoint.

American Airlines' Chris Chiames, a former Democratic congressional staffer, says the political contributions weren't pegged to the favorable ruling, and Nancy McFadden, the Transportation Department's counsel, who has longstanding political credentials, says she never consulted the White House and followed the advice of career staff attorneys in deciding the case.

Mr. Chiames argues that the Wright amendment was a compromise written to keep Love Field open, "not limit service," after the larger Dallas-Fort Worth Airport had been built.

Responding to Legend's appeal, the Justice Department all but told Legend to take its case to Congress, and it did. Enlisting Stewart Hall, a former Shelby aide turned lobbyist, Legend got in the chairman's door, and weeks later, Mr. Shelby unveiled his draft of the Senate spending bill with a rider voiding the Transportation department's ruling.

American cried foul. In the midst of last summer's airline ticket-tax fight, Mr. Crandall personally lobbied Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici (R., N.M.), also a senior appropriations member, on Love Field. And Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison (R., Texas)—whose husband, Ray, is bond counsel for the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport—jumped into the fray on American's side.

Having failed in the Senate, American is relying on the House and Majority Leader Dick Armey (R., Texas) to turn the tide in talks this month. But taking no chances, an American affiliate went around Legend and acquired more terminal space at Love; American insists it was only seeking office room, not trying to buy up the gates.

For Mr. Crandall, the same Love Field offices echo of his bitter 1980s fight with now-defunct Braniff Airlines for the rich Dallas market. Mr. Crandall won, but Bruce Leadbetter, a longtime investor with Braniff's former owners, is back with Legend along with American's own recently deposed man in Washington, Ed Faberman, who now represents a lobbying group for start-up lines.

As a corporate pit bull, Mr. Faberman earned the nickname "Fast Eddie." In his office recently was a voodoo doll of Mr. Crandall, stuck with pins, and he argues his old boss is the "bad sheriff" running off the competition in his Dallas-Fort Worth "company town." "It's almost a story of the Old West," he says.

To Maria E - Fy - BC

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-10-97

The Politics of Caring contemplated and illustrated by Scott Chambers

If not for this...

Copied
Echaveste
COS

we'd get this...

TONIGHT, AS I SIGN "MI CASA," THE MEMBERS OF THE NURSING HOME CLOSING COMMISSION WILL MAKE THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS FOR USING SOON-TO-BE SURPLUS NURSING HOMES.

BILL CLINTON

WE'LL MAKE THEM INTO SHELTERS FOR ABUSED SPOUSES AND FOR HOMELESS FOLKS, OR MAYBE THEY'LL BE BARRACKS FOR AMERICORPS VOLUNTEERS.

HILLARY CLINTON

THEY'LL MAKE REALLY NIFTY BED AND BREAKFASTS. OR, BETTER YET, LOWER MIDDLE CLASS COUNTRY CLUBS WITH PUTT-PUTT GOLF.

STEVE FORBES

NEWT GINGRICH

I SEE THEM AS DAY-CARE CENTERS FOR THE KIDS OF WORK-FARE MOMS OR ORPHANAGES FOR THE KIDS OF NEGLIGENT PARENTS...OR JUST SELL 'EM!

JACK KEIVORKIAN

PICTURE CRYOGENIC STORAGE FOR SPARE BODY PARTS OR PLUSH SUICIDE LOUNGES...OR CUT-RATE MAUSOLEUMS ...OR GHOST-EQUIPPED HAUNTED HOUSES.

USE THEM AS MASSIVE WARE-HOUSES TO STORE BILL GATES'S BILLIONS.

ROBERT B. REICH

FIRST, WE'LL GIVE THEM TO ADAPT. THEN, THEY RUN THEM AS CASINOS WITH THE PROFITS GOING TO PAY FOR ATTENDANT SERVICES. SEE? NOW, GET THIS... WE TAX THE PROFITS!

DICK MORRIS

JUSTIN DART

THEY'LL BE DANDY PRISONS FOR ANY LEGISLATORS CAUGHT ACCEPTING MONEY FROM AHCA.

.. then hear debates like this!

9-10-97

Minyon Moore
09/09/97 07:05:14 PM

EBB/FYT

Record Type: Record

To: Betty W. Currie/WHO/EOP, Heather M. Marabeti/OVP @ OVP, Carole A. Parmelee/WHO/EOP
cc: Maurice Daniel/OVP @ OVP Subject:

I received a call from Rev. Jackson asking me to pass on to the President and the Vice-President that his Mother has been hospitalized in South Carolina do to a fall. She was found crawling in the dark for several hours. As you may be aware, Mrs. Jackson has been recuperating from the hip surgery that underwent in Atlanta.

He left the following numbers: (864) 455-7681 Hospital (Mrs. Helen Jackson) (864) 864-271-6115 (Home of Mrs. Jackson -- Rev. Jackson will be there until tomorrow.

Heather, he specifically asked if I could have the VP call.

Thanks! (mm)

copied
COS

Tell Potts
I called to see how she was doing - said he wanted me to call and find out - said would do prayer to help her - SMB

9-10-97

Send her a letter for me —

We will send to Doraskind for reply
after you have seen

A.

Smith
Co

8/15/97

Mr. President,
Wanted you to see this letter I sent to your key constituents
Marilyn

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN
9-8-97

Copied
Smith
COS

THE PRESIDENT HAS BEEN
9-8-97

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

July 30, 1997

To COS
Fgh
Re

The Hon.

ategy

Dear :

During the past five years, it has been my privilege and honor to serve President Clinton in the White House Office of Public Liaison. Since the beginning of the President's first term in office, I have been blessed with the unique opportunity to serve on a special team here at the White House.

As the President's liaison to America's ethnic communities, it has been a privilege to work with you and so many others who share President Clinton's commitment to the values of ethnic America and our immigrant nation. As we have worked to bring our government closer to the people, the President's initiatives have benefitted greatly from your ideas, knowledge and perspectives and that of others in your community.

Over the years, I have learned so much from each of you. You have opened your organizations, your communities, and cultures to me. You have given your time, energy, and talents to ensure that the President has the full benefit of your communities' perspectives on key issues affecting our nation. Your commitment to both your communities and our President has truly been inspiring!

It is this example of commitment that has led me to pursue another position where I can make a contribution. I have accepted an exciting new challenge to work with Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Andrew Cuomo beginning mid August. By working with Secretary Cuomo, whose leadership and creativity has brought a new vision to HUD, I will engage many diverse communities in President Clinton's agenda for urban America.

As I move on, Christine Stanek will be taking over my responsibilities here at the Office of Public Liaison. She is a bright, hardworking and dedicated individual and I know you will enjoy working with her. Even though we have accomplished much over the years, there is much more to be done. I know that with your continued help and guidance, Christine will succeed in ensuring that the ethnic communities continue to have a voice at the table. Christine can be reached at (202) 456-2930.

Thank you so much for your support, your guidance, and your tireless efforts. My memories and experiences working with you here at the White House will long be treasured and will always be an important part of me.

Sincerely yours,

Marilyn DiGiacobbe
Special Assistant to the President for Public Liaison

Recommended telephone call to Tommy Thompson, regarding FLSA and welfare reform, to be made this week
GEB did it
I think
PR

THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE
9-8-97

Betty - Mr. Ibarra and Erskine said to tell the Gov. Tommy Thompson call off the call list (original request dated Aug. 4)
Erskine will handle.

9-8-97

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

97 AUG 4 PM 9:09

August 4, 1997

copied to COS
Cnrrn

RECOMMENDED TELEPHONE CALL

TO: The Honorable Tommy Thompson (R-WI)
Governor of Wisconsin

Office phone number: 608/266-3554
State House phone number: 608/266-2734

DATE: This week, if possible

RECOMMENDED BY: Mickey Ibarra, Director of Intergovernmental Affairs

PURPOSE: Governor Tommy Thompson, a former chairman of the National Governors' Association (NGA), a member of the NGA task force charged with advocating for changes to the current applications of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) to welfare reform, and a prominent leader in the welfare reform effort, requested this call. He would like to address the concerns of a bipartisan group of governors that workfare recipients should not be treated under the FLSA as regular employees with respect to FICA, UI, and EITC. Although they were not successful on this issue in the Budget Bill, the governors are hopeful that they can use another legislative vehicle, perhaps the appropriations bill, to accomplish their objective.

BACKGROUND: You spoke with Governor Tom Carper (D-DE), who shares a similar perspective on the FLSA issue, at the NGA meeting in Las Vegas. I spoke with Governor Thompson on Friday, August 1, 1997 regarding his concerns, and he requested an opportunity to also speak with you.

TOPICS OF DISCUSSION: 1. Success of recently passed balanced budget
2. Understanding of concerns with FLSA provisions

CONTACT PERSON: Mickey Ibarra, Intergovernmental Affairs
Phone number: 6-7060

DATE OF SUBMISSION: Monday, August 4, 1997

ACTION: _____

9-8-97

MS