Todd Stern

Todd Stern, Assistant to the President for Special Projects, currently manages the Clinton Administration's overall effort on the issue of global climate change.

Previously, from June 1995 until March 1998, Mr. Stern served as Assistant to the President and Staff Secretary. As Staff Secretary, Mr. Stern managed the flow of paper to and from the President and coordinated Senior Staff comment on decision memoranda and other Presidential documents. He also took on a number of special assignments, such as managing the confirmation process for the Secretary of Labor and coordinating the outreach effort on the issue of global climate change.

Mr. Stern joined the Administration as Deputy Staff Secretary, a position he held from January 1993 until June of 1995.

From 1990 to 1993 he served as Senior Counsel to Senator Patrick Leahy on the Senate Judiciary Committee. Before that, he was Vice President at Podesta Associates, a Washington, D.C. government relations and public affairs firm.

Before coming to Washington, Mr. Stern practiced law in New York, principally at Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, where he was a litigator. He also served as General Counsel to Associated Mills/Pollenex, a Chicago manufacturer.

Mr. Stern graduated from Harvard Law School (cum laude) in 1977 and from Dartmouth College (summa cum laude) in 1973. He is married to Jennifer Klein, Special Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy and is an advisor to the First Lady. They have a one year old son, Jacob.

Todd Stern

Todd Stern, Assistant to the President for Special Projects, currently manages the Clinton Administration's overall effort on the issue of global climate change, including domestic policy, diplomatic efforts, communications, congressional relations and outreach. He has formally been in this position since March 1998. Mr. Stern's work on climate change began in July 1997, when he was asked to lead a public education and outreach effort on climate change and to participate at the senior level in the formulation of domestic and diplomatic policy. He participated in the Kyoto Conference on Global Climate Change as the senior White House representative on the American delegation.

Previously, from June 1995 until March 1998, Mr. Stern served as Assistant to the President and Staff Secretary. As Staff Secretary, Mr. Stern managed the flow of paper to and from the President and coordinated senior staff comment on decision memoranda and other Presidential documents. This position required a working familiarity with the broad range of domestic and foreign policy issues addressed by the President. He also took on a number of special assignments on policy and other matters.

Mr. Stern joined the Administration as Deputy Staff Secretary, with duties similar to those he handled as Staff Secretary. He held this position from January 1993 until June of 1995.

From 1990 to 1993, Mr. Stern served as Senior Counsel to Senator Patrick Leahy on the Senate Judiciary Committee. His principal responsibilities there included intellectual property, telecommunications, trade, antitrust, Supreme Court nominations and speech writing. Before that, he was Vice President at Podesta Associates, a Washington, D.C. government relations and public affairs firm.

Before coming to Washington, Mr. Stern practiced law in New York, principally at Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, where he was a litigator. He also served as General Counsel to Associated Mills/Pollenex, a Chicago manufacturer.

Mr. Stern graduated from Harvard Law School (cum laude) in 1977 and from Dartmouth College (summa cum laude) in 1973. He is married to Jennifer Klein, Special Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy and an advisor to the First Lady. They have a son, Jacob, who is nearly two.

CTSG TALKING POINTS

Strategy, Research & Policy

CTSG helps political candidates, ballot campaigns, non-profits, unions, socially responsible businesses, and other organizations market their ideas in the public policy arena. We offer research, message development, general consulting, tactical and program planning, rapid response, debate prep, writing, and creative media services. CTSG members have written innovative economic plans, policy agendas, and issue papers for national organizations and state leaders, and we authored the DNC Research Manual. Our political practice has helped two thirds of our clients win their elections.

Technology

CTSG graduated from developing the first web site for a Democratic Senate campaign (Feinstein) in 1994, to designing and programming the interactive Crossroads CD-ROM for the President's Bipartisan Commission on Entitlement and Tax Reform in 1995, to designing sites and intranets for national advocacy organizations and unions like the Communications Workers of America in 1996. We also do program planning for a national wireless trade organization's annual conference.

Community Strategies

The company will continue its grassroots efforts through its new affiliate, focusing especially on environment, energy and other key community concerns. We've advised national and regional non-profits on grassroots communications efforts affecting land use and the environment. Currently, the firm is working on grassroots efforts to protect our national parks.

Dear Todd David Stern:

The Marquis Who's Who editors offer you their wishes for a prosperous and productive New Year, and hope that you will join us in our continuing commitment to outstanding biographical reference publishing.

Because we present a new edition of Who's Who in America annually, we begin each January with a request for updated information. We ask that you review the enclosed copy of your biographical profile for inclusion in the 52nd Edition of Who's Who in America.

Please proofread your sketch carefully. Then, whether or not changes are needed, please sign the sketch and return it to us as soon as possible. Your signature is our assurance that the sketch is current and complete, and has met with your approval.

Only with your verification can our editors be sure they have up-to-date information. And, your participation helps Who's Who in America maintain its reputation as the source for accurate, current information.

As Publisher of Marquis Who's Who, I offer you the opportunity to reserve your copy of Who's Who in America at a special savings, if you respond now. (Of course, there is never any cost or obligation to Biographees for inclusion in a Marquis publication.) With your order you will receive a complimentary Certificate of Recognition, inscribed with your name. Simply indicate your choices on the enclosed Reservation Form and return it in the envelope provided.

Your continued inclusion is important to the reference value of Who's Who in America. Please remember, we must receive your verified sketch as soon as possible. Because our publication process operates within a firm timetable, we would appreciate your immediate attention.

Sincerely,

Sandra S. Barnes
Publisher

Dear Alumnus/Alumna:

Two years have passed since publication of the third edition of the Paul, Weiss Alumni Directory and it is time for an update. Attached you will find a biographical data information sheet listing the most current information that we now have about you. Please write any changes or additions on the form and return it by fax or mail to Linda Ficano (212-373-2291). If all the information is correct, please return the form as confirmation that no alterations are needed. Our goal is to publish a new edition of the directory in early 1997, so we ask for your revisions no later than November 30.

In addition, we plan to circulate a new issue of our newsletter. For that purpose, please use the enclosed form to let us know about any new developments in your professional or personal life that you would like to share with the Paul, Weiss family in the Alumni Notes column.

We are also pleased to announce that we will soon have another reception in honor of our alumni. The event will take place at the Equitable Center on Monday, October 21, starting at 5:30 P.M. It will include a program marking the 50th anniversary of the formation of Paul, Weiss, with a talk by Ed Costikyan; a panel discussion on the forthcoming Presidential election, featuring Ted Sorensen and Senator Warren Rudman; and a reception. A formal invitation with all the details will be sent to you shortly, but meanwhile, please mark your calendars. Those who attended last time, two years ago, will remember how enjoyable and successful it was.

We look forward to hearing from you and hope to see you on October 21.

Very truly yours,

Mark H. Alcott, Chair
Alumni Relations Committee

Mr. Todd D. Stern
Assistant to the President and Staff Secretary
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. Stern:

You have again been selected by our Board of Editors for biographical coverage in the 23rd edition of the Federal Staff Directory to be published in September 1996.

Please review the attached copy from the 1996/1 edition. We will appreciate your returning this reprint with your corrections, additions or deletions within twenty working days. If you have any questions, or if you have a problem meeting this deadline, please call Dorothy Countryman at (703) 739-0900, extension 215.

May I remind you that your selection as a biographee and the publication of your biography has no connection with your buying anything. No one has ever paid his or her way into any Staff Directory publication.

Thank you,

Wayne Walker

RE: Profile Update - The Almanac of the Executive Branch, 1997/98
Response Deadline - July 7, 1997

Attached is a copy of your profile as it appeared in our publication, The Almanac of the Executive Branch 1995/96 (September, 1995). At this point in time, we are updating everyone's profile for the third edition. In total, 700 political appointees and other important staff members within the White House, Cabinet Departments, independent agencies, and quasi-official federal organizations will be profiled.

Our goal is to ensure that your profile is absolutely accurate and complete and reflects your professional and academic background, past work experience, current job responsibilities, and priorities of your office. Please review your profile and provide us with updated information concerning the main issues/projects you have worked on or addressed in your position and those which you expect to be working on in the coming year. Also, kindly correct and/or make additions to your personal information as needed:

Mr. Todd Stern
Assistant to the President and Staff Secretary
Office of the Staff Secretary
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

TEL: 202/456-2702 FAX: 202/456-2215 E-Mail:

If we did not have a photo of you, kindly forward one to us.

After ten years of publishing government references, we have learned that different people prefer to update their profiles in different ways. Please feel free to mark-up the attached profile, submit a revised profile, or send us any attachments you feel appropriate such as press releases, speeches, issue summaries, or updated bios. If you wish to arrange a brief phone interview, please let us know via fax or phone.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please feel free to contact us directly at 202/296-2297. Kindly return your information to us by July 7 at the latest via: Fax (202/223-3504), E-mail (APINC@aol.com), or mail.

I thank you in advance for your time and cooperation.

Old Executive Office Bldg., Rm. 196
Washington, D. C. 20500
202/456-2777
Fax: 202/456-5709

Personal: born 9/17/54 in Fayetteville, N.C.

Education: B.A., Univ. of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1976. Masters Degree, international relations, London School of Economics, 1978. J.D., Univ. of Virginia Law School, 1981.

Professional: 1976-77, political reporter, Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report. 1981-85, associate, Patterson, Belknap, Webb & Tyler, (New York). 1985-87, reporter, The American Lawyer. 1987-94, assoc. editor: political reporter; White House correspondent; senior editor; and then assistant managing editor, U.S. News and World Report. March 1994-present; deputy asst. to the President for speechwriting and research.

Don Baer first worked as a reporter just after earning his undergraduate degree in 1976. While working for a New York city law firm in 1981, he started writing op-ed pieces for the New York Times. He then worked full time as a reporter for the American Lawyer before joining U.S. News and World Report in 1987. At the magazine, he covered the Justice Department, the FBI and wrote on organized crime. He also served as a White House correspondent and before taking this position with the Clinton Administration, he was one of the managing editors for the magazine's "Outlook" section, which covers all aspects of national and international news.

In naming Baer to his White House Post, President Clinton described him as a "writer of depth and talent who understands, both from the experience of his life and from his career as a reporter and editor, the challenges that face Americans all across the country in their daily lives".

Baer is married to Nancy Bard, a lawyer. They have two children.

Education: B.A. (summa cum laude), Dartmouth College, 1973. J.D., (cum laude), Harvard Law School, 1977.

Professional: 1977-79, staff attorney, Criminal Appeals Bureau, Legal Aid Society (New York). 1979-85, associate, Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison (New York). 1985-87, general counsel, Associated Mills/Pollenex (New York). 1988, New York issues director, Primary; deputy research director, General Election, Dukakis-Bentsen Campaign. 1989-90, vice president, Podesta Associates (Washington, D.C.) 1990-93, senior counsel to Senator Patrick Leahy (D-Vt.), Senate Judiciary Committee. 1993-95, deputy assistant to the President and deputy staff secretary. July 3, 1995-present, assistant to the President and staff secretary, the White House.

Todd Stern became staff secretary at the White House on July 3, 1995, succeeding John Podesta who was described as the "administration's premier damage controller" by the Washington Post. (June 30, 1995) Stern had worked as deputy to Podesta since the beginning of the Clinton Administration.

As deputy staff secretary, Stern was responsible for managing the paper flow to and from the President, including coordination of senior staff comment on decision memoranda and other Presidential documents. During the Clinton-Gore campaign in 1992, Stern prepared materials for the domestic policy briefing book for the Presidential debates. During the transition, he prepared memos on potential Cabinet appointees and served on the cluster group considering staffing at the Justice Department.

Stern served as senior counsel to Vermont Senator Patrick Leahy on the Senate Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on Technology and Law from June 1990 to January 1993. His areas of responsibility included telecommunications, trade, intellectual property, antitrust, Supreme Court nominations, foreign aid and speechwriting. In the year prior to working on the hill, he served as vice-president of Podesta Associates in Washington, DC. At this media and public affairs firm, he was involved in campaign consulting and government relations.

During 1988, Stern worked as New York issues director for the Dukakis campaign staff and served as deputy research director in the Dukakis-Bentsen general election campaign. From 1983 to 1987, he served in New York as a general counsel for Associated Mills/Pollenex of Chicago, supervising litigation and general corporate matters. From 1979 to 1985, he was an associate with the New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, handling general litigation including antitrust, securities, libel, and intellectual property.

His first work as a lawyer after graduating cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1977 was with the Criminal Appeals Bureau of the Legal Aid Society in New York, writing and arguing appeals in state and Federal courts.

Stern was Phi Beta Kappa at Dartmouth College where he graduated summa cum laude in 1973.

Education: B.A., University of Nebraska, 1969.

Professional: 1969-78, manpower specialist, U.S. Department of Labor. 1978-81, assistant director, White House Domestic Policy Staff. 1981-86, minority staff director, Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee. 1986-92, chief of staff, Office of Congressman Sander M. Levin. 1992-93, deputy director of congressional relations, Presidential Inaugural Committee. 1993-95, chief of staff, Labor Secretary Robert Reich, U.S. Dept. of Labor. 1995-present, Secretary to the Cabinet, The White House.

Kitty Higgins, who received a degree in social science and education from the University of Nebraska, began her career as a civil servant in the Department of Labor's Manpower Administration. Nearly twenty-five years later, Higgins returned to the Department as chief of staff to Labor Secretary Robert B. Reich. In 1995, she was tapped by President Clinton to become secretary to the Cabinet to replace Christine Varney. Varney is now at the Federal Trade Commission.

As Cabinet Secretary, Higgins is charged with coordinating the work of agency heads with whom she meets two or three times each week. She also leads a daily conference call with each agency chief of staff. Since coming to the White House, Higgins has also been involved in a number of important issues including the development of the Administration's approach to the renewed debate on affirmative action. According to the Wall Street Journal, she suggested that the administration take the "focus off minorities by highlighting women's benefits from affirmative action". (February 27, 1995).

Higgins is something of a female pioneer in a work world previously dominated by men. In 1982, she became the first Democratic woman staff director in the U.S. Senate when Senator Edward Kennedy hired her to fill the top Democratic staff position on the Labor and Human Resources Committee.

The career in between Higgins's Labor Department jobs includes stints in both the executive and the legislative branches of the federal government, with labor-related experience in both. During the Carter administration, Higgins served as assistant director for employment policy on the White House domestic policy staff. Between 1978 and 1981, she helped to create Vice President Walter Mondale's task force on youth employment, which studied and sought solutions to persistently high rates of youth joblessness.

In 1981, Higgins joined the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee to handle education and training policy for Senator Kennedy. While working on the committee, Higgins helped to pass Kennedy's 1982 Job Training Partnership Act. And from 1986 until she joined the Clinton Transition team, Higgins served as chief of staff for Michigan Democratic Congressman Sander Levin. Before being appointed to Secretary Reich's staff, Higgins served as deputy director of congressional relations for the Presidential Inaugural Committee.

As Reich's chief of staff, Higgins was a key

Dear Mr. Stern:

You have again been selected by our Board of Editors for biographical coverage in the 26th edition of the Federal Staff Directory, to be published in November 1997.

Please review the attached copy from the 1997/2 edition. We will appreciate your returning this reprint with your corrections, additions or deletions within ten working days. If you have any questions, or if you have a problem meeting this deadline, please call Dorothy Countryman at (703) 739-0900, extension 215, or e-mail her at dcountryman@cq.com.

May I remind you that your selection as a biographee and the publication of your biography have no connection with your buying anything. No one has ever paid his or her way into any Staff Directory publication.

Thank you,

Wayne Walker

Who's Who in America®

THE CHRONICLE OF AMERICAN ACHIEVEMENT SINCE 1899.

A Chicago newspaper publisher in the 1890s, Albert Nelson Marquis needed information about the city leaders, business people, and professionals whose names made his headlines. He wondered why there was no single source of biographical fact on the country's most widely known people.

He set out to create that source himself, publishing Who's Who in America in 1899. The book was a reflection of the energy and ambition of turn-of-the-century America—and it was an immediate success.

One hundred years later, Who's Who in America is still recognized as the best single source for biographical information—the chronicle of contemporary American achievement for this century, and the next.

ONE PRINCIPLE GOVERNS SELECTION

In 1899, A. N. Marquis selected 8,602 distinguished people for inclusion in the First Edition of Who's Who in America, filling a critical reference need. Continually updated and expanded, Who's Who in America will include the biographies of over 100,000 outstanding individuals in the new, 53rd Edition.

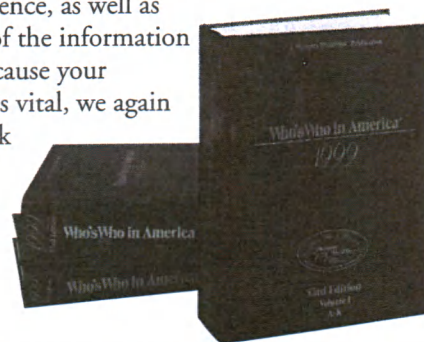

While our Biographees have grown in number, our selection standards remain stringent. Fewer than four in 10,000 people are included in Who's Who in America.

Selection is based solely on reference value. Individuals are listed because of the positions they have attained or because of noteworthy achievements that have proven to be of lasting value to society. Fame alone is not a criterion, nor is high financial or social status. Only demonstrated accomplishment can earn a place in Who's Who in America.

YOUR BIOGRAPHY

The biographical data presented in Who's Who in America come from the most authoritative sources available—the Biographees themselves. A century of experience has shown that only with your participation can we maintain our standard of accuracy. That is why we ask for your immediate response to our request for assistance.

In the coming months, you will receive a proof of your sketch as prepared by our editorial staff. This will provide you with the opportunity to review, correct, and update the information presented. Your participation, and the resultant accuracy of your sketch, ensures the edition's authenticity for its reference audience, as well as the currency of the information presented. Because your participation is vital, we again respectfully ask for your prompt reply. You have our thanks.

Don't be confused: Many "vanity publishers" and "membership organizations" include biographical information in their publications regardless of reference-worthiness. Please do not confuse Marquis Who's Who with those who charge a fee for publishing your biography, or who require that you purchase a book. We do not sell the listings in our publications as others do. When we request that you fill out a biographical questionnaire, or update your biography, we seek information that will help our editorial staff determine your qualifications. There is never, under any circumstances, any cost or obligation to Biographees for inclusion in a Marquis publication.

Finally, please do not assume that Marquis has published a book simply because the title contains the words "who's who." To verify that a title has been published by Marquis, please consult your local librarian and the shelves of your local public library, where you are likely to find a number of our volumes.

Dear Todd Stearn:

With the forthcoming publication of our 53rd Edition, Who's Who in America marks its 100th year of continuous publication. We ask you to verify your biography for inclusion in this milestone reference work.

As in the past, please review the enclosed copy of your biography, then sign and return it whether or not changes are required. Your signature is our assurance that the sketch is accurate and complete, and has met with your approval.

Your participation ensures that your biography will be included in this commemorative edition of America's first and foremost biographical reference. You are part of a proud tradition begun in 1899, when Albert Nelson Marquis, a Chicago publisher, first selected profiles for Who's Who in America. One hundred years later, Who's Who in America continues to serve the needs of librarians, journalists, historians, business people, students, researchers—and many others, all seeking biographical information on notable Americans such as yourself. As further testament to its historical significance, each edition of Who's Who in America can be found in the archives of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

The forthcoming edition of Who's Who in America represents a milestone in 100 years of biographical publishing, a work that has evolved beyond the original expectations of its founder. Today, Who's Who in America is a seminal reference found in public and academic libraries, corporations, associations, government, and the media. Responding to the needs of a worldwide reference audience, we've also made Who's Who in America available on CD-ROM, and accessible through Reuters, LEXIS-NEXIS®, and DIALOG® online services.

While we welcome change through technology, we've maintained the quality of the information presented thanks to the standard by which we research, select, and edit our biographies, still true to the ideas of A.N. Marquis over 100 years ago:

Selection is based solely on reference value.

(over, please)

While there has never been a fee for inclusion in a Marquis publication, we do offer Biographees the opportunity to reserve a copy of Who's Who in America at a special savings. With your order you will receive a complimentary Certificate of Recognition, inscribed with your name. Simply indicate your preferences on the enclosed Reservation Form and return it in the envelope provided.

Your inclusion in the upcoming commemorative edition is important to the reference value of Who's Who in America. Please take a moment to approve your biography then return it, with an order if you wish, in the enclosed envelope. We thank you for your continued cooperation and are pleased to have you join us as we celebrate 100 years of success.

Sincerely,

Who's Who in America®

THE CHRONICLE OF AMERICAN ACHIEVEMENT SINCE 1899.

A Chicago newspaper publisher in the 1890s, Albert Nelson Marquis needed information about the city leaders, business people, and professionals whose names made his headlines. He wondered why there was no single source of biographical fact on the country's most widely known people.

He set out to create that source himself, publishing Who's Who in America in 1899. The book was a reflection of the energy and ambition of turn-of-the-century America—and it was an immediate success.

One hundred years later, Who's Who in America is still recognized as the best single source for biographical information—the chronicle of contemporary American achievement for this century, and the next.

ONE PRINCIPLE GOVERNS SELECTION

In 1899, A. N. Marquis selected 8,602 distinguished people for inclusion in the First Edition of Who's Who in America, filling a critical reference need. Continually updated and expanded, Who's Who in America will include the biographies of over 100,000 outstanding individuals in the new, 53rd Edition.

While our Biographees have grown in number, our selection standards remain stringent. Fewer than four in 10,000 people are included in Who's Who in America.

Selection is based solely on reference value. Individuals are listed because of the positions they have attained or because of noteworthy achievements that have proven to be of lasting value to society. Fame alone is not a criterion, nor is high financial or social status. Only demonstrated accomplishment can earn a place in Who's Who in America.

YOUR BIOGRAPHY

The biographical data presented in Who's Who in America come from the most authoritative sources available—the Biographees themselves. A century of experience has shown that only with your participation can we maintain our standard of accuracy. That is why we ask for your immediate response to our request for assistance.

In the coming months, you will receive a proof of your sketch as prepared by our editorial staff. This will provide you with the opportunity to review, correct, and update the information presented. Your participation, and the resultant accuracy of your sketch, ensures the edition's authenticity for its reference audience, as well as the currency of the information presented. Because your participation is vital, we again respectfully ask for your prompt reply. You have our thanks.

Don't be confused: Many "vanity publishers" and "membership organizations" include biographical information in their publications regardless of reference-worthiness. Please do not confuse Marquis Who's Who with those who charge a fee for publishing your biography, or who require that you purchase a book. We do not sell the listings in our publications as others do. When we request that you fill out a biographical questionnaire, or update your biography, we seek information that will help our editorial staff determine your qualifications. There is never, under any circumstances, any cost or obligation to Biographees for inclusion in a Marquis publication.

Finally, please do not assume that Marquis has published a book simply because the title contains the words "who's who." To verify that a title has been published by Marquis, please consult your local librarian and the shelves of your local public library, where you are likely to find a number of our volumes.

Dear Todd Stearn:

With the forthcoming publication of our 53rd Edition, Who's Who in America marks its 100th year of continuous publication. We ask you to verify your biography for inclusion in this milestone reference work.

As in the past, please review the enclosed copy of your biography, then sign and return it whether or not changes are required. Your signature is our assurance that the sketch is accurate and complete, and has met with your approval.

Your participation ensures that your biography will be included in this commemorative edition of America's first and foremost biographical reference. You are part of a proud tradition begun in 1899, when Albert Nelson Marquis, a Chicago publisher, first selected profiles for Who's Who in America. One hundred years later, Who's Who in America continues to serve the needs of librarians, journalists, historians, business people, students, researchers—and many others, all seeking biographical information on notable Americans such as yourself. As further testament to its historical significance, each edition of Who's Who in America can be found in the archives of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

The forthcoming edition of Who's Who in America represents a milestone in 100 years of biographical publishing, a work that has evolved beyond the original expectations of its founder. Today, Who's Who in America is a seminal reference found in public and academic libraries, corporations, associations, government, and the media. Responding to the needs of a worldwide reference audience, we've also made Who's Who in America available on CD-ROM, and accessible through Reuters, LEXIS-NEXIS®, and DIALOG® online services.

While we welcome change through technology, we've maintained the quality of the information presented thanks to the standard by which we research, select, and edit our biographies, still true to the ideas of A.N. Marquis over 100 years ago:

Selection is based solely on reference value.

(over, please)

While there has never been a fee for inclusion in a Marquis publication, we do offer Biographees the opportunity to reserve a copy of Who's Who in America at a special savings. With your order you will receive a complimentary Certificate of Recognition, inscribed with your name. Simply indicate your preferences on the enclosed Reservation Form and return it in the envelope provided.

Your inclusion in the upcoming commemorative edition is important to the reference value of Who's Who in America. Please take a moment to approve your biography then return it, with an order if you wish, in the enclosed envelope. We thank you for your continued cooperation and are pleased to have you join us as we celebrate 100 years of success.

Sincerely,

Paul Canning

Who's Who in America® The Chronicle of American Achievement Since 1899.

“WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA shall endeavor to list those individuals who are of current national reference interest and inquiry either because of meritorious achievement or because of the positions they hold.”

Albert Nelson Marquis
Founder, 1899

From the very beginning, Marquis Who's Who in America has provided accurate, concise biographies of notable Americans. That was the mission of Albert Nelson Marquis, who founded the original concept in 1899.

A publisher of newspaper supplements during the 1890s, Marquis was frequently chagrined by the delay and difficulty in getting information about city leaders, business people, professionals, and others being covered. He wondered why there was no single source of biographical fact on the country's most widely known people.

He set out to create that single source himself, publishing his first edition in 1899.

The book was an immediate success. In that first edition, Who's Who in America caught the spirit of a young, growing nation and of a people who could measure their freedom in the range of their achievement.

Unlike similar volumes published in Europe that had focused on blueblood nobility, Who's Who in America filled its pages with a people who had made their own names for themselves. Who's Who in America reflected the ideals of hard work and success of the society it researched.

And still does today.

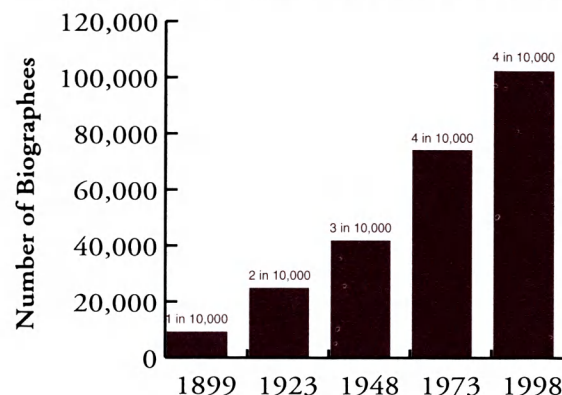

One Principle Governs Selection

In 1899, A. N. Marquis selected 8,602 distinguished people for inclusion in the First Edition of Who's Who in America, filling a critical reference need. Continually updated and expanded, Who's Who in America was published every two years until 1993, when Marquis began annual publication in response to requests by our reference audience.

The editors of Who's Who in America strive to identify and chronicle the achievements of men and women who have become the leaders in our society's political, cultural, and economic affairs. As the course of history presents changing patterns in American leadership, Marquis records the impact of each emerging force: the role of the United States in a “global economy;” the rise of American women to positions of influence; and the prominence of individuals in the growing fields of computer technology, healthcare, communications, athletics, and entertainment, to name but a few. Marquis Who's Who will proudly present the biographies of over 100,000 outstanding individuals in our new, 52nd Edition.

While our Biographees have grown in number, our selection standards remain stringent. Fewer than four in 10,000 people are included in Who's Who in America.

Biographees Selected for Who's Who in America®

1 in 10,000 Part of Total Population

Selection is based solely on reference value. Individuals are listed because of the positions they have attained or because of noteworthy achievements that have proven to be of lasting value to society. Fame alone is not a criterion, nor is high financial or social status. Only demonstrated accomplishment can earn a place in Who's Who in America.

Your Biography

The biographical data presented in Who's Who in America come from the most authoritative sources available—the Biographees themselves. Decades of experience have shown that only with your participation can we maintain our standard of accuracy. That is why we ask your immediate response to our request for assistance.

In the coming months, you will receive a proof of your sketch as prepared by our editorial staff. This will provide you with the opportunity to review, correct, and update the information presented. Your participation, and the resultant accuracy of your sketch, ensures the edition's authenticity for its reference audience, as well as the currency of the information presented. Because your participation is vital, we again respectfully ask for your prompt reply. You have our thanks.

Don't be confused: many “vanity publishers” and “membership organizations” include biographical information in their publications regardless of reference-worthiness. Please do not confuse Marquis Who's Who with those who charge a fee for publishing your biography, or who require that you purchase a book. We do not sell the listings in our publications as others do. When we request that you fill out a biographical questionnaire, or update your biography, we seek information that will help our editorial staff determine your qualifications. There is never, under any circumstances, any cost or obligation to Biographees for inclusion in a Marquis publication.

Finally, please do not assume that Marquis has published a book simply because the title contains the words “who's who.” To verify that a title has been published by Marquis, please consult your local librarian and the shelves of your local public library, where you are likely to find a number of our volumes.
