Carol -- we need to get a daily conference call number that we get to Rafe Pomerance (647-2232) and Peter Bass (647-7449) at State and Gene, Katie, Dan Tarullo, Jim Steinberg, Peter Orszag, David Sandalow here. And I need to know it before I leave.

Second -- could you find out whether it is appropriate for me to get a White House car to airport. I assume probably not, but if it is, I'd take it. tds

TO: Jewish Policy Leaders Study Group
FROM: Rob Ferish Rob
RE: Our Thriving Group

I am pleased to report to everyone on our mailing list that our group is, indeed, thriving. At our first two meetings this year, we have had strong attendance (including several new people) and lively discussions. Rabbi Sid Schwarz continues to guide and stimulate the conversation most skillfully.

We now have so many people interested in the group that the question has arisen whether we should continue to invite new people to participate or potentially limit participation to those who come regularly. Before making this decision, we need to know what level of commitment already exists. Please respond to the brief enclosed fax form.

Ideally, we would prefer to have a group of regular attendees. This allows for continuity of discussion and the building of closer personal relationships. While all of us have busy schedules, and last minute emergencies, I encourage those of you still committed to participating to make a special effort to attend this "Torah study" as regularly as possible. We hope that each of you still interested in the group will set the goal of attending at least 5 of the remaining 7 sessions scheduled before we break for the summer of 1998.

Our next session is Friday, December 5 at noon. Sid has predicted we will find it lively subject matter that would profit most from a full representation of men and women at the table.

Hope to see you then.

primetime specials and six special issues of TIME,
culminating in the selection of the man or the woman of the century. The five joint specials leading to the announcement of the Person of the Century
will profile the TIME 100 grouped into five categories:
leaders and revolutionaries, entertainers and artists,
builders and titans, scientists and healers,
and heroes and adventurers.
The first TIME 100 specials are scheduled for April 1998.
