Dear Mr. DeBaca

I wish to extend an invitation for you to visit several Air Force installations in Europe on 21 - 27 September 1975.

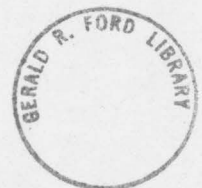

Your visit will culminate our observance of National Hispanic Heritage Week. You will have the opportunity to view our programs and meet some of the participants.

A suggested itinerary for your visit is attached. If there are areas of special interest to you that are not covered, we will do our best to accommodate your wishes. I have appointed Captain Simpson, of my Social Actions Staff, as the project officer for your visit. He will contact your office concerning travel arrangements.

I believe you will find a visit with us very interesting and I am looking forward to meeting you.

MEMORANDUM

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

September 19, 1975

MEMORANDUM FOR: FERNANDO DE BACA
FROM: BRENT SCOWCROFT BS
SUBJECT: Proposed Visit to Air Force Bases
in Spain

We concur in your proposed visit to several U.S. Air Force bases in Europe, September 20-27.

During your visit to Spain, however, we ask that you not meet with any Spanish officials and that you not make any speeches or statements to either U.S. or Spanish audiences on developments in Spain or on US-Spanish relations.

September 12, 1975

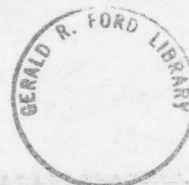

MEMORANDUM FOR: GENERAL SCOWCROFT
THROUGH: CAPTAIN KOLLMORGEN, USN
FROM: FERNANDO E. C. DE BACA
SUBJECT: Invitation to visit U. S.
Air Force Bases in Europe

General R. H. Ellis, Vice Chief of Staff, USAF, has extended an invitation to me to visit, at the expense of the Department of the Air Force, five major Air Force bases in Europe during the week of September 21-27, 1975.

The purpose of this trip is to visit with the more than 20,000 Hispanic military personnel stationed at these bases and to meet with top Air Force officials in Europe regarding their equal opportunity and race relations programs. Invitational orders covering all aspects of the trip will be forwarded to you as soon as received in this office, which will be in a day or two.

I have requested the assistance of Master Sergeant Richard Inunza of the Military Equal Opportunity Programs Office at Headquarters, The Pentagon, and Clayton Willis, a civilian. Also, I have been given advance notice that a briefing has been scheduled by the Office of the Special Assistant for Social Actions (USAF, which is Sergeant Inunza's Hdqs.) for me prior to my departure, should permission for my trip be granted.

In view of the short time remaining before this trip, would you please tell me of any specific clearances required from your office? I will appreciate any help and advice your office can give me. Thank you very much.

HISTORY OF USAFE

WELCOME

Allied Air Forces Central Europe (AAFCE) which was established on 28 June 1974 serves as a command and control interface between Allied Forces Central Europe (AFCENT) and the tactical air arms, Second Allied Tactical Air Force (2ATAF) and Fourth Allied Tactical Air Force (4ATAF). AAFCE is an international command staffed by air forces personnel from six NATO Nations; Belgium, Canada, The Federal Republic of Germany, The United Kingdom, The Netherlands, and the United States of America.

The peacetime mission of AAFCE is to provide and coordinate training and wartime planning for the Allied Tactical Air Forces assigned for the defense of the Central Region of ACE. Its wartime mission encompasses the tasks of providing a central command and control environment for the direction and application of all tactical air power in the defense of Central Europe.

AAFCE has its headquarters at Ramstein Air Base, Germany. Its Commander, General R. H. Ellis, also serves as CINCUSAFE.

HISTORY OF USAFE

WELCOME

The United States Air Forces in Europe (USAFE), one of America's strongest overseas air arms, is a primary instrument of Western air defense. Its principal mission is to train and equip the combat-ready Air Force units which the United States has pledged to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In addition, USAFE assists air forces of other NATO nations in developing their combat capability.

USAFE has its headquarters at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, and operates throughout Western Europe and the Middle East, covering an area that embraces roughly a quarter of the world.

USAFE's inventory of weapons and its support airlift capabilities cover the four classic functions of tactical airpower: strike, defense, reconnaissance and transport. Three numbered air forces — the Third in England, the Sixteenth in Spain and the Seventeenth in Germany — assist USAFE in carrying out its mission.

ITINERARY

HISTORY OF USAFE

Originally an occupation air force, USAFE was formed 7 August 1945 from the wartime United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe. By 1947, it had settled down to routine duties and transition to peace was the major concern.

But aggressive pressures were mounting in Eastern Europe. When the Communists blockaded West Berlin in June 1948, the West reacted with the Berlin Airlift. Initiated by USAFE, this historic airlift was sustained for 16 months during which U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, U.S. Navy air units, French and British units participated. The Soviets capitulated on 12 May 1949, but the airlift was continued until 31 October 1949.

From this point, USAFE's mission rapidly changed. Following the establishment of NATO in April 1949 and its supporting Allied defense organization in late 1950, a swift build-up of tactical strength made USAFE the largest contributor of airpower to the alliance.

Through succeeding years USAFE continued to improve capabilities while effectively supporting NATO in recurring East-West pressures such as the Berlin crisis of 1961. The highlight of this crisis was a history-making augmentation of USAFE by transatlantic deployment of air reserve forces.

Today, after a succession of organizational realignments, aircraft conversions, modernization of equipment, and streamlining of command and control, USAFE has emerged with a "new profile" and a substantially increased combat readiness posture.

In a most recent change, for example, day-to-day management and control of forces is performed by HQ USAFE rather than by the numbered air forces, whose staffs have been streamlined and reduced. The numbered air force commanders function as field representatives of the Commander-in-Chief USAFE by extending his span of supervisory control.

THIRD AIR FORCE — Third Air Force, part of USAFE's strike and reconnaissance capability, is a combat-ready tactical force based in England with headquarters at RAF Mildenhall. Third Air Force is committed to NATO, and in the event of hostilities its tactical air units would come under operational control of 4th ATAF. In addition to its tactical force responsibilities, Third Air Force acts as a point of contact between U.S. Forces and United Kingdom government agencies.

SIXTEENTH AIR FORCE — Sixteenth Air Force Headquarters is located at Torrejon Air Base, Spain. The geographical area of responsibility for Sixteenth Air Force includes the Mediterranean area with bases in Spain, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Its units are located astride the strategic southern logistic supply route into the Mediterranean and Middle East area. Sixteenth Air Force conducts air and support operations as directed; maintains assigned units in operational readiness; acts as the USAFE point of contact for USAF matters with US Embassies and pertinent governmental agencies of Spain, Portugal and other national entities, in coordination with the respective USCINCEUR contact officers and/or Chiefs of MAAGs and Missions.

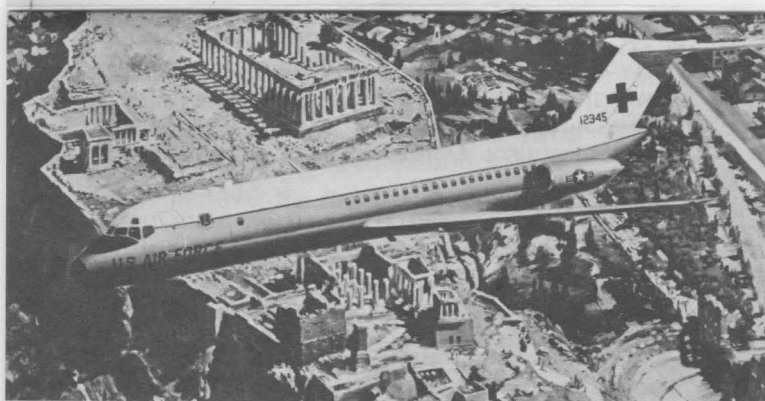

SEVENTEENTH AIR FORCE — The Seventeenth Air Force, with headquarters at Sembach Air Base, Germany, has aerial offensive and defensive missions supported by a ground environment of complex radar systems for surveillance and tactical air control. The Seventeenth Air Force is responsible for bases and operating locations on continental Europe north of the countries bordering on the Mediterranean. In the event of hostilities, the Seventeenth Air Force would respond to the command of 4th ATAF.

The F-4E is the latest version of the McDonnell-Douglas Phantom to augment the Air Force's current strike aircraft. It is an all-weather, twin-engine jet fighter bomber with a crew of two which does double duty as an interceptor, has a top speed of more than 1,600 miles per hour and an altitude ceiling of nearly 60,000 feet. The first unit in Europe to receive the F-4E was USAFE's 32d Tactical Fighter Squadron at Soesterberg, The Netherlands.

The swing-wing F-111 joined the USAFE command inventory in 1970. The 20th Tactical Fighter Wing at RAF Upper Heyford, England, was the first unit to receive the multi-purpose aircraft. The F-111 can reach speeds of mach 2.5 at altitudes of 60,000 feet and is considered superior to other U.S. tactical fighters with respect to its unrefueled transoceanic, bomb-carry capability, all-weather strike capability, and single ship penetration capability.

The C-9 "Nightingale," is the latest addition to the USAFE aircraft inventory. A specially equipped version of the McDonnell-Douglas DC-9, the "Nightingale" will be used to provide rapid aeromedical evacuation of patients from points throughout the USAFE area to central medical facilities. The C-9 is especially configured for inflight patient care. It can carry 30 litter patients or 40 ambulatory patients or a combination thereof.

USAFE's INTRATHEATER tactical airlift capability is provided by C-130 "Hercules" cargo aircraft. An extensive airlift schedule is operated from aerial ports at Mildenhall, England, Rhein-Main, Germany, and Torrejon Air Base in Spain.

Ramstein Rathaus (city hall) is located in the center of the city.

RAMSTEIN

Ramstein, host community of Ramstein Air Base, derives its name from Rabenstein (raven's stone) and was first mentioned in a document of the year 1215.

In 1600 the population was twenty-eight families, but they all perished as a result of the Thirty-Year War (1618-1648) and the Black Plague (1677). A second birth occurred in 1684 when nine Swiss and French families settled there.

For more than a century Ramstein grew steadily. In 1792 during the Napoleonic wars, it was occupied by the French, then with two neighboring villages, it was annexed to the kingdom by Bavaria in 1816.

Ramstein gradually regained its identity as the royal monarchs of Europe began losing power and the town became a station stop on the Landstuhl-Kusel railroad in 1816. By then it had grown to 1300 inhabitants.

In 1898, the first factory, a textile mill near the railroad station, caused the population to swell beyond 2000.

After World War II, Ramstein began a steady and progressive growth in the German economy. In 1969 Ramstein incorporated the village of Miesenbach and today has a population of 8300 inhabitants.

KAISERSLAUTERN

is known as Barbarossa's Town in the heart of the Palatinate-Forest. Today, it is an industrial city of importance (seat of Pfaff-Sewing Machines, Iron-works, furniture factories and breweries). It is a historical city, but as a result of many wars very few old buildings remain.

STIFTSKIRCHE

The three-spired Stiftskirche in the core of the city is the most important Gothic structure and the oldest hall-church in the Palatinate — its construction was begun towards the end of the 13th century. At the northern most outside wall stands the Union-Monument in commemoration of Unity between the Reformed Church and Lutherans in 1818.

ST. MARTINS' CHURCH

The plain and simple St. Martins' and Cloister Church dating back to the 13th and 14th century, at the beginning of Stein- and Klosterstrasse with its Baroque interior, is about 200 yards east of the Stiftskirche.

WHAT TO SEE IN RAMSTEIN AREA

THE PFAELZISCHE
LANDESGEWERBEANSTALT
at 5 Villenstrasse (Rittersberg), Kaiserslautern, is a huge complex in Italian Renaissance style.
It houses collections of textiles, ceramics,
glass, porcelain, furniture, weapons, sacral arts, and arts and crafts. The Pfalz-Gallery has works by Munich artists of the 19th century and Palatinian artists of later periods.

RUIN NANSTEIN — LANDSTUHL CASTLE is situated above the town of Landstuhl. The castle was built during the 12th century as one of the imperial forts guarding the country. It was destroyed in 1689, however there are interesting dungeons and stairways to climb.
An underground tunnel connects the castle
with the town (exit - Haus Loewen).
Nanstein is definitely worth a visit. One has an excellent view, and in summer, a nice picnic ground.

ALTE KAPELLE
The Church of Landstuhl was built in the beginning of the 14th century. The chapel can be seen in the graveyard opposite the castle where for some 500 years the town buried its dead. Inside the chapel is a valuable painting of the 15th century and just recently discovered frescoes have now been restored.

Dear Mr. DeBaca

I wish to extend an invitation for you to visit several Air Force installations in Europe on 21 - 27 September 1975.

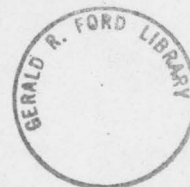

Your visit will culminate our observance of National Hispanic Heritage Week. You will have the opportunity to view our programs and meet some of the participants.

A suggested itinerary for your visit is attached. If there are areas of special interest to you that are not covered, we will do our best to accommodate your wishes. I have appointed Captain Simpson, of my Social Actions Staff, as the project officer for your visit. He will contact your office concerning travel arrangements.

I believe you will find a visit with us very interesting and I am looking forward to meeting you.
