My dear Mr. Arnold:

The President thanks you very much indeed for the fishing tackle, which you were good enough to present to him through the courtesy of Mrs. Robinson. He is glad to have this product of your own handiwork and asks me to convey his best wishes to you.

Very sincerely yours,

A few days ago, a colored man came to see me and asked if I would forward to the President for him a collection of fishing tackle which he, himself, makes by hand. He is a very honorable negro with an ex-service record and is most anxious that the President have a collection of his tackle.

I realize that a great many such things come to the President's attention but I did not have the heart to turn this negro down and it may be that the President could find a place for this tackle along with his collection. He has addressed a letter to the President, which is being enclosed with the fishing tackle under separate cover. It is being mailed to you and if an opportunity is afforded, it will be appreciated if you will bring it to the attention of the President and make acknowledgment of same direct to the sender.

I heard the President over the radio last night and enjoyed his "fireside chat".

With best wishes, as always.

My dear Mr. President:

Please accept the enclosed coin as a good luck piece and also as a token of our affectionate good wishes as you start out so gallantly to restore something of the orderliness of our political set-up. This gold piece came from 48 Bayhead St. Stornaway, Isle of Lewis, Scotland where over a hundred years ago, my grandfather took up his abode as a political exile and married the daughter of his benefactor Ann McLeod, and established the Mackenzie family there. My mother came to this country seeking the better things of life and married

I have just returned home to find your letter of 25 October, to the Albert Whitman Co., acknowledging the receipt of MIDSHIPMAN DAVY JONES. At first I was not going to burden you with a letter in reply, knowing that you are an extremely busy person. But the irony of the situation was a little too irresistible.

It was only natural for you to think that the publisher had forwarded the copy, inasmuch as it was mailed from his office and contained nothing but my autograph..... Being a fervent Republican, forwarding a copy of the book would probably be the last thought to enter the publisher's mind..... "I'll not even listen to him on the radio. He's too persuasive!"..... The copy of the book was my own personal gift; "in sincere admiration."

I noticed in the papers last summer that the President took Captain Porter's Journal with him during his cruise to the Gallapagos. He may be interested to know that I am at present half way through an 80,000 word yarn dealing with the cruise of the ESSEX, and based on Captain Porter's Journal, Admiral Farragut's Memoirs, and various journals kept by the officers and crew.

I should be very interested to learn the President's reaction to the information concerning the yellow gunport stripes on our 1812 frigates, contained in the appendix to DAVY JONES... Particularly since the CONSTITUTION and CONSTELLATION still carry the white gunport stripe..... I would also be extremely grateful for any information he may possess relative to the ESSEX or any of the officers and men who served aboard her from 1812-14.

The book came in and was thanked in the usual manner - now the Author wants to know what the Pres. thought of his book MIDSHIPMAN DAVY JONES which he understands the Pres. took with him on his cruise. Me thinks he is a bit peeved because the ack. went to the publisher who he says is a black Republican and has no use for F.D.R.

Dear Worth:

Many thanks for that nice little note of November fourteenth.

The President will be delighted to have some of the famous Pascal celery, and I suggest you send it to him at Warm Springs where he will eat his Thanksgiving dinner.

I think you are mighty nice to want to include me and I should love to have some. Perhaps, though, it would be better, as you suggest, to wait until later to send mine, if it isn't putting you to too much trouble. As a matter of fact, I expect Mrs. McIntyre will go with me to Warm Springs so there will be no one at home to receive it at Thanksgiving time.

With all good wishes and sincere appreciation of your kindness,

Dear Mr. President:

Upon my call at the White House a few days ago I left for you a copy of the NATURAL HISTORY INDEX-GUIDE, which you may find helpful if you ever have time and opportunity to look up any natural science data. The volume is the work of thirty-one years on my part.

While writing to you, I wish to suggest that, when and if you nominate a new Librarian for the Library of Congress, this Librarian chief be deprived of the authority to criticise a book that has been duly copyrighted by the Library of Congress, as has been done by the present Librarian, in my personal knowledge, to the detriment in use and sale value of the book receiving, without good reason, adverse criticism over his official signature.

With best wishes for your good health and continued success, I am,

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt:

Knowing that you are vitally interested in the welfare of our youth, I am presenting you with a copy of a new book, entitled, "Youth Finds A Way", mailed under separate cover today.

It might interest you to learn that more than a score of eminent educators and outstanding citizens have written the authors, highly recommending this new book.

We feel it our duty to do anything and everything within our power to help the youth of our nation, who tomorrow will have taken over our schools, churches, institutions and corporations. It is they who will take charge of our cities, states and nation.

Thanking you for your interest shown our young people, I remain,

Again, the time of year is at hand when our thoughts turn to our dear friends. I had hoped that it would have been possible for me to see you again before this, but pressure of affairs have deprived me of that pleasure.

In token of my regard for you, it has been my practice, as you know, to remember you at this season with some outstanding item of our own manufacture. In continuation of this custom, I am sending you by express two of our new Desk Calendar Pad complete with Touch Tip Lighter, which has met with a very favorable reception with all those who have seen it.

One of these is for yourself, the other I ask that you be good enough to deliver to the President with my compliments and best wishes and my hope that it will be considered to be worthy of a place on the desks of you both, to serve as a reminder throughout the year of my friendship and good will.

I take this opportunity of conveying to you, and through you to the President, the warmest greetings of the Season and my earnest wishes that it may bring to you and yours the fullest realization of your hearts' closest desires!

My dear Mr. Altvater:

The President has received your letter of December twenty-second, and the box of oranges which you were good enough to send him on behalf of the members of Company 453, Civilian Conservation Corps. He is ever so grateful to everyone concerned for this evidence of friendly interest and good will and extends to all of you his thanks and his best wishes for the coming year.

Very sincerely yours,

M. A. Leland

UNIFORM EXPRESS RECEIPT—NON-NEGOTIABLE—TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- The provisions of this receipt shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the consignor, the consignee and all carriers handling this shipment and shall apply to any reconignment, or return thereof.
- In consideration of the rate charged for carrying said property, which is dependent upon the value thereof and is based upon an agreed valuation of not exceeding fifty cents per pound, actual weight, for any shipment in excess of 100 pounds, unless a greater value is declared at the time of shipment, the shipper agrees that the company shall not be liable in any event for more than fifty cents per pound, actual weight, for any shipment weighing more than 100 pounds, unless a greater value is stated herein. Unless a greater value is declared and stated herein the shipper agrees that the value of the shipment is as last above set out and that the liability of the company shall in no event exceed such value.
- Unless caused by its own negligence or that of its agents, the company shall not be liable for—
 - Difference in weight or quantity caused by shrinkage, leakage, or evaporation.
 - The death, injury, or escape of live freight.
 - Loss of money, bullion, bonds, coupons, jewelry, precious stones, valuable papers, or other matter of extraordinary value, unless such articles are enumerated in the receipt.
- Unless caused in whole or in part by its own negligence or that of its agents, the company shall not be liable for loss, damage or delay caused by—
 - The act or default of the shipper or owner.
 - The nature of the property, or defect or inherent vice therein.
 - Improper or insufficient packing, securing, or addressing.
 - The act of God, public enemies, authority of law, quarantine, riots, strikes, perils of navigation, the hazards or dangers incident to a state of war, or occurrence in customs warehouse, or examination by, or partial delivery to the consignee of C-O-D shipments.
 - Delivery under instructions of consignor or consignee at stations where there is no agent of the company after such shipments have been left at such stations.
- Packages containing fragile articles or articles consisting wholly or in part of glass must be so marked and be packed so as to insure safe transportation by express with ordinary care.
- When consigned to a place at which the express company has no office, shipments must be marked with the name of the express station at which delivery will be accepted or be marked with forwarding directions if to go beyond the express company's line by a carrier other than an express company. If not so marked shipments will be returned.
- As conditions precedent to recovery claims must be made in writing to the originating or delivering carrier within nine months after delivery of the property or, in case of failure to make delivery, then within nine months and fifteen days after date of shipment; and suits shall be instituted only within two years and one day after the date when notice in writing is given by the carrier to the claimant that the carrier has disallowed the claim or any part or parts thereof.
- If any C. O. D. is not paid within thirty days after notice of non-delivery has been mailed to the shipper the company may at its option return the property to the consignor.
- Free delivery will not be made at points where the company maintains no delivery service; at points where delivery service is maintained, free delivery will not be made at addresses beyond the established and published delivery limits.

Special Additional Provisions as to Shipments Forwarded by Vessel from the United States to Places in Foreign Countries.

- If the destination specified in this receipt is in a foreign country, the property covered hereby shall, as to transit over ocean routes and by their foreign connections to such destination, be subject to all the terms and conditions of the receipts or bills of lading of ocean carriers as accepted by the company for the shipment, and of foreign carriers participating in the transportation, and as to such transit is accepted for transportation and delivery subject to the acts, laws, regulations, and customs of overseas and foreign carriers, custodians, and governments, their employees and agents.

- The company shall not be liable for any loss, damage, or delay to said shipments over ocean routes and their foreign connections, the destination of which is in a foreign country, occurring outside the bound-aries of the United States, which may be occasioned by any such acts, laws, regulations, or customs. Claims for loss, damage or delay must be made in writing to the carrier at the port of export or to the carrier issuing this receipt, within nine months after delivery of the property at said port or in case of failure to make such delivery then within nine months and fifteen days after date of shipment; and claims so made against said delivering or issuing carrier shall be deemed to have been made against any carrier which may be liable hereunder. Suits shall be instituted only within two years and one day after the date when notice in writing is given by the carrier to the claimant that the carrier has disallowed the claim or any part or parts thereof. Where the carrier has not so made, and/or suits are not instituted thereon in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the carrier shall not be liable.

- It is hereby agreed that the property destined to such foreign countries, and assessable with foreign governmental or customs duties, taxes or charges, may be stopped in transit at foreign ports, frontiers or depositories, and their being pending examination, assessments and payments, and such duties and charges, when advanced by the company shall become a lien on the property.
