My dear Miss Le Hand

Here is the book which the President expressed a desire to see, and which he said would probably encourage him. May I add that the marginal notes - were made when I first read the book - (my personal flag flying!) and that of course I had no idea that they would be seen by such exalted eyes. I never,

es

untid

in all honesty, I leave them as written at the time. That subject-matter is not the main importance (?) of the book, nor the reason for the attack which we had about
it. It is the indiscreet writing, about Haiti by a commissioned officer, and the offensive title, which work under discussion. Of course you understand and that I am sending it - at the request of the President. I hope he will be able to read it when, (and if) he

My Dear Mr. President:-

For sometime I have intended to write and send you some editorials which I have been saving for you but it appears that unless a yearly event like a birthday takes place I just continue putting off same.

I have forwarded to you this date, a little birthday greeting and I hope that I may be able to do the same for many years to come, and wish to express my sincere and hearty congratulations to you on this day.

I am looking forward to the arrival of Mr. Farley, and hope that the preparations now being made will make his visit very enjoyable and pleasant.

It has been sometime since I have seen or heard from you personally, and your reply will be most gratifying.

Wishing you a very successful 1936, and with kind personal regards, I remain

Dear Mr. President:

Today marks the including of Burlington, Vermont as a link in the Air Express Service, serving the United States and thirty-two foreign countries, through the facilities of many associated air lines and express carriers.

We believe this service to be a conspicuous forward step in the history of transportation.

In observation of the occasion we are sending, via that service, Mrs. Roosevelt and yourself packages of our Vermont Blue Ribbon Pure Maple Sugar and trust that you may have as much pleasure in their goodness as we have pride in their manufacture.

This book I expected to receive in time to send to you for your Birthday, but unfortunately it did not arrive until today, however, although somewhat belated I trust you will accept this little remembrance of your birthday.

This family is still "rooting" as hard as ever for you and we sincerely hope you will continue to enjoy good health so that you may be able to continue to carry on your splendid humanitarian work.

I, personally, feel confident that despite all your enemies you will win victoriously in next November. This, I can assure you is my fervent prayer because I just hate to think what will happen to our America if you are taken from the White House.

With kindest regards from Mr. Bergis and my son

Namesake. Writer has about completed the first draft of a book which has for its sole purpose to show the lack of interest of the party in power prior to 1933, the determination of the monied class to dip too deeply into the money earned by the masses and to show in what manner this has been corrected since 1933 by one of the most sincerely interested leaders since George Washington. Is anxious that the President read the first draft of the work. Shall be forwarded shortly under the title of "It Happened Here". book

Esteemed Sir:

Prompted by a true desire to serve, I humbly submit to you, as a token of my respect, a blank book which I have had prepared by one of the best book-binders in this country. In it I hope you will find a place for such facts regarding Economics as you might regard absolutely irrefutable.

Tucked into the covers of the book are two pamphlets, one written by myself, which has been reprinted a good many times in the last twelve months, and one the product of four series of ten 3-hour conferences each, between a total of approximately 140 prominent Los Angeles professional and business men with Thomas Nixon Carver, Professor Emeritus of Political Economy of Harvard University.

The reading time of both pamphlets is short.

I realize that you are busy.

I hope that you will find time to read them.

Sincerely yours,
