My dear Mr. President:

I send you this volume of "The Vindication of the Captors of Major Andre" by Egbert Benson, first Attorney General of New York State 1777-87. It is the best in condition and completeness that I been able to find.

As you know the author Egbert Benson was the first cousin of the wife of Isaac Roosevelt, so he is a direct blood ancestor.

"The Vindication" is considered the greatest of all that Benson wrote.

I felt it should be in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park.

I hope it meets with your approval.

His Excellency The President of the United States
Executive Offices, The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

It has occurred to me that I could make a modest contribution to the efficiency of The Executive Offices through the presentation of one of our devices known as the INANOUT REGISTER.

This "gadget" enables the switchboard operator or receptionist to give accurate, split-second information as to the
"in or out and/or time of return" status of your office personnel to in-coming calls. You will note that the personnel themselves operate the Register from the one side and that the switchboard operator simply reads the registered information from the other side.

The Register which I am furnishing accommodates a personnel of twenty. Should this size prove to be inadequate, it will be esteemed a privilege to supply any needful size
- which I trust you will accept with my compliments.

Trusting that this modest contribution from a small business man will help to "speed up the work" and prove welcome and useful,

Sincerely and respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. President:

Under separate cover this day I have shipped to your personal attention a picture of your good friend, admirer, and loyal supporter, Mr. Otto Bremer, chairman of the board of the American National Bank of Saint Paul, Minnesota, taken on his 74th. birthday October 22 last.

When we made this rare photograph of him at his desk, by suggestion of his close associates but without advance notice to him, I saw two pictures of you in his office, so promptly conceived the idea of sending one of him to you for we know that Mr. Bremer always has been a wee bit short on pictures while extra long on loyalty, friendships, modesty, etc.

He does not know that I am sending it, nor do his associates and friends. He may court martial me when he finds out but I am taking the chance. Maybe you will be able to steal a few moments from your busy day to drop him a note that will so please him that he will forgive me. His autograph is authentic, and I am having another picture made up for my own office.

My most sincere wish for a Very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Very truly yours,

Dear Miss Tully:

Your recent letter addressed to "W.H.Brenner" explains the story of the missing picture of Mr. Otto Bremer, chairman of the American National Bank of St. Paul, Minn., which I sent to President Roosevelt just before Christmas.

In 1930 I handled the mimeographing part for the Empire State Building for the Architects and ran off thirty copies for the different bidders and kept one copy of each trade for an office copy. The volume which I have sent to you consists of the combined trades and I can barely say that you are the only one to have all the trades with exception of the Architects and perhaps the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who financed the building.

I originally mimeographed thirty copies for the Architects, Reinhard & Hofmeister, and your volume of the A.C.A. Building consists mostly of one of those thirty copies, but I supplemented the missing trades with re-run copies. The British and French Buildings is an original copy, but the volume of the Music Hall is mostly re-run. Please permit me to add that not one page of all the trades is missing.
With the exception of Columbia University, Princeton, University of Texas, and the Brooklyn Public Library, who have re-run copies, you will be the only individual to

To the Greatest President of the United States,
Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Honorable Sir:

Having consulted one of your secretaries over the telephone about a month ago to see if my volumes of the Rockefeller Center Development and the Empire State Building specifications would be acceptable to you for your Hyde Park Library, I have taken the liberty of mailing them to you today under separate cover. They are as follows:

Rockefeller Center Development:

RCA Building - NBC Studios.....one volume about 750 pages
Music Hall (Theatre #10).....one volume about 800 pages
British and French Buildings....one volume (Identical specifications for both buildings)

Empire State Buildingone volume

Perhaps a word of explanation will not be amiss:

In 1930 I handled the mimeographing contract for the Empire State Building for the Architects, Shreve, Lamb & Harmon, and ran off thirty copies for the different bidders and kept one copy of each trade for an office copy. The volume which I have sent to you consists of the combined trades and I can safely say that you are the only one to have all the trades with the exception of the Architects and perhaps the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who financed the building.

As for the Rockefeller Center specifications, I originally mimeographed thirty copies for the Architects, Reinhard & Hofmeister, and your volume of the R C A Building consists mostly of one of those thirty copies, but I supplemented the missing trades with re-run copies. The British and French Buildings is an original copy, but the volume of the Music Hall is mostly re-run. Please permit me to add that not one page of all the trades is missing. With the exception of Columbia University, Princeton, University of Texas, and the Brooklyn Public Library, who have re-run copies, you will be the only individual to possess those unique specifications of the Rockefeller Center Development.

Having typewritten every page for mimeographing myself, I feel happy in the thought that this accomplishment of my life will be harbored in your care.

God Bless You, Mr. President.

Most respectfully yours,

Dorothy Brand
