Roosevelt Now Drinking Milk Instead of Coffee at Breakfast

By Ann Cottrell

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Roosevelt, who as recently as last Tuesday was supporting Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's coffee-stretching campaign by publicizing a 287-year-old re-boiling recipe, was disclosed today to have abandoned the brew for milk as a breakfast beverage.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who revealed at her press conference that the President had forsaken coffee for milk, said it was not the failure of the President's theories about re-using grounds that caused the switch, but that "he suddenly decided he could do without coffee." Results of the transfer have been so successful that "the President says he feels much better" and "he is very proud of himself," Mrs. Roosevelt reported.

Although the President is determined to drink a cold glass of milk at breakfast, Mrs. Roosevelt seemed to think he might take an occasional demi-tasse after dinner. She did not disclose how the demi-tasse was brewed.

She added that she may follow the President's example, as she is taking "more and more milk" in her morning cup of coffee. As she talked, she became convinced she could give up coffee, saying: "I am sure I can take cold milk and not know the difference."

Speaking further of the President's eating habits, Mrs. Roosevelt revealed that White House meals are built entirely around what "the President likes to eat, as he won't eat what he doesn't like." She said that the President "doesn't like vegetables much" and it is "awfully hard to find ones he likes." Since the President rarely dines out, Mrs. Roosevelt disclosed, he frequently gets tired of the same cooking day after day at the White House, and she and the housekeeper spend much time thinking up a variety of tempting dishes.

Mrs. Roosevelt did not know how much butter the White House had on hand when the freezing order went into effect, but she said that neither she nor her husband would miss it should supplies run out.

Among the many persons caught without butter for the coming week is Mrs. Prentiss M. Brown, wife of the chief of the Office of Price Administration, it was learned today.

Although the White House grounds will not be converted into a victory garden because of unsuitability of the soil, a small experimental plot may be cultivated there by Diana Hopkins, daughter of Harry Hopkins, special adviser to the President on lend-lease, who lives at the White House.

could you? I am not politically informed.

You see I have based my selections for the "Woman's Peace Party" on the idea. "What's in a name?" I think I am a good sponsor as I have some pritty good names. You see my husband is in the shoe business (almost defunct) and I cut up capers. My husband has three arrows and lots of bows on his crest and I have the three little boxes (Bankhead) and the bowl of sour grapes on the top. I am the kittled fox that is why I cut up capers and I only nibble the wines with the sour grapes.

You see I have based my selection for the future president me good. My husband was my nurse and housemaid. We have been married thirty years and this is the first time he has ever cooked my breakfast. We have a large house and housework is not easy with a part time maid.

I hope that you have read the book I sent you. "Get thee Behind Me" by Hartzell Spence. You wouldn't think that the title had a double meaning would you?" "You see I have you selected for "Secretary of Labor" on my woman's peace party of 1944. If you were the president you could not be the secretary of Labor too of the United States in the stage play "Of thee I sing". You remember the line "Wintergreen for president" and who are you", "why I am the vice-president." and what is your name?" "why Throttlebottom." I think Mr Hurley would make a nice Throttlebottom. I also think Mr Bankhead would make a nice secretary of the Treasury; because after this war we will need a bank-head to straighten us out, won't we? I have also selected Mrs Roosevelt as "Speaker of the House. She doesn't like the White House tho well but I think she would like the House of Representatives I think she is swell!

Did you ever receive the three jars of cheese I sent you from Sage Allen? It went to Hyde Park.

You see what I mean "what is in a name. If it is Roosevelt it is O.K. Although you might like to know who I am O.K. now. Just could not resist the

My dear Mr. Roosevelt:-

I wish to thank you for your thoughtfulness and kindness in taking my letter in the spirit in which it was intended. All my life, I too, have done things to make other people happy, often ~~to~~ my own disadvantage. My mother, who was a very wonderful person, taught me that to make others happy was the only way to be truly happy yourself. Our family has always been noted for the fact that we never hurt anyone who is suffering reverses. We make wonderful friends. We also never forget an injustice either to ourselves or to those we love.

I have known people from all walks of life and of all nationalities.

first grade pupils were put in one room (double session). It was Christmas time and my room was very festive. As art was one of my subjects I had drawn a very lovely sleigh with Santa and all his gifts in it. The children had suggested the gifts in his pack. I had told my children that if they were very good Santa would come on Christmas Eve. They believed me as I was father, mother, god to them at six years old. Our holidays passed and my children returned to school, very gay in all their Christmas finery. Even the Jewish children seemed to find a way to have Santa come, a fact which always amused the teachers very much as we had Jewish children from every country among us.

(2) my training as a teacher has served me well. I love and admire the foreigners who come to our shore. As a teacher in the first grade in Brooklyn New York I was able to guide the footsteps of many a timid boy or girl. I loved my work and I had a deep love and respect for my children. That is where I learned to love the little German children best. Of all my pupils my little Germans were the cleanest, the most honest and the most truthful. I remember one little girl especially. I cannot remember her name, at the time she was one of my seventy-two children. Several rooms in our school (P.S. #16 Wilson St between Lee Av. and Bedford Av. Brooklyn N.Y.) were closed because of a diphteria epidemic and so all the

As all wise teachers do I had reserved the first period for the holidays stories. And learns much about Mary's or Janie's home life during these informal periods, especially from six year olds. Sometimes it is amusing, sometimes pathetic, sometimes shocking; always interesting.

This Christmas had been a good year and everyone seemed happy but my little German maiden with her golden hair. She looked as neat as a pin but she looked unhappy. After school I asked her to stay and help me with my work. She loved to do this and always enjoyed the fruit that I shared with her when our tasks were finished. While we were enjoying our refreshment I asked her about her Christmas As my mother-in-law was German I knew just what Christmas is in most German homes. "Silent Night" and "Tannenbäum" and Christmas tree and Santa Claus.

With eyes shining with tears she said: "Mrs Bowes, Santa forgot to come." This was a problem for me as I had said: "If you are very good Santa will come Christmas Eve." She was my best pupil." She believed every word I said. I did not know just what to do. so I said: "I am sure Santa is coming, he probably had so many places to go he is just a little late. I shall find out about this". With shining eyes I coaxed her to tell me just what was their home. We were very much afraid as the place was most uninviting but we made the top floor. The place was as neat as could be and the mother so grateful that we were ashamed of our fears.

You may wonder what this story has to do with the president of the United States. Perhaps it has nothing to do with him, but I feel that a man who is president of the United States must realize just what type of people he is handling.

Mr. Roosevelt, to the common people you are mother, father, God. I am praying that when peace comes you will remember my German people. When they came tagged to our country she had hoped Santa would bring. Her list was interesting as she wanted things for her mother more than for herself. I do not know wether she had a father or not as she did not mention him and I did not ask her. Her list was easy and all the teachers were helpful. I cannot remember just who played Santa.

Some months later the mother sent me a note saying that they had to move because they could not pay the rent. Again the teachers took up a collection. Two of us took the money to the home of the child, One large room on the top floor of a tenement in the Wallabout market district they are to me a most lovable people. I cannot have them hurt.

My only interest in life to-day is that my country will uphold the Constitution of the United States of America and will make true that pledge which as Flag Chairman of the Daughters of the American Revolution I led so many times.

I believe all loyal Americans should support the president whom they elected according to the constitution.

I am hoping that my grand children will look with love and respect on the letter that says.

"President and Mrs Franklin Roosevelt regret that they cannot attend Dad and Mom's wedding. You are a real sport. A president should be Sincerely Yours Amelia Earh

My dear Mr. President:

I have recently republished a book on pioneer life which was written by my great-grandfather, Meshach Browning. It was first published in 1859. I am sending you a copy of this book believing that you will enjoy reading it. If it should help you to forget temporarily some of the tremendous responsibilities which now rest upon you, I shall be very happy.

I have your letter of April 20th. The picture case which I mailed you was for you. I am very happy, however, that you gave that little picture case to the President.

Under separate cover I am sending another one for you.

I read in the newspapers about the trip of the President and the White House staff and I know it must have been a thrilling sight and I know you must have been very much thrilled on this inspection trip.

I hope that the President is enjoying the best of health and I would appreciate it if you would convey my warmest personal regards to him.

To President Roosevelt-
The United States of America

Mr. President-,

Will you kindly permit me to say that I have read with the greatest interest that you voted as "a Farmer" at the Congress Election, for it conveys the Fact (of which we have heard nothing hitherto in this country) that you are directly interested in agriculture. There is no finer retreat from your colossal duties than in the contemplation of Nature evolving her seasonal marvels in crop and animal production; and we all rejoice that you can thus recuperate your truly marvellous energy in rural things.

Four years ago you most graciously accepted my small book "Vital Agriculture" and now, because you are a farmer, I am venturing to ask you to again honour me by accepting another written in 1932 describing British Farming. Incidentally perhaps I may add without any particular pleasure that the Duce accepted a copy in 1938, which proved useful to his people.

If I have gone too far in thus addressing you, I trust Sir that you will pardon my intrusion, as together with my fellow countrymen I feel just as I did in 1939, eternally grateful to God for enabling you to save our civilization. With my deepest respect Sir I remain. Your obedient servant.

Dear Mr. President:

I have taken pleasure in sending you, under separate cover, a copy of a book just published over my signature by E. P. Dutton & Company in New York. It is called CAREERS IN PUBLIC RELATIONS - THE NEW PROFESSION.

I am burdening you with a copy since you are, of course, a master in this field.

We have many friends and acquaintances in common, which is not necessarily an argument for the book, but it does endeavor to make a difficult and confused business simple.

Vincent Cullen is and has been one of my clients, Chester Cuthell, whose untimely death saddened so many this Winter, was a good friend and frequent luncheon companion, Bill Douglas and Bob Patterson remember me from college and the last War respectively.

I cannot imagine that time hangs heavily on your hands these days, but it occurred to me that a recognition of your capacity might please you. The book also contains an interview with General Surles which states the problems before the War and Navy Departments with regard to public relations, which, while familiar to you, might be worth a glance.

Sincerely,

Dear President Roosevelt,

Enclosed you will find the Aircraft Recognition book that the Gloucester Post of the Aircraft Warning Service is using for plane recognition. The information is collected, the pages are mimeographed, and the classes are taught by my father, Rev. Ralph Maurice Barker, minister of the Community Church here in East Gloucester. He has been teaching classes not in Gloucester alone but in other posts in Essex County. Observers from other posts have sent to him for the pages to put in their books. As far as we know there is no other book like it made anywhere in the United States. This book is a personal gift which I want you to keep. Enclosed in the back of the book you will find a poem that I made up.

x249

I am twelve years of age and I go to the Central Grammar School here in Gloucester.

I hope that you will enjoy the book. Any new planes you wish to add I would advise that you use the WETFURN system it is more complete than the Army WEFT system.

The bottom of each page in your book is blank. This space is for you to put pictures of the planes. This is so you will have all the material of that plane on the same page.

Very respectfully yours

Ralph Edgar Barker

FRANKFURTER, Justice Felix
Supreme Court of the United States,
April 16, 1943.

Writes the President saying that when the Library of Congress expressed the desire to have the manuscript of his Jefferson Bicentennial address with its long-hand corrections, it suggested the thought to him that the President might want it for the Hyde Park Library. Says that whether the President wishes this manuscript or not that the President will have the brochure of the memorial exercises for Justice Brandeis.--The President, May 5th, wrote Justice Frankfurter saying he was perfectly delighted to receive the manuscript of his Jefferson Bicentennial Address and that it will be a real addition to his collection of manuscripts in the Library at Hyde Park. The President said he was glad to have the brochure of the memorial exercises for Justice Brandeis.
