Dear Miss Bartelt:

I fear very much that a letter did not go to you at the time we returned the Siamese kittens. The President asks me to thank you for your great kindness in wanting him to have a pair of your Blue Ribbon Stock Royal Siamese kittens. However, he asks me to tell you that it is impossible for him to have kittens around the White House because of Fala and the children's dogs who come here from time to time.

I do hope the kittens got back to you in good time and be assured the President appreciates your thoughtfulness.

His Excellency,
President Franklin D. Roosevelt,
White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear President Roosevelt:

With the greatest of pleasure I am presenting you a pair of my Blue Ribbon Stock Royal Siamese Kits.

They are being shipped today by express.

I have taken this upon myself as it has been called to my attention through a publication in a cat magazine that there is a certain amount of annoyance created by rodents in the White House. This species of cat are very good mousers and most adorable and affectionate.

If there is any information that you may desire concerning the care and feeding of the kits I would be more than glad to hear from you and give you that information.

The pedigrees of the kits are being registered with the Cat Fanciers Association and immediately upon their recording and the return of same to me I will forward the pedigrees to you.

Wishing you the Best of Health and further Success on to Victory, I beg to remain

Yours most respectfully,

Alice A. Bartelt

We have at least a friend in René LeRoy, the Kreisler of who always speaks so affectionately of your hospitality at "La Maison Blanche".
Some years ago I launched him with great éclat at a midsummer moonlight musicale in my exquisite garden at the Hampstead Heights abode London. People still talk of the sensation he made.

Washington has a special stimulating appeal for me, since my favourite "Uncle Monty" Durand and my Cousin, Kennard, were both "en poste" there many years ago. Perhaps the bit about Sir Martimer D. in my book will interest you. I tried hard to be quite fair.

New York has seen me for many a winter-season, indeed it is my second home. Perhaps being Irish gives a special affection for the U.S.A.?!

Let. of 9-10-43 to Mr. Early from Alfred C. Bossom, British Embsy, Wash., D. C., British Member of Parliament for Maidstone, Kent, asking if he may present to the Pres. two photographs of one of George Washington's great-great-great-grandfather and one of a fine memorial to this man, Lawrence Washington, from the senior Church in their Division and from the rectory.

MEMORANDUM FOR GENERAL WATSON:

Referring to your memorandum of September 15, 1943, I enclose two photographs which have been brought to the United States for presentation to the President by Mr. Alfred C. Bossom, M.P., of Maidstone, England. Mr. Bossom is now in the United States on a building mission for the British Government to study our construction materials, processes, and practices. One of the photographs is of a memorial in the Parish Church of All Saints, Maidstone, England, to Lawrence Washington, the great-great-great-grandfather of the first President of the United States, and the other is a picture from a portrait which hangs in the residence of the Vicar of Maidstone, where Lawrence Washington lived.

I have already thanked Mr. Bossom in the name of the President for these pictures, and the American Ambassador at London has been requested to express the President's appreciation to the Vicar of Maidstone and to the Senior Churchwardens, on whose behalf Mr. Bossom acted in bringing the photographs to Washington.

Parliament for
in this Division
there is a rather fine memorial to Lawrence Washington, great-great-great-grandfather of George Washington, bearing the family crest of stars and stripes. And in the rectory, where he lived, hangs a contemporary portrait of him.

When our Minister of Works, Lord Portal, selected me to come to America on a Mission to ascertain whether your country employs any materials, processes or practices that might be of advantage to Great Britain in our post-war building drive, the Rev. Canon Aubrey Standen, hon. Dean of Canterbury, asked me if I could possibly bring to America two photographs of these two rather interesting subjects.

I inquired of Major Manning Jacobs, Secretary to Ambassador Winant, about this, and he recommended that I should bring the photographs with me and upon arrival write to you and ask whether it would be possible to present them to President Roosevelt, with a note from Canon Standen, who now occupies the rectory, as probably no record of them has ever before been seen in America.

If this is in order I should deeply appreciate it if you could suggest a time when I might have the honour of presenting the photographs.

Yours sincerely
Alfred C. Bossom.

Dear Mr Early

Could you please give me some advice?

I happen to be the British Member of Parliament for Maidstone, Kent, and in our senior Church in this Division there is a rather fine memorial to Lawrence Washington, great-great-great-grandfather of George Washington, bearing the family crest of stars and stripes. And in the rectory, where he lived, hangs a contemporary portrait of him.

When our Minister of Works, Lord Portal, selected me to come to America on a Mission to ascertain whether your country employs any materials, processes or practices that might be of advantage to Great Britain in our post-war building drive, the Rev. Canon Aubrey Standen, hon. Dean of Canterbury, asked me if I could possibly bring to America two photographs of these two rather interesting subjects.

I inquired of Major Manning Jacobs, Secretary to Ambassador Winant, about this, and he recommended that I should bring the photographs with me and upon arrival write to you and ask whether it would be possible to present them to President Roosevelt, with a note from Canon Standen, who now occupies the rectory, as probably no record of them has ever before been seen in America.

If this is in order I should deeply appreciate it if you could suggest a time when I might have the honour of presenting the photographs.

Yours sincerely
Alfred C. Bossom.

The President wrote that he is grateful for those two books by Rudyard Kipling; and that he appreciated having Sir Webb-Johnson tell the history of these two books. Says that he had read "The Burden of Jerusalem" before and could under stand why Mrs. Kipling thought it would be best not to publish it, had not read "A Chapter of Proverbs" before and enjoyed it very much. The President further states that by a twist of fate he had never had a chance of meeting Rudyard Kipling, says he was to have lunched with him on a day in July, 1918, but at the last minute he (the Pres.) had to make a visit to the Destroyer Base in Queenstown with Sir Eric Geddes. Says his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, had sent messages to him by the President. The President expresses his thanks for volumes. - - - The President wrote to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Oct. 25, 1943 saying "Those two little books are gems — and I can well understand why they should not be made public at this time. Perhaps 'The Burden of Jerusalem' should wait until you and I are strong enough to carry Ibn Saud to Jerusalem and Dr. Weizman to Meca. I have thanked Sir Alfred Webb-Johnson. Wrote Mr. Early stating that he would like to present to the President for his Hyde Park Library, binoculars, which were loaned to the Government during World War I, together with an engraved form of acknowledgement entitled "The Eyes of the Navy," signed by Mr. Roosevelt as Assistant Secretary of the Navy and a U. S. Treasury Check for $1.00, as remuneration for the rental of said binoculars. Asks also to have an acknowledgment signed by the President for his scrap book.- - - The President replied Sept.27, 1943, stating that he would like to have those items he mentioned, as the President said he hasn't a copy of that acknowledgment and recalls having spent many hours in signing fifty or sixty thousand certificates in 1917-18. States that these relics have a personal touch and will be added to his highly prized possessions. Expresses his thanks for being thought of.

See - PPF 8525

--On 10/4/43 Mr. Brookman wrote to the President advising that he has sent by Parcel Post, on the previous day a carton containing framed certificate of "EYES OF THE NAVY", also his Binoculars; Mr. Brookman enclosed in this letter the President's letter to him of March 22, 1918, also U. S. Treasury Check No. 154,688 of April 20, 1918 (check made out to E. G. Bruckman), sent as compensation for the rental of said binoculars. Mr. Brookman states that the four items tie in together, and he expresses the hope that after the war they may be placed in the President's Hyde Park Museum.--On 10/29/43 Miss Tully wrote to Mr. Brookman, expressing the President's appreciation for the above-mentioned items; says he is delighted to have the framed certificate: "Eyes For the Navy" bearing his signature as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. She adds that the original of the letter which the President sent Mr. Brookman (Bruckman) on 3/22/18, the Treasury check and the binoculars are of vital interest to the President.-- Typed notation indicates that the original correspondence in this case, binoculars, framed certificate, check and letter which the President sent to Mr. Brookman, 3/22/18, were sent to Hyde Park Library, Series "A". (Copies retained in file).

Dear Mr. President,

The accompanying portfolio may seem rather gruesome and scarcely fit for a gift to our beloved President. Knowing however, how proud and happy the artist would have been, could he have known that his "documentary evidence" had been accepted by President Roosevelt, I offer it to you in his name - and in the name of all those who dared to rebel against Nazism from the very beginning and who have since paid for their convictions with their lives.

The evidence shows plainly what the Nazi "supermen" - as far back as 1933 - did to their own people - and sounds the warning what the rest of the world can expect from them.

In 1936 - when the original drawings were made - very few people in the U. S. A. would have believed the story this portfolio tells, to be true! I know, for a fact, that at that time, in Europe alas, many did not believe it.

"Karlchen", the artist, is seen in many of the drawings. A little hunchback, scarcely 5 feet tall. In one of the drawings, where he is dragged into witness the whipping and general manhandling of one of his fellow victims, he is sneeringly told to have a good look, so he can paint a "beautiful honor fairy-tale" if and when he gets free.

He made up his mind right there and then to obey the command literally. When he finally escaped to Belgium he spent the first months drawing what he had experienced and witnessed.

The mayor of Antwerp was the first person to buy one of these portfolios. He also furnished Karlchen with a "carte d'identite" so that he could stay in Belgium.

In 1937 I had the privilege of being introduced to Karlchen and many other political refuges, (mostly professional people) who belonged to a group which was very active in an underground Anti-nazi-movement.
They all knew their game to be a dangerous one - and - Known to Herr Goebbels and his consorts.
Shortly after the invasion of Belgium they paid for it with their lives.
The only one, Known to have escaped is an American photographer.
(also the photographer of the original drawings of the portfolio). He - after incredible misery, hardships and adventures, finally managed to arrive with his little son, in New York (via Martinique).
He is the one who told me the final chapter of Karlchen and his merry band! For, merry they were, inspite of all they had been through and of what they Knew awaited them.

There is one more portfolio in the United States. Karlchen dedicated it to me - and - because of what it stands for, it is laid away reverently, with other souvenirs.

Your name, to my suppressed people, and all suppressed peoples in this nether vale of tears, holds the promise of deliverance. Heaven grant that the day of Freedom may come soon!

God bless you and sustain you in your stupendous task.
