Memorandum for Mr. Southgate,
Department of State: x 20

Will you not be good enough to accept the book, recounting the experiences of the "Croisiere Jaune", which Mr. Andre Citroen desires to present to the President, and to which you refer in your letter to me of April second.

Automobile manufacturer who recently organized a tour across Asia under the name of "Croisiere Jaune", is desirous of presenting a book recounting the experiences of this Expedition to the President.

M. A. Le Hand

Inasmuch as both the donor of the book and the expedition which forms the subject matter of the book are well known there would appear to be no objection to the President's accepting this profferance. It will be recalled that an American, member of the National Geographic Society, was a member of the "Yellow Cruise."

Will you be so good as to advise me of the President's wishes in the matter in order that a reply may be made to the Ambassador of France.

Sincerely yours,

Are advised that Col. McI. is familiar with the Men's Clothing Code Authority plan to tailor a suit of clothes for the President, Col. McI. and several others. Have been designated as the tailors for the President. In an effort to tailor the garments for him without inconvenience to the President, they applied to his tailor in New York City for a complete set of measurements, which Mr. Hopkins has refused to furnish to them. Requests that Col. McI. make arrangements with the President so that one of their expert fitters might call and take his measurements and also deliver the garments to him when they are ready for try-on.

Memorandum to Mr. Rosenblatt from George L. Bell, May 3, 1934 - States that the provisions of the Code, decided to have a suit made for the President and, also, one for General Johnson, which would include the NRA label authorized under the Code. The Men's Clothing Code Authority is to pay the full cost of the suits manufactured as outlined. In no wise will it be an individual transaction between the clothing firm and the President or General Johnson. Any publicity secured will not give the name of the manufacturer, but will be issued in the name of the Men's Clothing Code Authority.

I am in command of company 433 CCC, located about nine miles South of Morganton, N. C. Near my camp is a very old lady named Mrs. Kathryne Chapman who is extremely fond of Mr. Roosevelt. Mrs. Chapman has made a beautiful quilt for our Great President, and has requested on a number of occasions that I write Mr. Roosevelt to learn from him whether or not this quilt would be acceptable to him or not.

Knowing the President's time is filled with the many distressing problems of our nation I am somewhat reluctant about writing. However, it has occurred to me that you would probably be in position to tell me whether or not Mr. Roosevelt would accept the gift, which I am sure was made for him because of the great love and respect Mrs. Chapman has for him.

FIRST SALMON LANDED AT POOL BY BREWER MAN

Brewer Fisherman Alone
In Boat Makes Catch
Single-handed

Braving the swift waters of the Penobscot which were still running at freshet pitch, Lothrop Coldwell, of Brewer, landed the first salmon, a seven and one half pound beauty at the pool Monday at 5 p. m.

The fish as has been the custom for many years will be sent to the President, and a formal presentation will be made by the Maine Congressional delegation at an early date.

Coldwell is one of the veteran fishermen at the Penobscot pool but his catch yesterday marked the first time that he has had the honor of being the one to land the "Presidential fish."

He was alone in his boat when he made his strike in the "rips" near Oak Grove. He guided the shimmering beauty into the shore and had it netted in less than 15 minutes from the time it first took the hook.

Despite the fact that the freshet pitch which reached a 10 year record of 9 feet 6 inches at the dam this year had receded nearly a foot to 8 feet 7 inches, the water was still swift enough to discourage most

Brewer Pool
THE FIRST SALMON

With the strength of a thousand giants, the waters of the Penobscot River tug at the banks. Down in the foamy depths the fighting salmon have held their peace, and have not offered to strike at the lures of the Maine fishermen. Day after day the anglers have patiently fished in the Bangor Pool.

For the first salmon to be taken goes to the President. At last, on Monday, with the slight ebbing of the damaging flood, a salmon was landed weighing about eight pounds. Not as big as some which have been sent to the White House in other years; but, nevertheless, a tasty morsel. Tradition has been fulfilled.

fishing enthusiasts. Charles Bissell of Brewer, the only other fisherman to take a boat out on the pool during the day, was rowing about 15 feet from Coldwell when he made his strike. He offered assistance, but seeing that it was not needed let Coldwell have the honor of taking the first fish alone.

The fish was purchased by Jones Seafood market and later sold to the Bangor-Brewer Democratic club. It will be packed and forwarded to President Roosevelt today.

The salmon, despite the fact that it is much smaller than the usual run is a fine specimen. Last year four salmon were caught the opening day of the fishing season at the pool April 1, and Robert Blair had the honor of catching the presidential fish.

The famous Penobscot salmon pool at Bangor, Me., which is known the world over. The first salmon caught at this pool when the season opens is always sent to the President of the United States. They say that the run this year is the greatest in the history of the pool, and men of all ages and occupations, novices and experienced fishermen, are trying their luck there.

I listened with great interest to the Memorial program in memory of Marquis de Lafayette, and was especially interested in your account of the sword recently sent you, which was one the great General had used.

I am trespassing on your time by sending you a volume of family Genealogy which contains on Page 12, Chapter 12, an account of another sword which he presented to Dr. Elias Cornelius, who was surgeon for both Washington and Lafayette during the Revolution and presented to him for service rendered.

I trust this may interest you and be my excuse for trespassing on your valuable time.

by a faithful friend of our family, who has been our house manager for more than two years,
sent as letter postage special delivery, and the last we have heard from it. I did not want the postal authorities to investigate until I had come word from you about it, but it is due to my idea that a little book, prepared by a Christian family, called "Daily Light on the Daily Path," was the much needed help to lift the homes of our country out of distress and depression. "Daily Light" had been my comfort for years, and it was with joy that I talked with my friend Louise, who had given me a $2.50 gold piece, about using that gift as an Anniversary gift on your wedding Anniversary Day. Accordingly the book was purchased with currency bills drawn from the

While, at the time of sending the precious

that it might have seemed like disloyalty to the cause, as I had been told that the gold was held for government purposes.

Thinks it a good investment, and wants to know President's disposition in matter. President sent memo to his mother, June 15, stating he appreciated offer but doesn't think he should or could accept a gift of this kind, and as far as paying for it goes, he already has a Persian Lamb and does not wear a fur coat more than two or three times during the whole winter, so considers it an unwarranted expense.

Dear Mr. President:

The Hired Hand, at Shady Oak Farm, has been having a pretty tough time trying to make the farm pay, which necessitated the use of all the ingenuity possible. As a result, he has developed a new product known as Shady Oak Special Pickles, a very delightful delicacy which I hope you and Mrs. Roosevelt will enjoy.

The letters I am sending my other friends would not be at all applicable to you; however, I am enclosing a copy of the letters to Mr. Garner and Mr. McIntyre merely for your personal information.

I hope you will be successful in getting the boys out of Washington and back home for a rest. I feel sure the country as a whole is thoroughly in sympathy with your efforts in this respect, as well as many others.

I hope both you and Mrs. Roosevelt will have a good vacation where you can shake off the grind and rehabilitate your usual gracious, cheerful disposition.

Dear Marvin:

Have you ever been pickled? If not,
you will now have a fine chance to test your capacity.

The Hired Hand at Shady Oak Farm has accumulated a good "jag" - I mean jar of pickles, which I am sending you, under separate cover, and if they are not entirely satisfactory, your money will be refunded.

The Hired Hand told my secretary: "If the Boss would think of as many ways to help me make the farm pay as he does in 'sampling' his friends with the fruits of my efforts, it would not be necessary to use red ink on the labels."
So, in reality the labels are significant of the financial standing of the farm as we have never been able to secure a farm loan or been compensated for plowing up a portion of the pickle patch, or for shortening the fishing season.

But, that is that. Pickled or dry, we hope you like 'em.
