The making of these three great pleasure. It was the one instance in which

I could carry out my pur-

I have made so many of these cushions that I had hoped to sell in order

Dear Mr President Roosevelt,

In the enclosed parcel you will find a pencil sketch picture of your self, which I have done without attending any schooling whatsoever. I am asking that you will speed up the unemployment problem, of course I understand that you have a great deal before you and are doing your best. My father would be pleased to send me to school but can't afford schooling on account of conditions at home.

Mr Roosevelt, I wish you all the luck and success you can have and I would like to see you up for presidency for another term of 4 years.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Sent to house

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt
President of the United States
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

It is my privilege and that of the World Broadcasting System to transmit to you under separate delivery, the electrical transcription of your Inaugural Address made by this company, which I trust you will accept with my compliments.

This was done at the time of the delivery of your Address, your words being carried to our New York studios by means of a special wire arranged for by Mr. Petty at the request of our Mr. Maurice Minton.

This transcription marks the beginning of a World Broadcasting System library of historic utterances of famous Americans which will be preserved for posterity in our New York studios and re-broadcast to inspire future generations on anniversary or other appropriate occasions, upon receipt of proper authorization.

The historic importance of such a library seems to me tremendous. Suppose, for instance, it were possible for every school child to hear the voice of George Washington or of Abraham Lincoln delivering his Gettysburg Address. The inspirational value would be immeasurable. Naturally, this was not possible in their day but now the perfection of electrical transcription permits such preservation.

Therefore, I am proud that this company is able to launch such a library and it is my desire to express my deep appreciation of the honor you have conferred upon our organization by permitting us to transcribe your Address. In doing so, I am, sir,

Very respectfully yours,

May I take this opportunity to express as a humble citizen my appreciation of your magnificent courage and splendid leadership.

The President has received your letter of March twenty-seventh and was much interested in seeing the photographs which you were good enough to send him. He asks me to express his hearty appreciation of your thoughtfulness.

Sincerely yours,

Although I understand the sailing of small boats and have done some of it I have never seen but one 'square rigger' and have never been aboard of one, so that this model is simply the result of interested study of how they were built and this is my first model builder and I tried conscientiously to secure accuracy in detail and to preserve as far as possible fidelity of dimensions at the scale of 1/8" to a foot.

As the weather is warmer and better I am taking the liberty of sending you a set of better photographs of the model. I am sure they will be appreciated against an interesting sky. This will eliminate everything of perspective scale and ought to produce an appearance of size and reality which may be interesting. In this case I made the hull not quite down to the water line, so that the picture would appear as if taken from a row boat looking up at the larger ship.

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,

My dear Mr. President:-

Knowing of your interest in ships, ship pictures and models, I am taking the liberty of sending herewith three photographs of a model of the Flying Cloud which I have just finished. As photographs they leave much to be desired from an artistic standpoint, but I judge that your interest in ships goes much deeper than considering them as simply pretty toys and concerns itself with their correctness of rigging and form, and as valuable 'documents' in the perpetuation of a form of transportation which is fast disappearing.

Although I understand the sailing of small boats and have done some of it I have never seen but one 'square rigger' and have never been aboard of one, so that this model is simply the result of interested study of how they were built and rigged. I am not a model builder and this is my first model, but I have tried conscientiously to secure correctness in detail and to preserve as far as possible fidelity of dimensions at the scale of 1/8" to a foot.

As soon as the weather is warmer and better I mean to take my model out of doors where I can get a more even lighting and take some better photographs of it, taking one view from rather below it so that it will be silhouetted against an interesting sky. This will eliminate everything of comparative scale and ought to produce an appearance of size and reality which may be interesting. In this case I would show the hull not quite down to the water line, so that the picture would appear as if taken from a row boat looking up at the larger ship.

Very sincerely yours,

E. Crosby Doughty.

My dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

You were in my mind all day Saturday and I know the day was not without its anxieties, too, for you. We thank God, humbly, that the outcome of the Miami affair was no worse. May He continue to protect and shield from all harm, you and yours!

Mrs. Roosevelt, my husband, Mr. Dooley, was very fond of a certain walking stick made here from the woods of the country. He had presented one to each Democratic candidate for the Presidency, at each convention, I recall Mr. Davis, who had a collection of sticks, telling me afterwards how much he cherished the one he gave him, and President Wilson carried his all through the League of Nations speaking tour. I should like very much to send Mr. Roosevelt one of these canes, in memory of Mr. Dooley's custom. Mr. Dooley, like Mr. Roosevelt was tall and liked a stick a little longer than usual. If Miss Thompson will be kind enough to send the measurement of the length of stick Mr. Roosevelt likes, I can then give the order for one. I should appreciate being able to do this, very much indeed.

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT graduated from Groton Academy, in Massachusetts, from Harvard University in 1904, and from the Columbia Law School in 1907. He was admitted to the bar and began the practice of law in New York City.

Elected to the New York state senate in 1910, and re-elected in 1912. Appointed assistant secretary of the navy in President Wilson's cabinet in 1913.

Nominated for vice presidency on ticket with James M. Cox in 1920, but was defeated.

Elected Governor of New York state in 1928, and re-elected in 1930.

Elected President of the United States November 8, 1932, in a sweeping political revolution, by an electoral vote of 472 to 59 and a plurality of the popular vote of approximately seven millions.

Mr. Roosevelt married Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a niece of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and his own distant cousin, on March 17, 1905. They have four sons and one daughter.

The family home is the President's birthplace at Hyde Park, New York. The landslide that carried the second Roosevelt into the White House also resulted in giving the new President the support of a Congress controlled by his own, the Democratic, party. This fact, combined with the promise of co-operation from the leaders of the now minority party, augurs well for the success of Roosevelt's administration.

Prepared in calendar form for our friends and presented with sincere good wishes.

Your Excellency:-

Just before your election to the Presidency last year, you were kind enough to sign a photograph for me that I had taken in the course of my work for newspapers.

I have had a copy made into a jig-saw puzzle for the entertainment of your grand-daughter, "Sistie" Dall, which I wish you would present to her with the complements of my own daughter who is just her age.

A copy of a resolution passed by Independence Court, No. 123, Foresters of America, of which I am a member, also is enclosed, to show you that hundreds of thousands of patriotic American citizens are giving you their loyal support, and wish you God-speed in your endeavors.

Most sincerely,

Dear President Roosevelt:-

I am sending you from Doctor Power and myself - a little book called Beacon Fires - first published by the Temple in 1898. Open it, please, and read at least the marked lines on page 22 and 23.

Years ago the Temple was told from inner sources that Roosevelt would be the last president of the U.S. under present form of government. We thought considerably - Teddy R - having left this plane of activity. Knowing prophecy to be suggestion more than fact at best - we laid it aside. Lately, we have thought again.

The Temple - is more than you know. It has existed for thirty three years or more. One of your Cabinet officers is a member. I shall not name him, as it would not be fair to him under all the circumstances. He is sensitive, true, strong to right & justice.

I have written and addressed you as the feeling has come to do. I if I were to make it all formal - where would the spirit go and be. It is reality in its finer higher sense we are all endeavouring to invoke. I should like all this to be for Mr. + Mrs. Roosevelt. How we watch your moves, your ideas with growing interest. We are, so to speak, on our knees for you both that the Great Ones may be with you until the end and that you may remain as nothing, only to be an avenue, a vehicle for the most needed, most High and just.

You will, I trust, not take this altogether
lightly - but know that sometimes in mysterious ways the works of God are performed as the old hymn says - and so it can be any time - if we will.

With all due respect - interest, and faith,
and support as best we can + may.

Very Sincerely,

(Mrs. M.H.) Jane M. Dower.

Dear Mr. President:

We are today shipping to Hon. Tom Connally, United States Senator, at the request of Mr. James H. Goodman of this city, one of the prize winning hams from the Third Annual Quality Meat Show held here on March 23 and 24, this ham to be delivered to you personally by Senator Connally with the compliments of Mr. Goodman.

This is a "Texas Country Cured Ham, From the South Plains of Texas," and herewith we are sending you a picture of the hams and bacons exhibited at this show which we believe shows more country cured hams and bacons than you ever saw at one place before.

We have promoted this show for the purpose of developing the "Live-At-Home" campaign and to provide a market for the farmers' products. The farmers of this section are getting more money for their cured hams and bacons than they can sell the entire hog for and, as a result of this, are making hog raising on the South Plains of Texas pay.

We trust that you will get as much enjoyment from eating this ham as we do in sending it to you and that conditions may be such next March that you can accept our invitation to visit the show at that time.

Sincerely yours,

Hermitage - Davidson Co. Tenn

At the request of Mr. Mayhew Dodson, who owns and resides on a farm which is a part of old Hermitage plantation originally owned by General Jackson, Representative Byrns of the Hermitage district today presented President Roosevelt with a cedar cane ## carved from a piece of cedar from one of the original buildings on the plantation. Mr. Dodson wrote Representative Byrns: "On the back side of my farm, near the Hermitage, I wrecked an old building and happened to notice a date on the window which showed the house to be a hundred and eighty three years old. I found a piece of hand dressed cedar which was part of the window sill and the thought came to me that the President would appreciate a walking cane made from wood from General Jackson's place.

There is a silver plate on the beautiful cane which bears the inscription "To President Roosevelt made from house on Hermitage built about 1783. From Democrats of Davidson County, Tennessee".

The Democrats of the Hermitage revere the memory of Andrew Jackson and regard him as the greatest President in history. They consider President Roosevelt as his worthy successor. One of the stalwart democrats of the County wrote me on March 5th. "Just like Jackson. What god or goddess arranged things so that Roosevelt would be inaugurated in the midst of closed banks and give him an opportunity that no one but Jackson ever had and no one but a reincarnation of Jackson can handle".

Dear Mr. Roosevelt:

During the past months it has been my pleasure to use my influence to further your interests as a nominee to the high office to which you have been elected, as you will note by the credentials attached hereto, and as a citizen I want to personally extend to you my sincere congratulations and good wishes and to also say that I am confident that you will be one of the most successful presidents our country has ever had; for you will be able, with the aid of our congress, to so direct the affairs of the nation that we shall be able to pass out of the low economic condition through which we have been moving for the past several months.

On the first day of March we are placing in the high schools of our state a beautiful picture of yourself, and it will be seen by thousands of our friends throughout this entire section. We are sending herewith one of these copies so that you may know of our friendly feeling. We consider that the psychological effect of placing these pictures in the various schools of our state by the day you are inaugurated President of the United States will be one that your many friends will deeply appreciate and especially school boys and girls who would otherwise not have an opportunity of seeing a picture of our chief executive at a time so opportune as this will be.

We hope you will like the idea of our placing the picture in so many prominent places--within a few months a large number of them will be framed and will continue to be prized highly by schools.

Sincerely,

Mr. President:-

I have today taken the liberty of sending you by express three canes typical of Iowa's greatest industry. There is also a stand so that you may have them in a handy place.

Some appreciation should be expressed for your efforts to bring normal living conditions back to our people. And if we see or hear of you walking with an Iowa cane, we will feel better about it.

The common- or garden variety - of Iowan has no faith in schemes to raise prices of food stuffs artificially. We have seen them fail in the past and expect to see the present scheme fail also unless it is saved by ordinary laws of supply and demand.

We believe that your action in placing this country off the gold standard and allowing our currency to seek its natural world level will result in a return of our foreign food stuffs market. We believe that as prices rise, business will start and people will be returned to work in the cities. Then our domestic demand for food stuffs will increase.

These two markets returning at the same time will absorb our production at prices which will allow of some profit.

So we thank you for the first step and await with eagerness the second.

My dear Mr. President;

A few days ago I was in Boston and had the pleasure of again meeting your son, James. He told me at the time that you were planning a cruise into New Brunswick waters for the summer, so that the boys might spend some time at your summer home at Campobello.

My purpose in writing this letter is to advise that I am desirous of sending you an Atlantic Silver salmon just as soon as the fresh run starts in one of our best salmon streams. Your son James intimated that you would be pleased to receive a gift of that kind and since you honored me by accepting some moose meat last fall I thought possibly you might further accept one of our summer delicacies from the salmon streams of this province. If you so desire I can have the salmon shipped to you in ice, properly boxed, and forwarded so that it would arrive in Washington a day or so after it was caught.

May I say to you that the people of New Brunswick are delighted with the success of your administration to date and trust that throughout the next four years your policies will prove beneficial, not only to the people of your own country, but to the entire world.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir;-

The writer has modeled an 8 X 10 profile of President Roosevelt, and would like to present one to him, through you. Being our Representative, I thought it best to have you present it to him for me, if you will kindly do so. I have never seen President Roosevelt; was guided solely by side view newspaper pictures, and hope I may not be judged too harshly for the attempt. I would like to get the comments on it, and a few words of commendation from him would mean breaking the depression for me, -a hard hit mechanic and manufacturer.

Awaiting your advice in the matter, I remain

Yours very respectfully,
