My dear Mr. President:

I am taking the liberty of sending you the enclosed picture. The sign shown on the front of our City Hall has received a vast amount of favorable comment, although it has been in position but a few days.

Last evening, at a very large dinner and reception tendered our Post Master General and other guests, he was presented with a picture similar to this by the Chamber of Commerce -- a non-partisan body.

All through this section we have the strongest feeling that splendid results have already been achieved by the N. R. A. and firmly believe that the future accomplishments of this and your other Recovery projects will be of the utmost benefit to our beloved nation and all its people.

With great respect,

Very sincerely yours,

Charles S. Donnelley

What do you think?

CAMBRIDGE, OHIO, Nov. 4, 1933.

Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt,

Dear Sir:

We appreciate very much receiving your letter.

WE make glass gear-shift balls with names inserted in them, and we would like for you and Mrs. Roosevelt to have one for your cars. Please advise us make and model of cars.

You will recall we were in favor of the N.R.A. one hundred percent; but do not think it will be a complete success unless the automatic machine is curtailed or eliminated.

For instance in the glass industry, on pressed tumblers; Automatic Machine Production:

Continuos production for 24 hr. day- 30,000pcs.
Wages (Estimated) $4.00 for 6hr. turn.
Multiplied by 4 turns per day-$16.00 total shop labor cost.

Hand Pressed Production:

To produce 30,000 pieces would require 33 turns of a listed move of 900 pieces, each turn employing three men and four boys, a total of seven people. Thirty-three turns multiplied by 7 people equals 231 people. A shop works two turns per day. The automatic machine takes the place of 115 people or 16 shops or crews. Shop cost $14.30 per turn. $14.30 per turn x 33 turns equals $472.00 total cost of producing 30,000 pcs. by hand pressed method.

Consider the difference in purchasing power of the workers and the automatic machine.

Machines have displaced hand-pressed method on mixing bowls, vases, footed-tumblers, shaker-salts, candy jars, and many other popular articles. If a hand method factory places a new article on the market, in a short time a machine manufacturer duplicates the article and places it on the market at less than hand method cost; consequently the hand method employees ARE WALKING THE STREETS.

I and other workers (in the hot metal dept.) of the Cambridge Glass Co., Cambridge, O., Fostoria Glass CO., Moundsville, W.Va., and The Heisey Glass CO., Newark, O. (all hand method plants) have not averaged since 1929 twenty hours work per week due to the automatic machine working 168 hours per week. Hand method plants with a visible investment of $1,500,000.00 can not operate even one-third of capacity steady.

To eliminate this condition the automatic machine must be cut down to 40 hours per week and the selling price of machine made glass ware must be the same as hand method glass ware to eliminate cut-throat competition.

I hope you will give this matter some thought and consideration. We think you are on the right road to National Recovery and wish you success.

Respectfully Yours,

John Degenhart

November 17, 1933

My dear Mr. Degenhart:

The President deeply appreciates your letter of November fourth and the offer to give him and Mrs. Roosevelt some glass gear-shift balls with names inserted in them.

Mrs. Roosevelt has a car of her own - a Buick roadster.- The other automobiles are under contract ~~year~~ by year with the White House and are not owned by the Government. It would not seem appropriate, therefore, to put a gear-shift ball with the President's name on it, in any of the White House cars.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. President:

As one who wishes you every success and one of your most loyal supporters, I am sending you my old, reliable text book on Political Economy by Arthur L. Perry, L. L. D., formerly Orrin Sage Professor of History and Political Economy in Williams College, which I studied in the eighties while attending college in Illinois and which I have re-read with profit many times since. I have tried to secure a new copy for you but it seems the work is now out of print and difficult to find, so please pardon its appearance. Professor Perry prepared this treatise before political parties, politicians and certain interests sought to mislead our youths and the people in general by writing false doctrines and text books. Though written years ago correct principles of political economy like mathematics are eternal.

I am sure you will find the chapters on Money, and Money in the United States valuable reading at this time and if you have time some of the other chapters. The work as a whole is in harmony with Democratic principles.

While I may be mistaken, I think we should not try to regulate the world price of gold, but rather strive to free it from human manipulations and let it rest on the law of supply and demand. I feel that it may easily prove a disaster and injure or defeat your New Deal plans, which plans

I wish to succeed with all my heart.

I am sure some of your advisers are in error when they advise that commodity prices advance with the advance of the price of gold. All history of money teaches the exact reverse. When large quantities of gold were mined in California in 1849 and a few years following, the price of gold decreased and commodity prices advanced. That was also the case when large quantities of gold were mined in Australia and Alaska. As long as gold is used as money or a measure of value, that must always be the case.

May I warn you to guard your health for I fear there are those who wish to overtax your strength.

Respectfully and cordially yours,

Written During Oct., 1933

To His Excellency
Pres. Franklin Delano Roosevelt
The White House, Washington, D.C.

"For as much as thou sawest that the stone (Christ) was cut out of the mountain (people) without hands, ----- (spirit, father head) ----Daniel 2:45.

Was rejected but won the victory over enemy No. 1 (death) ~~became~~ became head of the corner. Then vanished (merger plan) into the heart (inward plan) ~~became~~ became a mountain then hid in three measures of meal (three continents, or three mountains, or three distinctive classes of people) leavened the whole (fermentation plan) attacked our enemy No. 2 which is our tricked conception of wealth; might as well say, He has won now by discipline, (iron rule plan, which accounts for our dictators), will scatter gold, silver, distribution of wealth by mirging wealth into things of real value (live instruments -(people)); will take away all impossible characters, namely, those who hold to knowledge void of wisdom, and those who hold to the devil, void of salvation. This catches men in all brackets of our social order, business order, administrative order, is separating them into groups to be ruled out and to be dissolved into an whole body (harvest plan) unto whom He will reveal Himself at the time of the second advent.

Decadent knowledge is doomed to break down in all countries to be hauled into wisdom's reconstruction of things, to be converted perhaps into something like a wind-shield as against the elements in our nature and the speed with which we are travelling into the future of which knowledge seems to know nothing, for it is builded upon the foundation of the past, while wisdom covers all both past and future and keeps clean of carbon as it speeds along.

So we turn now to the signs strewn along the highway of life, which only those of vision can see, of which I bear witness, that they compare with those found hidden in the scriptures: only I had to see for myself before I could find them, after which the Bible becomes a true guide into the un-known places, ~~but~~ but the Book is so constructed as to be a devil-catcher and will only be open to all after the devil has been bound with the chains of darkness. And the stone that became a mountain has covered ~~three-sevenths~~ three-sevenths of the world today. These three-sevenths have need to become highly interested in values, and it is in that stone (the people) we must look for value and not in gold and silver which is soon to find no place that will do us hurt. It being second only to death as our public enemy No. 2. Christ will make it so light that the elements within us will keep it moving, thereby rendering the best possible service to the human races.

Our government at last becomes interested in the people! So many perplexing questions have arisen as to what is best to do with them. Well, we know what we do with a cow, a horse, and even a dog or anything else that we place value in.

Now those people who might fail to register as to value with the pretense of not having the desire ^{in them} to be, as they might say, like cattle, were they left outside, they might soon decide that it is even better to be a cow than to be a bull with no place to go, and besides, we might have too many bulls anyhow.

Your Excellency;

I am a young man nineteen years of age; one of the thousands of young men who listened to your radio address to the people of the United States on October 22, 1933.

In a time such as we are now passing through; a period of depression, misery, strife, and pessimism, your words of cheer coming through the radio right in our own homes, is like a ray of sunshine in a dark forest. Things are bad now, to be sure, but I hesitate to even contemplate what they would be like if you did not send the "Blue Eagle" with its symbols of industry and power, flying off from your desk and all over the United States.

Your words have been a source of inspiration to thousands who otherwise would have given up in despair.

When you said, on October 22, that the "Farm Credits Act", the "N.R.A.", and the other measures which you have put through were "pillars in the Temple of Prosperity", I was inspired to make the cartoon that I am hereby sending to you entitled, "Uncle Sam Surveys Prosperity Temple Model". I hope that you will find as much pleasure in receiving it as I had drawing it.

May God bless you and stay with you in your fight to end misery and suffering.

Dear Mr. President:-

The enclosed brief story, "I Wanted to Know" was written shortly after the war and was distributed at the time by a number of industrial plants to their employees.

It has occurred to me that this argument in story form with revisions to meet present conditions might be useful in certain activities of the N.R.A. to place before thoughtful workers in concise and readily understandable form the interdependence between labor and capital and some fallacies of communistic theory.

Very respectfully yours,

J. DeGusta

President Franklin D. Roosevelt
Warm Springs, Georgia

My dear Mr. President:

I heard your radio speech yesterday and was pleased by the quiet way in which you admonished the knockers.

Not it occurred to me that perhaps you would like to have me create a bird sanctuary out of the grounds around your home there for those unfortunate children. We are driving to Miami shortly and as we go through Atlanta it would be very little out of my way to drive to Warm Springs go over the grounds, locate and stake out what would be necessary to create them into a successful bird sanctuary. Incidentally I am the only one who can do this. I go all over the country on this errand and invariably my installations are a success.

The late Edwin Gould had me create bird sanctuaries around every one of the homes he maintained for the crippled children and he wrote me that the children got more enjoyment out of the beautiful birds that my houses attracted than anything else he had done for them.

We were the first ones in this little town to join your N R A and while it is costing us more money to run our factory we still feel very much encouraged by the outlook.

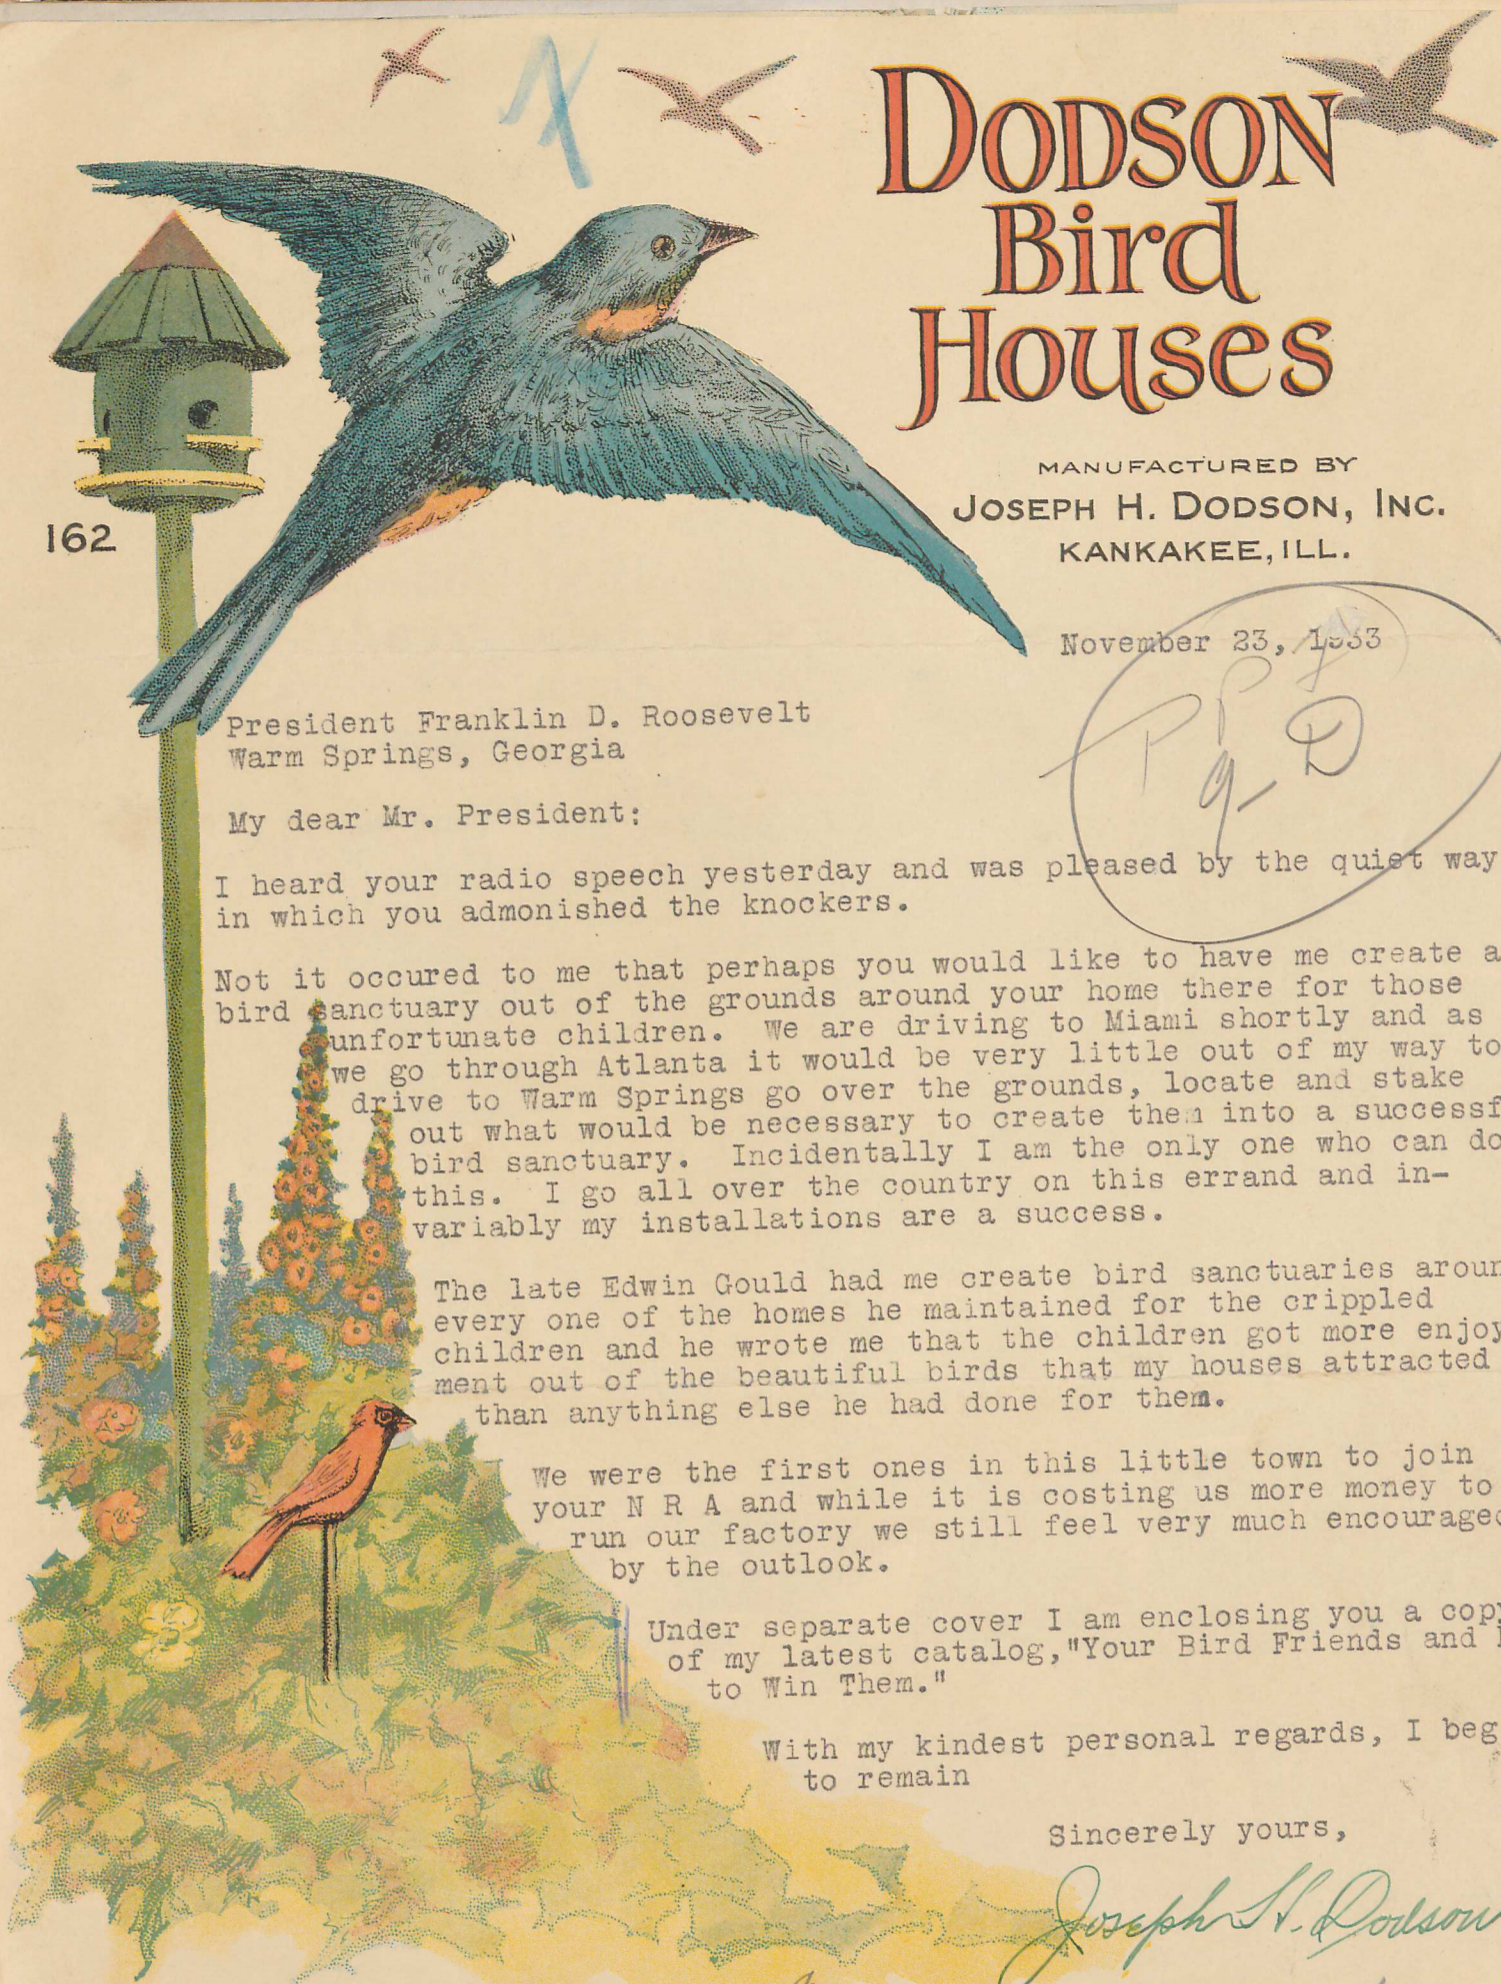

Under separate cover I am enclosing you a copy of my latest catalog, "Your Bird Friends and How to Win Them."

With my kindest personal regards, I beg to remain

Sincerely yours,

Joseph H. Dodson

Beautiful song birds will come if you invite them by putting out Dodson Bird Houses. The birds have already approved them ~ ~ ~
(Famous the World over)

DODSON HOUSES are scientifically made just the way the birds like them. Do you know the joy and thrill of waiting for the return of your particular family of Purple Martins? Have you seen and heard the Songbirds singing or working in your garden hunting the cut worms, bugs, moths and other insects which devastate your choice trees, shrubs, and flowers? Your thoughtful provision of the kinds of homes they like, water to bathe in and some simple foods they crave, will bring multitudes of these beautiful birds to your garden.

DODSON scientifically designed and artistic bird houses are a feature in the most beautiful estates, country clubs and parks all over America.

Why Dodson Houses Win the Birds

Mr. Dodson has for many years devoted his entire time to lecturing, visiting beautiful estates in the study of wild birds all over America. Many seemingly insignificant details have been discovered by him that are vital in the luring of Songbirds to man made houses. Mr. Dodson is always willing to talk before clubs or associations interested in creating bird sanctuaries.

No. 181 Dodson Woodpecker house
 (pat. appld. for)
 Here is a house of simple design, yet of beautiful, pleasing appearance. This house is built of strong 1-inch selected redwood. Two coats of oil paint, colored a dark gray, render it impervious to the action of the elements. The front of this house is hinged, so that it can be readily opened and cleaned.
 Size, 23 in. long by 11 in. wide and 10 in. deep.
 Price f.o.b. Kankakee $3.50; with copper roof, $4.50. Shipping weight 15 pounds.

No. 183 Dodson Flicker House.
 (pat. appld. for)
 Is an enticing lure for these useful birds. Trees in cities are so well taken care of that Flickers have difficulty in finding homes. They, therefore, take very readily to Dodson's Scientifically Built Houses. Flickers are one of the most useful birds, destroying moths, tree pests and principally ants on trees and ground. Many letters have been received stating that ants have mysteriously vanished since these birds have found homes. House 26 in. high by 12 inches wide by 11 in. deep.
 Price, $7.00.

Mr. President,

Please accept this wood-cut as a token of my admiration for your great work in Washington.

I am a naturalized citizen of this country, having immigrated here in 1923. The opportunities granted in the American schools have enabled me to make a study of wood carving, from which I hope to make my way into the world.

Hoping you will see fit to keep this small gift, I am

DERRY DAMASK MILLS
INCORPORATED

AN INDICTMENT

I beg you to read the words of one of the greatest leaders in the movement for prohibition, the late Hon. Frank Hanly, former Governor of Indiana. The indictment of this fearless leader took the form of specific reasons for hating the liquor business.

"I bear no malice toward those engaged in the liquor business, but I hate the traffic.

"I hate its every phase.

"I hate it for its arrogance.

"I hate it for its commercialism; for its greed and avarice; for its sordid love of gain at any price.

"I hate it for its domination of politics; for its corrupting influence in civic affairs; for its incessant effort to debauch the suffrage of the country; for the cowards it makes of public men.

"I hate it for its utter disregard of law; for its ruthless trampling underfoot the solemn compacts of state institutions.

"I hate it for the load it straps to labor's back; for the palsied hands it gives to toil; for its wounds to genius; for the tragedies of its might-have-beens.

"I hate it for the human wrecks it has caused.

"I hate it for the almshouses it peoples; for the prisons it fills; for the insanity it begets; for its countless graves in potter's fields.

"I hate it for the mental ruin it imposes upon its victims; for its spiritual blight; for its moral degradation.

"I hate it for the crimes it commits; for the homes it destroys; for the hearts it breaks.

"I hate it for the malice it plants in the hearts of men; for its poison, for its bitterness, for the Dead Sea fruit with which it starves their souls.

"I hate it for the grief it causes womanhood—the scalding tears, the hopes deferred, the strangled aspirations, its burden of want and cares.

"I hate it for its heartless cruelty to the aged, the infirm, and the helpless; for the shadow it throws upon the lives of children; for its monstrous injustice to blameless little ones.

"I hate it as Abraham Lincoln hated slavery, and as he sometimes saw in prophetic vision the end of slavery, and the coming of the time when the sun should shine and the rain should fall upon no slave in the Republic, so I sometimes seem to see the end of this unholy traffic, the coming of the time when, if it does not wholly cease to be, shall find no safe habitation anywhere beneath Old Glory's stainless stars."

Dear Mr. President:

I am mailing to you under separate cover a small token of our high esteem for you and Mrs. Roosevelt. It is a product made in a small southern plant and has been co-operating with your program to the letter until our money gave out for the lack of a market.

I am sorry to say, we are having very tough going to-day. The future is very uncertain with us, however, we are in sympathy with the administration. If it will help all others, though it puts us out of business, we are still with you.

Oliver Hazard Perry

IN a stagnant basin in Erie harbor lies the rotting hull of a ship—all that remains of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's gallant flagship Niagara. Well is she loved by those who know her. But how few realize she is today sole survivor of that hurried fleet, built in ninety days, wrecked in three hours, yet the mute instrument by which the destiny of a nation was changed.

Bravely she served the intrepid Commodore in the moment he needed her most. For upwards of a century since, she has slept in deserted waters. Only now is a move afoot to save her.

Obsolete? Yes. Useless? No! She is still the flagship Niagara, only survivor of a brilliant battle, victor over a British fleet, a fitting shrine for a nation which can never forget glorious chapters of its early years.

The War of 1812 had been under way a year, with disasters to American forces on land and only occasional victories at sea. Great Britain had challenged our rights as neutrals, scouted our claim to independence, plotted with the Indians to cripple our westward march. Detroit had fallen, the Lakes were in her control, Washington was menaced, our armies crushed, our commerce destroyed . . . and then came two men, with distinctly different talents, to drive the enemy from the Lakes and reassert our rights.

Captain Daniel Dobbins, Erie sailing-master, sensing the need, traveled overland to Washington, begged for a fleet on Lake Erie, was commissioned by President Madison to proceed. With the resource of a pioneer, aided by the shipbuilding skill of Noah Brown of New York, he hurriedly built a fleet of five ships, hewing timbers for keel and ribs from the forests about Presque Isle Bay.

In Newport harbor lay a gunboat fleet commanded by a youngster of twenty seven. Inaction irked Captain Perry. He burned with zeal to do his country some signal service. Knowing the next great clash must occur on the Lakes, he begged for a command—and got it.

In the midst of the feverish search which Captain Dobbins was making for men, canvas, iron, oakum and pitch, Perry arrived at Erie—and assumed command, aiding in the arduous task of fitting out the little fleet. Always there was the menace of British attack. But in midsummer of 1813 the vessels, lifted over the bar, sailed in search of the enemy.

The historic encounter was a month in coming, on September 10, Perry, from the deck of the Lawrence, sighted the enemy outside Put-in-Bay.

He ordered battle formation. British long guns boomed, fell short, then took deadly effect as the fleets closed in. From the mast of the Lawrence flew the battle-flag, "Don't give up the ship!"—made immortal by the dying Lawrence on the deck of the ill-fated Chesapeake. Broad-sides ripped the flagship to tatters, shattered masts, wrecked her rudder, killed or wounded her crew; she drifted helpless, out of the fight. The American gunboats were powerless. The Niagara lagged astern, out of enemy range.

Did Perry strike his colors? Did the young, untried commander quit? Hardly. He still had a rowboat. Ordering it lowered, under fire, he transferred to the Niagara. Hoisting his flag, distributing crisp orders, signalling the gun boats into new formation, he drove straight for the British fleet, cut their line, dealt paralyzing broad-sides right and left as he swept through. Helpless, the enemy ships floundered, ran afoul of each other, and struck their colors.

Eighteen minutes after he boarded the Niagara, the tide had been turned, the battle won. Again an enemy met that spirit which brooked neither insult nor defeat.

Commodore Perry won the fight and the Niagara became the pride of the American navy.

The brig Niagara in her final port at Erie.

The old Niagara! One by one, her sister ships have gone. She herself has led a strange career. But the brilliance of the part she played will not let her die. Clanking chains have wrenched her from the sand in which her decaying hull lay buried. At rest in her final anchorage, her shattered gunports look out upon a world vastly changed.

It almost seems as if there had never been a War of 1812 . . . nor she the sturdy flagship from which Perry reported: "We have met the enemy and they are ours."
