ON THE BANKS OF THE MONONGAHELA

Today is my birthday. I have reached the half century mark, and it makes me feel like remembering God's goodness and mercy to me from the time I was born. A nice letter just came from my mother reminding me that four generations of our family were born on the banks of the Monongahela, in a small town called New Geneva. Now I am not writing this to tell you about the beautiful Monongahela, or to tell you that I was born on its banks, but rather to tell you that I was born twice there and to tell you how this new birth took place so that you may have the same blessing. You may not be so fortunate as to have been born in Pennsylvania, but you may have this new birth regardless of where you were born. You may say "What do you mean?" If you will look in the Bible—John, Chapter 3 you will find what I mean. In verse 3 we read—Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Then in verse 16 we are told how one may obtain this new life—For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. Now I received this eternal life when I was 13 years old in New Geneva on the banks of the Monongahela. The preacher preached from Luke 18:10-14 about the Pharisee and the Publican. I cried like the Publican—"God be merciful to me, a sinner." God heard and saved me. I found forgiveness for the past, grace for the present, and a sure hope of heaven for the future, where I will see and be with and like Christ. Then I could sing.

At the cross, at the cross, where I first saw the light.

And the burden of my heart rolled away.
It was there by faith I received my sight,
And now I am happy all the day.

Thirty-seven years have come and gone since that happy day, and today my cup "runneth over." I have found the Lord Jesus the "Good Shepherd" and all the 23rd Psalm true. And I believe as the Chief Shepherd He is soon coming again and I hope to live till He comes and be caught up without dying. See 1 Thessalonians 4:15-18.

Andy Mellon was born on the banks of the Monongahela not far from where I was born. He got rich, but I would not trade my salvation for Mellon's millions. Would you? However

Dear Mr. President:

The children in the parish where I was born in Sweden now have a manual training class and in one of the branches of this school they make toys for other children to play with. The children back there have also read about what you have done for the poor people here in America and they admire you very much and as a token of appreciation and good will the boys in this training school have sent me six painted wooden horses and asked me to deliver them to you as a token of their good will. They think you have some grandchildren that you can give them to.

This is sent to you as a token of good will so please accept them as such. It will make the children who made them very happy. I am sending them from here in a separate package postpaid and insured. I am the same man who presented you with the Indian curios when you were here in Port Angeles.

Our Chamber of Commerce has appointed me as a member of the National Park Committee and we all hope and pray that you will help us to get the Roosevelt or the Olympic National Park this session of Congress.

Copy of letter to the President, saying that at request of the artist Mr. Frank E. Beresford, he is forwarding to him under separate cover a signed engraving of Mr. Beresford's painting entitled "The Princes' Vigil". The original has been acquired by the Queen.

Memorandum dated 10-8-36 to Mr. Southgate from Mr. Forster, saying the President wishes to send a note of thanks for the engraving, and he will appreciate having a note prepared, and the Ambassador's letter returned, as the President desires it placed with the picture.

On 10-9-36, Mr. Southgate replied to Mr. Forster's memorandum of 10-8-36, saying he is returning the note from Ambassador Bingham, together with a draft of a suggested letter for the President's signature to Mr. Frank E. Beresford. Asks that letter be returned to him when signed by the President, and he will forward same to Embassy in London for delivery.

President's letter dated 10-10-36 to Mr. Beresford forwarded to Ambassador Bingham 10-15-36.

On Jan. 27, 1938 Mr. Beresford wrote again to the President, asking if he would like to have copies of his recent portraits of the King and Queen; pencil notation on letter, "Ack. M.A. Le H".

Valley Fights Road Switch

Newhall and Saugus
See Loss in Rerouting of Highway 23

Fearful that a scheduled rerouting of Highway 23 will cause irreparable loss to Newhall and Saugus, residents of those cities joined yesterday in an appeal to the State Highway Commission to reconsider its plans.

Known as the Mint Canyon cut-off, the new section would reduce Route 23 by more than five miles at an estimated cost of $900,000.

FAVORS LARGER TUNNEL

A. C. MacDougall, spokesman for a special road improvement committee, contends the expenditure is unwarranted when traffic congestion could be eliminated by the sole expedient of enlarging the Newhall tunnel for $250,000.

Defending the commission's position, however, Fred Gunn, highway engineer, said volume of traffic necessitates the new section, which he believes would save drivers $260,000 yearly in operating expenses.

Improvement of Santa Monica Boulevard between La Brea and Fairfax avenue also was considered by the commission on appeal of a delegation from the Hollywood and West Metropolitan chambers of commerce.

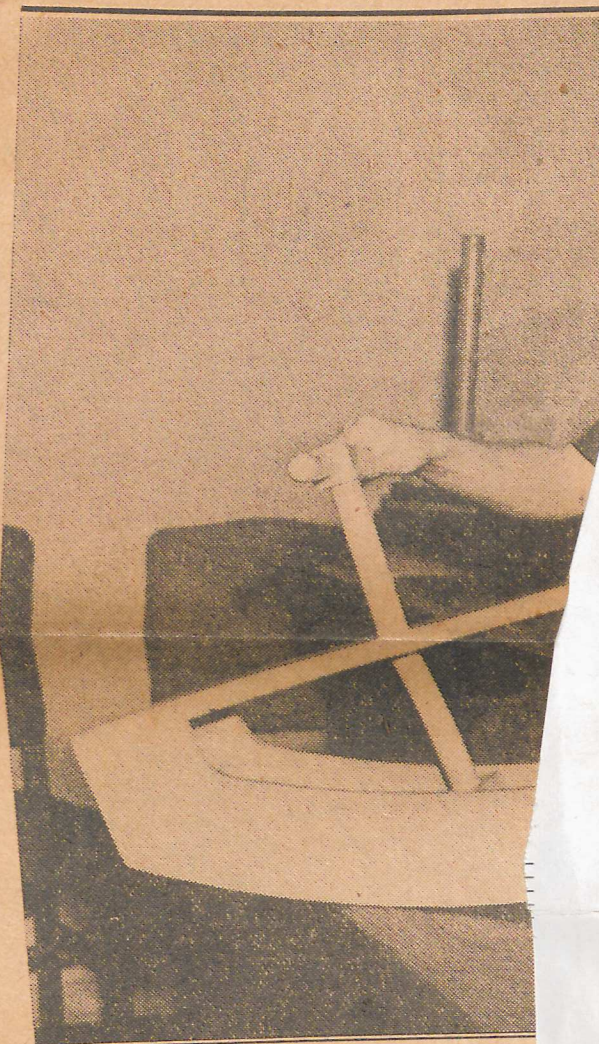

COST ESTIMATED

Cost of elevating and paving the remainder of the boulevard was estimated at $90,000.

In session at the State Building under chairmanship of Roy Judah, the commission also heard appeals from the Yorba Linda Chamber of Commerce and the Imperial Highway Association regarding completion of State Highway Route 176 from Yorba Linda to the Santa Ana River.

The measure was voted special consideration in formulation of the commission's 1939-41 budget.

NOT A CHARLIE M'CARTHY!

LEE SIDE o' L.A.

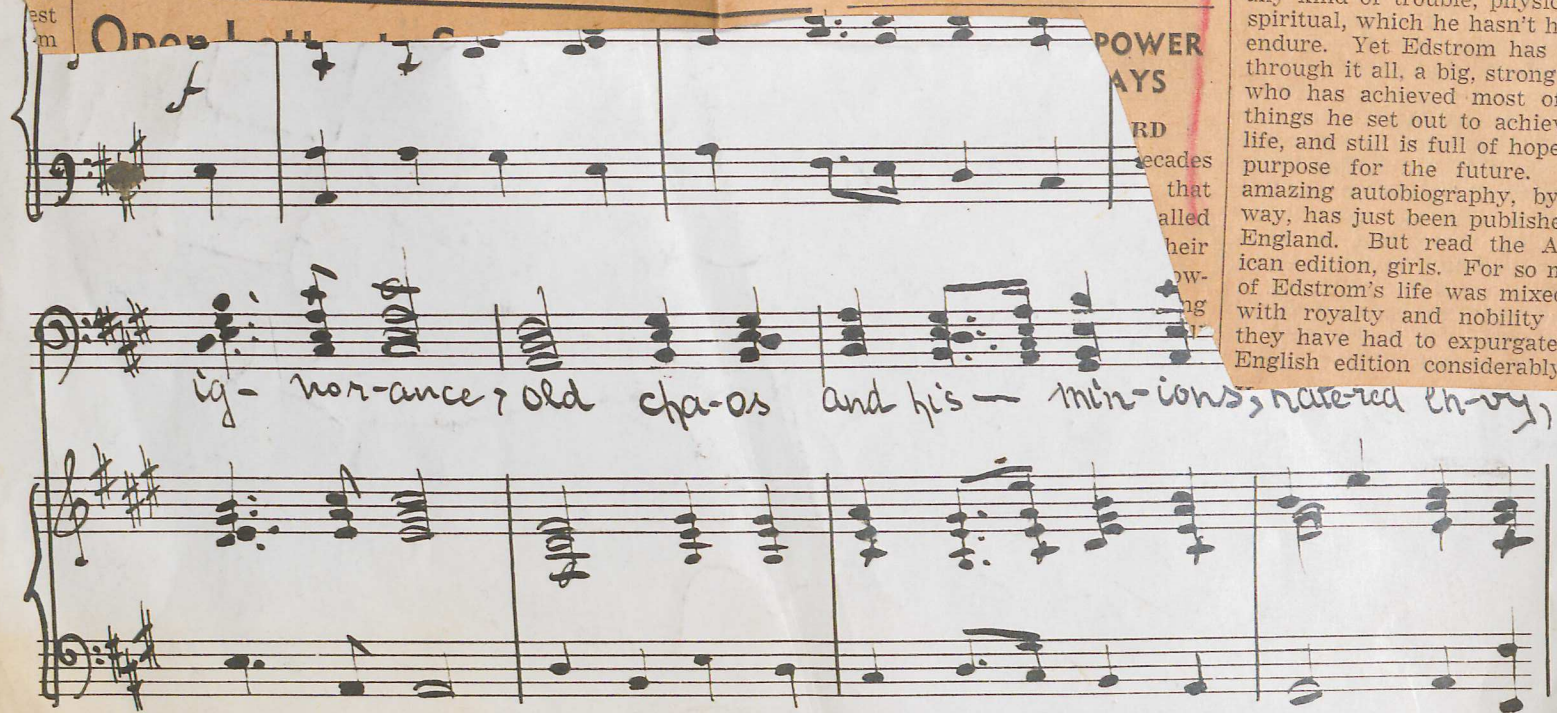

BY LEE SHIPPEY

If you are feeling a bit down this morning just give a thought to the fellows who have a lot more to complain about than you have. Suppose, for instance, that you never could know what day of the week it is without asking someone. The Braille Institute of America has just issued a complete Braille calendar for 1938 which, I imagine, is going to be a lot of comfort to blind people. Without asking anyone they can feel the calendar and "see" that February 26 will be a Saturday. It should be a great aid to blind dates.

Then imagine seven long tables, each seating seventy-six persons, at which more than 500 deaf and hard-of-hearing people gathered in the Police Recreation Center in Elysian Park last Saturday. All the tables were equipped with group hearing equipment, and hard-of-hearing people from twenty-five different towns were there for a conference. Many of them had found it hard work to get there. But the pleasure of being in the midst of things for a whole day, instead of shut out, made them all glad of the effort.

Edstrom Tells It All

Then if you still think you have or have had troubles in your life, read David Edstrom's "The Testament of Caliban." No doubt this gifted sculptor brought many of his troubles on himself, but there just about isn't any kind of trouble, physical or spiritual, which he hasn't had to endure. Yet Edstrom has come through it all, a big, strong man who has achieved most of the things he set out to achieve in life, and still is full of hope and purpose for the future. This amazing autobiography, by the way, has just been published in England. But read the American edition, girls. For so much of Edstrom's life was mixed up with royalty and nobility that they have had to expurgate the English edition considerably.

Dear Mr. Early:

Enclosed is a complimentary copy of the booklet entitled "War Losses to a Neutral" by Professor Eugene Staley, Associate Professor of International Economic Relations at Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. Since his study on raw materials for the Conference on Peaceful Change, Professor Staley has been recognized as one of the world's foremost authorities on raw materials.

We believe that this is one of the first efforts to weigh alternative policies toward the Chinese-Japanese conflict in terms of our trade with these countries and our larger stake in world peace.

THE EDUCATIONAL [POLICIES COMMISSION

• ORIGIN and PURPOSES

THE EDUCATIONAL POLICIES COMMISSION was created in December, 1935, by the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators to define guiding policies for American education. The Commission is aided in its work for five years by a grant of funds from the General Education Board.

Since its establishment the Commission has been gathering and sifting the findings of research and deliberative committees, and from these data, defining policies which will help the schools to meet contemporary needs. It is charged also with publicizing and securing the utilization of these policies in the day-to-day administration of the schools. In other words, the Commission seeks not only to determine the best educational procedures, but also to present these procedures to the educational profession and general public in such a way that they will be accepted and brought into use over a period of years.

• MEMBERSHIP

Nineteen educators drawn from many different aspects of the profession comprise the membership of the Educational Policies Commission. Each was selected by the sponsoring organizations on the basis of his outlook toward education as a whole. Thirteen members were appointed at large, four are members ex officio and two are advisory members.

• PROGRAM

The Educational Policies Commission seeks the advice and help of individuals interested in education. It receives recommendations from all sources looking toward the improvement of the schools; it is proceeding to develop understanding and cooperation among organized groups interested in advancing the cause of education. During its early period of service, the Commission has prepared three major interpretations of the educative function as well as other documents of somewhat lesser scope. Among these are:

The Unique Function of Education in American Democracy

The Structure and Administration of Education in American Democracy

The Purposes of Education in American Democracy

A National Organization for Education

Research Memorandum on Education in the Depression

The Effect of Population Changes on American Education

Now in preparation are other studies designed to reveal further basic elements in the contemporary educational scene, namely, The Economic Basis of Education and The Nature of the School Population. A third study, Social Services and the Schools, will elaborate certain of the broad policies set forth in earlier documents. During the latter part of the Commission's existence, increasing emphasis will be devoted to implementation of recommended policies in school systems throughout the nation.

Dear Mr. President:

Nov 3 9 05 AM '38

We are publishing on November 11 a book about American defensive strategy which seems to us of more than ordinary importance, and we believe you would find it of genuine interest. It is not a hasty job built up out of spot news for the moment, but is a result of many years of study and many months' writing. It is in the main coincidence that it appears at this particular juncture. The book's title is THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH, its author Major George Fielding Eliot. It seems to us, at least, an unusually sane and informed job. We are venturing to send you an advance copy with our compliments -- a copy which the author particularly wished to inscribe to you.

BRONZE TURKEYS

Dear President Roosevelt;
My family is one family that have felt the direct effects of your efforts to help the working man. We are a family that have been Democrats and farmers for four generations. We appreciate your efforts to help the Southern farmer and working man.

Two of my brothers and myself have a project here in North Carolina that to me is very interesting and we are hoping to make it profitable. We have a farm on which we grow cotton, corn, tobacco, poultry and livestock. However, we are specializing with Hereford cattle and Bronze turkeys. This year we raised over forty-five hundred turkeys that we are selling and sending to most of the States on the Atlantic seaboard and several others.

As a token of our appreciation to you for your efforts in behalf of the working man and to show you our continued best wishes we would like to give you a turkey for Christmas dinner. Governor Hoey, Lt. Gov. Horton and Congressman Harold D. Cooley have been to our farm and have tasted our turkeys and say they are unusually good.

M/M
I assure you President Roosevelt, that it would please us very much for you to eat one of our turkeys and tell us what you think of it. You have done a lot for us. I finished Wake Forest College in 1931 and it was a mighty dark future that I was facing, but your efforts and actions made it possible for me to pay back all the money that I had to borrow to go to school on and last year and this I have saved a total of three hundred dollars.

If you can not use one of our turkeys for Christmas we will be glad to send you one for New Years day or any other time you can use it. I assure you it will be as good as any food you have ever eaten.

Please accept one of our turkeys.

Your friend,

Jimmie Earp

Through Miss Marion Wilson, secretary to Roosevelt O'Connor of New York, I was given the information that you handle all matters that go to President Roosevelt.

During the campaign last fall I had a photograph taken of our block in Newport with the large picture of Roosevelt under the American Eagle and I would like to send it to him. Before doing this, however, I am writing you to inquire if he would want it. I think it is one of the few pictures placed on exhibition in the state of New Hampshire.

EDINBURG, TEXAS

December 21, 1938

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,
President, United States of America,
Washington, D. C.

Honored Sir:

Within the accompanying parcel are two loaves of a new kind of white bread; in the making of which is used a superior grade of Texas Grapefruit juice - thus imparting to the bread a distinctive and pleasing flavor.

This bread is also high in vitamin C content and other health giving properties.

The product is new, but proven; and we hope that it may develop to such a point that it may be a major factor in the utilization of the Nation's rapidly expanding Grapefruit crops.

It is our sincere hope that you will taste this bread, and enjoy it.

With sincere good wishes for a happy Christmas season, and a new year that may bring to you full realization of your every desire,

Cordially yours,
