It was thoughtful of you to send the President the pictures which accompanied your letter of May 13th, and I want to thank you, in his behalf, for your courtesy. While your picture is suggesting the presentation to him of the original of one of your downsides is appreciated, it is not felt that he would desire you of the presentation. Thank you, and please let your wife know
this.

Very sincerely yours,

It was thoughtful of you to send the President the pictures which accompanied your letter of May sixth, and I want to thank you, in his behalf, for your courtesy. While your kindness in suggesting the presentation to him of the original of one of your drawings is appreciated, it is not felt that he should deprive you of its possession. Thank you, nonetheless, for your very generous offer.

Very sincerely yours,

My Dear President:

May I thank you for keeping your sacred pledge to stay out of the European conflict. May your honored word never become a derisive by-word like "He kept us out of war", as happened in the case of our unfortunate former president Woodrow Wilson.

I have made a drawing of our federal capital at night (the original is 15 by 20 inches). I saw the spirit of our president keeping watch through the night of the present stress. We pray that that spirit may not be dissipated and scattered over oceans and distant lands but preserve us a strong and independent nation.

Very sincerely yours,

MEMORANDUM FOR MRS. EBEN:

I accepted this dress today from Mrs. Robert Evans, R. F. D. No. 1, Whaleneck Road, Hempstead, L. I., New York, who stopped by the White House with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans have been active in Democratic circles, Mr. Evans having been Committeeman of the 146th District until acquiring a job at the Navy Yard, and Mrs. Evans being ~~being~~ Secretary to the Nassau County Federation of Women's Democratic Clubs.

Mrs. Evans made this dress to wear during the 1936 and 1940 campaigns for the President, and fearing there might not be another occasion for wearing it, she thought she would offer the dress to the President to place among his curios if he so desires. She did reserve the privilege, however, of asking for its return if the President should again be a candidate!

Dear Miss Tully:

The writer, who is here on business and a little pleasure, took the liberty of sending today to our President a 38# KING SALMON. Wanted you to know this so as to be sure of its receipt.

I am proud to tell you I am a Roosevelt adherent and all of us believe in his policies.

If you will be good enough to see that this Salmon is taken care of, I will be grateful.

With the assurance of my best wishes to the President and with God's choicest blessings, believe me to be

Wrote to General Watson saying he expects to be in Washington Nov. 26, 7, 8 and if convenient, would like to see the President. Says he is shipping a carving in mahogany of a North American eagle and a South American condor which is the work of a Spanish refugee artist who resides there. If the President cares to make any use of it, Governor Tugwell would be very glad and he is sure the artist would be elated. - - - General Watson wrote to Governor Tugwell 11-24 and enclosed the following letter of same date addressed to the artist, Mr. Compostela: * "I cannot think of a symbol for hemispheric good will more appropriate than the eagle and the condor facing each other unafraid, free and yet at one in purpose. Governor Tugwell has delivered your fine work and I am grateful to you for the thought it represents." - - - Attached is General Watson's memo 11-25 to Gov. Tugwell with regard to the artist's name; President's memo for Gen. Watson 11-22 saying he wants to see Rex Tugwell when he comes to Washington and file memo 11-27 with regard to sending the correspondence to the Library at Hyde Park.

Dear Mr. President:

In our great emergency, I believe it is only fitting and proper that every American should report to the Chief Executive of the Country, and assure him of his loyalty.

We are in readiness to do anything the Government shall see fit to require of us. My associates have asked me to express the same sentiments for them also. I can assure you that every member of this firm, and every employee of it is ready and willing to make any necessary sacrifice to bring about the defeat of the infamous enemies of Liberty.

May we take this opportunity, and a few minutes of your time to report to you upon the state of the Wine Industry, now just eight years since the repeal of prohibition.

Within a short time the American Wine Industry has taken its place in the forefront of the wine-growing countries of the world. American wines are being sold in almost every country where free commerce still exists. We ourselves are shipping to more than forty foreign countries, and have had many compliments and repeat orders for our merchandise.

The American Wine Industry has paid in to Federal and State charities over $1,000,000,000 since Repeal. Nearly 80,000 families are drawing their livelihood from this industry - more than 100,000 farmers in the states of California, New York, Ohio, Michigan, etc. are getting all, or a large part of their cash income from grape culture.

I am taking the liberty of sending you an assorted case of our Wines and Champagne. I particularly call your attention to the Port of the 1933 Vintage - the year of Repeal. I believe you will find this to be an exceptionally fine wine.

If you and your family would like any more of these wines,
please do not hesitate to call upon us.

My dear Mr. Lefcort:

The President has received your friendly letter of December ninth and has asked me to thank you ever so much for that fine gift. It was kind indeed of you to send it to him.

The President wants me to convey his sincere appreciation of the patriotic support which you and your associates so generously pledge. It is extremely heartening to him, in carrying out the will of the American people, to receive the voluntary assurances that the country stands as one man in its determination to spare no effort and to assume every sacrifice necessary to a successful outcome.

My dear Mrs. Wilson:

Many thanks, on the President's behalf,
for the beautifully framed copy-of-order which you sent to him. He sure then appreciated both kindness and has asked me to convey his every good wish to you for the New Year.

Very sincerely yours,

Dec. 17th, 1941

Dear Mr. President.

On the twenty-fourth of August
there appeared in the New York Times
a reproduction of the Roosevelt coat of arms. I was so impressed with the wisdom of its slogan and the beauty of its background that I was inspired with the idea of producing a replica.

This copy is now complete. I am forwarding it to you under separate cover. It was my desire to express a symbol of appreciation and encouragement for our President who leads us now in our nation's greatest moments.

May God guide you to bring to our country the blessings of "Victory Peace"

Respectfully

Anna Edelman

My dear Mrs. Edelman:

Replying to your letter of February eleventh, addressed to Mr. Early, I am sending you herewith a copy of my letter to you of December 30, 1941 regarding the coat-of-arms which you were good enough to send to the President. It was inadvertently sent to you at 70 East 90th Street,

Very sincerely yours,

GRACE G. TULLY

Feb. 11th, 1942

My dear Mr. Early,

On December 18th I sent to the President a package containing President Roosevelt's coat-of-arms which was hand-embroidered by me, and required much patience and time to finish it, but I enjoyed being able to make it for our President.

I of course, realize that the activities necessitated by these times keep you extremely busy; but I, however, know you will understand my anxiety

in wanting to know what happened to my gift to the President.

Gratefully,

Anna Edelmann
