Dear Mr. President

In these days of unfair criticism by would-do-better and soreheads I have long felt an urge to express in tangible form my unbound admiration for a man whose far-seeing and noble endeavours and achievements will be greater appreciated by generations to come.

I feel as though I speak for the quiet millions who daily sweat and toil for their existence accepting your guidance with great confidence, for the hundred of thousands who sing and carry a song of grate-fulness in their hearts for they have been saved from want and famine through your generous relief measures; - and I have met many of them.

May I, therefore, humbly ask you - in this spirit and as a symbol - to accept this product of my hands with the modest hope that the joy of possessing may be equal to that of the machinery, — and should it cause you a brief moment of enlightenment it has well served its purpose.

Sincerely yours

H. A. Fath

Dear Madam:-

I am shipping in your care today via prepaid American Railway Express one case of Juice-O-Veg. This shipment was requested by Mr. Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., who wished his parents to try this new health drink.

Juice-O-Veg is a product prepared under my formula and is composed of juices of raw fresh vegetables flavored with fresh fruit juices and is bottled without being heated or without the addition of preservatives of any kind or description.

We are enclosing a report of an analytical laboratory giving the mineral salts present. Slight precipitate in bottom of bottle is organic iron salt and does not indicate deterioration of contents.

Please serve cold.

I trust that this shipment will arrive safely.

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America,
Hyde Park, New York.

Dear Mr. President:-

While I was abroad, I thought you might like a desk souvenir to let the visitor know that there is always a good kick left in the Democratic Party.

I had Salviati, who are supposed to be the best glass makers in the world, design the donkey I am sending you. I hope you will like it.

Kindest personal regards.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Roosevelt:-

I hope that you will pardon me for taking the liberty to write you a personal letter. And I am sure if you knew the personal pleasure it gives me to write this letter you would grant my pardon for this breach of liberty.

I am sending you a little present. And it gives me great joy to send it. I hope that ^{when} you receive it that our joy will be mutual. I am not able to send you any thing fine. But I want you to know that some times a poor man's heart is truer than a rich man's heart.

I am sending by Express a walking cane that I made myself. The cane is made from a young Poplar tree that I grew in my yard. I sawed it up into pieces $\frac{1}{2}$ inches long and then put them all back together just to show workmanship.

I bored holes through the joints and put them back together on a $\frac{3}{8}$ steel rod. And that is what holds it together.
The tip on the lower end is of semi-solid rubber. on the gold plate on the head of the cane is engraved in small letters J. F. F. to F. D. R.
I am sending this letter one day ahead of the cane. And when it reaches you I hope you will be just as much pleased as I am.

And now I thank you for the courtesy that you have shown me in giving of your valuable time to the reading of this letter. And some day may I have the pleasure of reading a letter of yours own dictation.

and with my very best wishes to you and your immeasurable ability to guide our destiny. I assume you of my esteem and confidence.

My dear Franklin:

An artist friend of mine, named Julius Delbos, had an exhibition of his works in New York recently which I attended.

Amongst many attractive paintings one particularly pleased my fancy when I discovered that it was of your ancestral home in Hyde Park; painted by the artist last summer, I believe.

I am sending this to you, with my compliments, in memory of many pleasant hours together in our old law school days - particularly the opening of Belmont Park when "Blandy won at ten to one."

Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Yours very sincerely,
