"Life is like a current of electricity; it must have a negative force as well as a positive to exist. It is the contention between these two opposite forces that gives rise to the spark of electricity and life. To live we must know pain as well as pleasure; shadow as well as sunshine. In our limited reasoning we think it should be all happiness, the positive force. But that cannot be. Even tho we cannot understand the reason for some particular sorrow that is thrown upon us, we can be sure that it is necessary, and perhaps even beneficial."

Dear Sir:-

I am sending you a sample of some of my work, a sweet little face so full of innocence and loveliness. If it appeals to you it is yours. It is produced from a picture.

I have created likenesses of a number of different persons, some for their beauty and some for their prominence, not a few of which, would have some commercial value, if it were not for certain inadequate features of the copyright laws.

There is no provision made to prevent certain unscrupulous men from changing certain lines in this work, the hair, for instance, or the eye, and selling it as their own work.

These unscrupulous firms employ Gods men, work them at long shifts at very low wages that they may undersell a legitimate producer. To the very great detriment of the mental, moral and financial interests involved.

I believe I can rightfully claim origination to the idea of the presentation of persons in this particular style to be reproduced to sell to the public. Not alone would I benefit, for there are many ideas laying dormant because of the ease with which they are purloined. This is not the pound of flesh I would exact but I wish to call to your attention a weakness which prevents the launching of many new ventures. Perhaps the patent laws might also be changed to permit the man with a good idea and little money, to start new industries.

There is a Co sign on this Featurette which I put on the original intending to apply for a copyright but have since learned it is useless. There are only three of these Featurettes in existence.

If you see fit to keep "Sisty" and hang her on your will I promise I have no thot to capitalize on the event.

Perhaps I could make your profile if I had a good picture of you.

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt,

My dear President Roosevelt:

Since 1931, when with your valued foreword my "Fighting Bob Evans" was launched, I have been working upon "Togo and the Rise of Japanese Sea Power", which is being published by Longmans Green & Co. on February 26th. When I first asked you to contribute the foreword to "Fighting Bob Evans", you modestly said that Admiral Fiske would do a better job! Realizing that I could not impose upon you again, I followed your advice and Admiral Fiske most kindly has written the foreword.

(My chapter on the Hawaiian Revolution which, in typewritten form, Colonel McIntyre put among the papers which you took on your cruise to Honolulu in 1934, was from this forthcoming book "Togo and the Rise of Japanese Sea Power".)

Joe Truesdale told me that you once spoke to him about the writings of my late friend Commander Holloway H. Frost. At the time of his death, he had about completed his eighteen year work on "The Battle of Jutland" and it was his expressed wish to his wife that I should complete the task. This book, as you may have noticed from recent issues of the Naval Institute Proceedings, is being published by the Institute in March.

One of my greatest pleasures in connection with both books will be to send copies to you as soon as they are off the press.

With kindest regards, I remain

The Battle of Jutland

AT LAST we have an American book on the greatest naval battle in the world's history that is authentic, unbiased, and complete.

At the time of his regretted death, Commander Holloway H. Frost, U. S. Navy, was putting the finishing touches to his monumental work, The Battle of Jutland. The manuscript has been completed by Mr. Edwin A. Falk, a former officer of the U. S. Naval Reserve, and it is now being printed by the U. S. Naval Institute. It is expected to be ready about the first of the year.

Although technically correct to the minutest detail, this book is easy and interesting reading and will be enjoyed as much by the lay reader as by the serious student of naval history.

The book will contain about 580 octavo pages and will have several photographs and over 70 sketches depicting the various stages of that great engagement. There are twenty-two chapters. Chapter I deals with the course of the war during 1914 and the succeeding six chapters bring us to Jutland. The last three chapters tell of the night maneuvers and encounters following the day action.

The price of the book will depend upon the size of the edition. Of course, the larger the edition the less the cost per copy. We estimate that we will be able to sell this book for $4.50 postpaid.

Those interested will aid us by ordering now. Please use the blank below.

TOGO

AND THE RISE OF JAPANESE SEA POWER

By EDWIN A. FALK

Foreword by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, U.S.N., retired

HERE is a book that presents the career of the late Admiral of the Fleet, Marquis Togo Heihachiro, Imperial Japanese Navy, against the background of Japan's development (particularly as a maritime power) from Togo's birth in 1847, five years before the first visit of Perry, to the former's death in 1934.

Among the many subjects covered that are of particular interest to the student of naval history and strategy are:

- The foreign naval bombardments of Kagoshima and Shimonoseki in 1863-4;
- The naval campaigns of the Japanese Civil War;
- Togo's naval apprenticeship in England and aboard British vessels (1871-8);
- His rise to command rank in the growing Japanese Navy;
- His command of the cruiser Naniwa at Honolulu during the period of the Hawaiian Revolution;
- The outbreak of the Sino-Japanese War in 1894, precipitated by Togo's sinking of the Kowshing, used as a Chinese transport, before war was declared;
- The campaigns of that war with emphasis on the naval actions, including the Battle of the Yalu, the capture of Wei-hai-wei, and the subjugation of the Pescadores and Formosa;
- The Russo-Japanese War, including the Port Arthur campaign, the Battle of Chemulpo, the Battle of the Yellow Sea, the Battle of Ulsan, the cruise of the Russian Baltic Fleet to the Far East and the Battle of Tsushima;
- Japanese naval activities and development since 1905.

The author, Edwin A. Falk, served in the Navy during the War. He is the author of "Fighting Bob Evans" and was designated by the late Commander Holloway H. Frost to complete for publication the latter's ms., "The Battle of Jutland," to be published this Spring by the United States Naval Institute.

TOGO AND THE RISE OF JAPANESE SEA POWER is illustrated with many photographs and charts of naval engagements. Price $4.00.

I am sending you under separate cover one of our framed pictures which we are proud to most enthusiastically call "OUR PRESIDENTS."

Hundreds of these framed pictures are now being mailed to communities in every state of our great country.

Since last December 15th we have sent out 160,000 "OUR PRESIDENTS" small calendars, and they too were sent into practically all coal producing sections of our country.

In our District, Number Five, which comprises the Counties of Mercer, Lawrence, Butler, Beaver, Allegheny, Washington, and parts of Fayette and Westmoreland, we have, in addition to these small calendars, "OUR PRESIDENTS", placed in every Local Union, prominent clubs and business places, a large "JUMBO" calendar of President Roosevelt with the following printing thereon: WE RE-AFFIRM OUR LOYALTY TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

I am thirteen years old

March 21, 1936

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt
President, United States of America
Port Everglades, Florida

Dear Mr. Roosevelt:

The Anglers Contest Committee of the Fort Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce desires to present for your use on your contemplated Florida fishing trip this unique steel rod with the lignum vitae butt.

In presenting this rod we wish to call your attention to the fact that this butt was manufactured locally by Mr. Dale Redman, official weigher and measurer of our Contest Committee, from this hard tropical wood, procured at Key Largo, one of the Florida Keys devastated in the Labor Day hurricane. Mr. Redman used this wood to give the pole its perfect balance - which you can instantly determine by grasping the rod at its foregrip.

Lignum vitae, as the name implies, is the wood of life and never seasons. It continues to dry out after hundreds of years. Due to the peculiar nature of the wood as soon as the finish chafes off and it is put in a dry place it will check. If you will return this rod butt either to the Chamber of Commerce or Mr. Redman, we will see to it that it is properly refinished and sent to you for storage in anticipation of your next deep sea fishing venture.

The Fort Lauderdale Sailfish Club invites you to weigh in (by proxy) any sailfish you may take so that we can present you with our official silver civic button and certificate of membership in the club.

Hoping that this proves your most successful deep sea fishing experience to date and that this pole will add some modicum of pleasure on your trip, and taking this opportunity to express the appreciation of all Broward County of your using Port Everglades as a point of embarkation, we are

Dear Colonel McIntyre:

This is to express the appreciation of the people of Broward County and the Port Everglades district for the courtesy and hospitality of yourself and your associates in making it possible for our group to greet President Roosevelt.

Just a word about the butt of the fishing pole we presented him. It is made of lignum vitae, which as soon as it is exposed to the air tends to "check". This wood is polished with a variety of French polish especially made for this kind of wood from shellac, linseed oil and ~~lin~~ oil. If the finish is marred or rubbed and air is allowed to get to the wood it will more than likely "check" or split. This will never happen if the air is excluded. This is the only wood which possesses its remarkable beauty and great weight--as we suggested to the President in our letter of presentation to him. If the butt is mailed to us it will be refinished the same day received and returned immediately. If thus protected it will last for fifty years; otherwise it may be necessary to throw it away.

We want to thank through you Colonel Starling, Mr. Barry, Mr. James and the other officials who slowed the train down and made it possible for the school children and citizens at the station to greet the President.

Next year if the fishing trip is repeated we hope it will be possible for you and the group with you at the Biltmore to get in some sport off Fort Lauderdale too.

Have you forgotten the Everglades Jungle dinner rigged up for your party at the Country Club by Bob Gore in 1932?

Dear "Mac":

This is to ask a personal favor of you which will only take thirty seconds of your time but which will be a very fine gesture on your part.

As you will remember on the occasion of the President's fishing trip at Port Everglades the Chamber of Commerce presented him with a fishing pole. He very cordially acknowledged same and I now have his letter, his picture from the New York Times and the local newspaper framed and on display in the Chamber of Commerce.

This pole was made by Dale Redman of Redman's Sport Shop. Now here is the favor I want to request of you. If you will simply send Mr. Redman a letter on White House stationery to this effect:

"The President has asked me to tell you how much he enjoyed using the pole you constructed and to thank you for your thoughtfulness". Or a few words to that effect.

If you can see your way clear to making such a gesture you will gladden the heart of one of our young men and I can assure you that literally hundreds will hear, through him, of the greatness of President Roosevelt, and in these times of Liberty Leagues and what not every little bit helps.

A letter from our friend, Captain James W. Flanagan, to me on yesterday contains this paragraph:

"At the time it was my compliment to be your guest on occasion of the Vice President's dinner to the President, February 4th, in brief conversation with President Roosevelt reference was made to my former meeting with the President when he visited Cartagena, Colombia, July 4th, 1934. Among other circumstances referred to by the President was his regret in not having secured a sample of the tomtoms used by the natives in Haiti. I assured the President of my pleasure in serving him in this instance, for which he expressed appreciation. In view of the above I have procured and am today sending your care of the Washington Hotel, the aforementioned Haitian tomtom, which I will thank you to have forwarded to the President with my compliments. I am personally not writing the President in this instance."

My dear Mr. Fleming:

The President has asked me to acknowledge receipt of and thank you for your letter of June first.

We are as yet somewhat uncertain as to just how our schedule will work out, but I doubt very much, in view of the pressure on the President's time while traveling, that it will be possible to arrange for a personal presentation of the overalls.

However, I will be on the Presidential train and if you will ask for me I will be glad to receive your gift on the President's behalf.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. President:

Can you find leisure enough to read a new book I am mailing you in which I try to portray our pioneering life in the making of West Texas history on the wonderful Llano Estacado.

In this reminiscence I find deductions strongly endorsing the New Deal Policies and try to convey that teaching. Is this book worthy of recommendation to the public, and could you help me get some able publishing house take over its publication?

I hope you can read it and come to our Texas Centennial remembering the Llano Estacado is a wonderful part of Texas and please help us to get Uncle Sam's aid in learning the possibilities of our Water Resources.

Yours friend
Will T. Florence
