Dear Mr. President:

As Past Commander of The above organization
I wish to send you my hearty New-Year wishes.

You stepped into office at one of the most critical periods in our National History. You were faced with a tremendous responsibility. You did not falter. Your efforts are being rewarded with success.

You are a Great Leader, Mr. President. May this coming year be even more successful.

I am sending you a painting I made after a small folder, It might not be to your liking, but as it was the only picture I had of you I hope you will accept this painting in the spirit it is sent

Faithfully yours

The President,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President,

Will you kindly grant a ten minute audience, to two members of the Junior Citizens of America, Monday, January 28, 1935?

We have a modest gift for you, selected by the boys, and knowing how very busy you will be on January 30, we thought it best to see you in advance of your natal day.

This organization has been functioning for eight years;
has two thousand members in Nassau County, New York and is a crime prevention project. Its sole aim is the promotion of good citizenship.

You may recall our visit at Albany, in 1931, when you were the governor of our state.

The members of the party will consist of: J. Frank Ricca, age 19, of East Rockaway, N. Y., representing the senior division; Vincent Doherty, age 11, of Valley Stream, N. Y., representing the junior division and the undersigned.

Respectfully,

Lucille Gibbons

Founder, The Junior Citizens of America.

Nassau Youngsters Help Santa Claus; Boys Build, Girls Decorate Doll Houses

Getting ready for Christmas, the Junior Citizens of East Rockaway are building doll houses that will be distributed at Christmas time among "needy" children in the village. The Blue Bonnets, an organization for girls, furnish and decorate the houses. Photo

Junior Citizens Make Sure 'Needy' Are Remembered

Members of the Junior Citizens, an organization for boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years, in conjunction with the girls' division, known as the Blue Bonnets, are doing their "bit" to make some of the less fortunate children of the community happy at Christmas time.

The two groups are engaged each Monday afternoon at their work. The boys fashion doll houses out of discarded egg crates and the girls decorate and furnish the dwellings.

The boys, under the direction of Mrs. John T. Gibbons, already have constructed one doll house, which has been on display in the lobby of the Lynbrook theatre. This house will be given as an award to the child, under 14 years, who writes the best essay on "Thanksgiving."

The essays are to be sent to the Lynbrook theatre or to the headquarters of the Junior Citizens at 340 Atlantic avenue, East Rockaway. The award will be made from the stage of the theatre Saturday afternoon, November 24.

The two groups plan to construct at least eight doll houses before Christmas and will turn them over to the village welfare committee for distribution to children of the village as Christmas gifts. This act is in keeping with a general practice in the village where discarded toys, clothing and such things as might do others less fortunate are left at the village office and distributed at Christmas time among the needy.

Some of the older members of the Junior Citizens repair and repaint such of the toys before distributing them.

January 16, 1935.

My dear Mrs. Gibbons:

Your letter of January thirteenth has been received.

I am very sorry indeed that the pressure of the President's work makes it impossible to arrange for the boys to present their gift to him. It has been customary for me to receive such gifts in his behalf. If the boys will send it to me by parcel post or express, or if they come to Washington and will call at the Executive Office, I shall be glad to receive it and present it to the President at a convenient time, with the compliments of the Junior Citizens of America.

My dear Mr. McIntyre,

Your letter of January 16 has been received. Regarding the presentation of the gift of the Junior Citizens of America to the President. I wish to say that there is a peculiar condition in Nassau County, as you probably know, it is almost entirely Republican. While our organization is not in politics and I will not permit them to stampede my new voters, (each year we have a goodly number reaching the voting age), and back of them are their parents and friends, like an endless chain.

I believe that if you will speak to the President, he will see that I have quite a problem to cope with and I feel certain he will want to cooperate.

As to our work, we refer you to the Police Departments of the various villages in Nassau County, in which the organization functions.

The boys were received at the White House by President Hoover, February 24, 1932. So that you will readily understand that this is not a publicity seeking venture.

We shall call at the Executive Office, Monday, January 28, at 3 P. M.

Your confirmation of the receipt of this letter will be appreciated.

Yours very truly,

Lucile Gibbons

President which was painted by Miss
Virginia Helen Johnson of Republic, Missouri. Miss Johnson, who is a victim of infantile paralysis, wants the portrait given to President Roosevelt.

Enclosed herewith is the letter which I received from Miss Johnson and a this matter to the President's attention.

By Girl Artist

The happiest person in Greene county last night was 19-year-old Virginia Johnson of Republic, the victim a few years ago of an attack of infantile paralysis.

Yesterday afternoon, in the presence of the courthouse audience which heard Governor Guy B. Park speak in the interest of the proposed state bond issue, she presented him with one of her oil paintings of President Roosevelt.

The Reverend Lewis R. Anschutz of St. John's Episcopal church, a former pastor of the president at Hyde Park, New York, introduced Virginia to Governor Park.

"I wanted you to have a picture of President Roosevelt in your office, and when you get home I want you to write me a letter so I can have a souvenir of your visit here," she told the chief executive.

Governor Park graciously accepted the picture and told Virginia that she, like President Roosevelt, might have a useful life, "doing good to others," in spite of her affliction.

for Truman;

I received your letter of the 25th. in regard to the case of Strafford Mo. Please accept my thanks in this matter.

While visiting in Kansas City, I sold oil portraits of President Roosevelt, which I had painted, to T.J. Pendergast, and to Mr. Canfel for yourself. The Pendergasts were here, they gave me some prospects to call upon for the future and also secured an invitation for my mother and a tea given by The Womens Jefferson Democratic Club. I said that he felt sure that you would present Roosevelt with one of my oil paintings of our president.

I am sending you today a picture which I made of President Roosevelt and trust that you can find time to personally present it to the President on his birthday, Jan. 30th. I am anxious to have you present this picture as I regard you as one of Missouri's most outstanding citizens.

I was afflicted with infantile paralysis at the age of eighteen months, which left me with a serious physical handicap. I have followed the career of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the past ten years with much interest and his courageous fight to advance despite his physical handicap has been a great inspiration and help to me.

It is my greatest ambition to visit the President in the White House and to know him personally.

Thanking you in advance for your kindness, and with all good wishes for your continued success, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

I am sending you a hand-made booklet of my own original poems. They are the only thing that I have to offer as a birthday present and as a token of my gratitude for the help that you have made possible for us to get. I am an orphan girl, nineteen years old and a student in the Normal School of Louisville. My parents have been dead for more than eleven years but I have been fortunate in having a very kind aunt and uncle who have cared for me.

We were about to lose our home two years ago when through the aid of a lawyer friend for whom we have worked, the Home Owner's Loan Corporation took it over for us. We realize that it was the efforts of yours that made such an organization possible, and wish to convey our sincerest appreciation of your work. I am not unmindful that the President is obliged to refuse many requests for an interview with him, however brief, but I really think that he should see if only for a moment, Mrs. Regina Jais, the well known author of such fine literature of "Legendary Germany and Legendary France". Her work has been generally acclaimed and her testimonials, which I have read, are international.

Dear Mac:

I am writing, in extension and explanation of my letter of February 4th to you, transmitting the information that a letter will be presented to you by Mrs. Regina Jais, an author of international reputation, who desires a very brief moment with the President.

I desire to make clear to you, that I am aware from my own experience and from what you have told me, that it is impossible for the President to arrange to see even a fractional number of the people who clamor for an audience.

On the other hand, I am confronted with the problem that before and during the 1928 and 1930 gubernatorial campaigns and the 1932 presidential campaign, because of my intense interest in the result, I called upon people of influence and of wide acquaintance to be of assistance, and I am glad to say that many of them, despite their past political affiliations, came to our standards.

I know several who made substantial financial contributions and materially aided, who look to me and occasionally ask for some courtesy or recognition, it may be a letter of introduction to the President or to you. I cannot very well decline without giving deliberate offense, however diplomatically I may word the refusal. Should I issue such a letter or ask for some slight recognition for a devoted friend, I may be misunderstood; perchance, you may even think I am not sensible of my own status or the result of my ^{own} requests.

It is because of this perplexity, I am writing so that you will understand I am not promiscuously issuing letters of introduction, nor that I am attempting to unduly add to what I know is your problem and the President's burden.

When I get to Washington and you have a spare moment I shall be glad to amplify what I have here written, but I am sure you will understand.

I send my renewed message of profound regard to the President and to you and hope this finds you both in very good health.

As ever

Faithfully yours,

Gus

The charm and informing value of this travel volume should evoke an appreciative response, not only in those who contemplate their initial tour of France, but in those as well who may revisit in the book's colourful pages the regions with which they are already familiar.

Los Angeles Herald

So vivid is the atmosphere imprisoned by Mrs. Jais, that it is with difficulty we remember her book is not a romance but an accurate account of France's history, legends and peoples.

Argonaut

If you can not see France yourself, the next best thing is to read a book such as this.

New York Herald

(Paris Edition)
"Mrs. Jais gives more of Paris in fewer pages than any writer has ventured before."

The American Hebrew

This book is infused with an ardor that vitalizes it for the reader, no mean achievement for these trodden paths of travel. It is the Odyssey of an intelligent traveler.

Musical Leader

A jolly little volume with more of the joy of travel in it than any other book of its kind.

Courrier des Etas Unis

We have recognized that Regina Jais has written a remarkable book about Paris and the beautiful places of France—The style of Mme. Regina Jais is alert and elegant, has not the cold monotony of general "Travel Books". She tells the true story of France—her people—as though imbued with the heart of a Frenchwoman. The charm and sincerity is arresting—a book of the first class—Legendary France is a rare tribute from a sojourner—written by a poetic soul—those who wish to know France read and keep this exquisite book.

My dear Miss Jais:

Mr. McIntyre, before leaving for Kentucky to be gone a few days, asked me to drop you a little note thanking you for your consideration.

He tried to get word to you, before you checked out, that Mrs. Roosevelt had been busy all day Tuesday and left Wednesday at noon for the balance of the week.

Sincerely yours,

Not a ray of light could we see,
Then in stepped our God-given CHAMPION,
In the person of Franklin D.

He closed All the BANKS, in a JIFFY
Called Congress to make a new law,
Which held the whole nation in silence,
Til' it came from their hands, without A flaw.

He called the cabinet together
And formed a program complete,
That would KILL old man Depression,
And BURY him DEEP in Defeat.

He appointed an administrator,
Whose tactics were common to all.

HOW beautiful the feet of the census man,
Who gathers statistics, from all over the land.
He see, s all the farmers, Finds out what they have made.
Then the picture changes to a different shade.

The farmer has worked through heat and snow,
In hopes of a crop, that he might have a show.
To buy things he needs and fix up his place,
And meet all his neighbors and look in their Face.
And tell them in candor, I'm out of Debt,
My Creditor, s "The Bankers, Won't have to fret,
But alas Bye & bye; His hopes went away,
They vanished like frost, on a midsummer day.

The wind and the sun without any rain,
The burned up, and he made no grain,
They foreclosed the mortgage, no corn for his bread and now there's no shelter over his head.

He might rent a farm but the land-lord will say,
How are you fixed? can you pay your way?
I dont want a man without any cash,
We might have a ~~drought~~
Droughth and that would play smash.

IT might be too windy, too wet, or too dry, ~~and~~
And now Mr Renter, Just has to root HOG or die.

With all the beautiful rocks and rills,
And all the wonders which nature can give,
Where people of every type doth live,

The rich and the poor, the lean and the fat,
And not very rich even at that,
The poor can't be beat in all the great south,
For living each day from hand to mouth.

But they are not fool's they know what is good
They work when they please or chop some wood,
And go to the mountains some day if they choose,
To bring back to the valley some BRAND new booze.

They sell to their neighbors so fine and nice,
Who will keep their tongues as still as mice
Wouldn't tell any-body except of their Klan,
Who know each other all over the land.

The courts and the LAW have not much to do,
The people don't need them the country through.
They frame up the case if one is caught.
Then tell each A story as they have been taught.

~~This wonderful land beats all you have seen.~~

Dear Mr. President:

We are forwarding under separate cover a statuette called "The Vision of Padre Serra". We feel confident that there is no more beautiful nor appropriate souvenir of the California-Pacific International Exposition, and Southern California than this small work of art by Donal Hord. He is without doubt one of America's coming artists, and our small offering is only a sample of his ability.

Please accept this with our congratulations on your past achievements as well as our best wishes and faith in your coming work.

My dear Mr. Jacobs:

As per my promise to you, I have today given personally to the President with your compliments, and those of your company, the Speech Master machine which you left with me yesterday for presentation to the President.

I can tell you that the President was immeasurably pleased and asked me to write to thank you for the Speech Master -- telling you that if he were not so terrifically engaged just now he would write in person.

With kindest regards,

Very sincerely,

Mr. Curley

Mr. Stephen T. Early:

Trusting that the President will use the Speechmaster for his radio address this coming Saturday evening I am wiring to inquire whether you need additional rolls which I will gladly furnish and whether you would like me to set up the machine or give you any further instructions or assistance before hand for the use of the machine which I gladly offer you. A wire will bring immediate service. Tried to reach you by phone but you were in conference.

My dear Mr. Jacobs:

The President has not as yet had a moment to prepare the radio address he is scheduled to deliver Saturday evening to the Young Democrats meeting in Milwaukee. Things are in a terrific jam just now, because of the imminent adjournment of the Congress. The pressure is severe. Everyone is on the job night and day.

I cannot tell you definitely, therefore, whether the President will use the Speechmaster Saturday evening. I know he would like to and I feel certain that if there is time to have the speech prepared for delivery via the Speechmaster, this will be done. Mechanically, the machine is all right; we understand its operation. I thank you sincerely, however, for your offer of assistance.

Cordially,

My dear Mr. Roosevelt:

I am mailing you by insured parcel post one walking stick, made of hickory and, cedar wood the handle of cows horn all the products of Heard County. I am sure that you have a number of walking sticks made from all kinds of wood, but I am sure you do not have one in your collection that the maker of which received any more pleasure out of making his than I have this one for such a great and, good a man as you. It may not be as elaborate as some that you have but, sturdy and durable like your intention are for the welfare of the people of this great United States.

I am hoping that you will see fit to use this walking stick on your next trip to Georgia and, hoping that such trips will be more frequently in the future than in the past.

With every wish for your continued good health and successful administration.

I am sincerely yours,

great regrets that this pleasure will not be mine, but I will get a great deal of satisfaction out of the fact that you will receive it even though our trip has been called off. But you know best what the conditions are and what is good for the youth of America, so I hereby take great pleasure in presenting this gavel to you on behalf of the St. Louis Council B. S. A., Troop 166
