Mr. Marvin McIntyre
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I am sending to President Roosevelt, through you, a special binding of a new book, "Profit Engineering," which has just been issued by the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

It deals with a new approach to the important matter of profit making in industry and has a real place in the "new deal" ahead of industry and finance.

At a convenient time, would appreciate it very much if you would present this volume to the President for such attention as he may care to give it.

Very truly yours,

C. E. Knoeppel

My dear Mr. Knoeppel:

I have your letter of March 10th and on the desk before me reposes a copy of your book imprinted with the President's name, and made ever so much more valuable by the penned lines of tribute on the fly leaf. I have just shown it to him and the words rather hit the mark. They were beautifully phrased.

The exigencies of the moment, as you can appreciate, prevent the possibility of immediate reading, but a hasty glance through carries promise of valuable knowledge to be gained.

The President asks me to convey his thanks and appreciation.

Sincerely yours,

M. H. McIntyre,
Secretary to the President.

His Excellency, The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

On March 3rd I sent you a telegram reading as follows:

"Am a Republican. My wish was that Herbert Hoover might finish his job. Voters decreed otherwise. Pledge you next four years I will be good Democrat in spirit in all things for good of country. No true Republican should do less...no loyal Democrat in the flesh can do more. Best of health, happiness and successful admininstation."

As a token of my desire to be helpful and cooperative, as well as to express concretely my good will, best wishes and support, I ask you to please accept with my compliments the framed illuminated copy of my poem "What the World Needs," which is dedicated to peace, harmony and brotherly love. With the framed group, you will also find a copy of "What the World Needs" in illustrated booklet form, as well as a wall hanger, and a piece of sheet music of the same subject.

I firmly believe that "What the World Needs" can be an effective instrumentality in changing the mental attitude of our people from despair and pessimism to hopefulness and optimism, and I have gone to the limits of my time, health, strength and financial resources to bring about an improved national psychology. I have been pleased to do this for the reason that I felt that it was the most effective way in which I could cooperate with President Hoover, and I wish to take this opportunity to pledge you that same cooperation.

Very sincerely yours,
C. W. Kirsch.

Dear Sir:

You are to take office as President of The United States on March fourth and so I am taking the liberty of writing to you, wishing you a great deal of success and happiness in your work and in your efforts to put this country on its' feet. It may be a coincidence, or something else just as interesting, but it is a fact that my birthday falls on the same day that you take office.

I did all in my power to help you win in your campaign, and now that you have won I shall be watching your every move, knowing that what you do is always for the good of the country.

I know that you have never heard of me, but you get so much mail from strangers who think the world of you that I thought I would do my little bit to tell you how I felt. I am a young fellow, very much interested in becoming an artist, and more than anything enjoy drawing pictures. Enclosed you will find a picture of you which I drew. The paper on which it is drawn is the best I had so please do not criticize on that score. Accept it, please, in the spirit in which it is given.

You will make me the happiest fellow in our neighborhood if you will answer this letter.

Dear President:

In times of stress it is always well to have a sense of humor. That, today, is one of the very great attributes of Americans. Your actions after inauguration were right in line with the sentiments of all our people and noone anywhere expressed this sentiment so aptly as Will Rogers in his newspaper epigram the morning after your first presidential action. So well did he express all our sentiments that we felt we should aid in propagating it by broadcasting it further. We caused a number of these cards to be printed and distributed free to anyone who cared for them. The requests for them have been astonishing. Thinking you might be interested we are sending you one.

We also had these automobile stickers printed and distributed as our contribution toward encouraging that feeling of confidence in you as our leader which is so essential. We know that whatever you have done or may do in the future is for the greatest good of the greatest number and we wish you to know and feel that it will be encouraging for you to know that all real Americans are with you and are publicly expressing that sentiment.

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing you for the fifth time in hopes that you will read one of my letters.

My lifes ambition has been to be able to be photographed presenting you with a chenille head made from one of your recent photographs. If you can understand this type of work you will realize that is quite a job to make one and is really a work of art.

I have sent to you letters from the Governor of the State of New Jersey, A. Harry Moore, who is now United States Senator who asked you personally to give me this opportunity. All I have heard is from your Secretary who tells me that your time is all taken up.

If you really knew how much this meant to me you would surely allow me a few minutes of your valuable time to present you this head.

Won't you please write me personally and let me know when I might come down. Anytime would be suitable to me and you will be complying with my only wish.

AND THE SUN STILL SHINES.

A LITTLE LESS KNOCK

THERE are three words in the English language that have a world of meaning . . . MODERATION . . . THOROUGHNESS . . . TOLERANCE.

For right living . . .
MODERATION
For right working . . .
THOROUGHNESS
For right thinking . . .
TOLERANCE

—C. W. KIRSCH

IT is always possible to evolve a plan whereby everybody wins and no one loses . . . profit to all, and loss to none. —C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE EASE

A LITTLE LESS ROCK

THE small courtesies sweeten life; the greater ennoble it.

—BOVEE

OLD-fashioned business integrity and new-fashioned business methods are indispensable principles in establishing a sound, progressive, lasting business.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE PLEASE

A LITTLE LESS SPITE

THE jealous, the hateful, the revengeful and vicious person wants to attack that which he cannot control.

—C. W. KIRSCH

TO be a success you must
First, be a man.
Next, have a plan;
Then, never say can't,
But always say—can.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE DEAR

A LITTLE LESS MIGHT

IF ever there is a time when you can be charitable to the other fellow, it is when you have him down.

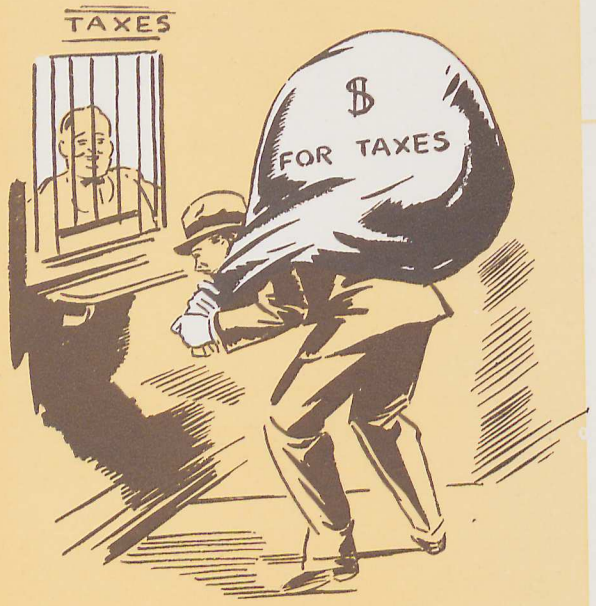

—C. W. KIRSCH

CHEERFULNESS is full of significance; it suggests good health, a clear conscience, and a soul at peace with all human nature.

—CHARLES KINGSLEY

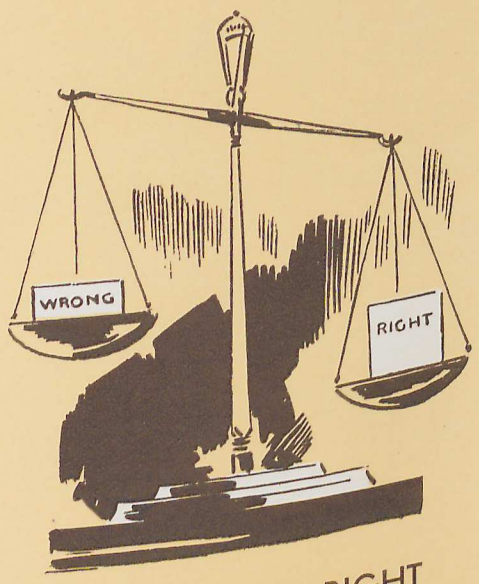

A LITTLE MORE CHEER

A LITTLE LESS TAX

THE man who desires to make money in order that he might stay in business has a greater moral right to do so than the man who desires to stay in business for the sole purpose of making money.
—C. W. KIRSCH

IF you are right in your business policies, stand pat. If you are not right, you won't stand.
—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE RIGHT

A LITTLE MORE LIGHT

A LITTLE LESS STICK

THE schoolmaster deserves to be beaten himself who beats nature in a boy for a fault.

—THOMAS FULLER

THERE is nothing like fun, is there? Oh, we need it!—we need all the counter-weights we can muster to balance the sad reactions of life. God has made sunny spots in the heart; why should we exclude the light from them?

—HALLIBURTON

A LITTLE MORE FUN

A LITTLE LESS KICK

IT is better not to have a temper,
if you lose it;
but—it is better to have a temper if you do not lose it.

—C. W. KIRSCH

THE glorious sun stays in his course, and plays the alchemist, turning with splendor of his previous eye the meagre cloddy earth to glittering gold.

—SHAKESPEARE

A LITTLE MORE SUN

A LITTLE LESS TAKE

YOU cannot combat crime and corruption with courtesy, kid gloves and squirt guns loaded with rose water.

—C. W. KIRSCH

SOME men are more concerned in defending their pocketbook than they are in upholding their character.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE GIVE

A LITTLE LESS FAKE

PROSPERITY is contingent upon our own hard work, our own honest efforts, our own production and our own consumption.

—C. W. KIRSCH

THE greatest justification a man can have for desiring to live as long as possible is to right any wrongs he may have committed before passing on to his reward.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE LIVE

A LITTLE LESS LAW

ALL things being equal, unjust laws make more law breakers of law abiding citizens than just laws make law abiding citizens of law breakers.

—C. W. KIRSCH

THE law of heaven is love.

A LITTLE LESS CLAW

A QUARREL is quickly settled when deserted by one party; there is no battle unless there be two.

—SENECA

TO be a 100 per cent producer you must be 100 per cent efficient and produce up to 100 per cent of your capacity.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE DOVE

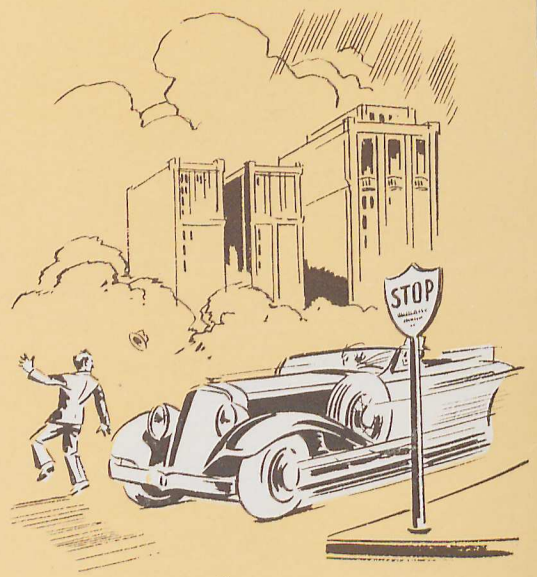

A LITTLE LESS SPEED

WHAT pleasure can those over-happy persons know who, from their affluence and luxury, always eat before they are hungry and drink before they are thirsty?

—RICHARDSON

CARELESSNESS does more harm than a want of knowledge.

—FRANKLIN

A LITTLE MORE CARE

A LITTLE LESS GREED

BE not greedy of filthy lucre.

I TIMOTHY III:3

ALL things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them.

—BIBLE

A LITTLE MORE FAIR

A LITTLE LESS GRAFT

THERE are exceptions to all rules, but unless we are careful to practice the rule instead of the exception, we will unconsciously find ourselves practicing the exception instead of the rule . . . which is not so good.

—C. W. KIRSCH

IF you do something for the other fellow, and if he is a right-thinking person, the chances are that he will want to do something for you—because the desire to reciprocate is a fundamental human emotion.

—C. W. KIRSCH

A LITTLE MORE DEED

A LITTLE LESS DRAFT

THERE are at least two occasions when all voters should go to the polls: (1) When the political status and public affairs are satisfactory, vote against any change in this situation. (2) When the political status and public affairs are all wrong, vote to change this undesirable condition as quickly and effectively as possible for the good of all.

—C. W. KIRSCH

TO be of value a reputation must be earned and not bought.

Sir:

Personal feeling and pride in you as the ideal leader we are seeking, has prompted me in sending a small gift, as a token of my personal esteem.

I am sending an anvil, inkwell and pen which I hope will be serviceable to you

I am a Polish-American blacksmith aged sixty-five years.

The inkstand and pen are hand forged. Hammar, chisel and file were the only tools used. Time required: anvil, thirty hours, horse shoe, thirty five hours, penholder, twelve hours. A total of seventy seven hours was used in making all.

It is my desire to see your administration marked with success and fulfillment of progress.

Sincerely yours.

My dear Mr. Howe:-

A short time ago I promised to send you a "product of my hand and brain" - a new type of safety razor.

This was invented by a "Kingly Democrat", perfected by a "Technocrat," and is now being made in a "Republican" shop in Providence. It should be good.

I hope you will like it. I am giving you one.

I am going to ask you to hand one to the President, with my compliments; also hand one to Mr. Woodin, Secretary of the Treasury.

I think Secretary Woodin has done such a fine job on our banking and financial situation that he should have a King Razor, with my compliments.

I want to help the President put a "new face" on America.

Thanking you for past courtesies, and with every good wish to you and the President.

Dear President Roosevelt:—

I am sending to you under seperate cover a walking cane which I named the depression walking cane. a short time ago this was a young tree in the "Cook County Forest preserve" having received six days employment in the Forest preserve the first work I have had in three years.

Think they have that good old American Eagle locked up and I know you will release him when you find his cage.

[illegible] cage sent to you with beer, you know.

Dear Mr. President:

Perhaps you noticed the likeness of yourself on the cover of Collier's magazine a few weeks ago. The meaning of it appealed to me so much, that I sent for a copy, intending to have it framed and keep it. But after I received it, I decided to have it cut into a jigsaw. When it was completed, it pleased me so, that I thought it might be a pleasure for you and your Family to put it together and see the wonderful likeness of yourself and how well it portrays your unselfishness toward us, the people of these United States and your concern for all of us and of the World.

So I am humbly offering it to you, trusting that you will accept it as a tribute to yourself, " A Man of his word."

Enclosed are a few Easter Eggs, from my baby Helen Ruth, age 5 yrs. She insisted I send you all, some as I hope you won't be angry or annoyed. I am sure "Fido" will enjoy playing with them. I paint them for Kiddies every year and they amuse her no end. Also a small pencil sketch, would have liked to paint it in oils but didn't know your coloring.

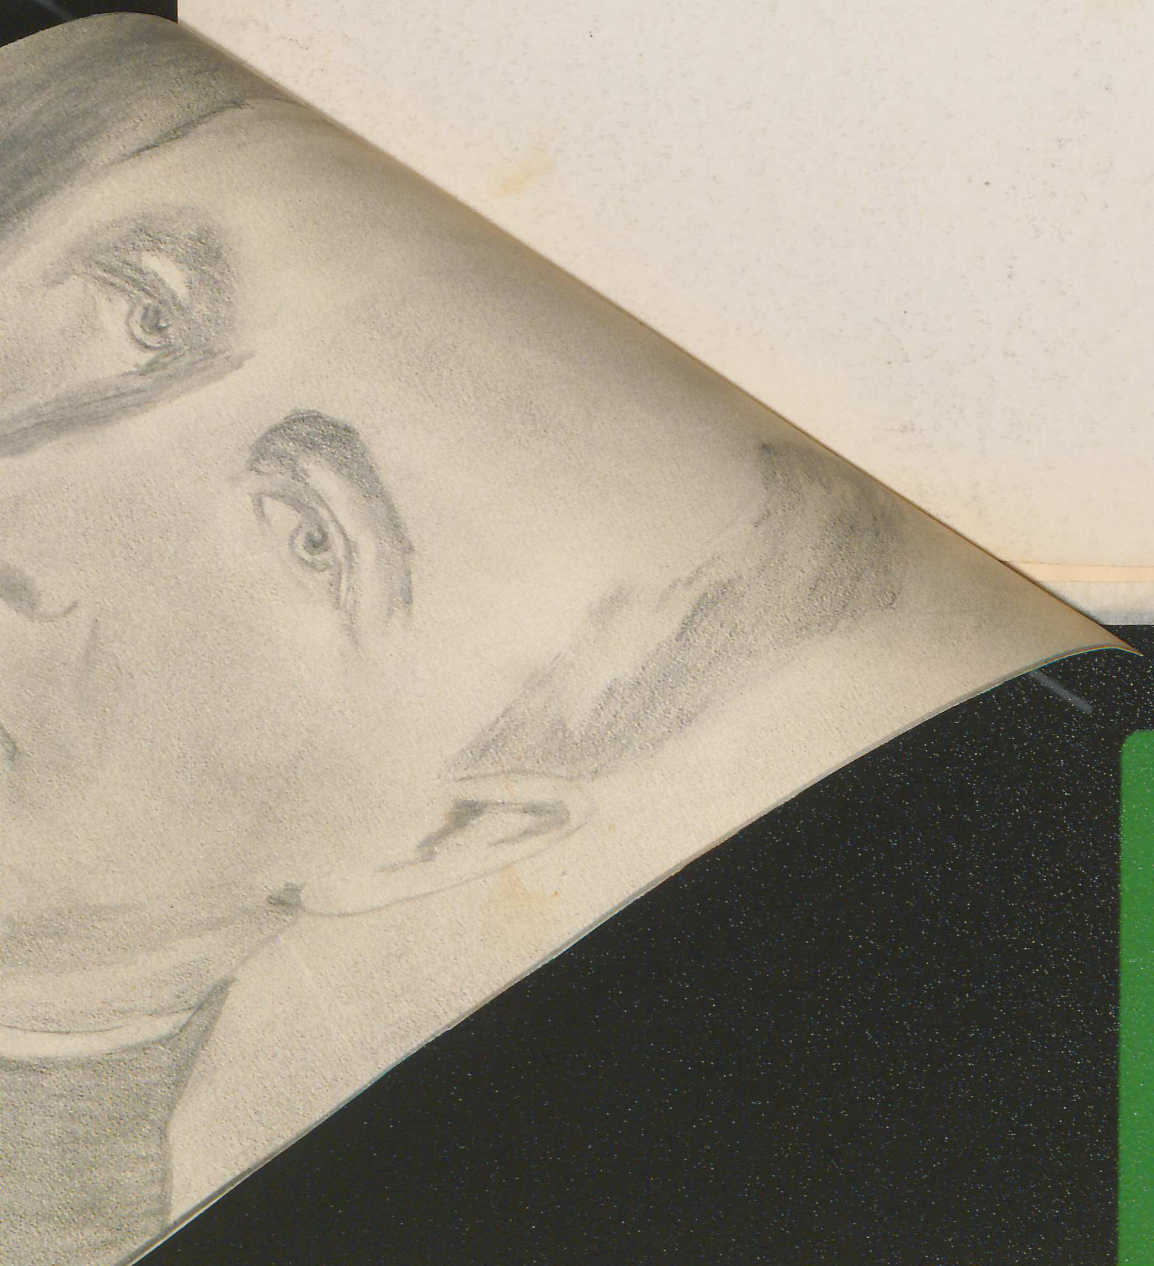

Here is snap of my dad and baby, taken July 4th 1931. She was "Miss American Legion 443" of Glassport Pa. I am very proud of him as he would have had 17 yrs. of service in the army March 1st 1932, when he died April 28th 1932. He was Sergt. Roderick Goretzky, stationed

Would it be asking too much a tiny snap.

Wishing you all a Happy

Dear Sir:

I have been in correspondence with His Excellency, The President, at Hyde Park, New York, wherein I was desirous of sending him a shipment of Dynell Spring Water from Dynell Springs, in Palos Park, Illinois, near Chicago.

The analysis of this water shows the minerals almost identical with the Warm Springs Water, excepting that Dynell seems more copious in the beneficial elements. I have submitted the analysis to Dr. Hoke at Warm Springs Foundation at the request of Mr. Roosevelt's Secretary at Hyde Park. I have found this water very beneficial having used it a number of years.

I will be glad to furnish the same to the President if he finds it is to his liking. I have asked the Dynell Spring Water Company to make a shipment to you of a case of this water and I hope it will please the President.

This water is not really INTOXICATING except to the owner thereof - it is simply BENEFICIAL to those who use it.

I shall be glad to know if the President will accept my offer to send him regularly this water at my expense as long as he wishes to use it.

For his satisfaction, I am enclosing the analysis of the Water That George Washington Drank, Warm Springs Water and the Dynell Spring Water. It seems very interesting to me.

Thanking you to receive this water and bring it to the attention of the President and awaiting your request in this behalf, I am, dear sir

Dear Sir:-

I am sacrificing a treasure which I have long horded. It is a symbol of the man who was crucified on the cross of gold, and of the party which is destroying that cross.

I thought maybe Mr. Woodin might be short some month, and not be able to meet the demands of the National Economy League, so rather than see a one of them go hungry I have sent in my last dollar.

A poor old Indian War Widow said to me yesterday; "Do some of the Presidents widows still get their pensions?" Yes, I replied, but we must have faith in our President for he has been there such a short time, and is a busy man.

"In war times," she went on to say, "they conscript Life--the most precious thing in the world--. They took my man up on the Plains and he never came back. In this emergency I think they should conscript Wealth-they took all my savings. Doesn't the Bible say we all are His children."

Yes, I replied, the Constitution says all are created equal, but too many are so occupied in reading bills of sale and bills of fare that they never find time to read the Bill of Rights. I am sure though the President will broadcast it so all may hear.

"You see," went on the dear little old woman,"I pray for him each day, I know he has a heart as kind as Lincoln's, and is as brave as was my Joe, and so I ask that he be given the wisdom of the Ages.

All over this country and in the far corners of the Earth, shipmates of the old Mississippi are mourning the loss of their Skipper---Admiral Moffett.

They are proud that he died as he had lived, in the line of duty. Admiral Moffett was more than an officer. He was a man;- a credit to his uniform, his Flag and his Creator. We of the Navy who served under him will always cherish those days. And we of The American Legion, are proud that he was still a member when he took his last cruise into the far Western seas.

For God and Country and a new edge on the Ax.

Respectfully and sincerely,
