Dear Mr President:

Quite by accident I came across an old book, which I believe you would enjoy reading. It professes your own views, aims and purposes so strikingly, that I am inclined to believe, you may have read it:

SOCIAL PROBLEMS, by Henry George, published in 1883 by The National Single Tax.

On the other hand, if this is merely a coincidence and you should like to read this excellent book, it would be a privilege to send it along to you, with my compliments.

MEMO FOR MISS LEHAND

Missy:

He would like a Harris & Ewing picture. The one he has is a poor likeness although it is inscribed to him -- "To my dear friend General A. F. Lorenzen with the kind regards of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

You said I should have a better autographed picture of the President than the one which you saw in my apartment. M. H. M.

Frankly, the one I have does not begin to do him justice.

I remember one of his pictures (a rather large one) on the wall to the right of your desk which I liked very much. Of course, I would like one if he will be good enough to autograph it for me.

His autograph on the picture I have reads as follows: "To my dear friend General A. F. Lorenzen with the kind regards of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Needless to say, I will appreciate your following through on this for me.

Dear Mac:

By express I am shipping to you for the President the picture of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and the Kaiser which was taken at the time Teddy visited Germany to review the German Army during its annual manouvers.

It was on this occasion that Teddy Roosevelt made the famous statement to the Kaiser, "If I had an army like this I'd lick the world".

This picture was taken by Mr. Otto Staack, Maitre de of the Blackstone Hotel, who at that time was private steward to the Kaiser and presented to me and I am delighted now to present it to the President.

It was certainly delightful to have had you here in Chicago as we did, but your stay was entirely too brief. Come again soon, won't you please?

My dear Mr. President:

Kindly receive a complimentary copy of my little Questionnaire Book on American Politics and History, which I hope, may be placed in your library.

Permit me to state that it is my opinion your administration is eminently successful, and deserves the continued support of all those who have the true interest and welfare of the whole country at heart.

I am indeed happy to observe that under your wise, judicious and equitable administration, the celebrated Jeffersonian tenet of Democracy, "the greatest good to the greatest number" has been more successfully applied than during any other era of our history. Under your leadership the government is ever performing its chief function and reason for existence: aiding the oppressed and the unfortunates, and making our country a better place to live in, economically, physically and spiritually.

I, along with millions of other Americans, can now honestly feel that the present occupant of the White House truly feels the pulse of the Average American. I greatly esteem your Radio talks, just like one old friend and neighbor to another. And, Mr. President, for the immeasurable service that you have so graciously rendered the people who need such aid, you have earned and deserve the everlasting gratitude of all thoughtful persons.

As I travel in every County in Missouri, in the performance of my duties as Referee with the Missouri Workmen's Compensation Commission, I see abundant evidence of a much better economic and industrial outlook than that existing in March, 1933; and of a far more optimistic morale prevailing among the people, which, in my opinion, is directly attributable to your herculean efforts in aiding a distressed nation.

With kindest regards and best wishes for your success,

I am

Yours respectfully,

MEMORANDUM FOR

CAPTAIN BROWN

21 November, 1935.

Will you prepare a nice letter telling him why I do not want it?

I have discussed the matter with the Commanding Officer of the Naval Observatory, Captain Halling. He states that the Observatory now has a time-clock on exhibition there very similar in principle
to the one described in the enclosed correspondence.
Halling says that their clock has been a subject of interest and F. D. R. to the Observatory, that he is building a similar one for the National Geographic Society that various commercial firms have asked him permission to commercialize an edition of the clock as display at the Observatory. He agrees with me that except as a curiosity the clock would serve no useful purpose in the ordinary office or house. Captain Halling does believe that it might be of practical value to radio operators aboard ship as it could provide the operators with a ready means of determining the time in all parts of the world at any instant; and thereby might be of assistance in long-distance communications.

I suggest that the above views be presented to The President in order that he may decide whether or not to accept the offer.

My personal opinion is that it would be somewhat of a "white elephant" (although its size is not indicated), and that the present might be used for advertising purposes.

Sincerely,

Wilson Brown.

Understand it is the wish of Mr. Roosevelt and you to have as many workers put back to work as possible, I am a very poor man, I cannot employ any worker, but am willing to help in you charitable work. There is no reason why this country could not make the 25 centery clocks for the world market to bring back a great friendship among many nations. I also know that Mr. Roosevelt collect stamps of the world, and very fond of the radio
short wave, which the clock in your possession now is a great necessity for finding time of any place in the world at clance. This clock could find a big market in the future.

to our President while he was here.

Took the matter up with Capt.

Advised me it would be impossible to let me do so, but if I gave it to them, they would say that he got some.

Looking over my letter I think
I gave them the wrong enclosure.
