My dear Mr. Morgan:

Your letter of November twenty-seventh,
addressed to me at Warm Springs, has been received.

Mr. Stephen T. Early - Secretary
Warm Sp. I understand the candy was received, and I want to thank you in the President's behalf for your thoughtfulness.

Very sincerely yours,

As per usual, I am giving the liberty of sending for the "Little White House" some candy for Thanksgiving.

While I realize that I will possibly over-supply the candy, I thought perhaps there would be a possibility of some of the neighbors overlooking the candy source.

Suggestions No 3

- 1) My opinion is that Liquors should not be taxed by the U S Gov. more than $ 1.75 and by the States not more than 25 c per gallon, at the present time.

Imported Liquors shall not be taxed more than $ 2.00 per gallon and wines not more than 15 c per gallon, and no state tax should be allowed.

Cities shall not charge a high license fees, $ 250.00 would be enough per year. If taxes are low, more could be consumed, more places could be opened and more vacant stores could be rented and more men could be employed in that industry.

If taxes would be too high then bootlegging will come up again, will grow like mushrooms. Why ?

A man who was working in the old good days at the distilleries says that to produce six gallons of 110 proof rye whisky needs 1 bushell of rye

20 lbs sugar	1.00
1 lb yeast	25
gas or coal	40

Total $ 2.25

he can sell his stuff $ 2.00 per gallon or more and defrauding the U S Gov from taxes, leaves him $ 10.00 net may be more, in summer it doesnt cost him anything for he can make it out of rotten fruit.

- 2) Now that the 18 th amendment is repealed, postal law prohibiting to send liquors and wines by the U S mail should be also repealed.

For example a firm in wholesale or any other business or producer must send samples to his customers as without sample he can not make a successful sale.

- 4) No restriction should be given to imported liquor and wines as long as there are adequate supplies on hand made in the U S this would bring more business and more taxes for the Gov.

His Excellency
Franklin D Roosevelt
President of the U S

Washington D C

Your Excellency

After the world war, my son in law brought to me from Budapest Hungary a few dozen of specimen beautiful mershaum pipes, cigar and cigaret holders with amber ~~xxx~~ mouth pieces.

They are genuine and if taken good care after smoking, they will turn in to a nice yellow red color. Most of them I have given to my friends as a souvenir for Xmas and New Years present, however there was left about one dozen more.

For the noble work your Excellency did upon my and others suggestions and your Excellency still doing for the benefit of the people of the U S pulling them out of depression, I took the liberty in presenting your excellency as a souvenir and I have sent your Excellency on Nov 25 1923 by parcel post one cigar holder and two cigaret holders with amber tips and an other cigaret holder with a cherry stem.

At the first thing I didnt dare to send it, thought postal authorities will think that it contains some infernal machine however I told the clerk, he may open it if he wants it and open for inspection.

No reply from your Excellency yet and I wonder whether your Excellency received them or not. I dont think that some unauthorized person got them. Wishing a merry Xmas & H N year.

I remain your Excellencys obediant servant.

The Great War

WHEN Al Smith declares his opposition to the President's monetary program with a declaration that he believes in sound money, none doubt his sincerity. Many will doubt his understanding. Sound money, as its defenders use the term, means money backed by gold.

If the President's monetary program continues until his dollar is worth 50 cents in gold, then the dollar will be backed by twice as much gold as it was ever backed by before.

At the old price for gold we had back of the dollar some four billions of dollars in gold. At the present gold price we have back of our dollar some seven billions of dollars in gold.

The President has never advocated abandonment of gold backing for the dollar. He has advocated the reduction of the gold content of the dollar to the end that the dollar and commodity prices will bear the same relation as they bore in prosperous times, such as those of 1926.

When Al Smith says that he might be classified as a Wall Street Tory he is probably right. That is unfortunate, for Al Smith is not a Wall Street Tory. He is just one of those who do not understand.

The Wall Street Tories consist almost entirely of the country's big bankers and capitalists. They are represented by the great interests that threw millions of dollars of government bonds on the market in order to weaken the government credit, expecting thereby to force President Roosevelt to change his program to suit their purpose.

The Wall Street Tories understand the President's program. They understand that the President is leading a great campaign to break the hold of great wealth upon the government and the economic affairs of this country.

They want to be permitted to continue to plunder their fellow men and make many millions in single transactions without performing any service whatsoever or giving anything of value for the money they make.

The Wall Street Tories who control great banking interests were a sick looking bunch last March when the pursuit of their policies had plunged this country into the darkest days of its economic history, with all banks closed and none of the great capitalists knowing which way to turn.

Then President Roosevelt began to apply his policies and things began to brighten up. The Wall Street Tories had said that the old gold standard must not be abandoned. President Roosevelt abandoned it and the country benefited.

Now that the policies of President Roosevelt have brought about sufficient improvement to cause the Wall Street Tories to believe that we are going to pull out of the depression, those Tories seek now to regain control of affairs and once again put the people of this country under their subjection.

In order to accomplish their purposes they are willing to take deliberate action to injure the credit of this country. They are worse than traitors. The depth of their criminality makes the ordinary criminal syndicalist seem like a good citizen.

There would be few ordinary criminal syndicalists in this country were it not for the crimes of people of the class of the Wall Street Tories, who inspire people of weaker minds to do wrongs in retaliation.

This country is engaged, under the leadership of President Roosevelt, in a gigantic war with Wall Street Toryism. The chance has come to break this country free from the grip of unscrupulous manipulators of great wealth.

If the people will stand loyally by their leader they will win this struggle. If they fail—well, then the next depression will mean a revolution.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The EDITOR'S COLUMN

For Efficiency

DEMOCRATIC Party leaders in California were "caught flatfooted" the other day, says a news item, when a Republican postmaster unexpectedly resigned before his term was out.

The party strategists, it seems, had no one on tap to take the resigned man's place.

That undoubtedly was a blow to the party leaders.

It can hardly be considered a blow to the postal service.

With the average appointee to a postmastership knowing next to nothing about his job, the average postoffice probably runs most efficiently with the boss missing.

Overlooked

WE regret to note that in the allocation of branch offices for the handling of assignments in the Federal relief work for the unemployed, Hollywood has been overlooked.

The compliment that Hollywood does not have its share of unemployed would be appreciated if such were a fact.

Unfortunately it is not a fact. Hollywood has its full share of unemployed who are entitled to the convenience of a branch office within reasonable distance of their homes.

The work done at a Hollywood office would relieve enough congestion from the central office to more than return the cost of its maintenance.

The Optimist

DEVELOPMENTS of the past week indicate further gains in trade in spite of "many cross currents because of national monetary policies and rapid international adjustments," the Dun and Bradstreet weekly trade review said yesterday.

Bank clearings at leading American cities for the week ended the 22nd showed an increase of 22.5 per cent over 1932. The total exceeded that of the previous week by $415,000,000—whereas a year ago a reduction of $171,000,000 occurred.

Southern Pacific system announced that car loadings last week were 23,353 cars, against 22,561 the week before and 20,094 a year ago.

Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,
White House,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:-

Do not let Mr. Smith's criticism of your failure to start Federal building operation several months ago jar you from your duty to at once take it in your own hands as you have the United States Treasury.

You may not know how the postal housing rentals function every few years; the rentals of one of them pays for the grounds and buildings for some individual or a corporation who usually have another building ready waiting for the government to move into when a lease expires. I can give you particulars if you wish them.

Turn back to my letter of July 10th, the last paragraph, and you will, no doubt, see that if I am not a professor, I have some vision that I have gained from my observations as a farmer boy during Lincoln's day, as a voter in Grant's day, as a manufacturer (when Grant called for reciprocity with every nation under the shinning sun), during Cleveland's day as a patent solicitor, during McKinley's day when he received the nomination as a bi-metallist and had to go over to the gold standard under Mark Hannah and Wall Street's rule, as an agriculture implement manufacturer during Theodore Roosevelt's day, the much better than a Republican President, as a machine designer during Woodrow Wilson's Day, designing machinery for the manufacture of machine guns for the Russian government, and as an assistant to Edward N. Hurley, building the Naval Base Cantonments at Norfolk, Camp Joseph E. Johnson, as assistant to the plant engineers building the new shipyards in South Jacksonville, Florida and Fort Benning, Georgia, and eight years and eight months in the Engineering Department of the Georgia Power Company, Atlanta, and a year and a half retirement in Chicago to aid you as far as in my power to do.

And here is what I would do if in your boots with spurs on and power in hand -

Withdraw every dollar of our postal saving funds now deposited in solvent banks and have all future saving funds deposited in the United States Treasury to the order of the Federal Postoffice Building Fund and change the limit placed upon the amount of each person's deposit or cancel it. Increase the interest rate paid to depositors to a rate which the government has to pay when borrowing money which will raise our postal saving deposits high enough to build every first, second and third class postoffice in the United States and provide work for the entire building trade, achieve the recovery from the depression and create a foundation for the reconstruction of our nation from the World Era to our Peace Era, and which may become the foundation for the other nations from the All World Eras of Wars to a real World Peace Era.

For your good and the benefit of humanity, I am

Sincerely yours

Having seen somewhere that you are a coin collector, I am taking the liberty of sending you a rather peculiar $1.00 certificate, as a token of appreciation of your efforts on behalf of your fellow citizens. My father, now deceased, picked it out of circulation more than four years ago. You will notice that the number in the upper right corner is missing and part of it appears on the back of the bill, which was evidently folded when numbered and sealed.

In return, would you be so kind as to have one of your secretaries write me the proper manner to submit a plan in regard to the government's financial policy? To whom should it be addressed, Professor Warren? While I make no claim to originality in it, I have never seen an idea such as mine mentioned anywhere. It is essentially a currency project which at the same time is both deflationary and perfectly sound without being inflationary. It might prove to be a trump to forestall dangerous legislation and reduce social unrest to a minimum.

Yours very truly,

Dugald MacLachlan

United States Senate

In her new book "Crowded Hours" Alice Roosevelt Longworth writes of Washington and her famous President cousin and his "New Deal" as follows: "Possibly I have looked at Washington so long that I regard it with a scoffing eye. Anyway, it is always an entertaining spectacle. Look at it now. The present President has the name of Roosevelt, marked facial resemblance to Wilson, and no perceptible aversion, to say the least, to many of the policies of Bryan. The New Deal, which at times seems more like a pack of cards thrown helter skelter, some face up, some face down, and then snatched in a free-for-all by the players, than it does like a regular deal, is going on before our interested, if puzzled eyes. From the advent of the best minds and normalcy, down to and including the New Deal and the Brains Trust, I have perhaps allowed myself to become a little too detached—to see it as 'a dream or mock show and all therein but Pantalones and Antics'—not to take it too hard. Anyway, the show is there for us, and we might as well get what entertainment we may out of it."

For OUVT. a President
From LAGRANGE Summers.
What greetings shall I send you
As I think of you today?
For the wish that I would wish you
Goes beyond what I can say;
Yet unspoken thoughts rise heavenward
In the silence, when we pray.
I will breathe my intercessions
Before God's Altar Throne,
And the best wish I can wish you
Shall be told to Him alone,
And the best thought I can send you
Is from Him, and not my own.
And your name shall be remembered
In the Blessed Presence there
Where remembrances are sacred,
And each memory holds a prayer.
And where loving thoughts shall leave you
In a loving Father's care.

Dear Sir

I am taking great pleasure to send you this drawing of you, Sir I never took a lesson in drawing, and I try to draw when ever I get a chance for I am very fond of drawing I just left school to try and find work, so I could go to night school to take a course of drawing. I hope you will like this picture of you

My dear Mr. President:

Under separate cover, I am sending a framed hand-embroidered "N.R.A." emblem made by myself, which I hope you will accept as a small Christmas gift.

Having been through the undescribable horrors of the last War, coming to this Country as an Armenian refugee, I hope that with the help of God you and those who work with you will be able peacefully to lead this Country back to economic prosperity.

Am sending this small gift as a token of appreciation for your almost superhuman efforts in this behalf.

Sincerely yours,

Mary Munishian

My dear Mr. President:

I am purposely permitting myself to be a little familiar with you. In the language of New York "you have done a swell job since March 4." Naturally you do not have to be told by me that you are a success. The people are back of you and I am just one of millions of men who are back of you. I do not pretend to say that I agree every time you breathe, but I am thankful that you do breathe.

For instance, my payments in pounds have cost me on the average 35% more during the past two months than they did last year. But I take this additional burden with faith in you and in the belief that you are on the right track.

Recently there has fallen into my hands a book by the Englishman, Will Dyson, with the title ARTIST AMONG THE BANKERS, and I am sending you a copy of this ARTIST AMONG THE BANKERS. No doubt you have had occasion to believe that many of the bankers have failed and that many of the business men are failing to distribute the plenty which has replaced the scarcity of commerce in past days.

Naturally you have no time to read letters and not much time to read books. I would not dream of sending you this book unless I hoped it had something in it that would speak out to you and in places would amuse you.

With the high esteem of one of your followers, I am

Sincerely yours,

John Macrae
