THE WHITE HOUSE
OCT 10 1934

October 9. 1934.

My dear President Roosevelt:

I am sending you with my compliments today a copy of A. A. Milne's PEACE WITH HONOUR.

I believe Milne, in some strange way, has allowed the Spirit to speak through him in this book. You are overwhelmed with work and responsibility; however, I hope you may read PEACE WITH HONOUR, and that you will find some of those things in it which I feel are there.

I am among those millions of your fellow-citizens who are following you and believing in you. We most of us feel that the most we can do, is to give you our support and out prayers that you will have a right judgment and wise advisors.

Sincerely yours,

John Macrae

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt,

The President of
The United States,
Franklin D. Roosevelt,
Washington, D.C.

Your Excellency:

Today I am mailing two copies of a book, One Man's Philosophy, to your secretary. This volume is a collection of your more important campaign speeches, messages to the Congress and radio addresses to the nation subsequent to your inauguration to the Presidency.

In preparing these speeches and messages for a more complete, and more easily had, understanding upon the part of the public, an index has been prepared so that the reader may make ready reference to your expressions on all political questions and economic problems.

May I, at this time, renew a wish, expressed in a letter to you soon after your nomination - that you find something of joy during your administration?

I renew the wish conscious that the joy must rest primarily in your abundant courage and in the knowledge of a task well done.

Very truly,

H. C. Morrison Jr.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE
WASHINGTON

October 8, 1934.

Dear Mr. Muir:

This is a basket of sora sent to the President by a friend in Tidewater, Virginia, and he directed that they should be delivered to you.

The birds should not be skinned but the feathers plucked by hand. When they are thoroughly cleaned, they should be split for broiling.

The President said he was very glad to have them as he has not eaten any rail birds for a long time.

Yours very truly,

R. Walton Moore

Dear Sir:

As your time is all arranged, I presume, for the day you probably do not have time to notice this drawing I have made of you. It took me a long time to draw it as I am only a beginner at drawing. I won a scholarship in drawing and have gradually become so I could draw faces fairly well. Your picture drawn by another artist appealed to me so I tried it and this picture is the result.

I have a good job and in line for a promotion soon and only draw as a pastime. I hope this will get through the group of competent secretaries you have may be a reply will filter back through them to me from you. Will hope to hear from you.

Sincere wishes and good luck,

Dear Ray:

I am sending you by air mail express a little souvenir for the President, made by an old construction blacksmith. It consists of mining tools and specimens of ore from the Comstock. The gentleman referred to is quite old. He has done a skillful job by reason of his admiration of the President. I hesitate to send this directly to the President by reason that he might not receive it in the mass of mail that he receives. The old man would be happy beyond description if he could receive a few lines from the President.
