Sir:

I have the honor to enclose a copy of a self-explanatory communication recently addressed to me by His Excellency P.

The book which Mr. Mavromichalis wishes to present to

My countrymen will never forget that a century ago, when their ancestors had to struggle for liberty, the first voice of sympathy came from across the Atlantic, when the memorable motion on Greek Independence was passed by the American Congress.

The American statesman and among them are ancestors of the President - who at that most critical stage of that hard-fought struggle did not hesitate to raise their voice on behalf of the oppressed, will always live in our memory. Since that time Greece has had more than once the occasion to owe gratitude to America for its traditional friendship towards her, of which it did not fail to yield proofs under Mr. Roosevelt's administration.

I wish to beg you to be kind enough and convey my warmest compliments to His Excellency the President of the United States, and avail myself of this opportunity to renew to Your Excellency the assurance of my highest consideration.

My dear Congressman:

I have your letter of July twenty-third enclosing one addressed to you by Mr. Sam Moyerman, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

I will, of course, be glad to receive on the President's behalf the carved likeness of the President which Mr. Moyerman wishes to present through you and will suit your convenience as to time.

With respect to Mr. Moyerman's request for a copy of the "Presidential Oath of Office" signed by the President, I am afraid it will not be possible to furnish him with one just now. As you know, the pressure on the President these days is tremendous and we have therefore been asking his friends to excuse him from all autographing for the time being. I am sure Mr. Moyerman will understand the situation when you have explained it to him.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. President:

McNally
My son Jim, 19, officers' mess boy on the ship New Orleans, has just arrived from India. He left here last January and on his arrival at Calcutta was operated on for appendicitis. During his convalescence there he had plenty of time to think things over. I suppose in his musings he harked back to the happenings of 1932 and thought over the events of 1934, pondering on what happened to the elephant in both those years. His mind must then have directed itself to the events of 1936. He reasoned, I assume, that the possibility of the elephant becoming extinct next year was so great that you should have some way of remembering how this once great animal looked, so he brought a pair of ebony models from India for you and has asked me to send them to you with expressions of his loyalty and admiration.

Accordingly I am asking your secretary, Miss Le Hand, to present them to you, together with these lines, and I earnestly hope, for my boy's sake as well as his mother's and mine, you will favor him by accepting them.

Wishing you all the blessings your great work for the people so richly deserves, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Joseph J. McNally

Miss Marguerite Le Hand,
Secretary to the President,
The White House,

My dear Miss Le Hand:

On a former occasion you graciously called to the President's attention a letter I wrote him, together with some photographs. Mindful of your kindness at that time I am presuming, I hope not too greatly, to ask a repetition of that kindness in having the President read the enclosed letter and am sending by express addressed to you for him a package containing the Indian souvenirs to which my letter to him refers.

If you will again favor me in this instance you will greatly increase my obligation to you and make me still more anxious for a day to come when I may have the opportunity of personally expressing my thanks.

Respectfully yours,

Joseph J. McNally

Dear Senator:

There are two things a true Kentuckian never sells- his fishing reel and his gun. They are a part of his body and belong to his family and friends. They are the Olive branches and Arrows on his Escutcheon, right and left.

I am sending you a simple token of friendship to be presented to Franklin D. Roosevelt, President (and Fisherman) with all the good wishes of a True Kentuckian. This Milam reel is contemporaneous with the one President Cleveland used. It has historical-religious and friendly significance. It is an emblem of Peace, given with best wishes by and through a True Kentuckian - his Friend.

A gift of friendship for leisure and content,
A simple token of Honor and Peace, Meant.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Senator:

I am sending this Milan reel to President Franklin D. Roosevelt through kindness of you. I am mailing a letter to you fully explaining the gift.

I want to thank you in advance for the trouble I give you which is explained briefly by my letter.

The Milan reel the same as the Meek reel was first made in Frankfort, Kentucky by Jonathan Meek, afterwards J. and B. F. Meek then Meek and Milan, afterwards the Milan reel.

The first reel of its character was made by George Snyder in Bourbon County, Kentucky, made by hand. The first reel made by George Snyder was shown at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, 1893, the property of W. W. Massie of Paris, Kentucky and is described in Henshalls book on the Black Bass. That reel was lost in Stoner Creek and there is no one reel of its kind that I know of owned in Kentucky with approved history.

There is no product of the manufactured articles of the so many once made in Kentucky that is still made and in use at this time. This reel has never been excelled, and in my judgement ever equaled.

I am saying this briefly for your information which may be known to you as a historical fact. Hoping to see you when you visit our city and with thanks and best wishes, I am

Yours sincerely,

Dear Senator Barkley:

I received a fine letter of appreciation from Mr. Roosevelt personally acknowledging the receipt of the Milam reel which you were so good enough to give to him for me.

I want to thank you for your kindness in doing so and ask you to acknowledge same to Mr. Roosevelt and wish him as great luck as a Fisherman of fish as he is a "Fisherman of men."

I am sending a copy of this request to Mr. Roosevelt simply as an acknowledgement of his letter to me and my request to you which will be more personally appreciated by Mr. Roosevelt and myself.

My dear President:

The writer is mailing to His Excellency under separate cover, a pen drawing, a portrait of the President, and executed in one line. This mailer is directed to the "White House Wastebasket", but hope it fails in its destination and gets side-tracked to the Executive's desk.

I have only consented to send it in by request of a number of influential men of this city. There is nothing particularly classy about this job, any more than the novel manner in which it is treated.

This comes from an ardent supporter of the President, and when I say "ardent", coming from a former Ohio Republican and a World War Veteran, the word should carry significance to be appreciated.

Wishing the President the success he so well deserves, in administrating his office, I beg to remain,

His humble servant
